WORLD'S FIRST ANTI-RUST GASOLINE

Contains the New Anti-Rust Ingredient RD-119 Developed by Sinclair Research

STEEL ROD IN ORDINARY GASOLINE
Rod in ordinary gasoline rusts in only 48 hours. Your gasoline tank rusts the same way because all gasoline contains minute quantities of water.

IN ANTI-RUST SINCLAIR GASOLINE
After 48-hour immersion in Sinclair gasoline, rod shows no rust. RD-119 stops rust the same way in storage tanks, pipelines and your gasoline tank.

RUST-PROOFS AS YOU USE IT

Sinclair Gasoline with RD-119 rust-proofs as you use it. And while stopping rust, RD-119 has no effect on the power, acceleration and long mileage you get with Sinclair H-C or Sinclair Ethyl Gasoline. Start today to get top gasoline performance plus anti-rust protection.

1 Stops rust in gasoline tanks.

2 Stops rust which clogs fuel lines, strainers, carburetor jets.

3 Reduces wear on precision parts caused by rust particles.

On The Record

By Harry Franken

We Have To Watch Who We Praise

There are 10 physicians in the Hilltop Business Association and numerous others practicing on the Hilltop. By the very nature of their profession they are likely to get into the news columns of the Record, and every time one of them does, we break out in a cold sweat.

The reason is a court decision that makes doctors just about the easiest people in the world to libel.

Newspaper people know the case as "Martin v. The Picayune," and lawyers are likely to refer to it by its full name, "115 La. 979, 40 So. 376, 4 L. R. A., N.S., 861 (1906)." However you write it, it spells trouble for publications that praise physicians.

It seems that a certain physician in Louisiana was called upon to treat a difficult case. He did such a good job of it that the paper praised him in its news columns.

Far from being pleased, the doctor sued. It was his contention that reputable physicians did not advertise and that the story praising him in effect classified him with medical quacks who built up their practice through advertising.

The trial court couldn't see how a person could be harmed by praise, and their decision went to the newspaper. The doctor appealed and the higher court decided that he had a good case and that certain parts of the story were actionable whether they were defamatory or not. The paper paid.

And that's why we touch the typewriter keys so carefully when a Hilltop doctor makes news.

Candidates For Kiwanis Election Are Named

The nominating committee of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club today announced the names of the candidates that will appear on the primary ballot at the Sept. 8 elections.

Those nominated at this election will be the contestants at the Oct. 6 general election.

Phillip V. Stout is the unopposed candidate for president. Other candidates are:

For first vice-president, Harold D. Cramer, E. G. Witherspoon and Donald Smith.

For second vice-president, Harold Fox, C. C. Hartley and Ray McVay.

For treasurer, Sam Alford, Elmer Hegenberger and Charles Campbell.

For Director (12 to be elected), Russell L. Carter, Ira M. Claggett, W. R. Clark, Harold Cunningham, Loren C. Galloway, D. C. Jacques, Fred M. Marsch, E. O. Melvin, James W. Miles, Sr., Evan D. Morgan, Lew G. Rausch, Don Rice, C. E. Roberts, John Willis Slyh, Roger F. Strauss, Bruce A. Tanner, Mose M. Williams, Fred Warden, Eugene Wolfe and George Williams.

E. O. Melvin was chairman of the nominating committee, assisted by Howard Davis, Herbert Deems, Beryl Miles and Evan Morgan.

Pemberton To Be Kiwanis Speaker

West High football coach Mack Pemberton will be the speaker at the Hilltop Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday. He will discuss this year's team and make predictions for the coming season.

The annual Kiwanis Club family picnic has been scheduled for Sept. 8 at Valley Ranch.

Church Has State Fair Restaurant

The Record erroneously reported last week that the Westgate Methodist Church was the only Hilltop church having an eating concession at the Ohio State Fair.

A popular eating place for fair goers is the restaurant of the Community Christian Church at Stand No. 12 under the grandstand.

Rev. Jim Lorenz of the S. Powell-av church manages the restaurant. One of his most faithful helpers at the fair is his daughter, Katie, who has been helping her father at church sponsored food concessions at the fair since 1939. Rev. Lorenz was formerly pastor of the Riverside Methodist and Westgate Methodist Churches.

Kathryn is 19 and will be a junior at Ohio State University this fall. The Lorenz family lives at 3009 Fremont-st.

Rev. Schoof Resigns Pastorate

Rev. W. Howard Schoof

Rev. W. Howard Schoof, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, 286 Belvidere-av, announced his resignation today, effective Sept. 18.

Rev. Schoof has accepted a position on the faculty of the Baptist Bible Seminary, Johnson City, N. Y. He will teach in the departments of English, Bible, practical theology and music.

Rev. Schoof has been pastor of the Hilltop church since May 1, 1946. He and his wife and two daughters, Virginia, 7, and Miriam, 3, live at 212 N. Burgess-av.

The Baptist Bible Seminary was founded in 1932 to train pastors, missionaries, educators and other workers for the Baptist Church. It has a faculty of 15 and a student body of more than 300 from all parts of the United States and many foreign countries.

Blue Star Mothers Serve Home Cooked Food At State Fair

It's food just like mother cooked, because mothers prepare it at the Blue Star Mothers' Restaurant at the Ohio State Fair.

Mrs. H. H. Herron, 71 Eldon-av, publicity chairman for the Columbus chapter of the Blue Star Mothers, announced that members from the two Hilltop units of the club are among those cooking and serving the food at the State Fair concession this week.

Mrs. Edward G. Meyers is chairman of the volunteer group working at the restaurant. Her co-chairmen are Mrs. Clarence Ely, 1977 Harrisburg-pk, and Mrs. A. W. Short.

Reduction Announced In Record Subscription Rates Next Thurs.

A reduction in Hilltop Record subscription rates is being announced today to become effective Sept. 1.

Starting Thursday the new rate will be 25c per month by carrier boy or $2.75 per year when paid in advance. This rate will apply to either mail or carrier boy deliveries.

This reduction is made possible by a recent slight reduction in newsprint costs made available to the Record due to increased purchases of newsprint as a result of twice a week publication.

Carrier collections for September will be made at the new rate.

No further reductions are in sight as long as present production costs are maintained due to the wage scale now being paid and the continuing high costs of newsprint and other materials.

Bureau Of Juvenile Research Has Handled 46,862 Cases; Is One Of Three Such Institutions In Country

Tree shaded lawns surround BJR buildings on W. Broad-st.

By Myron T. Seifert

That the State Bureau of Juvenile Research is located on the Hilltop is known to many but at the same time few realize that it is one of the three institutions of its kind in the country. For this reason the interest in its appreciably greater.

Records of 46,862 youngsters studied by the Bureau of Juvenile Research are on file with this agency of the state, Dr. Maurice Newburger, executive psychologist there, said today.

Thirty-five years ago the bureau was established by the state legislature as a part of the program of the State Department of Public welfare "for the study of the juvenile delinquent and child with behavior difficulties," since which time thousands of boys and girls, who have become useful citizens, owe much to the aid afforded by this agency.

The sympathetic understanding of the child and his difficulties, scientifically studied recommendations by a competent staff of psychologists, physicians and teachers help to return him to society as a good and useful citizen.

The staff of approximately 100 employes, many of whom are professional people, transform an otherwise worthless citizen into a useful one.

Developing good citizens is the main purpose of the program there.

Not a penal institution, the trained staff of specialists make it their business to observe a great many things about the nature of the child, collect data about him, pool results of their investigation, and finally apply recommendations which, if followed, prove beneficial to the youngster.

The initial objective of the bureau is to gain confidence and cooperation of its subjects. That it does, and does well.

Pioneering in this work, the bureau is operated as an advisory agency.

The program set-up is not primarily a housing one, although 115 youngsters, ranging in ages from five to 18, are now given adequate shelter and balanced diet during their stay here. One visit to the kitchen will convince the most skeptical critic that the boys and girls are well fed.

Administrative and professional offices are maintained in the building nearest Wheatland-av, where many services of medical science for the youths' physical and mental benefit are carried on.

Here in the second floor is housed a scientific instrument, called the "electroencephlograph", used to observe the cortex of the patient's brain. Impulses given off by the brain are recorded by the highly complicated, delicate machine. The patient reclines on a cot in an adjoining metal, screened room, and electrodes are placed on his skull. Data is used to help diagnose difficulties of the child.

Donated by the Crippled Children's Association, it is one of three in Columbus.

Subjects referred to the bureau are generally children who have not made a normal adjustment in their community. Their parents, doctors and teachers notice a serious, peculiar behavior, objectionable to both the child and society. Degree and type of delinquency may vary.

Case histories of the subject begin before the delinquent is admitted to the bureau.

Difficulties, family history, interests and behavior, home condition and environment are on file for study even before the child is admitted.

Welcomed upon admittance by a social worker, the newcomer is given a cordial reception to gain confidence of the youngster.

Boys receive music lessons at the BJR.

Part of a busy day is spent in the work shop.

He is isolated and given a thorough medical examination first of all. When a child is released by the physician from isolation, he is assigned to a group as nearly his own age as possible. There are three groups of boys and two groups of girls. Each child is assigned to one of these groups. The group is known as a class.

Each class has its own recreational room in which they will stay when they are not in school, working, or at the office. It might be compared to a home room at school. They keep their toilet articles, if they have any, in a closet in an adjoining room. Showers and toilets adjoin the classrooms. The children sleep in dormitories. Whenever the weather permits, the children play on the playgrounds rather than in their rooms.

Types of cases and difficulties cited follow many patterns.

Actual case records, selected by Dr. Persis W. Simmons, chief psychologist, show what difficulties the youngsters had before admission. They read:

"Because of disorganized family life John had never had any real home but has been shifted about among relatives and has lived in several different foster homes. Since he has not remained in one place any length of time he has not been able to develop any feeling of security and has been unable to progress succesfully in school work although he is of average intelligence. He showed a number of desirable personality characteristics. He is friendly, cooperative and a willing worker. However, he persists in breaking, entering and burglarizing."

"William is a 16-year-old boy who is considered a nuisance in his community because he seems to maliciously destroy property," another asserted." He seems fascinated with the idea of breaking lanterns, street lights and window panes. His own father died 10 years ago. Since then he has lived with three different stepfathers."

"Gene is a 10-year-old boy who has grown up in foster homes. Although his parents are living together they have always preferred to have their son in a foster home. Efforts to help them accept their boy have never been successful. At the present time Gene is persisting in running away from his foster placements. When he attends school he is able to do satisfactory work. When he disappears from home for several weeks he, of course, misses school and because of his absences he cannot keep up his work. There have been no official complaints about delinquent behavior during his extensive hitch-hiking trips. Gene finds it hard to undertand why he cannot live with his own family even though his older sister is living in the same foster home."

"Billy is a nine-year-old boy who is seriously disturbed. As a baby and during early childhood he was in nine different foster homes. He was in his 10th home when he started to school. He has never been able to make a satisfactory adjustment in the classroom. It is the feeling of the local psychologists and psychiatrists who have worked with this boy that he is of at least average intelligence."

"Betty is 15 years old. She is a child who has innumerable complaints about her health. Sometimes she complains about pains around her heart. No physicians have been able to identify any organic difficulty. At one time she described symptoms which led the authorities to believe that she might be tubercular. When she was thoroughly examined for this there were no positive findings.

14 Injured In Sunday Traffic

Fourteen persons were injured in two auto accidents on the Hilltop Sunday afternoon, Franklin County Sheriff's deputies reported.

An auto driven by Donald Woodland, 19, of 327 Letchworth-rd, collided with a car driven by Aldo E. Cesarini, 31, of Worcester, Mass., in the 4400 block of W. Broad-st.

Woodland suffered possible fractures of the skull and right shoulder. Injured in his auto were Jack Brink, 23, of 687 S. Richardson-av, who suffered a fractured right cheek bone and abrasions, and Lawrence McNulty, 19, of 124 S. Wheatland-av, cuts on the left leg.

Cesarini and his wife, Mrs. Mary Jane Cesarini, 27, suffered severe cuts and lacerations.

They were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital by ambulances from the Egan-Ryan and Jerry Spears Funeral Homes and the Prairie Township emergency squad.

In a two-car crash at Alkire and Demorest-rds, nine persons were injured, including Charles Ream, Sr., 35, of 653 S. Roys-av, a former Ohio State University football star, Deputy Fred Snouffer said.

Snouffer said Ream was driving south in Demorest-rd and his car collided with another driven by Joseph Ramello, 46, of Georgesville.

Ream suffered multiple cuts and bruises about the head and face. Also riding in his car and injured were his wife, Mrs. Dolores J. Ream, 28, who suffered a severe cut over her left eye and other bruises, and his son, Charles Jr., 4. Edward Yank, 64, of 592 Chestershire-rd, with a fractured rib, head concussion and severe head lacerations; and his wife, Mrs. Mary Yank, 58, with cuts and bruises.

Injured in Ramello's auto were Mrs. Imo Ramello, 50, head cuts and possible internal injuries; Blake Bearnes, 53, of 2900 Norwood-st, head cuts, and his wife, Mrs. Aletta Bearnes, 51, bruises and possible back injuries.

All were treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

S-Sgt. Maddox Rites Wednesday

Graveside services for S/Sgt. Albert B. Maddox, 24, of 2161 Homewood-av, will be at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Sunset Cemetery. He was killed in the explosion of a dam in Southern Germany on May 18, 1945.

A carpenter before joining the service in October, 1940, Sgt. Maddox served with the 37th (Buckeye) Division in the Southwest Pacific before returning to the United States for Air Force training. Later he served with the 347th Infantry Regiment in Europe.

A graduate of West High School, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marilyn Maddox, 101 N. Harris-av; a daughter, Sharon Lee Maddox; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Maddox, 54 W. Neff-av; a brother, Robert of Dyersburg, Tenn., and two sisters, Patricia and Mrs. George Fink, both of the Neff-av address.

Friends may call at the Jerry Spears Funeral home Tuesday

10,000 Attend Hurd and Thomas Grand Opening

It took 10 policemen to handle the traffic and crowds at the Hurd and Thomas grand opening last week-end, as approximately 10,000 persons attended the Record advertised event.

Fourteen attendants were on duty to pump 7000 gallons of gas, give away 2400 [illegible] coke, 1800 baskets, 1000 whistles, 1000 balloons, 1000 pony rides and generally extend a glad hand to visitors.

Jim Van Nostrand, 66 S. Roys-av, was Sinbo, the clown, and gave an energetic performance.

The station managers have asked that special thanks be extended to the versatile accordionist, the West drum majorettes, and others who aided in the opening.

Frank M. Kirwin, Local Restaurant Owner, Dies

Frank M. Kirwin

Frank M. Kirwin, owner of Kirwin's Restaurant, 3449 W. Broad-st, died Sunday morning in Mt. Carmel Hospital. He was taken to the hospital a week before, following a heart attack. Mr. Kirwin, 53, lived at 1930 Coventry-rd.

A world War I veteran, he was a member of the Holy Name Society; Our Lady of Victory Church; Westway Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Camp Chase Post, American Legion; and Aerie No. 2209, Fraternal Order of Eagles. He served as adjutant-quartermaster of the VFW state office from 1935 to 1939.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Angela Kirwin; two daughters, Mary Kirwin, at home, and Mrs. Harry Zerbe of Lawrenceburg, Ky.; two sons, Jack and Joseph Kirwin, at home; a grandchild, and two sisters, Mrs. Theodore Obendorfer and Mrs. John F. Cantwell, both of Youngstown.

Friends may call at the O'Shaughnessy Funeral Home. Requiem mass will be sung at 9 a. m. Wednesday in Our Lady of Victory Church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

CONVALESCING

Harry E. Fell, 41 S. Huron-av, is convalescing at home following a nine day stay in Grant Hospital with an eye infection.

Six New Teachers On West Faculty

By Myron T. Seifert

Six new faculty members will be on the staff as West High School opens for the 1949-50 school year next Tuesday.

Art Instructor Richard Teichert, 550 Milford-av, successor to W. D. Campbell, retired, will direct the work in that department. He holds a B. Sc. degree in education and an M. A. from Ohio State University. Before coming to Columbus he was county art supervisor in Pike County and taught art at Everett Junior High prior to three and one-half years in military service. Since the war he has been art instructor at Roosevelt Junior High School.

Jim Brown, 121 S. Harris-av, West High graduate, comes back home again, this time in the role of mathematics instructor in the junior high department. After three years in the navy, Mr. Brown returned to Ohio State, where he graduated in 1947. He also attended Oberlin College and the University of Pennsylvania. For the past two years he has been teaching at Liberty Center, O.

Francis Bonar, 50 Veterans Court, Lima, will take over the geography and English classes, formerly the province of Mrs. Evelyn Hall. Mrs. Hall will direct the dramatics department activities this year. Mr. Bonar was formerly teacher at Lima South High School.

Journalism, English and business advertising courses will be taught this year by Mrs. Thelma Knerr, 272 Morrison-av, who will assume the post of Myron Seifert, who relinquished this work in June for work in his major field, English. Mrs. Knerr is a native of Payne, O., and a graduate of Capital University.

Girls' physical education in the junior high will be taught by Mrs. Margaret Pool, 345 W. Eighth-av.

Successor to Wayne House, on a leave of absence, is Mrs. Maxine Warren, 139 Clinton Heights. Mrs. Warren, a graduate of Muskingum College and former instructor at Ohio State University, will teach commercial subjects. She holds an M. A. degree in business administration.

Other additions to the West High personnel include new office clerk, Mrs. Grace Robinson, former school clerk at London, O., High Shcool; and chief engineer and custodian, Hilltopper Howard Jones, who succeeds J. W. Hughes, resigned.

H. L. Zulauf, mathematics teacher, will be watch-dog of the school treasury.

The school building has been completely renovated during the summer months, and new books and equipment have been added in various departments in anticipation of the new school year.

OLEO QUESTION ON BALLOT

Ohioans will have a chance to decide whether they want their oleomargarine colored when they buy it. An initiative petition to place the question on the Nov. 8 ballot has been certified by Secretary of State Charles E. Sweeney.

BUS STRIKES AUTO

Rex Parrish, 31, of 66 S. Ogden-av, was treated in Mt. Carmel Hospital Friday for cuts and bruises after his auto was struck in the rear by a trolley bus as he stopped for a traffic light in Broad-st at Chicago-av.

Frank Ongaro And Accordion To Be Feature Of West Alumni Musical

In 1943 a young boy of 13 appeared with an accordion almost as big as himself on the stage of the 12th Annual Hilltop Minstrel Show. He was headed on the program simply as "Frank Ongaro playing several musical selections." At the time he was unheard of, but by the time he finished he had thrilled the audience to a point where he had to return to the stage several times. After this he was the talk of the Hilltop and soon Frank Ongaro and his accordion became well known to the entire town.

He returned the next year and every year since to keep his audiences spellbound. When he graduated from West in 1948 he took up the accordion as his profession. He has played several engagements at places such as Virginia Hotel, Wigwam, the Club Gloria and the Mayfair Room at Buckeye Lake.

In the spring of this year Frank appeared on the Old Gold Amateur Hour Show and walked off with the top prize.

When asked to play in the First Annual All Alumni Musical, "Do You Remember?", which will be presented Thursday, Sept. 8, he accepted wholeheartedly and so the boy who appeared on the program in small print just six short years ago will now return to his alma mater and will be headlined as one of the top features of the program.

Frank Ongaro

Tickets for the show will go on sale Sept. 2, and will sell at 40c general admission and 60c for

Engaged Couple Are Guests Of Honor At Dinner Aug. 20

Miss JoAnn White and Mr. Paul Graham Prior, whose wedding will take place in Glenwood Methodist Church Sept. 23, were honored at a dinner party Saturday, Aug. 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P. Mann, 179 Aldrich-rd, uncle and aunt of Mr. Prior. Members of the couple's immediate families were present.

Miss White's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George C. Bope, 2560 Sullivant-av, while Mr. Prior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Graham Prior, 101 Eldon-av.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. John Prior, Milford, Mich., and Mrs. Earl Parsons (Marianna Scott), Seattle, Wash.

GORRELLS HOLD FISH FRY

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Gorrell, 798 S. Eureka-av, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weir, 804 S. Eureka-av, celebrated their catch during their vacation at Munuscong Bay, at Pickford Bay, on Lake Superior, Mich., with a fish fry for 45 friends and neighbors Friday, Aug. 26, in the Gorrells' backyard. One of the outstanding catches they had during their vacation, spent with the Frank Plackes of Midland-av, was 224 fish in less than three hours!

MRS. GIBSON AND MR. O. H. CRAFT ARE WED IN KENTUCKY AUG. 19

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Craft at home following their wedding.

Mrs. Grace B. Gibson, 178 Souder-av, and Mr. Orin H. Craft, 2661 W. Broad-st, were united in marriage Friday, Aug. 19, at Covington, Ky., by the Rev. Phillip Wiggerman, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Church. Mr and Mrs. Charles McInturff, 309 S. Warren-av, Mr. Craft's daughter and son-in-law; attended the couple.

Mrs. Gibson wore a ballerina dress of blue satin with dark blue accessories and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. McInturff's rust dress was accentuated with forest green accessories and a corsage of baby chrysanthemums.

Mr. Craft, a real estate broker, has been a resident of the Hilltop and environs for the past 30 years and has been active in the real estate business since 1928.

The bride has been associated with the Shoe Corporation of America as private secretary to the traffic manager for the past two years.

The pair met in Hillcrest Church in January when Mrs. Gibson was singing in the choir. They were introduced by Mrs. McInturff at the church and, on Jan. 16, met again at a dinner at her house. Both the new Mrs. Craft and Mrs. McInturff were graduated from West High the same year.

The first public announcement of the marriage was made by Mr. Craft at the Hilltop Kiwanis dinner meeting Thursday, Aug. 25. After Sept. 5, Mr. and Mrs. Craft will be at home at 2661 W. Broad-st.

Hilltop People Are Principals In Recent Engagement Announcements

Several engagements concerning the Hilltop younger set have been announced recently.

The engagement of Miss Nola Faris to Mr. Robert L. Oelrich has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Faris, 236 S. Brinker-av. Mr. Oelrich's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oelrich, Hamilton.

Miss Faris is a graduate of Ohio State University and is employed by the Ohio Farm Bureau. Mr. Oelrich was graduated from the college of engineering at the university and is associated with the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co.

They will be married Oct. 2 in the Trinity Episcopal Church.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Myers, 299 S. Richardson-av, had fair visitors over the weekend: Mr. and Mrs. Merk Butcher, Mrs. Farrell Eckhart, and Betty Barnes of near Portsmouth.

MRS. VALE FETED

Mrs. Lora Vale, 236 N. Chase-av, teacher of the Gilbert Guild class of West Park Church, was honored by her class with a handkerchief shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eye, 26 W. Jeffrey-pl, Aug. 26. Mrs. Vale has been teacher of the class for 30 years. Thirty guests attended the shower.

These Women Will Officiate At W. Broad PTA Meetings This Fall

The above women were elected last May to serve as officers in the West Broad Street Parent-Teacher Association for the coming school year.

Seated in the picture from left to right are Mrs. Robert Bowman, 68 N. Brinker-av, treasurer; Mrs. George Rinestead, 214 Binns-blvd, secretary; stead, 214 Binns-blvd, secretary; Mrs. Russell Swain, 361 N. Ogden-av, president, and Mrs. Robert Draper, 74 N. Roys-av, first vice-president.

Standing, again from left to right, are Mrs. Earl Abram, 100 N. Huron-av, Mrs. W. W. Kendall, 172 S. Roys-av, Mrs. R. B. Hawthorne, 2083 W. Broad-st, all alternates; Mrs. E. M. Compton, 2735 Ridge-av, councillor; and Matilda Stuart, principal, West Broad Street School, second vice-president. Also elected but not present in the picture were Mrs. B. J. Elliott, 220 Binns-blvd, and Mrs. K. W. Sharadin, 105 N. Brinker-av, both councillors.

The West Broad PTA has 1137 members, making it one of the largest in the city.

The association's first meeting will be held the third Thursday in October. Its first board meeting will be held the second Friday in September, and on the fourth Tuesday of each month a study group will convene.

WILLIAMS - SCOG, MURRAY - CHAWMER WEDDINGS ARE ANNOUNCED

The marriage of Miss Wanda Williams to Mr. Richard C. Scog is being announced by her mother, Mrs. Nora A. Williams. The wedding took place at West Park Methodist Church at 1 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 6.

Mrs. Margaret Carson was the bride's only attendant while Robert G. Carson acted as best man for Mr. Scog.

Seating the guests were Mr. Jay and Jerry Kaltenbach.

The new Mrs. Scog is a graduate of West High and is associated with the Visintine Co. Mr. Scog is employed at the Ohio Contractors Association.

Following a wedding trip to St. Clair, Mich., the couple are making their home at 1488 Sullivant-av.

An arrangement of white and multi-colored gladioli mingling with green and pink asters formed the setting for the wedding Aug. 21 of Miss Iris Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Murray, 3558 Trabue-rd, and Mr. Joseph Chawmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chawmer, Hilliards.

The nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Reba Long at the piano, and the sister of the bride, Miss Nancy Janet Murray, sang several selections before the ceremony. The wedding followed at 7:30 and was performed by Rev. Elwood Rose, pastor of the Wesley Chapel Church, which also ranks as being one of the oldest churches in the community, over 110 years of age.

The bride was gowned in pink imported lace with satin and net trim. Her hat, mitts and shoes were of pink satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor, her only attendant, Miss Priscilla Warner, wore a teal blue imported lace dress, also hat and mitts to match, and carried a colonial bouquet of deep red roses.

Let's Talk Things Over

Money doesn't go a long way in these days. That's what a friend said to me the other day. My reply was that it all depended on how he spent it, and I told him that I could put him in the way of securing a sizeable estate, say $10,000, for a down payment of a few dollars. What is more, even if he were to die anytime soon after the first down payment, the whole estate of $10,000 would belong to his family without the spending of another penny.

And, let me tell you, many large estates of several thousand dollars have come to the rescue of Sun Life beneficiaries following a first and only payment of a few dollars by a husband and father who realized the uncertainty of the future but knew how to make the best use of savings.

Let's talk things over—today!

'Thatchers' Daily Doings'

Wednesday, June 22

Whether it was the rush of events during the Irish holiday or just the weather we do not know but this morning Lily did not feel quite in condition to do any traipsing around London so she cancelled her part in the activities for the day and stayed at home to rest.

We started out via the London tube trains to central London. This was in time to start a sightseeing tour at 9:30.

For the first hour our route took us over much of the same territory we had covered yesterday, including Trafalgar Square, Piccadilly Circus, Hyde Park, etc. We again went to Buckingham Palace, where we expected to watch the changing of the guard. As we approached the location we were informed that the guard was not going to be changed this morning. As recompense for missing this our guide walked us all over to a nearby boulevard where we soon were able to witness the horse guards in bright uniforms and shining armor as they paraded down the avenue on their way to their posts for the day. They were good to look at but their number was small, only about 25 of them. Had these been a whole battalion of them it would have made a splendid sight.

In our bus we did a lot of travelling about to get from one point of interest to another. Many places, such as No. 10 Downing Street, the London Monument, London Bridge and Westminster Abbey, were pointed out to us as we passed but we did not stop to see them. After a drive along the Thames we came to the Tower of London. Here we joined a crowd of several hundred other tourists who were also looking at the tower. Because of the large crowd we could only follow in line past the exhibit of crown jewels. We might have seen more of these but one elderly couple, travelling on their own, had purchased a guide book. They stood in the most favorable spot before the displays of jewels and spent their time looking up numbers in their catalog, then locating the numbered article in the display. Meantime those behind them growled to no avail for an opportuntiy to get a better view. We saw the Bloody Tower made famous in history because of the many executions held there and the noted prisoners which it had held. In the ground around the tower we saw the ravens strutting raucously about. We were told that there is a story about these long-lived birds to the effect that whenever one of them dies a soldier in the tower also dies. Up to the present time this has been true.

One item of interest occurred while we were at the tower which was a little out of the ordinary. A group of about 50 boys and girls, ranging in age from 10 to 14, were enjoying the thrills of seeing the ancient stronghold. Everyone took notice of these children because they were Lithuanian young folks. They were all dressed in their native costumes, of which the girls' costumes, bright with many colors, were most attractive. These boys and girls were part of several contingents of European youth who had been brought over to England to give them first-hand knowledge of what other countries outside of their homeland are like.

"Bob's tiyr uncle." This was a Cockney English expression we learned today from our tour guide. He said it means roughly, "it's all over" or "that finishes it." The expression was applicable to our tour just about lunch time as we ended the trip with a visit to St. Paul's Cathedral. Services were being held in the church, so we did not get to see the main part of the cathedral. We visited the various chapels in the rear of the church, saw some parts which had been more or less battered by war bombs, heard the choir singing in the distance as it took part in the religious service, and then viewed, from the outside, the large areas of open ground surrounding the cathedral where once great city buildings had stood but which had been wrecked by bombs.

Having completed this one city tour by noon, we took one of the double-deck buses which were continually buzzing along the street and went to the one big department store of the city which is patterned along the lines of the American department stores. This was Selfridges. Here we had lunch and, by prearrangement, met Mrs. Ridley who formerly lived in Columbus when her husband, Ralph Ridley, was state architect. She is now living in the county of Kent.

After lunch the sextet went off to another part of London where we visited the famous Madame Toussourd's (I can't remember the spelling) Wax Works with its hundreds of wax models, almost as real as life, of famous men and women from all over the world. The policeman standing at the top of the stairs did not fool us when we started through the museum. We had been forewarned that he was a wax dummy.

Ethel Cooke was the lady with the red face this afternoon. As we started walking around to look at the exhibits Ethel thought it would be more interesting if she had one of the printed guide catalogs. She went over to a wicker-ed cage to purchase a copy. A man in the cage was holding out a catalog for her to buy. Ethel opened her pocketbook, laid out the necessary price and reached for the paper. As she did so she asked the man if all the exhibits were listed in it. The man made no reply and made no movement of any kind. With a red face, as she realized the seller was a wax dummy, Ethel murmured a faint "Oh" and started away, hoping that no one had seen her get fooled in so public a manner. Then, just as she started away, Ethel heard a masculine voice say, "Well, I guess boys must be boys to have their fun." That was when Ethel knew she had been fooled again. The "dummy" in the booth was a real, live man.

The wax works tour completed, with the exception of the Chamber of Horrors, which no one dared to enter, we made our exit, climbed to the top of a double-deck bus and rode for over an hour through the shattered ruins of London's East Side until we came to South Woodford and Lansdowne Road. Here the evening was spent in social conversations.

It's Fun To Live In America

Who in "tarnation" cares about ancient history — ancient Greek, Babylonian, Roman Empires? Well, blessed few to be sure —"old stuff" we often say, "let bygones be bygones." That's only natural because we Americans, of all races and creeds, have always had our eyes on the future.

But "blame it all," we must review some history whether we like it or not. You see, there is a sizable group of people in our country—some misled, and others with evil intentions, who claim they've got a lot of New Ideas that will "save our country." Let's just see how "new" these ideas are:

Away back 2,000 years before Christ, the ancient Babylonain Empire adopted a "New Idea." It was called the "Code of Hamurabi" and, boy, they fixed everything! Wages, prices, fees, business—the government controlled them all. Then, the ancient Roman Empire tried the same "deal" — Emperor Julian started a control system for business, prices, wages, and so forth. Later, about 301 A. D., the Emperor Doicletian issued a really "tough" edict—anyone violating his selling prices was either deported or put to death. Is it necessary to ask what happened to these countries with their "control" schemes? They fell apart and we all know it!

Now, what does all this add up to? It's as "plain as the nose on your face" that the "New Ideas" promoted by these self-styled "saviors" among us are not new at all, and civilizations trying them disappeared from the face of the earth.

So, here we are, a 168-year-old ("baby" in years) country, one of the few to start with a completely free and uncontrolled economy. Fortunately, most of us still believe in our free American system. True, the "socialist planners" call us "reactionaries, capitalists, etc." but it doesn't bother us because deep in our hearts we know that ours is the newest system—that we are truly the liberals Too, we know that under our system we have the highest standards of living and good health of any nation on earth. Here are some interesting figures:

REMEMBER—

Our population is less than seven per cent of the world population.

YET WE HAVE—

More than eight times as many automobiles.
More than eight times as many bathtubs.
More than six times as many vacuum cleaners.
More than eight times as many refrigerators.
More than seven times as much life insurance.

Sure, we believe in security, but not at the expense of opportunity! Just remember this—when our forefathers (Tony, Hans, Mike, Sven, David, and the rest) came over here they were not looking for "pensions" or a "welfare state." They were looking only for opportunity, freedom to work, to risk their brains and brawn at any job they chose. That was their security.

Therefore, when anyone tries to sell us a bill of goods on their so-called "New Ideas" of more government controls, let's just review a little ancient history for them. Then let's remind them our's is the new country — that we've progressed further under our system than all the rest combined, and we're going to keep it that way.

Inside WASHINGTON
MARCH OF EVENTS

WASHINGTON—Arthur Summerfield, rich Michigan auto dealer, was named to the top post on the GOP national strategy committee in an effort to restore the harmony which has been conspicuously absent from the Republican high command for some time.

However, Summerfield has enemies and some observers think he will find it difficult to bring peace to the ranks.

A leader in the anti-Summerfield bloc is former National Committeewoman Regina C. Hay, also of Michigan. Her political acumen won her the secretaryship of the 1948 Republican national convention.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg

However, Summerfield supported Mrs. Rae C. Hooker in a contest for Mrs. Hay's national committee post, and after a bitter struggle Mrs. Hooker won out.

This cost the party the services of Mrs. Hay as an organizer, but she is not expected to remain inactive.

Instead, persons well-informed on the Michigan political situation expect her to conduct a campaign to keep Summerfield from becoming too powerful a figure in the party.

A hectic behind-the-scenes battle appears certain to develop.

• • • •

● BI-PARTISAN CRACKING?—Some Washington observers believe they can discern cracks in the bi-partisan foreign policy on Capitol Hill. These cracks seemed to become more apparent as arguments got hotter in the final days of the Senate debate on the now-ratified North Atlantic Pact.

It is generally conceded that the prestige of Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R), Michigan, and his excellent skill in bringing most of his Republican colleagues into line behind the administration's foreign program is the only thing preventing a split and a knock-down-and-drag-out battle on every foreign policy matter that comes before Congress.

There are rumors on "the hill," however, that Vandenberg is having it difficult to stomach some of the projects he must back in his unique role.

It is said that he has been having frequent struggles with himself over whether he should continue to go along or take a chance on "blowing the lid off" by speaking his mind.

Even should Vandenberg continue his present role, the forthright position taken by Senator Robert A. Taft (R), Ohio, on the pact gives rise to speculation that he may become the rallying point for growing opposition to America's present course in foreign affairs.

• • • •

● MUZZLE ON THE NAVY—The Navy air arm may be muzzled in its criticism of the overall Defense department aviation policy, but some Marine flyers have learned to express their disapproval without even speaking.

They listen, without official comment to defense discussions they may hear in bars, at parties and even in the Pentagon.

However, their disapproval of the Air Force and its B-36 program is evident. Whenever the giant bomber is mentioned, they turn to the east and bow solemnly as a Moslem praying to Mecca.

Sometimes, they even do the same thing when Defense Secretary Louis Johnson is mentioned.

• • • •

● AIR ANGLE—The Air Force is banking heavily on a radical new "triangle wing" fighter plane to become the most controllable aircraft in its growing supersonic stable.

All the other faster-than-sound planes being developed for the air arm have swept-back wings to knife through the turbulence which besets them at speeds between 600 and 900 miles per hour.

Triangle Wing For Fighters

The new Convair XF-92 is, in effect, a triangular wing. One point is headed forward and the pilot's cockpit is plopped down in the middle.

Truly a ship without a tail, XF-92 has "elevons" for both aileron (turning) and elevator (up and down) action.

Research indicates that this so-called "Delta Configuration" will cut through bubbling air even more smoothly than the plain, swept-back wing.

And Have Not Love

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE

"And there is no other way for me," Hilde went on, "than to be happy for existence, and for Tom's existence." She laughed softly. "I laugh that you should know my grandparents were immigrants. I thought there was nothing of the old language in my fine American speech." She stopped sewing, and rested her head on the back of the chair. "I am so lucky. I miss the shop because so many of my customers reminded me of my good fortune. They make life too light, too short—like making a dress too tight and too short. You have to make room for emergencies, for expansion and shrinkage, for the good things and the bad things. I know that the girls in the shop laughed at me. They thought I was a little crazy! How pleasant this is. You were always so nice, so considerate."

Beatrice smiled. "Thank you, Hilde. You have more friends than you realize in spite of being a 'little crazy.' You'll never have to worry about making friends. They'll beat a path to your door as I have wherever you are, because they know you have something to give them, because you haven't sold life short. Because you're squarely in the center, and no adversity will shake you. You've calculated those allowances too well."

The girl looked at her with a demureness that was as natural as the color of her lips. "You make me wise when I am not, but perhaps it is wisdom once in awhile to do foolish things—to buy a red hat you can't afford because it's so gay and wonderful you can't go away and leave it mourning after you; and sometimes I burn the potatoes." She opened her eyes wide. "It is time for lunch and you are staying, of course."

The child came in, and he was scrubbed until he looked polished before he came to the table. The lunch was delicious. Hilde had made the soup and the bread. Beatrice could not remember when she had eaten homemade bread before, or when she had tasted anything so good. Nor had she the least desire to leave when the dishes were washed and dried, and the little boy had been put to bed for his nap.

"This has been so much fun," Hilde said when Beatrice was ready to leave.

"Is there anything you want?" Beatrice asked.

Hilde pressed her hands, those capable hands of hers that could do anything, against Beatrice's. "What is there for me to want? I have everything."

"More than you need," Beatrice told her gravely. "It overflows into others and replenishes them. Thank you, Hilde."

She sighed deeply as she went down the narrow path to the car that would take her to Mrs. Ramey.

The fact that Mrs. Ramey's house had far too much furniture in it pressed upon Beatrice's consciousness more keenly today than usual when Jenny, the maid, admitted her into the vast hall, and told her that Mrs. Ramey was in the upstairs library and expecting her. And as the timid Jenny took her coat, Beatrice pondered what she had heard many times—that the only reason Jenny stayed with Mrs. Ramey was because the old woman "had something on Jenny." Though no one would probably ever know, it was certainly true that Jenny did not remain either out of affection for her employer, or for a good salary. For it was perfectly obvious to anyone that Jenny was afraid of Mrs. Ramey and it was well known, for Jenny had told it, that she received far less compensation for her work than any of her friends in similar positions. As her thoughts went from Jenny to the house again, it occurred to Beatrice that the reason for the overcrowding of furniture was in keeping with Mrs. Ramey's character. She would not give anything away.

As she mounted the dreary stairs she wondered how many years it had been since the house had been decorated. More important, she wondered how long ago it had been since it had been opened to the air and sun. It smelled damp and stuffy. The long draperies, of a nauseating green color, forbid the willing sunlight to enter just as, Beatrice thought, the cheerless entrance discouraged guests. The stone in her heart seemed to be growing, weighing her down until she felt she was suffocating. Her feet dragged on the last steps. When at last she stood on the second floor, she stopped and closed her eyes—a brief respite from these dark walls and the cold flashy eyes of Mrs. Ramey's forebears that looked down at her from their portraits. Why in heaven's name was she so proud of them?

And then she thought, It's all gone, and the peace and joy I knew from sitting in Hilde's rocking chair and eating her good food and seeing the purity in her face. Beside her I am a pauper. And I am dirty because this house makes me feel dirty, not physically but spiritually, because I've sold my soul to the avarice and loveliness it represents. You and I, Porter, both of us. We let our ambition lead us to jail, to one not knowing where the other is, to David, to Bonnie, to ruin—And everyone calls us a success. We have brought this wreckage, this bitterness and estrangement upon ourselves. God help us.

Mrs. Ramey was sitting in a chair beside the desk when Beatrice went in. Somehow the room had never seemed so large, or Mrs. Ramey so forbidding as now. Beatrice felt herself shrink inside her clothes as the old woman's darting eyes indicated her impatience at having to wait.

"I thought you'd come, Beatrice." She sat so stiffly that only her lips and eyes moved. Not a muscle moved in her one hand that held the cane, or the other that lay on the arm of the ancient chair that was as imperial in appearance as Mrs. Ramey herself.

Beatrice sat in the chair before the desk. "I'm sorry, but I didn't say any specific time."

Mrs. Ramey looked her over very carefully from her trim legs, up past the becoming red suit, to her face, so unusually pale that the brightness of her mouth was accentuated, and to the top of her dark head. "You're not looking well, Beatrice. No, you're not looking well at all."

She knows something, Beatrice thought. And she's trying to find out if I know.

"There's nothing wrong with me," Beatrice insisted. "And I'm ready to help you."

"Oh, yes. Yes, of course. The guest list and all those irritating details attached to having a few women in to tea."

"If you feel that way about it, why do you bother with it?" She pushed her hair back entirely unconscious that the wind had blown it into a state of charming disorder. She thought, If only when I'm with her I could stop exploring my feelings and stop being honest about them. Why am I so porous and vulnerable? Why can't I be more callous; more insensitive? But I don't want to be!

Mrs. Ramey so intensely disliked direct questions that she rarely answered them. One who would not explain her motives, Beatrice thought, could never be considered in the wrong regardless of how a thing turned out.

To Buy Or Sell Record Ads Ring The Bell

Yes indeed, those little Record ads can—and do accomplish a lot. Here are just a few instances which illustrate the power they pack:

REGULATION ping-ping table with net and paddles. Excellent condition. Reasonable. RA. 5829.

Sylvia Solinger, 28 N. Warren-av., first advertised her ping-pong equipment in a downtown paper (tsk! tsk!). Result: Not a single call. After seeing the light, she placed a Record want ad. Result: The equipment sold on the first of five calls.

A three-piece bedroom suite was advertised in the Record by George Watters, 829 Binns-blvd. It was sold at 4 p. m. on the day of publication. Three callers inquired about it before 10:0.

If you can't find the item you're looking for in the "For Sale" columns of the Record, why not place a "Wanted" ad, as did Mrs. Gladys Lamb, 181 S. Sylvan-av. It read like this:

WANTED—Girl's bike, 24 in. or 26 in. RA. 4421.

She found a bike quickly, and received "at least five calls."

The third was a "charm" for J. L. Johnson, 206 N. Hague-av, who found a buyer for his 1936 Chevrolet, through the Record.

Since she was moving out of the state, a W. Broad-st lady inserted an ad listing various household furnishings. She tells us: "I sold seven-eighths of the items offered for sale."

Take advantage of the fruitful market right here in your own community. Get on the bandwagon—join the thousands of satisfied Record Want Ad advertisers. Call RA. 1125 today.

In 1911 the first American aviation pilot's license was issued to Glenn Curtiss.

People who have been observing her during the last several months think she is making a conscientious effort to imitate the asthmatic wheezes of one of her friends."

"Dorothy," who is 15 years of age, made a satisfactory adjustment at home and at school through her 11th year. At that time she and nine younger children in the family were placed in the children's home because neighbors complained that the parents were neglecting the children. Since then Dorothy has started to steal. At first she took small gadgets which had little value. Lately, however, she has been stealing rather large sums of money. She has completed grade school."

Three groups of children are referred to the bureau, the state of Ohio bearing the entire expense: (1) juvenile court cases; (2) children voluntarily referred by parents, social agencies, legal guardians, physicians and children's homes; and (3) the director of public welfare may delegate to the bureau children for examination within the Department of Public Welfare.

Heading the unique system is Dr. Maurice Newburger, executive psychologist, who resides at 180 S. Powell-av.

A product of the Cincinnati school system and the University of Cincinnati, he was employed by the Queen City Board of Education as teacher of psychology in a correctional school there.

Prior to his appointment as executive psychologist at the Bureau of Juvenile Research, May 1, 1947, he was identified with the Franklin County Court of Domestic Relations for 16 months and has been at the Bureau of Juvenile Research since 1941.

Competent and well trained for his responsibilities, he commands the respect of his staff and subjects alike.

Developing a sense of responsibility and self assurance, where possible, among the boys and girls is one aim of the center; incidentally, twice as many boys as girls are at present residents there.

The younger children may be given only such simple duties as taking care of their clothes, dusting, helping keep their bathroom clean, helping keep their playrooms in order and helping to make the beds. The older children may be assigned to help in the laundry, dining room or kitchen. Some may be assigned to prepare the trays for the children who are in the hospital. Others are assigned to work on the grounds with the maintenance man.

The most coveted assignments are those of carrying messages from one part of the grounds to another. When a boy or girl is assigned such a job he or she realizes that trustworthiness is one of the most important qualifications.

"When we can place such confidence in a child it helps him gain confidence in himself," says Dr. Newburger.

In all instances the work assignment does not interfere with the child's periodic examinations or schoolwork. It is rather an activity which offers the child a constructive occupation between examinations when he is not in school or on the playgrounds.

The bureau conducts a school program which is twofold. In the first place, each child is given a battery of educational achievement tests to help determine whether his present school attainment is the best that reasonably could be expected.

In the second place, the child is offered school work appropriate for his needs. Sometimes this merely consists of helping him keep up with some of his school work while he is at the bureau.

Quite a few children are referred to the bureau who have the ability to read but who, for some reason or other, have not yet learned to read. They are given instruction in school work activity which will help prepare them for reading.

Whether a child requires a long series of complex scientific psychological tests or merely needs to be shown understanding by a person who understands his problem, the experienced BJR staff will always be ready to help him, making useful citizens out of those who otherwise would be headed for a life of crime or imprisonment.

Odd Fact

A defeated candidate for an office in Dunn, N. C., placed an ad in the local newspaper congratulating the winners and thanking those who did not vote for him, saying he had just learned how badly the town was in need.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—The town is beginning to empty out for the summer. Manhattan is coming into its own; for two months of the year this is the finest of all places to be, for the simple reason that no one else is here.

It now becomes possible to get a seat at any movie, to jaywalk in the streets with only a minimum chance that you will be knocked lopsided, to sit pensively in a coolbar and meditate without having some oaf put his elbow into your beer because he wants to get a better view of the wrestling on television, and—almost—to get a seat in the subway.

This seasonal departure of the rats from the ship that always seems to be sinking into the Slough of Despond during July and August but never does, has had its effect on the legitimate theater. A swift look at the show advertisements reveals that just 13 plays and musicals are still with us. Two of these are old and hoary ones that have weathered previous summers—A Streetcar Named Desire and Born Yesterday—and the others, most of them, are the smash hits of the past winter, which presumably are going to fight their way through the dog days.

There is an ice show in town and Olsen and Johnson have taken over Madison Square Garden for a display of their peculiar arts, but these are outside the fold. The legitimate productions number 13, and while the best bit of theater on Broadway—Martita Hunt in The Madwoman of Chaillot—has shut down for eight weeks and will not reopen until late in August when the Lindy's set has returned in a community barrel from Saratoga Springs, it is possible to see such good entertainment as Mister Roberts, Death of a Salesman and South Pacific. I take part of that back. These are the theatrical doldrums, but if you get a seat to South Pacific before Christmas week, it is likely you will be burned at the stake as a [illegible].

The straw playhouses in and around the New England-New Jersey area have begun to function, and the burning-eyed young Mary Martins and Lee Cobbs of tomorrow may find employment of a sort in them, but if they come to Broadway with $45 in pocket, press clippings of their successes in the West Hoboken little theater movement and the address of the Rehearsal club in one determined little hand, they may be startlingly disillusioned.

Thirteen shows cannot accommodate a thousand young geniuses. Besides, they're all cast. It is six, two and even that if you come to New York looking for an acting job this summer, you are going to end up dispensing orange juice and hamburgers to stenographers on their lunch hour.

• • • • •

BEARING THIS DISMAL PICTURE IN MIND, I unearthed from my bookshelf today a tome called How to Crash Broadway—one small section of which may help the Garboe and Barrymores over the rough spots.

This is a gaudy orange volume published in 1939 for a buck and written by two young souls named Louise Howard and Jeron Griswell, who billed it as The Authoritative Handbook for a Successful Theatrical Career. There are all kinds of helpful hints in it, but I am most intrigued by a page labeled "A Creed for Theatrical Success."

It announces in part, that: "(1) I am not falsely encouraged or discouraged by anyone, (2) I keep my poise under any condition, (3) I try at all times to be the individual I want to be, (4) I daily develop and improve my talent, (5) I keep my body free from dissipation and my mind clean and alert"—and so on.

Number 10 is worth mentioning. "The success I seek is seeking me, for I refuse to recognize failure."

These are noble thoughts, but it might be a little judicial to include one or two resolutions of a more practical nature. We might try this one, for example: I Will Make It My Business to Wangle a Date to El Morocco Some Night When a Big Producer Is There, and I am Not the Girl I Think I am if I Cannot Wiggle My Way Into an Acquaintanceship With Him.

Or, for another: I Will Try to Work a Little Blackmail on Vincent Sardi So That He Will Be Forced to Give Me a Good Table for Luncheon in His Restaurant, and From Then on I am on My Own.

Or still another: It Is All Right to Make Talk About This Genius-Will-Out Stuff, But I Will Never Forget That I am a Woman and a Producer Is a Man and There Is no Harm Letting Him See I Have a Well-Turned Ankle.

For the cold, cold truth of it is that, while occasionally a Hepburn or Mary Martin may fight her way through the festung Products and become famous through talent alone, it is still a lot easier to make your way by Knowing Somebody or by using all the unfair womanly assets.

It is a rule that applies also to that handmaiden of the theater, press agentry. The best woman press agent in New York accomplishes her best news breaks by sitting down in a chair next to a columnist, crossing her legs demurely, putting her beautiful big brown eyes three inches away from the newspaperman's and breathing "Henry—how wonderful to see you again!"

So be it with a would-be Duse. Genius might win the race for her, but the bookies always bet that Female Behavior takes the lead at the eighth pole and is three lengths ahead and going away at the wire.

FUN AT FAIR

Dipping, whirling, turning on the new Screwball ride on the midway at the Ohio State Fair Kiddie Day, Sept. 2, will be one of the quick ways to have fun. Children under 12 can ride for 10c on this special day.

Show Horse Shows Off—Bites Master

"Peanut," one of the show horses at the fair, bit the hand that feeds him, so to speak. He belongs to Joe Myers, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Myers, 299 S. Richardson-av.

Peanut was acting like any respectable horse should during most of the playing of musical chair, one of the features of the show held in the Coliseum on the fairgrounds Saturday afternoon. That is, until he and Joe were among the last three participants in the game. By that time Peanut was getting tired of the game or maybe he was just excited. But anyway he reached out and planted his teeth right in Joe's ring finger! And mangled it enough that five stitches had to be taken. And to top it all off they only came in third in the game.

Joe and Peanut are from Mt. Sterling, O.

Words of the Wise

It is necessary to look forward as well as backward, as some think it always necessary to regulate their conduct by things that have been done of old times; but that past which is so presumptuously brought forward as a precedent for the present, was itself founded on an alteration of some past that went before it. —(Madame de Stael)

Hearing On Petition To Annex For September 20, 1949

The City of Columbus, Fixed Joan Heights Subdivision To

resolution and moved the adoption of the same, which was duly seconded by Vigor:

BE IT RESOLVED, By the Board of Commissioners of Franklin County, Ohio, that the petition for the annexation of certain contiguous territory to the City of Columbus, Ohio, signed by Gordon W. Granbach, et al, being the majority of the freeholders in said territory, to-wit:

Being the Joan Heights Subdivision as shown on County Auditor's map M-32a-B, Franklin Twp. And being more particularly described as follows: Beginning at a point in the corporation line of the City of Columbus and the west line of Southampton Avenue, thence northwardly with the west line of Southampton Avenue to the center line of the alley south of Hanby Avenue; Valley View Drive), thence eastwardly with the center of said alley to the east line of Algonquin Avenue; thence southwardly with the said east line of Algonquin Avenue to the corporation of the city of Columbus, thence westwardly with the said corporation line to the west line of Southampton Avenue and the place of beginning.

together with a map of said territory accompanying said petition, filed with the Board on the 12th day of July, 1949, and presented to the Board at a regular session thereof held this 18th day of July, 1949, be and the same are hereby ordered filed in the office of the County Auditor; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, By the Board of County Commissioners that a hearing upon said petition shall be held commissioners of Franklin County, Ohio, at the Court House, at 10 A. M., eastern standard time, on the 20th day of September, 1949; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners be and hereby is directed to notify the agent of the petitioners of the time and place of said hearing.

Voting Aye thereon: Harry T. Vigor and Nathan A. McCoy, Jr. Absent and not voting: C. F. Lauderbaugh.

In Great Britain mermaids were said to live in lakes as well as in the sea. In Germany it was common to speak of these being as "nixies." There was a dark ending to the German stories of nixies who moved in the lives of people.

9-Year-Old Girl Will Take Part In Mt. Sterling Rodeo

Nine-year-old Marianne Huffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Ralph Huffman of Harrisburg, will be one of the youngest contestants at the Mt. Sterling Western Horse Club show Sept. 4.

Marianne will ride "Billy Boy" as her entry in the show. This is the little girl's third year in the club competition.

Club officers said that all types of horses will be featured in the show. Buckeye buckaroos will participate in a calf roping event also, a contest which shows the teamwork of horse and rider at its best.

Two complete shows are scheduled. Afternoon events begin at 1 p. m. and the evening program opens at 7:30 p. m. Ten classes are slated for each show, with the winners sharing trophies, cash awards and ribbons. The event will be a 10-point show, under the rules set up by the Ohio Western Horse Association.

Show features will include cattle cutting, which stimulates the working conditions of the western cowboy; three children's classes; a western hitch class; ladies' class; palomino, spotted, plain-colored, pony, contest classes and many others.

In case of inclement weather, the show will be held the following Sunday, Sept. 11. The rodeo field is located on the 3C Highway south of St. Sterling.

Green Cabs Win Senior Knothole League Trophy

By Dave Miller

Green Cabs added another trophy to their already full trophy case last Thursday evening by downing Wyandotte A. C. 8-3 in the finals of the Senior Knothole League at Red Bird Stadium.

The Cabs took advantage of the wildness of Dick Malone, Wyandotte pitcher, to cop the rather easy win. A five run fifth inning was the damaging part to Wyandotte's hopes, and scattered runs in the earlier innings were the tallies marked up by the Cabmen.

Wyandotte scored three runs in their part of the third frame after the Cabbies had two in the third and one in the second. The ultimate losers scored in the third on Dan Paolini's error of Malone's hopper, a fielder's choice, and hits by Tim Hill, Jim Martin and Gene Morgan along with an error by left-fielder Dick Kirk.

Green Cabs scored one in the second on John Wolfe's double, an infield out and Don Skipper's single to right. They tallied two in the third on a hit-batsman, a fielder's choice, and Dick Kirk's towering triple to the scoreboard in extreme left-center field. Paolini walked, but Malone struck out Wolfe and forced Phil Young to pop out to end the frame.

The roof fell in on Malone and Co. in the Cabs' fifth inning when five runs crossed the plate for the locals. Dick Kirk led off by walking and Paolini, Wolfe and Young all singled in consecutive order. A walk to Skipper loaded the bags and another free pass to Skip Barker, Green Cabs pitcher, forced in a tally to make the score 6-3. The final two runs for the Cabmen scored on Jackie Wilson's line single to left and ended the scoring for the evening.

Top hitter of the night was Johnny Wolfe, Cabmen shortstop, who collected three hits, a double and two singles for four trips.

A player-umpire fracas occurred after the game between umpire Jim McClintock and a couple of Wyandotte A. C. players. Eddie Zoog argued considerably with McClintock after the ex-Ohio-Indiana league umpire called him out on strikes in the Wyandotte half of the fourth inning.

Rev. Hill Given Surprise Tribute On 74th Birthday

Much to the surprise of Rev. Charles E. Hill, the choir commenced singing "Happy Birthday to You" at the close of chapel service at the Columbus State Hospital last Sunday.

As the singing finished, Mr. Schmidt, supervisor of men, came forward and presented Rev. Hill with a suitcase and pen and pencil set from the employes and patients. It was Rev. Hill's 74th birthday. For the past six years he has been first chaplain of the hospital and its 2400 patients.

Claiming that he was too much surprised to make adequate reply at the time, Rev. Hill said today that he wished to sincerely thank all of those giving the gifts. "Such things are what make life worth while," he added.

St. Aloysius Wins Over Glenwood 5-0

Last night, on Westgate's No. 1 Diamond, Glenwood Methodist, got their ears pinned back to the tune of 5 to 0. St. Aloysius took the lead in the second inning when Breitenicher scored on Sweeney's bunt down the first base line.

Hits were scarce and runs scarcer until the sixth, when Devlin scored on a bad throw to third by Remington. But it took a wild seventh to polish off Glenwood. With two out, Miller booted Southworth's hot roller, Richards walked, advancing Southworth to second. Devlin clouted a double to Center, scoring both Southworth and Richards. Breitenicher then raised a high one back of second, which, falling free for a hit, scored Devlin. Medwick grounded out, short to first, ending a heart breaker for Dawson.

The Glenwood boys seemed unable to fathom Rebholtz's offerings. Having five strike-outs and one free pass, he held Glenwood to four well scattered hits, one each in the second, third, sixth and seventh. The highlight was a bunt down the first base line by Dawson, who took second on Sweeney's overthrow to first.

'Y' Nine Drops Two 16-2, 18-9

By Joe Hutt

The "Y" suffered two defeats last Wednesday and Thursday at the hands of the Wildcats by the score of 16 to 2 and by Burgess 18-9. Highland defeated Burgess by 12-6. The game between the Wildcats and Highland was postponed by agreement of the managers.

In Wednesday's games the Wildcats ran over the "Y" by the score of 16 to 2. Redman, pitcher of the cats, limited the "Y" to two hits, both by Reeves of the "Y". C. Potts hit three for four times at bat, one being a homerun.

Burgess trampled the "Y" Thursday by the score of 13 to 9 as they took over at the end of the fourth inning and never let up. Jack Koch, "Y" right-fielder, had a good day at bat while hitting two for three. George McCoy, "Y" pitcher, scattered seven hits but was not effective in the tight squeezes as he walked 12 men. Center-fielder Thomas of Burgess hit four for four times up.

Greenfield To Have Sesqui-Centennial

A big four day celebration will get under way Friday and continue through Monday at Greenfield, O., when the town observes its sesqui-centennial . . . 150 years.

Long beards, fancy moustaches and goatees are the style of the day for Greenfield men. On Friady afternoon the governor will be on hand to participate in the event at which time Rt. 28 will officially be dedicated as the Duncan MacArthur Highway in honor of the town's founder.

Saturday afternoon a big parade is scheduled and then in the evening four dances are scheduled. Other events include a large pageant, fireworks, antique displays and all the trimmings that go with such a celebration.

In connection with the event The Greenfield Daily Times has published a sesqui celebration souvenir edition with a total of 132 full size newspaper pages. Work on the edition was started in May and has resulted in the largest paper ever published in the town, and one of the largest in the state. Over eight tons of paper were used. It contains over 200 pictures, has more than 375 individual displays ads totaling over 15,000 column inches of advertising.

Copies of this edition will be available at the Record office Friday.

Former Greenfielders are invited to visit the city during the sesqui . . .

Hilltop Musician Is Scioto Drowning Victim

Glenn Harriman and Richard Houk

Richard Houk, 664 S. Burgess-av, 24-year-old Hilltop musician, drowned Tuesday afternoon when a sailboat in which he was riding with his partner, Glenn K. Harriman, 26, of 170 N. Wayne-av capsized.

The accident occurred just south of the Girls' Industrial School in the Scioto River. Harriman was rescued by two motorists who stopped at the scene.

The two were co-owners of the Scarlet and Gray Orchestra, and were scheduled to play at the West High School Alumni musical, "Do You Remember", Thursday, Sept. 8.

Harriman, a music teacher at Franklin Junior High School, said the boat, owned by him, capsized when hit by a sudden "puff of wind."

Said Harriman:

"We weren't panicky or anything. Dick had a cramp in his foot and held onto the mast of the boat while I swam around trying to gather our clothing.

"I didn't think the boat would float two of us, and told Dick I was going to swim for shore. He asked me what he should do. I told him to stay with the boat, but he wanted to come with me. I asked him if he thought he could make it OK and he said yes. So we started out.

"We swam a long way. It must have been about 130 yards. A squall hit about that time, and the waves were getting big. When we were only about 20 yards from shore, Dick, who was a little behind and to the left of me, said he was giving out.

"I went back and tried to help him. I saw a man start from shore with a line. Somebody shoved my head under water, and that's all I knew until they dragged me out on the bank."

Delaware County sheriff's deputies and Harriman recovered Houk's body at 6 p. m., almost four hours after the drowning. Harriman's watch stopped when he was thrown into the water, at 2:06 p. m.

The State Highway Patrol, Delaware city police and Franklin County deputies also dragged the river at the spot where Houk went under. The water is about 30 feet deep.

Delaware Chief of Police Leonard Huffman estimated width of the river at 250 yards.

Harriman was rescued by Ralph R. Geer, Sr., 31 and Billy J. Haught, 24, both of Newark, who, with Haught's wife, were returning from an afternoon of fishing along the river.

Mrs. Haught said they stopped when they saw the overturned boat and a highway department truck ahead stopped.

Witnesses said Haught took a line from the highway truck and swam out to Harriman, tying the end to his wrist.

When the winch on the truck started to haul the line in, it snapped. Geer then swam out, grabbed the broken end of the line and pulled Haught and Harriman in.

Houk, a senior at Ohio State University, was graduated from West High School in 1942 and was a veteran of World War II, with three years of overseas service in the European theater.

He played with service bands in eight European countries.

He had played professionally in many Columbus dance orchestras for the past 12 years. He and Harriman had purchased the Scarlet and Gray Orchestra, formerly the Don Crawford Orchestra, last year.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Houk, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Randy L. Warner, all of the Burgess-av address, and two aunts, Mrs. Howard Hagans, 599 S. Burgess-av, and Mrs. Irwin Smith, 2115 Margaret-av.

Friends may call at the Jerry Spears Funeral Home. Services will be at 1:30 Friday, followed by burial in Sunset Cemetery.

Twp. Zoning Changes Are Approved

Several changes were approved in zoning regulations in Franklin Twp. Monday night by the Franklin County Rural Zoning Commission in a meeting at the township hall.

The board approved changing of the southeast corner of Plainview-dr and Wilson-rd from residential to local commercial.

A change was approved to allow construction of a grain elevator by the Eshelman Grain Co. south of the Ternstedt plant.

The southwest corner of Alkire rd and the 3C Highway was approved for local commercial zoning. Approval was made to change zoning on the 3C Highway between Briggsdale and Parkin-rd to general commercial from residential. Acreage along the B and O Railroad was approved for light industry with modifications.

The commission did not grant a request to change the zoning in the northeast block of Briggsdale on the east side of the 3C Highway to commercial.

A proposal to change the four corners of Frank-rd and the 3C Highway to commercial was tabled.

Changes recommended by the Rural Zoning Commission will go to the Franklin County Planning Commission where action must be taken on them within 20 days. Final approval must be made by the county commissioners.

There has been only one instance of the commissioners reversing the decision of the planning commission since the township zoning law went into effect.

Clinic-Carnival To Open Grid Year At U. Arlington

A large following of West High School football team will attend the grid clinic-carnival to be held on the Upper Arlington field Friday, Sept. 9, at 8 p. m. Taking part in the affair will be teams from Grandview, Linden McKinley and Circleville High Schools, in addition to the Bears of Arlington.

The clinic-carnival, the first of its type ever to be held here, will replace the usual intra-squad clinic staged by the Upper Arlington Athletic Department before the season's opening.

It will serve to pry off the lid of the 1949 football season and will give followers of the teams an insight of the type of ball they will display this season.

West High School will play Upper Arlington in a regular season game Sept. 23.

'Y' Week-End Hike Set For Sept. 10, 11

The Central Ohio Hiking Club of the YMCA will have its annual co-ed week-end Sept. 10 and 11 at Camp Willson. A $3.00 deposit is required for reservation. The entire fee must be paid by Sept. 7, closing date for reservations. Activities will include swimming, boating, hiking, dancing, volleyball, badminton, ping-pong and horseshoes. Buses will leave the "Y" at 40 W. Long-st at 2 p. m. on Saturday and return Sunday evening.

Ogden-av Man Charged With Hit-Skip Death of 2 Briggsdale Children

A Hilltop man, one of the city's chief labor leaders, is under arrest today under a charge of second degree manslaughter in the hit-skip death of two Briggsdale children. He was accused of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, reckless operation, and speeding.

The auto of William H. E. Spratley, Jr., 106 N. Ogden-av, ran off the 3C Highway at Briggsrd in Briggsdale, and plowed through a group of 12 children, killing two and injuring two others, shortly before midnight Tuesday, and then returned to the highway and sped away.

Spratley is president of the Columbus CIO council, chairman of the Franklin County CIO Political Action Committee, and field representative of the United Steel Workers-CIO in District No. 27.

Highway patrolmen said Spratley admitted he was the driver of the death car.

Fatally injured were Sadie Moore, 16, and Larry Moore, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. Vanity Moore, 1570 Harrisburg-pk. They died in Mt. Carmel Hospital between 2 and 3 a. m. Wednesday.

James Moore, 13, a brother of the dead children, is in fair condition in Children's Hospital suffering head lacerations and a possible neck injury.

Frankie Wade, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo F. Wade, 2391 Midland-av, was treated in White Cross Hospital for cuts on the head and a light concussion and later released.

Witnesses told highway patrolmen the group of 12 children were walking "well off the roadway," returning from a movie at the CCC Auto Theater, when an auto swerved off the road and bore down on them.

Highway Patrolmen Steve Hobar and R. E. Hoskey, who were dispatched to investigate the accident, were told that the auto pulled back into the highway and sped away from the scene, continuing south in Rt. 3.

After questioning a score of witnesses and spectators, Patrolman Hobar learned that two men who were involved in a fight at the Shade Grill, 733 Harrisburg-pk, about five minutes before the tragedy occurred, were seen weaving south in Route 3.

Witnesses gave patrolmen a description of the car and other witnesses the companion.

City police went to the Spratley home at 106 N. Ogden-av and found him asleep on a davenport. Patrolman Hobar said the alleged death car, a 1949 Kaiser which showed evidence of damage, was parked in front of the house.

At first, Spratley appeared to be dazed. He denied knowledge of the accident but later admitted he was the driver of the car. Patrolman Hobar said. He added that Spratley fell as he was entering their cruiser and emergency squadmen were called to take him to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment of a face cut.

Police chemists said a urinalysis test, taken shortly after Spratley was arrested, showed evidence that he had been drinking. Extent of the alcohol content was not revealed.

Also at the home and held as a material witness was Bud E. Nibert, 40, of 62 Lotz-rd, Grove City, who admitted being in the car with Spratley.

He said they had fought in the tavern and Spratley was shoved downstairs and struck his head on the concrete pavement outside.

Nibert said they then got in the car and started south in 3C Highway with Spratley at the wheel.

Nibert said Spratley kept holding his head, "sometimes with both hands, and I tried to keep the car going straight." Then they ran off the road and Nibert said he thought they struck a guardrail.

"I didn't know we hit any kids," Nibert told Holden and Hoskey.

The father of the dead children works at night at the Columbus Rendering Co.

Bodies of the youngsters were taken to the Norris Funeral Home in Grove City.

Funeral will be at 2 p. m. Friday in Reeb Avenue Church of Christ in Christian Union. Burial will be in Concord Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

150 'STRIKE GOLD' IN HILLTOP BRANCH LIBRARY FORTY-NINER SUMMER READING CLUB EXERCISES

Members of the summer reading club look on (top) as assistant librarians Lavonne Beard and Pat West appear as "Sammy and Susie." Mildred Phalor, librarian, gives diplomas to David Kendall, Charlene Armstrong, John Gioson, Charlene Anna Holton and Judy Ann Jester (lower left). And in the last picture Mrs. Frances Emrick poses with the display representing Ohio, first step in the trip to California.
(Photos by Herb Topy)

"California or Bust" was the motto as 399 children registered at the Hilltop Branch Library last May for the 49ers Summer Reading Club.

Success came last week to nearly 150 of them who completed the trip to the gold fields. Just like many of the original gold seekers of a century ago, the group left from the East Coast via covered wagon.

The Hilltop version of the covered wagon was cut from cardboard. Each child starting on the trip colored his own wagon.

Reading three books allowed him to place it on a table representing Ohio, on 1849 Ohio where buffalo roamed the countryside and Indians inhabited the forests. Reading three more books advanced the wagon to the Mississippi River. The Rocky Mountains were the next stop, before the final jump to the gold fields of California.

Many of the children read more than the necessary 15 books during the summer. Some even made the complete cross-country trip two or three times.

The children ranged in age from six years to 13. One of the rules of the gold rush was that they all had to read books in their own age group.

Last week the summer reading club closed and diplomas were presented to the successful "prospectors" by Mildred Phalor, the librarian.

Surprise entertainers at the presentation were "Sammy" and "Susie", the midgets from "Log Cabin Gap", one of the favorite books of the club. Sammy and Susie were present in the form of Bib Puppets. They looked very much like assistant librarians Pat West and Lavonne Beard. Virginia Witherspoon and Bethrat Beard had a hand in the show too.

Sammy and Susie told stories and danced for the group. The hit of the show was an original 49er song written especially for the occasion by Miss West and Miss Beard.

At the end of the entertainment Mrs. Frances Emrick who was in charge of the summer reading group, opened a "treasure chest" and passed out lucky gold pieces to all who were present. And just to prove that the lucky pieces were really lucky everyone was given some candy.

Sherick Dancing School Opens Sept. 6

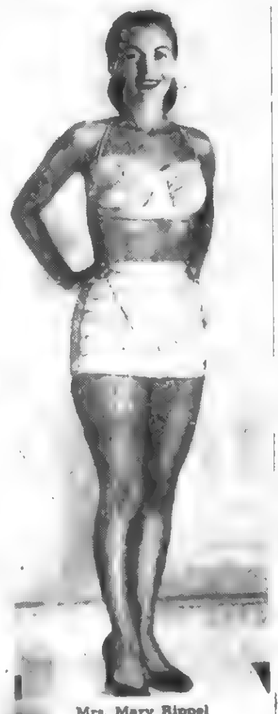
When Jack Sherick re-opens his dancing school Sept. 6, it will mark his 20th year as a dancing instructor. Besides teaching tap, Mr. Sherick will teach professional routines.

Other teachers on his staff will include Jorg Fasting, advanced ballet; Gilbett Ervin, beginners' and children's ballet and acrobatic; Vicky Paige, tap and baton, and Georgia Gay, tap and ballet.

Bill Masters Returns To Stage In Alumni Show

Bill Masters

Bill Masters will return to his first love, tap dancing, on Sept. 8 when the Alumni show, "Do You Remember?", comes to the West High stage. Bill has been off the stage for the past four months recuperating from a leg injury suffered while working at Lustron in his off season.



Better known to most of the younger people as "Bobbie Bill Masters," he has come a long way since playing his first professional role when he was only 13 years old. His first major job was at the age of 16 when he appeared with Frankie Masters and his orchestra. Before turning professional, Bill played in five Hilltop Minstrel Shows, his first being when he was only nine years old. His last appearance was in the 1946 show in which he was billed as one of the main features. In June of 1946 Bill joined the navy and spent 22 months over in the South Pacific. It was there that he was chosen from his group to dance with Elliot Lawrence and Stan Kenton.

Upon returning from the service in April, 1948, Bill took a job as instructor at Jimmy Rawlins'. In addition to Frankie Masters, Bill has danced with Tony Pastor and Eddie Haywood in such places as the Castle Farm outside Cincinnati, Beverly Hills Night Club and Lookout House in Kentucky and the Click Club, owned and operated by the famous Frank Daly in downtown Philadelphia.

Truly another star has been added to the already star-studded Alumni Show in the addition of Bill Masters.

Tickets for the alumni show, "Do You Remember?", are on sale at the following places: Superior Drugs, Broad and Whitethorne; Esquire Men's Shop, Broad and Terrace; Georgiton's, Broad and Hague; Caps Drugs, Sullivant and Whitethorne; and Better Home Center, Broad and Hague. Reserved seats will be on sale Sept. 6, 7 and 8 at Campbell's Pharmacy, 2766 W. Broad-st.

Finding New Bathing Suit Problem of Mrs. Columbus

Mrs. Mary Rippel

Finding a bathing suit is the big worry of Mrs. Mary Rippel, Hilltop model who was recently chosen Mrs. Columbus.

"Suits are pretty well picked over this late in the season and I may have to go to New York to shop for one," she said today.

Mrs. Rippel, who lives at 708 S. Hague-av, will represent Columbus in the Mrs. America competition at Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 10 and 11.

This 26-year-old housewife has blue-gray eyes and brown hair. Her beauty is accented by a deep suntan, obtained during weekends at the Rippel cottage at Buckeye Lake. Being the outdoor type, Mrs. Rippel's favorite hobby is water skiing.

An Andre' Correlli model, Mrs. Rippel has appeared in many fashion shows in Columbus stores.

In case you're interested in statistics, here are her measurements:

Height	5 ft. 7 in.
Weight	126
Waist	26
Bust	36
Hips	36

They are Walter K. Powell, bachelor of science in education, of Harrisburg; Ned W. Bynner, bachelor of science in education; Jack J. Schell, bachelor of electrical engineering; and Mary E. Shade, bachelor of science in education; all of Hilliards.

Dr. Wilbur W. White, president of the University of Toledo, will deliver the commencement address to the 1,300 graduates.

Parade, Contests, Dancing On Schedule For Galloway Homecoming Labor Day

There will be activity, prizes, round and square dancing and entertainment for all at the 14th annual homecoming celebration in Galloway on Labor Day. Holiday celebrants will have a chance to view everything from flower displays to ladies chasing chickens in the day-long celebration.

The program will get off to a good start with the opening of the refreshment stand and serving of chicken dinners by the local Ladies' Aid Society in the church.

Flag raising ceremonies follow this at 1 p. m. in the Galloway school yard, followed by the grand parade at 1:30.

The parade will be divided into four divisions, doll, pet, bicycle and comic. The doll and pet divisions will be restricted to children 14 years of age and under, while the other divisions will be open to all.

Prizes will be awarded to the three top participants in the four divisions. The committee in charge of the parade and awarding of prizes is made up of Ida Mae Spring, Martha Mundy and Charlotte Smith.

Prizes will also be awarded in the flower, handwork, canning and cake displays. Evelyn Karn is the general chairman in charge of these contests.

Virginia Wilcox and Jean Lavely are in charge of the flower show. Prizes will be awarded to the best display of miniature flowers, the prettiest mixed bouquet, the best single dahlia, the best arranged single variety, and the best potted plant.

Geraldine Cummins and Mildred Angle are in charge of the canning displays, where prizes will be awarded on fruits and vegetables, judged by the color, size and arrangement of the display.

Handwork displays are being handled by Lucille Lavely and Ann Golladay. Prizes will be awarded for embroidery work, crocheting, knitting.

In the cake division, run by Frances Lavely and Dorothy Dellinger, prizes will be awarded for white, devil's food, and angel's food cakes.

There will be horseshoe pitching contests for the men and games for all groups of boys and girls.

An exciting time is promised as the ladies' chicken chasing contest is held at 2:30. Prize in this contest is the chicken.

A prize will also be awarded to the oldest lady and gentlemen present at the festival.

An amateur hour will be held at 7 p. m. with C. E. Peitsmeyer and Ruth Distelhorst in charge. Contestants will vie for six prizes.

Topping off the day's activities will be round and square dancing, beginning at 8 p. m. and continuing throughout the evening.

Members of the dance committee are John Pasicka, chairman, Floyd Karn, Don Worthington, Ed Lavely, Hayden Angle and Kenneth Spring.

The Galloway Booster Club, sponsor of the celebration, offers the following warning and words of advice to those attending the homecoming, "Drive home safely and come back for another good time next year."

Mrs. Stephens Weds Mr. Grayton In Aug. 18 Ceremony

A bride in an August wedding asked her grandchild to be her flower girl and her daughter and son-in-law to be her main attendants.

Mrs. Mae Stephens, 109 N. Westgate-av, was married to Mr. Albert M. Grayton, 995 S. Champion-av, Aug. 18, in the rectory of St. John the Evangelist Church on S. Ohio-av. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Clark, 2523 Ridge-av, acted as matron of honor and best man. Little Carol Lynne Clark was flower girl.

The new Mrs. Grayton is employed in the office of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The bridegroom is associated with the electrical division at the city hall.

Relatives and friends belled the newlyweds Monday night, Aug. 29, following their return from a honeymoon in the Smoky Mountains. They are making their residence at 109 N. Westgate-av.

TALL SON

You are no longer part of me
But strictly on your own,
Since you've become an entity,
So wise and overgrown.

But still my heart must yearn and
Aghast to see you go
Against the rip-tides of the sea.

STARS APPLAUD MISS DHUME AND CO.

Miss Dhume

Jeanne Dhume, a former Hilltop girl who has played the lead in numerous West High and Junior High musicals and dramatic productions, is out in Hollywood now receiving applause from some of the screen's notables.

She has been with the melodrama, "Will The Mail Train Run Tonight?" or "Love Rides The Rails" since last spring. Robert Mitchum, Lou Costello, Marsha Hunt, Charles Chaplin, Jr., and Alan Ladd were some of the stars present at the opening night of the production which has been playing at the Golden Spike Theater, formerly Hollywood Canteen) in Hollywood. It is expected to go on the road, and is closed now for reorganization.

In her role as a French maid, Jeanne has a dancing part, but has never done any serious dancing in her life. She has been in Hollywood almost three years.

With her in "Mail Train" is another Columbusite, Parke McGregor, better known as Parke Cushnie, former president of Gateway Players (now called the Columbus Light Opera Co.). The villain in the melodrama is Joe Carney, also known in this city.

Jeanne graduated from West High in 1942 and was awarded a scholarship to Ohio Northern, which she attended for a year. She also took music at Ohio State and later studied under Prof. Frank Hiatt. Her teacher when she first started singing at the age of six was Martha Masters, now director of the Hilltop Women's Chorus, of which Mrs. Dhume is a member. Mrs. Mary Riddle Walton also taught Miss Dhume.

The lyric soprano was with the Gateway Players here during and after junior high school days and played in "Naughty Marietta," "Desert Song," "Merry Widow," and others. Some of the plays in which she starred in junior high were "An Old Kentucky Garden," "Windmills of Holland," and "H. M. S. Pinafore." She had one of the leading roles in "Pirates of Penzance," a West High production.

Although Jeanne enjoys playing in a light melodrama such as "Mail Train," she hopes some time to settle down to more dramatic roles.

Mr. and Mrs. Dhume formerly lived at 46 N. Burgess-av and now reside at 1056 Franklin-av.

Rogers, Clyde Taylor Are Camp Speakers

The younger members (from the age of 10) of Immanuel Baptist, Central Baptist and Calvary Bible Churches will attend Indian Camp, northwest of Columbus, on the Scioto River, this week-end, Sept. 3 to 5. Mr. Harold Allison, a member of the faculty of the Columbus Bible Institute, will be camp director.

Featured on the program, which includes 7:45 a. m. reveille and taps at 11 p. m., are speakers Clyde Taylor of Wheaton, Ill., and Robert Rogers of Venezuela, South America. Mr. Taylor is a student at Wheaton College and has recently returned from a tour of South and Central America in connection with the Youth for Christ movement.

Mr. Rogers has been a missionary in Venezuela for the past five years.

Miss Betty Wilhelm Announces Final Plans For Wedding Sept. 3 to Mr. Louis Glieco

Final plans have been made for the marriage of Miss Betty J. Wilhelm, daughter of Mrs. John E. Kessler, 2255 W. Broad st. and Mr. Fred Wilhelm, 761 S. Harris-av, to Mr. Louis Glieco, 1368 Westwood-av, Saturday, Sept. 3, at 9 a. m. in Our Lady of Victory Church.

A breakfast following the ceremony for the bridal party and a reception at 1 p. m. at Amicon's will be held for 160 guests. Hostesses for the reception will be Mrs. Rodney Waldron, 593 Reed-av, Mrs. Fred Rector, 693 Racine-av, and Miss Lyda Distelhorst, 747 Renick-av.

Miss Wilhelm has asked Miss Esther Cenci to be maid of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Fred Kortum, to be matron of honor. Mr. Louis Colombo will attend Mr. Glieco as best man and Mr. Fred Kortum will act as usher.

Miss Wilhelm has been entertained at several pre-nuptial parties. Fifty-one present and former employes of the Community Chest surprised her with a dinner at Balcony Hall. On Aug. 26 Mrs. Hattie Middleton was hostess at a shower held at her sister's home on Powell-rd. Saturday, Aug. 27, a luncheon at the Officers' Club was followed by a shower at which Mrs. C. J. Sutherly and Mrs. Leon Heuss were hostesses. Miss Esther Cency was hostess at a garden party and shower on Aug. 30. A buffet lunch will be held Friday evening following rehearsal.

Six First Prizes Won By Girl Scouts

Bonnie Newland, member of the Grove City Girl Scout Troop No. 294, was awarded a trophy as first prize winner for her chocolate cake at the state fair this week, it was announced today. Her troop has also taken six first prizes, four second, seven third and two sixth prizes in other departments, including handicraft and art work. Their leader is Mrs. G. Allman, 2760 Big Run-rd.

Troop No. 117, under the leadership of Mrs. David Catlin, 826 S. Terrace-av, won two blue ribbons in the metal work and the flower department.

Six other Hilltop troops are aiding the Ohio Department of Health this week with service in the mobile chest x-ray unit. These trops are Nos. 8, 204, 103, 105, 107 and 188.

Odd Fact

Three masked bandits, who robbed a bank in Duesseldorf, Germany, of $16,500 stopped long enough to give water to a clerk who fainted at the sight of their guns.

Former Hilltopper Molds Figurines In Basil, O., Home

Mrs. George B. Weatherman, Basil, O., formerly of 147 S. Eureka-av, has taken up a hobby which provides both enjoyment and a livelihood for her. Since moving from Columbus she has become interested in the art of making plaster figurines and painting them. She has shown her work in Newark, Granville, Lancaster, Millersport and other cities.

Mrs. Weatherman has undertaken the instruction of advocates of that hobby and conducts classes in her Basil studio.

Mr. Weatherman was formerly a member of the Columbus Fire Department for 31 years and Mrs. Weatherman was a professional organist, and singer for musical programs in this city.

Other activities included Women's Republican Club of Ohio, Humboldt Sailers, Firemen's Wives Auxiliary, Job's Daughters, Mothers' Club, the National Woman's Party for Franklin County, Eastern Star.

Pictured are the four returning lettermen who will see duty on the West eleven this season. They are 160-pound end Jim Rudolph, 185-pound tackle Cliff Voss, 170-pound center Bob Epps, and backfielder Bill Thrush. Thrush will be out of the starting line-up due to a pulled ankle received last baseball season. (Columbus Citizen Photos)

'We're Planning To Win Every Game'--Pemberton

"We're planning to win every game," West High Football Coach Mack Pemberton told the Hilltop Kiwanis Club today. "Only three regulars are back this year, but last year and the year before we only had one regular reporting and we did all right," he added.

Pemberton said that the team lacked experience, but "they can be tough if they just believe they can." North is the team to beat this year in the city league according to the Cowboy coach.

"During the past five years we've beaten North three times, and each time we've gone on to the championship," he said. West goes up against North Sept. 30 at the Polar Bear field.

Eight seniors and three juniors will be in the starting line-up when West mets Grandview in a pre-season game today.

In the end positions will be Jim Rudolph and Eddy Sensenbrenner. Rudolph, a returning letterman dropped only one pass last season.

Dick McDermott and 195-pound Cliff Voss will hold down tackle positions on the team. Voss held down a regular position on last year's title team. McDermott, a junior, was on last year's reserve squad.

Bob Wilson and Dick Will will play guard positions as the team takes the field. Both are seniors and among five inexperienced players trying out for the guard spot.

Bob Epps, 170-pound returning regular, will hold down the center position.

In the starting backfield will be Don Nafzger at quarterback, Ronnie James and Carmine DeMatteo at halfback positions, and Walt Binkley at Fullback. Jerry Johnson, promising sophomore backfield candidate, will be out of the line-up due to a pulled tendon in his leg suffered in practice this week.

Bill Thrush, returning letterman and quarterback candidate will be benched at the beginning of the season because of a broken ankle suffered in last season's baseball campaign.

Pemberton says that the team will run exclusively from a T-formation this season. A five man line closely backed by the center will be used for defense.

Four assistants are serving on the West coaching staff this season. Fred Heischman will handle the backs, and Dave Randall the linemen. George Butcher and Chuck Owen, student teachers working with the varsity now, will run the reserve team after school starts.

GUEST

I see you there, nose pressed against the panes,
Not once remembering that you will have changed.
I see you there, half crying, all these years
You've written me that they were filled with tears.
And so they were; yet when you reach the door,
Things will not be as they were once before,
The china will be different and the room
Where love died once will be as bright as June.
New paper, and new carpet on the floor,
(One would not know my heart broke here before.)
I see you there, nose pressed against the panes,
How does one speak with tact when one has changed?

Betty Jane Balch, in her book, TO YOU, DARLING.

And Have Not Love

By MARGARET NICHOLS

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

Mrs. Ramey went on, "I shall give you the names, Beatrice, and you are to write them down as I give them to you. You can look up the addresses without my assistance. We're starting with the names first, and then we shall come to the food part of it. The paper and pen are there at your hand. Are you ready?"

"Yes, Mrs. Ramey. I'm ready."

"They are not in alphabetical order and they should be. You will do that before another year. I have, as you know, an extraordinarily tidy mind. Mrs. James P. Elson—"

Mrs. Ramey smiled if that distortion of her mouth could indeed be called a smile. She smiled in amused and sadistic contemplation.

"Mrs. Elson's first name is Rachel," she told Beatrice. "She was the most beautiful girl who came out the year I made my debut. She was flawless." She raised her brows. "You should see her now. She married for love, had five children, and she owes me ten thousand dollars that she borrowed during the depression. She pays the interest, of course . . . Miss Fanny Gray. She's a school teacher and a spinster . . . Mrs. Carlton Wadlow. He's at the plant, you know. Not very good at his job either. They live beyond their means . . . Mrs. Eleanor Judd. Divorced. Good family. She has that nursery school for which she's always begging . . . Mrs. Harry McCord. Her husband died recently. . . . Mrs. Garson Evans. You remember that, Beatrice. Her husband is in jail for income tax evasion. Poor Eva. Such a proud woman. Have you all of them, Beatrice?"

"Yes, Mrs. Ramey." Her throat felt parched. "Is . . . is that all?"

"Oh, my dear child, no. I could go on indefinitely. There's no end to them. I shall tell you when I have asked all I want to come. How many have I?"

"Six."

"Ten will be quite enough. You and I will make twelve. I could not endure more than ten cackling women. Thank goodness you don't cackle. You know your place in my home. Four more. We shall get over them quickly because I'm tired of it already. Mrs. Thomas Gerard. Mrs. Henry Davenport. Miss Eugenia Foster. Mrs. Edwin Stricker. Mrs. Gerard is the financial secretary of the church. Mrs. Davenport is, as you know, very active in local politics. Miss Foster is a gloomy old maid. And Mrs Stricker has unfortunately lived to see her ungrateful children squander everything she owned. That makes ten, doesn't it?"

Beatrice counted. "Yes, Mrs Ramey. Ten."

"Good. And that, my dear, is quite definitely that. And now we shall have to feed them." She raised her brows and looked suspiciously at Beatrice. "By the way, what do you think of the list? Some of them, the more prominent ones, you know."

Beatrice put the pen down and turned around in the chair. Her nerves were tingling and her remarkable eyes were of unusual clarity. She looked at Mrs. Ramey with a candor so disarming that the lashes of the old woman quickened and her usual pasty color changed to a hot and angry flush.

"What do I think of it?" Beatrice asked. She struggled to keep her voice in control. "I'll tell you—You asked me and I'll tell you—Every woman that you have invited is, in one way or another, obligated to you!" She turned back to the paper again and pointed at the names. "Look at them! Mrs. Elson owes you money. And Mr. Wadlow works at the plant. Mrs Judd hounds you for money to keep her little school going. Mrs Evans has been so crushed into social obscurity because of her husband's crime that she'll be grateful that you pulled her out of it. Mrs. Gerard depends upon your conscience for a large contribution. You can deduct that from your income taxes. Mrs. Davenport wants your political support. That's not all, but that's enough, and if you'd tell all, the others are obligated too!"

Mrs. Ramey sat in haughty frigid silence for a few moments. Then slowly she smiled her most hatefully patronizing smile.

"My dear Beatrice, you are very astute. Of course, it is just as you say. I have always made it a practice to cultivate people who have less than I."

"Because it increases your sense of power or because," she swallowed hard, "in this case you invite people who must pander to you because . . . because no one else will come!"

"That's a lie!" Mrs. Ramey shouted, her cane thumping against the floor.

"It is not a lie, and you know it," Beatrice said. She looked back at the list again. "Those women—not young, defenseless, impoverished, humiliated, struggling, lonely—commanded by you to come because their helplessness feeds your insatiable vanity. Once a year you open your house to them and they go back to their little rooms or their schools and envy you this overstuffed house and your diamonds. It's bad enough to have a rope around my neck, but to have those older women—your friends you call them—come crawling to you!"

"Beatrice! Mind what you say!"

But Beatrice was rising slowly from the chair. "I don't care what I say. You're a horrible old woman, unloved and unlovable!"

"Why, you ungrateful little tramp!" Mrs. Ramey shouted. "I fed you, clothed you, housed you. You are nothing in this town without me. You haven't even a college education. No decent upbringing with that flighty mother of yours! Nothing! And I was going to leave my money to you! Ha!"

"I don't want your money," Beatrice said. "I don't want your money or your diamonds or your antiques. I want nothing! I don't need it! Give it, if you can find your heart, where it is needed. Give until your heart is thawed to those whose names you don't know, so they won't have to be grateful to you. Open your windows. Open your heart. You are sealed in a tomb! You are dead!"

Livid, Mrs. Ramey banged her cane against the floor. "Stop it! Stop it this instant!"

"Change your will! Change yourself! I don't belong to you anymore, Mrs. Ramey. I'm through! I'm free! I hope I never see you again as long as I live. No, Mrs. Ramey. I'm saying No, Mrs. Ramey! Do you hear? No, Mrs. Ramey!"

Mrs. Ramey stood up, drawing herself up to her full height. She looked at Beatrice stonily, and then gave her a cold smile of triumph.

"I don't wonder you're hysterical when one considers how Porter has been carrying on with that girl. His secretary."

Beatrice lifted her hot face. She was swaying with rage and pain.

"Mrs. Ramey," she said, drawing upon a reserve she did not know she possessed. "That was your last act of cruelty to me. It was the bull's eye—right in the tenderest part of me. Good-bye, Mrs. Ramey."

News of Rome

By Mrs E. C. Sheets

Mrs. E. V. Whalen and granddaughter, Mary Jane, Cleveland, visited her daughter, Mrs. Holten, Fisher-rd, and James Whalen and family, Buena Vista-av, over last week-end.

Mrs. Grace Baird, 272 S. Harris-av, entertained with a stork shower for her niece, Mrs. Virgil Thompson (Joan Garrett), 5345 W. Broad-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Daugherty and family attended a shower for her brother, George Edgar, who was recently married. He was formerly of this community, but now of Lancaster. Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty spent Saturday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Edgar, Sugar Grove.

About 35 Lutheran ladies enjoyed a trip by chartered bus to New Philadelphia, having lunch at the Reeds Hotel and then going on to Schoenbraunn Village, Zoar Garden and the museum.

James Coss of Detroit spent the week-end with his sister, Mrs. G. T. English, taking Mrs. H. J. Coss, their mother, to her home in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stormont and family, Pasadena-av, spent Sunday in Springfield, where they attended a Stormont family affair, celebrating six birthdays.

Mrs. Grace Lamb, Lennox-av, spent several days in Waterford, visiting her sister, Mrs. Eva Allwein, who has just returned after spending a week in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Andreas (Elizabeth Snyder, formerly of Lawrence-av) and family, now of Indianapolis, are building a new home on Kenworth-rd, which they expect to occupy about the first of October.

Mrs. Leuella Butin, Gladys-rd, and her sister, Mrs. Nell Lehman, Toledo, have returned home after visiting their two sisters in Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Kent Richey entertained for her daughter Linda's seventh birthday Thursday afternoon. The guests were Tommy English, Larry Schroeder, Catherine Shaner, Kay Olson, Sandra Wallace, Marian Smith and Linda Denman.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Breckenridge have returned from a motor trip that took them down through the Cumberland and the Allegheny Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheatley and daughter, Mrs. Mina McBride, uncle, aunt and cousin of Mrs. George T. English, are visiting with her this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier are vacationing in Michigan. Their daughter, Sue, is staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Howard Breckenridge.

Golden Yeater took his daughter, Doris Jean, and Ruth Breckenridge to visit in New Martinsville, W. Va., last week. The return trip was made by uncle and aunt of Doris Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Taylor.

FENCES

Now that the kiddies are spending a lot of time out in the yard, you'll feel much safer if they're protected by a GRAVES CHAIN-LINK FENCE. These high-quality fences are an excellent safeguard against trespassers, as well as an improvement to the appearance of your property. They can be purchased on easy terms and we're prepared to erect one for you immediately.

YEAR AFTER COMPLETE PARALYSIS

THIRTEEN MONTHS AGO Robert Anusky, Philadelphia, Pa., was completely paralyzed, could move only his eyeballs. Now, on his 16th birthday, he pedals 35 miles on stationery bicycle under watchful eye of Philadelphia General hospital aide Mrs. Mary Van Benschoten. He can climb steps without any support. (International Soundphoto)

'Thatchers' Daily Doings'

Thursday, June 23

We went as far as Waterloo because we were to take a train there, an hour later, for Oxshott.

We were supposed to take the 11:52 train. We heard something over the loudspeaker system which sounded like one of the train stations we were supposed to go through on our way to Oxshott. Hurriedly we went over to the proper platform where we found that our train was ready and waiting for passengers. This was almost a half hour earlier than we had been advised of. We went aboard and soon were on our way to points south of London.

Miss DeLissa, who had visited us during the war while she was Civil Director of the Gypsy Hill School in London, had invited us to visit her today. She had told us she would meet us at the train when we arrived. As it turned out the train we took was an earlier one. We did not know there was half hour service when we heard the announcement in the Waterloo station. Thus it was that when we alighted from the train at Oxshott, there was not a soul at the station to greet us but the inevitable ticket man to collect our credentials. We sat on a bench on the station platform to wait until the next train arrived from London at which time Miss DeLissa would likely be around.

Just before the next train pulled in Miss DeLissa came around the station building to the platform. We were escorted to the local bus which carried us in a few minutes to "Ye Olde Cottage."

"Ye Olde Cottage" is a wonderful place to enjoy leisure. It is Miss DeLissa's home now, a pre-Elizabethan house which has sheltered a good many people in its centuries of service. It is one of those quaint old places you see so often in pictures. Great oak beams, exposed to the weather of many centuries, are still as solid as when first installed. They may be even more solid because now they are so hard that, to the touch they feel like hard stone. You have to use your imagination to realize that they are all wood beams.

Miss DeLissa is proud of this sturdy old house. She told us that during the war, while she was away, a bomb was exploded nearby. Neighbors said the old house just shivered and swayed a little, then settled down in its joists ready for another few centuries of living. At the time that bomb exploded the garage was wrecked with only the front wall left standing. The estate agent took Miss DeLissa to see the damage. When she started to look around the agent handed her the keys and led her to the front door of the garage which was still intact. When Miss DeLissa asked why he wanted to give her the keys when the other three walls were down he came back with this reply: "Well, I thought you might want to enter the place properly."

The cottage is surrounded by beautiful gardens, lawns and woodland. Across the road is one of the old forests of England. The entire scene is one of restfulness. We would have liked to spend days in these quiet surroundings but tourists have a schedule which requires constant movement and late in the afternoon we felt compelled to take our leave and journey back to London.

We did no go back by train. We had learned that we could go back by bus even though it would take longer. Miss DeLissa went with us to the neighboring village of Leatherhead where we again went to the top deck of a double-deck bus and rode for an hour and a half. You notice that I have acquired the English habit of measuring distance by the time it takes to get somewhere. Mileage, as we commonly express it in America, seems to be an unknown measurement in England. I do not know how many miles our late afternoon journey covered, but in the travel we drove through another section of Surrey, and, possibly, some other counties. We went through Kingston, Putney, Richmond and finally to the now familiar tube station at Ealing Broadway. Here we took the underground which in the course of another hour and a half brought us to Snaresbrook station in South Woodfrod. From here it was only a three halfpenny (hapny) bus ride to our London headquarters.

Mike Austin from Camp Chase Post.

Hi Ho, Come To The Fair: Sunday afternoon fair goers from the Hilltop included these people, we know, 'cause we saw them: Russ Carter, proudly displaying his thorobreds . . . Noble Allen, Jr., leaning on the rail watching his wife while her horse performed in the ring. . . Bud Knowlton riding a jumper. . . . Rupp Westlake and his famed ruby glass display attracting large crowds . . . Frank and June Prince and Chet and Rose Rinehart making the rounds . . . Mrs. Howard Bowers' very attractive art display . . . Jean and Bob Trott and boys looking at Farmall tractors with all the intentions of buying one to run up and down Townsend-av . . . The Joe Agees and Bill Coons representing the Record at press day . . . Bill lost a good Parker pen at the fair . . . Hal Betch and family, Bob Strope and family, Ed Reed and family, Earl Froggat, Joe Murnane, the Bob Maxwells . . . Joe Dickson and Jim Cobb, the Lee Koontz's, the Franklin Sparks, the George Holycross family . . . Jim and Elsie Skinner and family, Dr. Morgan Bates.

Under the heading of "For Happier School Days", the current Readers Digest quotes a West High boy, John Thompson, as follows:

"I like to read it because it's fun—also because it helps me to write better stories and compositions." . . . "It breaks the monotony of day-to-day work." . . . "It is educational but entertaining at the same time. It teaches something without being dry and stuffy." . . . "It tells interesting stories that I would never learn otherwise."

August W. Wilhelm Funeral Friday

August Wendel Wilhelm, 65, of 179 N. Ogden-av, died Tuesday at Mt. Carmel Hospital. He was a retired farmer, and lived in Franklin County all his life. He belonged to St. Aloysius Church.

Surviving are five sisters, Mrs. Amelia Grom, of 199 N. Wheatland-av; Mrs. Mary Smeltzer, of 651 Nashoba-av; Miss Agnes Wilhelm, at home; Mrs. Alan Frazer, of West Medford, Mass., and Capt. Helen Wilhelm, with the Women's Army Corps at El Paso, Tex.; three brothers, Msgr. George Wilhelm, of Houston, Tex.; Michael, of 1754 Gault-st, and Raymond, of Washington C. H.

Friends may call at the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home, 2553 W. Broad-st, until time of services, at 10:30 a. m. Friday in St. Aloysius Church. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Hilltop Boys Attend De Molay Confab

Eugene McGurer, James Chaffin, Wayne Groce and Tom Myers were among the Columbus delegation which attended DeMolay's 24th annual convention at the Mayfair Hotel in Akron, Aug. 26, 27 and 28.

Some of the activities of the convention included a tour through the Goodyear tire and rubber plant, a swimming party at the world's largest indoor swimming pool, conferring of degrees by state officers and numerous banquets. The Grand Ball was held Saturday night and during the dance a doll was presented to the master councilor of a new Columbus chapter.

To wind up the gala affair a farewell banquet was held, in which the new state officers were introduced, trophies awarded and plans made for next year's convention, which will be held in Cincinnati.

No Increase In Corporate Share of National Income

By John Kelly

No one disputes that profits in general have risen spectacularly and have been larger than ever before. This is a matter of record.

The same thing happened to corporate income that happened to each of us as individuals with the national income about triple that of pre-war, with the exception, of course, of those living on fixed income.

With the largest volume of peacetime employment this country has ever known, it is not surprising that profits likewise have been running to big figures. When the overall earnings figures are presented in this perspective, they become a good deal less than "fantastic".

The corporate share of the national income "pie" has not increased. But the size of the total pastry to be divided up has increased immensely.

Based on department of commerce data, the proportionate share of corporate net earnings is actually slightly lower than in 1929, the former peacetime record year. In contrast with this showing for corporate income, it is interesting to see how other components of the national income have fared.

Compensation of employes, farm income and business and professional income of unincorporated enterprises (mostly small business) has been the heaviest gainer dollarwise.

The income of each of these groups approximately trebled between 1929 and 1948. At the same time all three also increased their proportionate share of the national income. Both landlords and bondholders have found their proportionate shares substantially reduced.

The share of dividend payments to corporate stockholders was cut exactly in half, from 6.6 per cent in 1929 to 3.3 percent in 1948. Their proportionate share of earnings distributed as dividends has declined from 69 per cent in 1929 to approximately 38 per cent in 1948.

Certainly there is nothing in this showing to warrant pointing an accusing finger especially at overall corporate earnings in the general rise of the national income that has taken place. It is in terms of overall profits that most of the controversy over whether profits are "too high" or not is carried on.

Total wages and salaries (including unincorporated business and government) exceeded corporate net income last year in the ratio of over 6 to 1, and exceeded corporate dividends by over 18 to 1. These facts indicate the relative importance of these factors in general prices and cost of living.

This study of profits will be continued next week.

Set Boychoir And Girlchoir Tryout Dates

Herbert Huffman, director of the Columbus Boychoir and the recently organized Columbus Girlchoir, is announcing tryouts for the 1949-50 season for both organizations.

The Columbus Boychoir, just back from a summer at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y., will hold tryouts on Tuesday, Sept. 6, from 1 to 5 p. m. at the school, 812 E. Broad-st. For information and audition appointments all applicants should call the school, FA. 3121.

The Columbus Girlchoir, which has been functioning for less than a year, with several successful performances already to its credit, will have try-outs Saturday, Sept. 10, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. Girls in grades 7 through 12 are eligible for the Columbus Girlchoir, which holds weekly rehearsals Saturdays at the Boychoir School, 812 E. Broad-st.

Household Hint

A periodic cleaning is commended to keep the finished surfaces of your electric iron shiny. If the soleplate becomes caked with starch, wash it with soap and water. Rinse and wax with a beeswax pad. Be sure to rub the soleplate thoroughly over absorbent paper to remove any excess wax.

Hilltop Little Theater members are putting the final touches on their first offering of the season. "You and I", the story of a father who gave up his desire to be an artist for marriage and a business career, and caused all kinds of trouble trying to keep his son from doing the same. Leading roles in the play will be taken by (left to right) Robert Spann, 1237 S. Ohio-av; Marie Wilkins, 1008 Jaeger-st; Lee Koontz, 175 S. Sylvan-av; and Mrs. Howard C. Moon, 203 S. Westmoor-av.

Among supporting players in the cast are Howard C. Moon, 203 S. Westmoor-av; Katherine Belhorn, 410 Reinhard-av; and Joseph Hague, 44 Binns-blvd. The Philip Barry play will be presented Sept. 11 in John Burroughs School. Curtain time is 8:30 p. m. The play is being directed by Mrs. Charles Hall, 72 S. Oakley-av. Tickets are on sale now by members of the cast or can be ordered from D. K. Finley at 733 S. Hague-av, RA. 0838. (Ohio State Journal Photos)

A WARNING

His mind had wings
And seven-league boots.
He could do daring things
And care not two hoots
What rewards they carried—
Until he married.

She darned the frail wings,
Brushed the boots to gleams,
Scrubbed and dusted his thoughts,
Sewed buttons on dreams.

And so daring died,
Starved on waffles and honey.
Dreams are suicide
When men need money.

1950 Drivers' License Sale Starts Sept. 6

Names of 37 deputy registrars to sell 1950 drivers' licenses in Franklin County have been announced by Frank M. Quinn, state registrar of motor vehicles.

The new licenses go on sale Sept. 6.

The 1950 licenses will be issued on the same basis as in the past, except that temporary instruction permits will be good for only 90 days—instead of six months.

The three-year drivers' license law, passed earlier this year by the Legislature, does not become operative until after Sept. 30, [redacted].

The licenses issued after Sept. 6 will be good until the holders' first birthday after Sept. 30, 1950. Then the holders must obtain new licenses which will be good for three years.

The Hilltop Kiwanis Club sale will be handled by Erm Groves at his barber shop at 2403 W. Broad-st.

Others who will sell drivers' licenses on the Hilltop and vicinity are: Eva Maiberger, 1813 Harrisburg-pk; Martin W. Hennick, 1022 W. Broad-st; Frances Connor, 165 W. Main-st, Hilliards; and Leo Myers, 5348 W. Broad-st.

RETURNS TO DUTY

Warren E. Kamm, 377 S. Powell-av, returns to active duty with the New York Central Railroad Thursday after a two year illness. He will be assistant to general manager D. A. Fawcett at Cincinnati.

Howard D. Estell Is MP In Japan

Pvt. Howard D. Estell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Estell, 227 N. Eureka-av, is now serving as a military policeman with the 519th Military Police Battalion, Yokahama, Japan.

Entering the army in October, 1948, he arrived in Japan in March of the same year. He attended West High School.

"Wanted you to know how much I liked the Record twice a week . . ."

—:-:—:-:—

Several days ago, Dr. M. K. Weber, 57 Eldon-av, dropped in at The Hilltop Record office to say how much he enjoyed the twice-a-week Record. He mentioned in particular that he now looked forward to reading the news of Hilltop people on Tuesday as well as on Thursday, and complimented the Record on providing this added service for the community.

We were naturally most pleased to hear such favorable comments from Dr. Weber, who has watched with interest, the growth of the community and the Hilltop Record during the many years he has lived on the Hilltop.

DR. M. K. WEBER

Dr. Weber has been active for many years in the affairs of the Hilltop and especially at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church.

—:-:—:-:—

Increased service to a growing community has been the aim of The Hilltop Record during its' 33 years of continuous publication. Week after week, news of Hilltop folks, organizations, and events are told exclusively in its' pages. Local merchants too, use it to tell the shoppers of the community where to buy and save.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

Attention! All W. Mound-st bus passengers! Very few know the bus schedule—so all of you who have asked about it, here it is:

Going downtown, the bus leaves Wayne-av seven minutes after the hour, every 15 minutes during the day.

Fourteen minutes after the hour every 20 minutes is the night schedule. On Sunday all day long: 14 minutes after the hour every 20 minutes. No owl buses are fun.

Might be a good idea to clip this information and save it.

Over on Butler, CONGRATULATIONS to Mr. and Mrs. J. Cooney and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sinacola. Both had new daughters.

Did W. R. Burley on Wrexham-av collect his free ticket to the Westmont?

Miriam Shea is seeing quite a bit of her nephew, Artie Trott, who is visiting here from Buffalo; as well as Dotty Floyd, who is seeing a lot of her sister, Ruth Thompson, up here from Cincinnati.

School will be opening on Sept. 6 at our elementary school on W. Mound at Belvidere. Our kiddies will again be protected with the traffic light installed there last spring. Motorists! Drive CAREFULL and SLOWLY! We want our children to grow up—NOT be run down.

The opening of school reminds us to think about our drivers' licenses. We must have them by Sept. 30.

Our nearest application centers are Martin W. Hennick, 1022 W. Broad-st, and Erny Groves (Robinson's Electric) at 2403 W. Broad-st.

These new licenses will be good for three years, you know.

Everyone is wondering what type of trailer is on Union-st. It's either being reconstructed or taken apart. It looks like an immense play-pen on wheels. Time will tell.

Sorry to hear we are losing two High Ridgers. They're even leaving the Hilltop! Tch, tch. The Johnny Clarks sold their home and moved this week; and the Jack Nelsons, who are selling theirs, are leaving within a few weeks.

Wonder if our new neighbors moving in will have a rake or lawnmower we can borrow?

To be neighborly though, I'll slip them a Hilltop Record so they can get acquainted with us.

Speaking of borrowing, I'll either have to close my news for the day, or borrow a paper from the neighbors.

My cigar is out too, so I might as well stop.

Psalms Tell of God's Justice — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalms 49:1-7; 73; 82.

They that trust in their wealth, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches; none of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him.

Give the king Thy judgments, O God, and Thy righteousness unto the king's son. He shall judge the poor of the people, he shall save the children of the needy.

Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things. And blessed be His glorious name forever; and let the whole earth be filled with His glory.

Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked. Arise, O God, judge the earth: for Thou shalt inherit all nations.

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 82:3.

QUEST

He searched for Truth in gilded hall,
But sham re-echoed wall on wall,
A hollow mockery.

He searched for Truth in wintry caves,
And stumbled over mouldering graves
Of martyrs gone before.

He searched for Truth in city street,
But there the deathless, rhythmic beat
Of progress stayed his step.

Returning from a distant shore,
He sat within his humble door;
Truth nestled at his feet.

Who sows and reaps the harvest grain—
Who is thankful for sun and wind and rain—
Who kneels to pray when the day is spent
Harbors a heart that knows content.

Rev. Schreiber, Father Exchange Pulpits Sunday

Rev. L. A. Schreiber

Rev. L. A. Schreiber, pastor of the Central-Trinity Methodist Church of Zanesville, will be the preacher at the Westgate Methodist Church, 345 S. Brinker-av, Sunday. His son, the present pastor of the Westgate Church, will be preaching in Zanesville.

Rev. L. A. Schreiber served a pastorate here in Columbus until seven years ago when he moved to Zanesville. He was pastor of the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church for 12 years. His church at Zanesville is a downtown church with 1252 members.

During the week following his service in his father's church, Rev. Norman L. Schreiber will attend the Ohio Methodist Pastors' School in Delaware.

The school is for all Methodist ministers and will be highlighted by classes on pastoral counselling by Bishop Hazen Werner.

Briggsdale And Brown Road

By Mrs. Harry C. Downing

Mr. and Mrs. William Eisenbach, 2278 Big Run-rd, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alkire, 1992 Harrisburg-pk, spent 10 days recently on a fishing trip in Michigan. Previously Mr. and Mrs. Eisenbach had been guests of their son, George, and his family in Providence, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley O'Day and Mrs. Kathryn King, 2066 Eskin-rd, entertained with a dinner Sunday in honor of the birthdays of their guests, Mr. and Mrs. James Mapes, N. High-st, and also Mrs. O'Day. Diana Jean Myers, Cincinnati, arrived Wednesday to spend several days with the O'Days and Mrs. King, her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. DeVore and sons, formerly of Alkire-rd, and who are now living in Arizona, have been visiting relatives and friends in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. George Goodrich and sons, Byron and Larry, 1905 Jackson-av, enjoyed several days of vacation at Port Clinton, Lake Erie, last week.

Billy Redifer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Redifer, 879 Brownrd, suffered a broken arm recently in a fall from his bike.

The executive board of the Wilson PTA met last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Walter Spanabel, Racine-av, and formerly of 1288 Hart-rd. Mrs. Homer Johnson, Ransburg-av, was elected PTA president to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Spanabel. Board members present were Mrs. Hale Cline, Mrs. Roy Redifer, Mrs. Charles Nardin, Mr. and Mrs. Haley, Mrs. Paul Wichterman, Mrs. Homer Johnson, Mrs. Daumber, Mrs. George Goodrich and Mrs. Spanabel.

Men of the Wilson district are working on the playground equipment in readiness for the opening of school next week. New teeter-totters and swing-boards have been purchased.

Mrs. Elmer Smith and son, Floyd, Greenfield, and Mrs Dale Thomas of Dayton spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Downing and family, 2080 Eskin-rd. Mr. and Mrs. Ned Downing, New Paris, called at the Downing home Monday evening.

Household Hint

When you want a good absorbent for fresh stains, try dry starch. Fuller's earth and dry cleaning powder are good, too. Keep at least one of these absorbents on your cleaning shelf to have on hand in an emergency.

We Can't GIVE You A Home Freezer But Owning A New G. E. Home Freezer Is

A General Electric Home Freezer is a food bank that will pay you a handsome rate of interest! This is how:

Instead of paying a high price for a sliver of steak or a patty of hamburger every day, —you buy only when you get a "break" on meat prices—as during a sale!

You buy your fruits and vegetables in season when prices are lowest, and quality highest.

Then you just bank your food in your General Electric Home Freezer and enjoy it day after day, when most other folks have to pay high prices for the same food.

You'll be amazed how your investment pays off for you when you own a General Electric Home Freezer! And imagine the convenience of having one right in your home! Why not stop in to see us?

Voice of Experience

SCIENTISTS have asserted that one's body changes completely every seven years. Philosophers and psychologists have contended that one's outlook on life varies from one stage of life to another. What seems to be truth at the age of 10, may appear to be pure folly at the age of 20.

Someone has said that life begins at 40. Perhaps the reason for this is that man lives to some extent by the trial and error method until he has acquired a full measure of experience in business and his associations with his fellow men. Finally he has arrived at the age of his greatest understanding of life and its problems.

The elderly gentleman shown here is teaching the young girl the fine points of piano playing. Sometimes youth is impatient with the advice and instructions given them by older persons. On occasions, parents and grandparents are inclined to give more advice than is needed by youth.

There can be a fine degree of understanding between youth and age. Both can profit by their association. Regular attendance at church enables a family to build a richer experience in life. The voice of experience may become the voice of folly if it is not founded upon the rock of proper religious instruction.

1949-50 Shaping Up As Big Year In West High Sports

By Dave Miller

When the bells at West High School ring out come Sept. 6 of this year it will mark a promising year of sports at the local school.

West now is in the thoughts of many people as having the largest number of boys to choose from for their interschoolastic sports among the Columbus High Schools. Not only have they from Central-av on out west, but also, they now have quickly growing Westgate to choose their athletes from.

Therefore, sports at West are becoming better and better. The football team is the best in many a year, basketball is coming, track is better, and baseball, of course, is way out in front.

The Hilltop goes all out for its football team, and well it might. Their latest ex-coach, Dale Rose, is head mentor at Capital University, and Mack Pemberton, West's present coach, has guided City championships, and will have another good contender this season. Pemberton, in two years at West, has won 18, lost one, and tied one.

Night games have greatly improved the attendance during the last two seasons of West football. The lights were first erected and used for the Central game on Sept. 27, 1947. The Cowboys celebrated by downing the Pirates, 26 to 7. The remainder of that season the Cowboys ran through all opponents, winning 10 and losing none, outscoring their opposition, 290-39. The most points scored against the Cowboys that season were 12, in the first game of the year by Springfield.

Last season, the Cowboys gained their second consecutive City League Championship. Upper Arlington held the Cowboys to a tie 13-all and the Cowboys suffered their first loss in 16 contests, a 31-7 setback by New Philadelphia. The last loss by Cowboy gridders before that was a 12-6 beating by Central's Pirates at Central on Oct. 31, 1946.

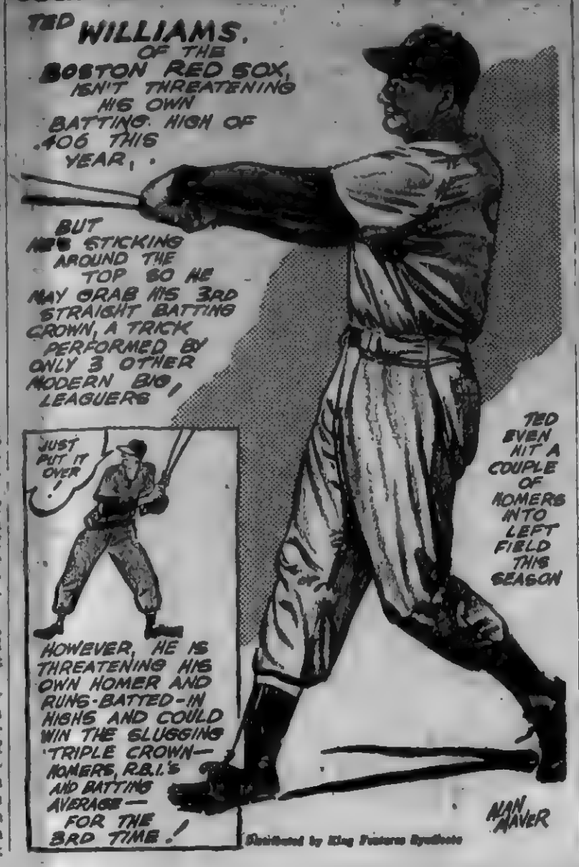
In basketball, the Cowboys had a rough time of things last season, but will be hoping for a better year in the '49-'50 campaign. They will have three regulars from last year's team, Bill Thrush, Phil Young and Jim Rudolph.

In the summer months, backers from the West Side can look forward for action from West athletes in baseball and track, two sports in which West always produce top-notchers.

No new coaches are in line for the coming year. Pemberton, as mentioned above, is head football mentor, with Dave Randall and Fred Heischman as assistants. In basketball, George Williams has varsity while Fred Heischman handles the reserves. Williams is baseball head, while Rufe Glass is head track mentor.

You sum it up, and you've got another big year coming up. So get behind the West sports program this season and give the hard-working athletes a well-deserved out-pouring of enthusiasm for the 1949-50 program of athletics.

TV Sets Can Be Adapted To Pick Up Color Shows



You can buy that television set you've wanted now without being afraid it will be made obsolete when colored TV broadcasts start.

The Radio Corporation of America announced perfection of an "all-electronic" system of color programs which could be received on existing black-and-white sets by means of an adapter.

Frank Stanton, CBS president, said his company's system had been "improved," but did not reveal in what manner.

The advantage of RCA's new method is that an old television set could receive the new color programs in black and white if the owner does not care to purchase an adapter. With an adapter, color would appear on the screen with a switch of a knob or key. The program could be switched back to black and white at will.

The Spectator By C.C.Hartley

(Note: The following column was written by Joseph C. Martell, Chief Yeoman in the Navy, visiting this past week with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hartley. Martell was editor of "DeLandings", station newspaper at the Naval Air Station, DeLand, Fla., while the Record publisher was supervisor of the paper when stationed there.)

How To Be The Perfect Guest

Many books have been written on etiquette which involve chapters and chapters regarding the "Perfect Hosts" but none, to my knowledge, has ever been written on how to be the "Perfect Guest". So get out your luggage, dust off your train schedules and let's go a-visiting.

YOUR ARRIVAL — Always try to arrive at the home of your hosts in the wee hours of the morning. The most opportune time is between 4:30 a. m. and 7:00 a. m. It is more exciting if the people you are visiting do not expect you and you call them up from the railroad station. A good opening cliche when they answer the phone is: "Can you guess who this is?" Naturally they'll insist that they pick you up at the station and after a few feeble attempts at trying to put over the fact that you can get a taxi—you acquiesce (give in).

YOUR VISIT — After you arrive at their home with a steamer trunk, two suitcases if a woman at least three hat boxes and various make-up kits), your hostess will try to tactfully find out just how long you're going to be on their hands. The stock phrase for this is: "I'm catching the next train out as I'm just passing through." So great is their relief that they insist that you stay "a day or two, anyway" and then you pop up with: "Well, since you put it like that I guess I can manage to stay a month." (At this point the hostess will probably fall into a faint and the host off the wagon).

THE CHILDREN — After you've got a firm foothold in their shack, their children are usually presented. It is always good taste when shown the new addition to the family to immediately exclaim: "I think that

Sunoco Buildings To Serve 16 Counties

The Sun Oil Co. announced that work has started on two new buildings on their property at 3499 W. Broad-st, as part of the extensive improvements planned there.

The site will be the company's center of operations for 16 Ohio counties. Completion of the program is expected around the first of the year.

The two buildings under way now will be a warehouse and a garage and dispatcher's office. They will be of concrete block and constructed at a cost of about $130,000.

Construction is being done by the Vokes Construction Co. of Cleveland.

William S. Brown Opens Campaign For Township JP

William S. Brown, 1792 Littleav, today announced the opening of his campaign for justice of the peace in Franklin Twp.

Mr. Brown said that he is one of a group of persons in his neighborhood running for township offices who are interested in better government for the township. He added that he would "guarantee the people a square deal if elected."

Active in church work, Brown is a member of the "Fishers of Men", an interdenominational Christian organization, and a member of the Gospel Four Quartet.

He is a painter and decorator and has been a notary public for nine years. He is married and has one daughter.

Briggsdale PTA Wins Campaign For Traffic Light

The Briggsdale Parent-Teacher Association was successful Saturday in a long campaign to have a traffic light intalled at the intersection of Harrisburg-pk and Frank-rd, scene in the past of a number of traffic accidents.

Charles Martin, president of the PTA, disclosed he had been informed by Harry Neal, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, that a light soon would be placed in operation there.

NAMED MANAGER

Shirley Snow has been named manager of the Hilltop Tune Shop, 2392 W. Broad-st. She will be a senior at West High School this year, and lives at 37 S. Wheatland-av. The tune shop will remain open until 9 every evening except Wednesday.

St. Aloysius Scouts Win 2 Blue Ribbons

Members of Cub Pack 250 and Boy Scout Troop 250 of St. Aloysius Church have reason to be proud. They walked away with two blue ribbons atthe Ohio State Fair for their handicraft and hobby displays.

The booths for the display at the fair were supervised by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martindale, 36 Clarendon-av, and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Martin, 352 S. Eureka-av. They were assisted by Jack McAndrews, 1936 Fairmont-av, and Mrs. E. S. Ferguson, 2472 Westwood-dr.

The Den mothers and the Cub Scouts attended the Cub display during the week and Mr. Martindale and Gene Jaquay, scout leader, attended the other booth.

The prize winning displays were shown at the church annex Saturday and Sunday. They were made up of projects completed by the scouts during the past year.

There are 36 Cubs and 27 Scouts in the St. Aloysius troop. A $20 prize will be awarded for each of the ribbons received.

Paul Eblin Wins Gra-Y Award

Paul Eblin, 160 S. Warren-av, was the winner of the 1949 Gra-Y softball sportsmanship award. The award this year was a baseball autographed by the Red Bird players.

To be selected for this honor a boy must be able to lose without blaming someone else or complaining, he must play fair, be conscientious in his participation and he must have a generally agreeable attitude toward his teammates and opponents.

Paul is a member of the Beagle Boys' team and attends Highland School. He plans to be active in the Gra-Y basketball league this year. He was president of his club and pitched for their team.

Thatcher Takes Office Monday

Labor Day was no holiday for Newton A. Thatcher, 2986 Crescent-dr. Due to an act of the state legislature many years ago, the county treasurer takes office on the first Monday in September. The day was later designated as Labor Day without changing the prior ruling.

Official celebration of the inaugural will be at 1 p. m. Tuesday with an open house at the courthouse.

Thatcher assumed office after nearly seven years absence from the courthouse.

84-Year-Old Hilltopper Is Active Bicycle Rider

W. N. Gortner

An old-timer in the recent bicycle parade held in connection with the All-American Newspaper Boys' Championship Bicycle Derby was 84-year-old W. N. Gortner of 437 S. Chase-av.

Mr. Gortner has been active in Columbus cycling circles for the past 10 years. He lost interest in riding when he was young, but took up the sport again at the age of 74. He says the exercise appealed to him and has improved his health.

The three mile parade up High-st from Mound-st to Buttles-av was just a short jaunt to the veteran cyclist, who uses his bicycle to do all the family shopping and other errands.

When he was just a youngster of 75, Mr. Gortner made a 76-mile trip in a single day just to see how much of a rider he really was.

The trip took him through Darbydale, Five Points, Mt. Sterling, London, West Jefferson, Georgesville and Galloway.

Mr. Gortner came to Columbus from Amanda where he operated a printing business and published the local paper for 26 years. He was mayor of Amanda during World War I.

Mr. Gortner is a notary public and works about his house and yard every day. He picked 25 bushels of apples from his apple tree this year.

He is married and has three children. Mr. and Mrs. Gortner will celebrate their 53rd wedding aniversary in December.

Triple Diplopia?

Three Sets of Twins Start School at John Burroughs

Kindergarten teachers Grace Elliott and Elizabeth Speckman may well suspect themselves of seeing double three times. Three pairs of five-year-old twins will begin their school careers at John Burroughs School this week. Pictured at the top are Jean Marie and Janet Eileen Beasley, 322 S. Hague-av, who still have a day of play since they won't start school until Wednesday. Below them, saying goodbye to their mothers, are Jeannette Lee and Janet Dee Ebright, 433 S. Eureka-av, and Joseph Edward and John Francis Skufca, 131 S. Eureka-av. Just to confuse matters more, all six twins have first names beginning with "J".

Loran O. Pearch Succumbs Today

Loran O. Pearch, 77, of 25 N. Burgess-av, died Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock in his home. He was a native of Sherrodsville, O., and a member of the Hilltop Lutheran Church.

Mr. Pearch is survived by his wife, Lettie M. Pearch; a son, William Pearch of Akron; a daughter, Mrs. Robert M. Draper, 76 N. Roys-av; and four grandchildren, Nancy and Deborah Draper of the Roys-av address, and William and Michael Pearch of Akron.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Thursday. Burial will be in Sunset Cemetery by the Noble L. Allen Funeral Home.

Hilltop Man Gets Master's Degree

Matthew Augenstein, 110 S. Brinker-av, was awarded the degree of Master of Business Administration at the summer commencement exercises at Ohio State University.

Mr. Augenstein received his bachelor's degree at Marietta College in 1939. He is on leave of absence from Children's Hospital, where he is chief admitting officer.

The title of his master's thesis was "Application of scientific management in the administration of Ohio community hospitals."

Announce Plans For Forming New Hilltop Lions Club

Announcement has been made that plans are under way here for the chartering of a Hilltop Lions Club.

Fourteen Hilltop men attended a meeting last week in which plans for chartering the new club were discussed. The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 15.

Officers named at the first meeting were George Schaaf, 654 S. Richardson-av, president; Rex Lynch, 130 Galloway-rd, Galloway, first vice-president; Harry Haney, 688 Wiltshire-rd, second vice-president; Dick Laird, 140 N. Warren-av, secretary; John Keifer, 358 Guernsey-av, treasurer; Chubby Distelhorst, 297 W. Park-av, tail twister, and Jack Schmelzer, 3181 W. Broad-st, lion tamer.

Lions officials attending the first meeting were Vic Powers, department district governor and member of the Grove City Lions Club; George Bormuth, secretary of the Ohio State Lions Association, and Lee Howard, zone chairman and secretary of the Bexley Lions Club.

Local clubs must have between 20 and 30 members to be granted a charter by the International Association of Lions Clubs. Membership in the community is restricted to one member from each line of business, and is by invitation only. Enough members have been invited into the local club for application to be made for the charter.

There are at present 7,175 Lions Clubs in 25 countries of five continents. The total membership is 365,000.

The Lions International was officially formed in Chicago in 1917, and maintains headquarters at 332 S. Michigan-av, Chicago. During the past 10 years new Lions Clubs have formed at the rate of one or more per day.

The International Association says that Lions Clubs are "non-political, non-sectarian, service organizations composed of the community's leading business and professional men. Its purpose is to recognize community needs and develop means of meeting them, either through its own effort or in cooperation with other agencies."

A typical local club consists of the officers, a board of directors, eight administrative committees, 10 activities committees and special committees.

The activities, or community service committees, usually maintained by the club are agriculture, boys and girls, citizenship and patriotism, civic improvement, community betterment, education, health and welfare, safety, sight conservation and blind, and United Nations.

Seventh-Day Adventist School Addition Started

By Ruth A. Michaelis

A concrete block addition to the Seventh-Day Adventist grade school building at Union and Ryan-av is under construction this month. The 22x30 foot room with cement and asphalt tile flooring will be completely fireproof. The older part of the building will be remodeled.

Fern Losle, 2299 Agler-rd, the teacher of grades 1 to 4, with an enrollment this year of 21, has taught in this school for the past four years. She is a graduate of the Normal School of Washington Missionary College, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Robert O'Connell, Westerville, who is beginning her third year of teaching grades 5 to 8 in this school, with an enrollment this year of 24, is a graduate of Ohio State University College of Education. She has had many years of teaching experience, seven of which she taught in the Grandview High School.

The Columbus Seventh-Day Adventist Church has conducted a church grade school for more than 40 years. The present building was constructed in 1914 during the ministry of the late Pastor J. F. Olmstead. The plot of ground on which the present school building is located was given to the Seventh-Day Adventist Church Oct. 12, 1913, by Samuel M. Seibert and Sarah A. Seibert. An additional lot was purchased by the church Oct. 14, 1944.

This school is one of more than 3,750 educational institutions conducted by Seventh-Day Adventists. The denomination's first school was organized in 1874.

In the United States the church operates 885 elementary schools, 71 secondary schools, 13 colleges, a medical school, a theological seminary, a correspondence school, 16 nursing schools, a school of dietetics, and schools of medical technology and physical therapy. Dr. George T. Harding III of this city, last year, accepted the appointment to the presidency of the denomination's College of Medical Evangelists at Loma Linda, Calif.

The school system is entirely supported by the church with an annual $75 average per capita expenditure last year for educational purposes.

Full Quota By Sept. 30 Is Camp Chase Goal

Dewey A. Stout, commander of Camp Chase Post, American Legion, anncunced today that the membership committee has set Sept. 30 as the date by which it hopes to have the 1950 membership quota filled.

The new post commander will be installed on that date, and the committee hopes to present him with a 100% paid-up membership list.

The post had a membership of 400 at election time last year, and passed the 500 mark by Armistice Day. It was the first of the larger posts in Ohio to reach its quota.

Members of this year's membership committee are John E. Martindale, Robert G. Daggett, Jack S. Alkire, Harry M. Burns, William D. Ferguson, Ermy W. Groves, Robert M. Higgins, Benjamin F. Knepper, Earl V. Konkler, Ray F. McVay, Jr., Frank M. Morgan, Donald A. Novak, John F. Shafer, George N. Skeen, Mario F. Smith and Elmer A. Young.

Mrs. L. Peoples, Retired Teacher, Dies At Home

Mrs. Lena Clark Peoples, 56, of 611 S. Burgess-av, died Monday in her home.

Mrs. Peoples, a teacher in the Columbus public schools 28 years until her retirement last year, taught in the Reeb Avenue Bellows Avenue and Opportunity Schools.

She was a member of the Robert Morris Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Mt. Olive Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem and the Glenwood Methodist Church.

Surviving are her husband, Leo A. Peoples; a son, Leo C. Peoples of Columbus; four sisters, Mrs. Grace Cox, Chillicothe, Mrs. Fern Winegar, Buckeye Lake, and Mrs. Muriel Evans and Mrs. Edith Barker, both of Columbus, and a brother, Henry E. Clark of Gypsum, O.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Schoedinger Funeral Home, where friends may call after 4 p. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Sunset Cemetery.

NEW POLIO CASE

The 44th polio case in Franklin County was reported last week. The victim is Thomas LeVally, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph LeVally, 130 N. Central-av.

Plans Complete For West High Alumni Show; Local TV Announcer To Be M. C.

Thursday night at the West High Auditorium will bring together one of the greatest arrays of professional and amateur talent ever to be assembled on a Hilltop stage. The girls and boys will blend together to bring you an all alumni show entitled "Do You Remember?" A show of this type has been thought of for several years by the alumni association but this is the first time the plans have been put into action.

Herb Stewart announcer and master of ceremonies of the new television station WTVN has accepted the job of master of ceremonies for the alumni show. Herb, a graduate of West in 1943, graduated from Ohio State University in June of this year and was immediately signed by Edward Lamb, owner of the new station, which is affiliated with the ABC network and DuMont Network, as an M.C., announcer and program writer. The new station will open the last part of September. In 1943 Mr. Stewart was M.C. of the Band Variety Show at West which was one of the first of its kind.

After entering OSU he spent three years in the army air force where he appeared in shows given on the base. When he returned to State he was taken on by WOSU where he wrote and produced plays, and did announcing.

An all-star band formed and directed by "Ziggy" Coyle and Tom Dale will be one of the main features of the show. The band, composed of 15 well-known musical artists, will accompany all the acts besides playing some popular selections of its own. The brass section will feature Ziggy Coyle, Ed Montgomery and Jack Hedges on the trumpets; Tom Dale, Ray Brooks and Glenn Harriman will be on the trombones; the reed section will be composed of John Patterson, Bob Gulcher, Chet Grable and Harold DeRolph; Bill Hogans on guitar; Jim Myers on drums; and Dave Gilbert at the piano, will compose the rhythm section. Two members are yet to be added.

Tickets for the alumni show, "Do You Remember?" are on sale at the following places: Superior Drugs, Broad and Whitethorne; Esquire Men's Shop, Broad and Terrace; Georgiton's, Broad and Hague; Caps Drugs, Sullivant and Whitethorne; Better Home center, Broad and Hague; Martin's Confectionery, Broad and Oakley; and Goodwin's Pharmacy, Sullivant and Hague. Reserved seats will be on sale Sept. 6, 7 and 8 at Campbell's Pharmacy, 2768 W. Broad-st.

George and Jackie Hardy will again present their famous dance doutine which has thrilled many a minstrel show audience since the two appeared when Jackie was seven years old. This father-daughter combination has danced at several big hotels and during the war were traveling with the Moose entertainers. For a week this summer the two were in New York where they learned new steps.

Bill Masters will be the other dancer on the program and will be making his first appearance on the stage since suffering a leg injury four month ago. Bill has danced with Pastor, Frankie Masters and Eddie Haywood and has appeared at the Beverly Hills Night Club, the Lookout House in Kentucky and just recently appeared at Frank Daly's Click in Philadelphia.

In the singing department there will be an all-star quartet, Jinx Jordan and Joan Heischman. The quartet will consist of John Glass, Don Ochs, Carl Speckman and Jim Foreman. Besides singing together, these boys are quite talented individually. John is an accomplished trumpet player while Jim and Carl are both first chair men in the Broad Street Presbyterian choir which sang with the Columbus Philharmonic orchestra. Don Ochs has spent the summer in New York as music director of the Boychoir summer camp. Speckman and Foreman were recently with a quaret which won an entire area contest and were awarded a contract to sing on Tuesday nights over WCOL this fall.

Jinx Jordan and Joan Heischman, both prominent singers, will be singing some popular selections. Jinx will render some of the popular ballads of the day while Joan will handle the classical department. Joan has done most of her singing at weddings while Jinx appeared with Don Crawford's band at the Deshler and numerous night clubs.

An added attraction to the show will be the "Star of the Future" feature, which will present an up and coming star who will remain a secret until show time Thursday. A chorus line and a short comedy skit by Mike Emery will also be features of the show.

An act which needs no explanation other than to say "a boy and his accordion" will be Frank Ongaro. Frank has been playing in variety shows and minstrels since he was 13 years old and recently won the Old Gold Amateur Hour award.

Two Hilltop Women Are Chairmen For CCL Convention

Two Hilltop women will play an important part in the Child Conservation League convention to be held in Columbus Oct. 6-7. Mrs. Robert Howison, 60 N. Brinker-av, will be chairman of the financial department while Mrs. Howard Harris, 204 S. Westgate-av, will be information chairman.

The program for the convention, which is to be held at the Neil House, will be built around the theme, "Building Happy Homes."

Dr. William S. Utterback, associate professor in Ohio State's department of speech, will open the program with a talk on the "Discussion Leadership and the Training of Discussion Leaders."

The convention will be closed in the afternoon with an address by Dr. F. Gerald Ensley, pastor of North Broadway Methodist Church. His topic will be "Religion Is a Family Affair."

JOB'S DAUGHTERS NEWS NOTES

By Patti Holycross

The Job's Daughters held its officers' meeting at the home of our guardian, Mrs. George Roberts, the other night and all of the officers were there except two. And of course I had my pencil and paper handy all the time.

We have some wonderful plans coming up and if everyone will cooperate we will have a fine time.

First on the news items we find that JEANETTE FULTON and her family spent their vacation up in Michigan. They visited the Locks and many other places. She reports that she had a good time.

Our little first messenger, MARY CUMMINS, is really a worker for she stayed home and worked while her brother, Jack, spent the week in Vermont.

Our marshal, JANET ROLLER, just got out of bed from a case of the measles. However she had been on vacation before she got them. She went to Lake Hope to spend a week. From her report she had "ahhhh—a fine time."

While making the rounds I found out that CHEREE KINGSOLVER is an aunt, for her sister has a little boy.

Between bites of ice cream and cookies, MARILYN DAVIS said she spent two days at Mowrystown, O.

Another little gal who spent a two week vacation with her parents was SHIRLEY SHROYER, who went to Michigan and spent her time at Lake St. Helen.

Among the birthday celebrants this month was BARBARA WENDELL, who celebrated her 15th birthday Aug. 9, and NANCY HARDY, who celebrated her 17th birthday Aug. 10.

Another officer, JEANNINE DICKENDESHER, traveled almost the same route that JOAN BERGMAN traveled. She and her parents went to Washington, D. C., Gettysburg and Mt. Vernon. They didn't take a week for their trip but just went there over the week-end, so they really traveled fast.

I even got MRS. ROBERTS to tell me that they were going over the week-end to Pittsburgh to spend a little vacation.

To wind up things I might add as I come to an end that Aug. 27 and 28 yours truly went to the DeMolay convention with the McGurers and attended the ball and the farewell banquet. One of the highlights of the banquet, besides the bell ringing of the glasses and the march of the silverware beating on the tables, was the way the dessert was brought in. It was an Alaskan dessert and they put fire to it to make a beautiful scene.

Well, that just about winds things up. And I will just have to leave you with this thought in mind, that to enjoy orange juice a lot of squeezing takes place. See you all next time.

HILLTOP GIRLS TO GRADUATE FROM MIAMI VALLEY NURSING SCHOOL SEPT 8

For Pete's Sake -- Be Careful!

These are big days in the life of Pete. He has started school! In the few brief years of his existence, Pete hasn't had time to learn all there is to know about life and living. In his pursuit of happiness . . . in the forgetfulness of a split-second he may on sudden impulse dash out into the street and into danger. There are two things you can do if you drive a car — drive with extra caution whenever you're near a school, and have your car in top running order. Keep your car in good running condition by visiting one of these reliable firms regularly.

This Is Pete

CHAPTER FORTY-THREE

BEATRICE left the room and the noise of her heels upon the stairs prohibited her hearing the muffled, broken voice, the lonely voice of Mrs. Ramey crying, "Beatrice! Beatrice!"

Jenny was standing in the hall downstairs with Beatrice's coat in her hands. She had heard, of course. Every word. Even if Mrs. Ramey had not banged her cane, even if they had not shouted at each other, Jenny would probably have listened anyway.

The wisened servant said nothing. There was no need to say anything, when her face so eloquently expressed her feelings. For Jenny looked as if she could scarcely contain her jubilance.

It was worth it if only for you, Beatrice's glance told her.

And then this door through which she had come so happily and hopefully and innocently the first time was closing upon her forever.

She stood still, feeling the air rush to her to cool her face.

What have I done? she cried in her heart. What have I done?

And the answer—I have done only what I should have done years ago.

She went to her car, got in and started it, and gave herself up to the unutterable bliss of her freedom. She did not know where she was going. For the first time in years, years, there was miraculously no place to go. She had banished every commitment. She turned her head and looked at that great ghostlike house upon the hill, as barren and as inhospitable in summer as it was now in winter.

As the car moved down the street, she still had no idea where she was going. She knew only that she must not go home until the fantastic pace of her thoughts had subsided. It struck her with force that she must not go home to Marianne until she had rid herself once and for all of the contamination to which she had exposed herself these many years.

She did not realize until she was miles out of town that she had unconsciously taken the road to Atlantic City. And then the impulse was strong upon her to keep on going until she came to that white shingled hotel four blocks from the beach, and there alone try to recapture in thought the enchantment that their ambition had made them so blithely throw away.

But you can't go back, Beatrice thought. We are different now from what we were then, just as the world is different. Incalculable experience is upon us—war and separation and crisis. And no matter how much we long for it, we cannot isolate ourselves from our little moment in history. We cannot isolate ourselves from the people of our time.

It is a sad delusion to think we could ever be that boy and girl again. We are fortunate in the memory of those disembodied two, to whom war was a thing that had been fought futilely in 1917, to whom separation and crisis were incredible beyond comprehension—Beatrice and Porter—Leave them there in the wonder and bliss of love's revelation.

She stopped for gasoline, and then turned the car homeward. She was surprised to find no compulsion to hurry. Indeed she felt so calm that her glance wandered along the roadside to the filling stations, the little houses, the taverns, and tourist places that would with the coming of spring seethe with activity. The coming of spring.

Fascination for all those lives alien to hers dropped from her face like a removable mask. The coming of spring. She was back with time again, for no one could long lose it. Time. Time that would tell, as surely as it marked the hours of the day and night, whether their marriage had survived this crisis or whether—

It is strange, she thought, that I did not have to face it until I was ready for it. I'm ready for it now, Porter, whatever it may be.

When she turned her car into her own street, she saw Porter's car parked in front of the house. She left her car behind his, went up the path, and opened the unlocked door.

The piece of luggage and his brief case, bulging, were in the hall.

Porter, standing in the center of the living room, turned and looked at her.

Slowly Beatrice went toward him until she was quite close to him. And she thought what a long, long time it had been since she had seen him, with so much between this and the last time. And it seemed to her that the lines had dropped from his face, that he looked younger than he had in years. She thought she must be dreaming when she saw that his eyes, as black as eyes ever can be, had cooled at last. She knew she was not dreaming when she felt his presence passionately.

"Porter, I must tell you now what I have done today. And even if you hate me, I am not sorry for what I did. I had to do it to be a whole person again and not a lot of particles I have scattered here and there to people who really do not matter. I told Mrs. Ramey today what she is, and that I want nothing, nothing from her and that I hope I never see her again as long as I live. And I know what that means to you, to Marianne, to me—"

He smiled. "My only regret is that I wasn't there to cheer you on, Bee."

"But—"

"I quit my job today. I'm through, finished with the old man. I walked out."

She let out her breath slowly.

"He asked for it," Porter said. "I told him off. If I had stayed I'd be what he is. And it wasn't worth it. It wasn't worth it."

"You've been struggling with yourself—"

His eyes deepened. "Oh, God, have I? A savage struggle with myself! It was much worse at the plant than I ever told you. His ruthlessness, his greed, his inhumanity. It was like working under a whip. I couldn't tell you! I couldn't do anything but take it when it meant so much to you—this house, your clothes, the club, the two cars in the garage, the weekends, the hole blasted business! And it all fitted you. It became you, it was what I promised you the day I married you!" His voice rose and shook. He was suffering in the telling. "He didn't want me to go into the Navy. He did everything in his power to keep me out. I fought and fought for it. It was the only decent thing I've done."

Depreciation Allowance Not Enough To Maintain Assets

By John Kelly

"The all-time high profit jackpot in 1948" for all American corporations amounted to about $32 billion before taxes and $20 billion after taxes.

For the three years since the war, earnings before taxes totalled approximately $80 billion. It is estimated that unreal "profits" of as much as $25 billion, or about 30 per cent, were included in the total.

This overstatement of real corporate income needs to be borne in mind in judging current levels of reported earnings, the repeated attacks on business, and the recurring wage demands.

As the Department of Commerce recognizes in its profits computation inventory price increases accounted for $13 billion. When prices decline, inventory losses replace inventory profits.

Reliable studies estimate that perhaps $12 billion in unreal profits resulted from a deficiency of depreciation charges. The effect of this understatement was to exaggerate reported earnings by an equal amount.

It is estimated that the cost of reproduction now in 1948 of American plant and equipment was in the neighborhood of 60 per cent above its original cost. However, our conventional accounting practices, influenced as they are by tax regulations, base depreciation charges against earnings on original cost of plant and equipment.

In effect what has happened is that business has been selling out its low-cost productive assets piecemeal. This "profit" is included in operating income, and taxes paid on it, without adequate provision for replacement.

With allowance for defects in the figures, and without straining the argument, they show that depreciation currently charged against earnings is insufficient by a wide margin to replace wasting assets. They illustrate why corporations have had to retain an abnormally large percentage of their reported "net income" for re-investment.

The capital required to finance industrial replacements of worn out or outmoded productive facilities, over and above reserves based on original costs only, can be obtained only from three principal sources—re-invested earnings, borrowing, or sale of additional stock.

All three require that business make good earnings. Without substantial profits, there would be nothing to re-invest, and no basis for getting either loans or equity money. If future capital requirements are to be met, there must be a considerable margin of earnings over that yielded by riskless bond investment.

The tremendous expansion since 1939 in volume of output and in total assets was made possible by the substantial earnings during that period, a major portion of which was reinvested in the business. This provided additional equity capital to an extent that would have been impossible by the sale of new stock issues to investors.

These studies will be continued Thursday.

Let's Talk Things Over

Money doesn't go a long way in these days. That's what a friend said to me the other day. My reply was that it all depended on how he spent it, and I told him that I could put him in the way of securing a sizeable estate, say $10,000, for a down payment of a few dollars. What is more, even if he were to die anytime soon after the first down payment, the whole estate of $10,000 would belong to his family without the spending of another penny.

And, let me tell you, many large estates of several thousand dollars have come to the rescue of Sun Life beneficiaries following a first and only payment of a few dollars by a husband and father who realized the uncertainty of the future but knew how to make the best use of savings.

Let's talk things over—today!

Blackhawks Win Gra-Y League Baseball Championship

The Blackhawks of John Burroughs School won the Hilltop Gra-Y league championship this summer by beating the Flaming Arrows of West Broad Street School in a three game series.

Play in the league got under way before the close of school last spring and continued throughout the summer with the seven league teams participating in 35 games.

The final series was played at Westgate Park in the evening, making it possible for a large number of the parents of the boys to attend.

West Drops Pre-Season Tilt To Grandview 27-12

By Dave Miller

West High's football squad got its first taste of the fall sport last Friday afternoon when they suffered a 27 to 12 loss to Grandview in a scrimmage tilt, more or less to help get both teams back in shape for their openers Sept. 16.

The first half was tightly played, with West drawing first blood, but Grandview came back with a touchdown and extra point to take the lead early in the first period, 7 to 6, from which point the score held until the midway point of the third quarter when Grandview exploded for three quick touchdowns, spelling doom for the Cowboy gridders.

It was a bitterly fought battle, with each team having two men ejected for unnecessary roughness. Coach Bill Hess' Bobcats look like a sure-fire contender for the Central Buckeye League football tilt, if they play all year like they played against West.

In the opening quarter, as in all scrimmages, the winner of the coin toss receives the ball on their own 20. Grandview fumbled on the first play, and two Cowboy linemen, Cliff Voss and Dick Will, recovered to give the locals the ball on Grandview's 16. Halfback Walt Binkley went through the middle for two, and then Don Nafzger, West's slingin' quarterback, fired a TD pass right into the hands of Jim Rudolph, West end, who turned around and stepped over the goal, unmolested.

After a series of Grandview plays, West, finding themselves deep in their own territory, punted, and halfback Larry Buening caught the ball on the Bobcat 19, and ran it back down the right sidelines, 81 yards, to pay-dirt. Dick Voelker place-kicked the extra point through the uprights, and the first period ended in Grandview's favor, 7-6.

With both second teams in most of the second quarter, the majority of the play was near midfield, neither team knocking on the TD door all this period.

Grandview exploded with its first team in the third quarter and looked like a new outfit. West received the ball on their 20, where they fumbled on their second play of the third quarter, with Alan O'Leary, Bobcat guard, recovering. After one incomplete pass, Grandview's quarterback, Ralph Guglielmi, tossed one to end Fred Behmer, who grabbed it on the 10, and raced over, untouched. Voelker converted, and the visitors led, 14-6.

West fell again in three offensive spurts, and therefore punted. Grandview's Bud Shell received the boot on his own 35, and raced it to the West 33 for a 32-yard runback. Then pitchin' Guglielmi uncorked his capable arm and sent a long pass to the far corner of the end zone, where Jim Butler snared the ball, and Grandview had really caught fire. Voelker made good on the kick.

Near the end of the third quarter, Guglielmi again pitched a perfect strike, this time to Larry Buening on the three, where he drove over for a TD. Voelker missed the kick.

Then the second teams took over at the beginning of the last quarter. About mid-way of the quarter, Bob Birle, doing the quarterbacking for West, sent a high aerial down the field, to Frank Carson, playing right-half for the Cowboys, who went all the way to make the score 27-12. The play covered some 55 yards. Birle missed again on his attempted place-kick for the extra point.

West brought their first team in to try to make a comeback, and that they did when Grandview fumbled on their own six, and West recovered. Fullback Hinkley took it to the three, but there the rally bogged down. A mix-up handoff in the backfield sent the ball squirting out of the end zone for a touchback. Had a Grandview man recovered the ball in the end zone, it would have been a safety, two points for West. Had a West man recovered it in the end zone, it would have been a touchdown. As it was, the ball went out of the end zone, creating a touchback, Grandview receiving the ball on their own 20.

From then on, subs poured in and out of the game to give some of the boys experience, and the play was kept mainly around mid-field for the rest of the game.

A crowd of about 800 was on hand at Magly Field to watch the exhibition game. West plays another practice game next Friday at Newark, before opening the season here on Sept. 16 against Marion Harding.

Hilltop Man Dies At Ball Game

Funeral services for Fred E. Henderson, 63, of 206 N. Ogden-av, will be at 2 p. m. today in the Glenwood Methodist Church. He died Saturday night after apparently suffering a heart attack in Red Bird Stadium.

A World War I veteran, he was secretary and treasurer of the W. E. Anderson & Sons Co. He was a member of the Glenwood Methodist Church and the Reynoldsburg Masonic Lodge, F. and A. M. and Scottish Rite.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Osa Henderson; three daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Predmore, Mrs. Jane Headley and Mrs. Helen Mourton, all of Columbus, and two grandchildren. Friends may call at the residence. Burial will be in Glen Rest Cemetery. Arrangements are being handled by the Cheatwood Funeral Home of Reynoldsburg.

Funeral Thursday For Mrs. Keller

Mrs. Cora Elizabeth Keller, 78, formerly of Mt. Sterling, died yesterday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Harper, 2105 Sullivant-av. The widow of Thurman Keller, she was a member of the West Park Methodist Church.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Josie Claridge of Mt. Sterling; nine grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Friends may call tonight and until time of services at 10 a. m. Thursday, at the Jerry Spears Funeral Home. Burial will be in Mt. Sterling Cemetery.

Killed In Air Race

Pictured above is pilot Bill Odom, who plunged to flaming death when his plane crashed into a house in Reno as he was competing for the $40,000 Thompson trophy. A mother and her 13-month-old baby were killed in the crash. Odom gained fame for his round-the-world flights and his non-stop flight in a light plane from Hawaii to New Jersey.

Mrs. F. M. Jones Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence M. Jones, who died Sunday in her home, 500 S. Warren-av, will be at 1 p. m. Wednesday in the Jerry Spears Funeral Home, with Rev. George Zimmerman officiating.

Surviving are a brother, William Snif of Bachman, O.; a granddaughter, and three great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the funeral home. Burial will be in Sunset Cemetery.

Household Hint

Just use soap and water to wash refrigerator ice trays. Don't use metal sponges, steel wool or coarse powders. And never use boiling water, or it will remove the surface wax film which helps make it easy to remove the ice cubes.

By Dick Ardle

Allen Milk Takes Lead

Allen Milk jumped off to an early lead in the Monday Night Recreation League as they whipped the defending champions, Kent Builders, three games, while the other teams were splitting their series. Allen put together games of 939, 919 and 827 to give them a total of 2775, which was high for the league. Al Conroy's 583 was top series while Art Bishop's 234 and Grotto's 971 were the other top honors.

In the early Monday League, Shroyer's Funeral Home, Kent Bros. and Hutchins Dodge all took three game victories from their opponents. Chuck Worthington's 553, Bill Truitt's 216 and Shroyer's 839-492 were the highs for the league.

The women took their first shot at the new wood on Tuesday in the Pastime League and it looked like a one team affair as Allen Funeral Home walked off with team honors of 758-2166 while team-mates Boots Hessinger and Edna Staley were high with 187 and 471. Allen was also the only team in the league to win all three games.

The women took the alleys again Thursday night and still only one team, Nast, was able to annex a three-game victory. Top honors of the league went to Feil Funeral Home with 787, Seiller's with 2244, Mary Harrity with 181 and Irene Shephard with 506. Mary was the first and only woman to break the 500 mark this week.

In the later league four men's teams turned in three game victories as the Vee Dee'ers, Fox Cafe, Hirsch and Hirsch, and Spires Shell Service all won three games. Individual honors went to Walt Campen with 216 and Walt Thrailkill with 577 while team honors went to Spires Shell Service with 923-2661.

R. L. Wiler, NYC Conductor, Dies

Roy Lewis Wiler, 49, of 346 Columbian-av, died Wednesday at White Cross Hospital. He was a conductor for the New York Central Railroad for 32 years, and was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Thelma Wiler; a daughter, Mrs. Jeanne Sutherland, 375 W. Third-av; a son, James Wiler, of 2035 Hague-av, four grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Hazel Smith of Findlay, and a brother, Fred, of Toledo.

Services were held at the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Saturday. Burial was in Greenlawn Cemetery.

A small musician shares my lawn.
His coat is gag, his black eyes shine.
By him no rigid lines are drawn
As to what is his or what is mine.

Wise Cardinal, you know we live
In the most perfect harmony!
You steal my fruit, but I forgive
Because you sing your song to me.

child has rickets and will never see its first birthday." Go on to explain how little Prunella, from around your way, who is two months younger than their child, looks so much healthier. If this doesn't shame them, nothing will.

YOUR MEALS—The lady of the house will usually try to have some dish of which you are particularly fond. If she asks: "Do you like polecat stew?" or "Could I fix you up some turnip greens and catfish?" you respond with "Oh, I eat anything!" The trick of this is when the "anything" is dished up, don't eat a damn bite. Or, on the other hand (you've got to have a flair for acting for this) taste one mouthful and promptly gag, then go right to bed and stay there for five days with the premise that you have been poisoned.

THEIR FRIENDS — If they have some of their local friends in to try to amuse you (sort of like a party) don't converse with one of them nor partake in any of their activities. It is considered good taste to yawn considerably and at the height of the festivities, jump up on the baby grand and loudly shriek, "If nobody minds, I'm going to bed. I'm bored stiff!" In the morning politely ask through what asylum that group of people are matriculating.

YOUR DEPARTURE — Simply say "I had a swell time, but this wasn't it!"

"Wanted you to know how much I liked the Record twice a week . . ."

—:-:—:-:—

Several days ago, Dr. M. K. Weber, 57 Eldon-av, dropped in at The Hilltop Record office to say how much he enjoyed the twice-a-week Record. He mentioned in particular that he now looked forward to reading the news of Hilltop people on Tuesday as well as on Thursday, and complimented the Record on providing this added service for the community.

We were naturally most pleased to hear such favorable comments from Dr. Weber, who has watched with interest, the growth of the community and the Hilltop Record during the many years he has lived on the Hilltop.

—:-:—:-:—

DR. M. K. WEBER

Dr. Weber has been active for many years in the affairs of the Hilltop and especially at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Increased service to a growing community has been the aim of The Hilltop Record during its' 33 years of continuous publication. Week after week, news of Hilltop folks, organizations, and events are told exclusively in its' pages. Local merchants too, use it to tell the shoppers of the community where to buy and save.

Side Street Parking Should Be Available

We have long contended that one-half of the space now closed to parking on side streets in the first block on the Hilltop could easily be made available for parking space and thus relieve the parking situation locally to some extent.

While the streets off Broad and Sullivant are very narrow, it appears that limiting parking to one side of the street in the first half block would be ample to provide a safety factor on those streets.

While the community parking problem grows from month to month we sincerely hope that the traffic commission will see fit to investigate this matter and make some of this space available.

Early Fall Notes: Mrs. Sam Morrison is a hospital patient and the same is true of Mrs. Robert Knisley . . . Debbie Draper, school board member Robert Draper's second daughter, entered West Broad School Tuesday . . . Vernon Fiscus is recovering from a bad leg injury received recently . . . Tonight promises to be a big time for all Hilltop Kiwanians as they partake of good food at their annual fall outing at Valley Ranch on West Broad-st . . . The Farmer Cunninghams are expecting: An increase in the pig family . . . There is big news coming in your Hilltop Record next Thursday, all about how over $3000 in fine prizes will be awarded to someone in the community, the list being headed by a nice new Dodge sedan . . . but for full details have your eyes open on the double page spread in next Thursday's Record which is going into every Hilltop home . . The world is a small place: One day recently in Chicago we ran onto Tom Boardman, former local Boy Scout executive, and then recently on a downtown street in Philadelphia we were greeted by Dr. Paul Haught, Hilltop dentist . . . If you call the Jai Lai and make a reservation for dinner you will find the nickle you spent for your phone call waiting on the table when you get there . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert Finley of San Francisco are visiting his mother, Mrs. L. E. Smith, 48 N. Princeton-av . . . Jack Becker, a navy flyer, who has visited the Mose Williams' of the Hilltop, was injured in a crash at the Cleveland air races last week . . . Mrs. Edgar Planck fell down the stairs at her home last week-end and is now nursing a broken ankle . . . Stuart Planck is a Grant Hospital patient.

Junior League 'Bargain Box' Sale Sept. 22, 23

A "Bargain Box" sale is being sponsored by the Junior League of Columbus at Memorial Hall Sept. 22 and 23 to raise funds for league sponsored programs such as the Community Junior Theater.

Included in this sale of used merchandise will be furniture, sporting equipment, art objects, books, men's, women's and children's clothing, household equipment, toys, jewelry and cosmetics, and many other unusual items.

Young women from various sections of the city have been busy all summer collecting and sorting the numerous items to be displayed at the "Bargain Box."

Mrs. Lissa Hill Burial Friday

Mrs. Lissa Hill, 82, of 51 N. Ogden-av, died Tesday at Mt. Carmel Hospital. Widow of Ezra Hill, she leaves two stepsons, Ernie and J. B. Hill; two brothers, John and Edward Hewitt, and one sister, Mrs. Margert Snyder.

Services will be at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the residence. Burial will be in Darbyville by the Schoedinger Funeral Home.

STUDY HEALTH WORK

Public health activities in Columbus were under study Wednesday by a representative of the World Health Organization and two officials of the National Organization of Public Health Nursing.

First Booster Meeting Friday

Lee Welgand, president of the West High Boosters, announced today that the club hopes to have 2,000 members this year.

The first meeting of the Boosters will be at 7:30 Friday night at West High School. All West High School alumni and everyone interested in West High athletics are urged to attend.

Plans for the future year will be discussed, and the new membership drive will officially open.

Veterans To Debate Ballot Change Issue

The War Veterans Republican Club will debate the issue of a proposed change in the voting law at its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday, at Memorial Hall, it was announced by Thomas Applegate, president. William Halley, president of the Young Republican League of Ohio and one of the managers of the ballot change proposal, will debate for the issue against Albert Gregg, past president of the War Veterans Republican Club of Ohio and the Buckeye Republican Club.

The proposal would eliminate the party column at state general elections and substitute a vote by office. Starting with the highest office each candidate for each office would appear on the ballot with every other candidate for that office. The voter would be unable to vote a straight party ballot by marking a cross within a circle as at present. It would be necessary to make a cross for each candidate chosen.

The local Republican executive committee opposes the change, which will be submitted to voters at the next election.

The meeting will be open to the public.

'Scotch Foursome' Tourney Sunday

The Beacon Light "Scotch Foursome" tourney, in which a duffer teams up with a par golfer, will be played Sunday. Everyone wanting to enter the tourney should report to the course by 1 p. m. on the day of play.

Participation in the tourney is not restricted to members. Cash prizes will be awarded.

RALLY DATE SET

Rally day for the Fidelis Class of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church will be Sunday. M. E. Sensenbrenner will return as instructor of the class on that day. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Field Narrowed To Three In Seiller Trophy Contest

The Seiller Trophy

Two matches remained to be played today in the second annual Beacon Light Golf Tourney for the coveted Seiller Trophy.

Carl Dale defeated caddy star Don Weisenberger 3-2 to move into the finals. He will play the winner of the match between Marvin Riley and Barney McLain for the championship.

The large trophy, donated by Seiller's Department Store, is a rotating trophy and must be won three times for permanent possession. The trophy is sure to change hands this year since Earl Carper, last year's champion, was eliminated early in tournament by "Ty" Theisen.

Individual trophies will also be awarded to first place and runner-up in the final match and the consolation match. The award of the trophies will be made at the Beacon Light "Round-up" Oct. 2. The annual "golfer of the year" award will also be made at this time.

West High Teacher Is Designer of 216 Houses

By Myron T. Seifert

Better known as a builder of character at West High School rather than a builder of homes is C. S. Kennedy, instructor in mechanical drawing and instrumental in bringing to West High sweepstake award at the state fair last week.

Mr. Kennedy is known to many former West High students as the man who not only taught them to blue-print, but to chart their lives. Judging from the results of his labors many of them were steered in the right direction.

In construction circles Kennedy has designed 216 house plans in his laboratory, and of this number he personally built 120. Homes built by him are among the best in greater Columbus.

Mr. Kennedy, qualified both by education and experience, Mr. Kennedy builds homes that reflect both utility and beauty.

Gaze upon the $65,000 home of Dr. V. A. Dodd in Upper Arlington, a product of Mr. Kennedy's ingenuity, and you'll see one of the most beautiful edifices in the village.

Central High School Principal Fred C. Slager's home, 1983 Berkshire-rd, costing $47,000, and Harry Silver's in the same community are evidence of his skill.

Bexley homes come in for their share on Builder Kennedy's agenda. Other homes throughout the city have the touch of Architect and Builder Kennedy.

Translating facts learned from books and lectures into action, Kennedy promotes practical projects in his class-room.

A miniature model home, built to scale with actual building material by the boys, is an example of theory put into practice.

Another group of boys enrolled in the class last term study principles of landscaping and some time soon Mr. Kennedy plans to have competition among the boys in planning architectural landscaping for a newly built home here in Columbus.

"Self-made" best tells the story of the Hilltop instructor. He vividly recalls the "post to pillar" jobs of his youth. A recital of his early activities embraces many unusual jobs and experi-

Hilltop 'Y' To Sponsor Two Jr. Bowling Leagues

Eighty boys and girls will have an opportunity to participate in the two YMCA Leagues soon and bowl each week in a bowling league affiliated with the American Junior Bowling Congress.

Both leagues were organized through the combined efforts of West High School; Bill Wolfe, owner of the Hilltop Recreation; and Paul Leighninger of Seiller's Department Store. For the past four years Seiller's sponsored both leagues, but with the YMCA losing its headquarters soon it was felt that it would be a fine addition to the YMCA's restricted winter recreation program.

Business men are being contacted this week to sponsor one or two teams in this new "Y" venture. Averille Thorn and Paul Leighninger have worked out a plan by which any business man can, for $2 a week, back one of these teams. That amount will pay for a god share of each youngster's bowling on the new modernized alleys, as well as expert bowling instruction and supervision on proper bowling etiquette at each session.

As for outfits, while most business men will consider this a fine good-will and advertising medium and would want their team to bear their banner, it is not necessary. Mr. Leighninger, who superintended the outfitting of the leagues in the past several years, said shirts and lettering could be secured as low as $12.00 for a whole team.

Any Hilltop business firms interested in sponsoring a team should contact Averille Thorn at once, for a few franchises are still open.

The boys' league will meet at the Hilltop Recreation Saturday, Sept. 10, at 10 a. m.

Only a few places will be open in each league, so any junior bowlers (between ages of 12 and 18) should contact Mr. Thorn at once, at JO. 4641.

Both the state junior boys' and the state junior girls' championship teams came from these leagues last year.

Program To Correct Liquor Law Abuse Planned By Tavern Owners

A group of West Side tavern owners has launched a campaign to enlist the liberal-minded people of the Hilltop and West Side in the Monopoly Public Relations, Inc., educational program.

First action came at a meeting of the West Side tavern owners last week to which representatives of all phases of the industry and the Ohio Department of Liquor Control were invited to hear MPR officials outline their program to correct abuses and alleged abuses of the state liquor laws.

Addressing the meeting for MPR was President James L. Hubbell, who declared in his opening remarks that "MPR proposes to discuss in frank terms the responsibility of the people in the observance of the liquor laws of Ohio and other states; to show how repeated abuses of these laws could result in a restriction of the rights of many people to use alcoholic beverages in a sensible manner; to demonstrate that cooperation between the alcoholic beverage permit holders and the consuming public will result in closer observance of the laws and regulations, and to give to the people through unbiased, uncolored facts, a more thorough understanding of the responsibilities of the consumer, the seller, the manufacturer and the state."

The campaign to enlist liberal-minded people in the MPR 1949 Roll Call has already begun on the West Side and the Hilltop by tavern owners who attended the meeting and by others who are now being contacted. Tavern owners expect to enroll several hundred persons within the next few weeks.

"The MPR Roll Call," Hubbell explained, "is aimed at the registration of all liberal-minded people who believe that it is their right and privilege to tell their side of the story on the use of alcoholic beverages in a sensible manner." The Roll Call is conducted by volunteer workers.

Hubbell also pointed out that all permit holders endorsing the MPR program must not only carefully police their own operations but should demand that allied businesses in the area do the same. "MPR is a people's organization," Hubbell concluded, "with the purpose of protecting their majority given right to drink in a sensible manner. If its program is to succeed in its fullest intent, existing problems must be met in a two-fold campaign through an organized public aware of its own responsibilities and by those directly engaged in the industry."

President Ed Zang and Secretary Ralph Schmelzer of the West Side Tavern Association were in charge of the meeting. Brief remarks were also made by representatives of the industry and of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

Community Center Near Completion

Members of the Rea-Bow Improvement Association announced today that they hope to have their new community center finished within 30 days.

Sale of the old building was completed at a meeting of the association Tuesday evening. The old building, which occupied part of the lot where the new building is under construction, will be moved from the premises by the buyer.

The new concrete block building was financed by members of the association who paid for rows of blocks or windows. The building will be 13 blocks high. It is situated at Whitehead-rd and Clarendon-av.

Labor on the new building is being done by members of the improvement association. A family is given permanent membership in the club when they have contributed $60 to its support. Work on the new building is credited towards membership at the rate of one dollar per hour.

Future plans of the association include the installation of a playground at the community center next summer.

FISHING DERBY SATURDAY

Westgate Park lake will be the scene of much activity Saturday as the Dispatch Junior Fishing Derby gets under way. Boys and girls 15 years of age and under will compete for prizes. The lake will be stocked by the State Division of Conservation. From 9 a. m. until 3 p. m. will be the hours of the contest.

Hilltop Players To Present 'You And I' Sunday

Three dress rehearsals have been scheduled for the Hilltop Little Theater group's first production of the year, the Philip Barry play, "You and I". They will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings.

A flawless performance seems assured when the curtain rises at 8:30 p. m. Sunday in John Burroughs School.

Leading roles are being played by Lee Kcontz, 175 S. Sylvan-av; Mrs. Howard C. Moon, 203 S. Westmoor-av; Marie Wilkins, 1008 Jaeger-st; and Robert Spohn, 1237 S. Ohio-av. Mrs. Charles Hall, 72 S. Oakley-av, is directing the play.

Tickets can be purchased from members of the group or at the door on the night of the play.

War Babies Grow Up; Start School

An eprollment of 5,654 students was reported on the opening day in Hilltop public schools, an increase of more than 300 over last year.

The greatest increases were in the elementary schools, especially the lower grades. This is attributed to the high war-time birth rate.

West High School reports an increase of only one pupil this year, but the increase at John Burroughs is 25 pupils in the kindergarten alone.

Of the total, 989 are in high school, 2,084 in the junior high schools, and 2,581 in the elementary schools. The large number of junior high school students is due to the fact that many non-Hilltop pupils attend Starling Junior High.

Among the Hilltop students returning to school are the 46 carriers of The Hilltop Record, so your paper may be delivered a little later than it was during the summer months.

The enrollment breakdown by schools is as follows:

West High School	989
Starling Junior High	992
West Junior High	1092
John Burroughs	1080
Highland Avenue	550
West Broad Street	833
West Mound Street	118

Enrollment figures for the parochial schools on the Hilltop are not complete at this time, however it is expected that they will total about 1000. They include St. Aloysius and St. Mary Magdalene Catholic Schools, Concordia Lutheran School and the Seventh Day Adventist School.

Charges Couple With Kidnaping

Affidavits charging a man and his wife with kidnaping and housebreaking were filed with the police prosecutor by a West Side grandmother Tuesday after the couple tried to take the child from her.

Mrs. Gladys Kellerman, 2321 Sullivant-av, told police that Harvey Kellerman, 34, and his wife, Grace, 20, of 3248 Bethel-rd, kicked the door down at her home Sunday and grabbed Timothy Kellerman, 2.

She said the couple carried Timothy from the house but that she succeeded in grabbing him away from the pair before they could carry him away. Mrs. Genevieve Taylor, juvenile court referee, said the child was awarded to the grandmother because of a contributing charge filed with the court against the father.

POLIO COUNT RISES

Fifty-two new cases of infantile paralysis have been reported to the State Health Department, bringing the Ohio total to 936 this year.

About Folks You Know

Goings — Comings — Doings Of Your Hilltop Neighbors

By Helen James, Society Editor

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dailey and daughter, Doris Jean, 397 S. Harris-av, sent us a letter telling about the scenic trip through the mountains of Pennsylvania that they just completed. Among other sights they saw the S.S. Grandview Hotel which is built on the side of the mountain in the form of a ship. According to the Daileys one can see three states and seven counties from the top deck. They also saw the "World's Greatest Indoor Miniature Village," the Delaware Water Gap, jewelry made from hard coal, and the "Horseshoe Curve," outside Altoona.

Election Held Sept. 9 By Legion Auxiliary

The Auxiliary Unit of Camp Chase Post 98, American Legion, will hold its annual election of officers Friday evening, Sept. 9, at the post club rooms.

The nomination committee reports the following as candidates: president, Mrs. Lillian McVay; first vice-president, Mrs. Dorothy Thompson; second vice-president, Mrs. Lorene Bowser; unit secretary, Mrs. Marie Levisay; unit treasurer, Mrs. Helen Jones; corresponding-secretary, Mrs. Hazel Donelan; member of executive committee, Mrs. Lillian Young; alternates to county council, Mrs. Esther Weidner and Mrs. Mary Thompson.

All members are urged to attend this meeting and select the officers for 1950.

Robert Fulton and Samuel F. B. Morse, two American inventors born within 10 years of 1800, helped finance themselves as young men through successful portrait painting.

HOW DO WE DO IT?
IGA FOOD STORES
How can independently-owned IGA stores sell everything at such low prices everyday?

Here's the answer:
It's really very simple. Your IGA store enjoys all the advantages of volume buying resulting from his combined purchases with thousands of other IGA members across the country. Then, too, your IGA retailer has learned the secret of efficient, low-cost store operation . . . which makes it possible for him to work on a lower margin of profit.

Miss Lonnie M. Griffin Becomes Bride Of Mr. Anderson In Home Ceremony July 30

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Anderson, Jr.

Miss Lonine Mae Griffin and George J. Anderson, Jr., were united in marriage in a ceremony performed at 7:30 p. m., July 30, in the bride's home at 263 S. Highland-av, by Rev. R. J. Harriston, pastor of Refugee Baptist Church. Miss Griffin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Griffin and Mr. Anderson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson, 266 S. Wheatland-av.

The bride was dressed in a blue chiffon gown, wore white flowers in her hair and an orchid corsage. Her bridesmaid and only attendant was Mrs. Susie Harriston who wore a blue suit and a corsage of red roses.

Best man for the bridegroom was Mr. Melton Wilson.

Mrs. Griffin wore a gray dress emphasized by a red rose corsage for the reception following the wedding while Mrs. Anderson was attired in a black dress with a red rose corsage.

The couple is now making their home at 266 S. Wheatland-av.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Richey, Detroit, and sons, Stephen and David, visited his brother, Kent Richey, and family last week.

Household Hint

A man's suit coat is often troublesome to pack. For an average suitcase, lay coat flat on a table, with collar and lapels up. Lap right front over left front, bringing both fronts as far as possible to opposite sides without making wrinkles. Use tissue paper generously. Sleeves should lie smoothly along side of coat. Turn them a little above the elbow and fold up; then pick up lower edge of coat and fold to top.

A Little Bit Of Everything

By russ lang

Understandably enough, 12 inch hot dog circles winced when that rugged individualist introduced into Akron a champion of the foot long dawg—a 13 inch hot dog.

Apparently the trade hasn't righted itself even yet. At the State Fair, one free thinker unbluishingly does business under a "Foote Long Hot Dog" banner while the rest of the boys plod along in the same old way.

• • •

Speaking of shocks, a lady we know was stunned to discover some outstanding scenery in her home state of Wisconsin. She had been under the impression that it took a considerable trek to find much worth looking at, and had spent a lot of time and money trekking all over the country.

She rates domestice scenery as follows: (a) Grand Canyon, (b) Carlsbad Caverns, (c) equal rating to Key West and the Dells, Wis.

In radio "Whodunits"—as the private eye stuff is termed—are the same to evening programs as soap operas are to daytime fare: more listeners for the least expenditure.

• • •

Additional information has been received about the reported gay charm of Parisian police. It is quite possible, we have learned, that the gendarmes were hysterical over our lads' version of French.

• • •

The fact that we can fly across the country in about the same time it takes to fight our way through any of our largest cities indicates that there are one or two problems left to solve.

• • •

Abraham Lincoln once said, "I do not know who my grandfather was; I am much more interested in who his grandson will be." (David Ross program.)

• • •

That Aly Kahn is a pretty good guy, is the suspicion of this department. In view of the Aga Kahn's life and times, that would certainly be an achievement.

• • •

First date jitters can be controlled by girls by this or that means, they are informed. It might be of help for the young ladies to know that their young hopeful is always worse off. This is the McCoy, gals.

• • •

Aunt Prue never was able to do much about her "bicodless dinner" crony who has returned home to California. She shows signs of her old self again, we are happy to report. When a sales lady tried to sell her something that needed a lot of alterations, she said, "This is the ready-to-wear department, isn't it. Well, I want something ready to wear."

It is like old times again—what with everybody and his brother and sister trying to swim the channel. We are wondering if they use the right or left hand lane for passing in such heavy traffic.

he is a teetotaler), shoeshine boy, printer's devil, messenger boy, newsboy, revival leader and collector of bad debts are found among his diverse former occupations.

He has been engaged in many commercial construction projects throughout this vicinity, latest of which is the W. North Broadway-Olentangy commercial unit.

Then, too, he has served as social investigator for the state welfare department and civil service examiner for the state of Ohio.

Hilltoppers were urged to start saving cardboard and strong wrapping paper for sending gifts overseas for Christmas. Packages overseas can be sent without arms to Japan.

• • •

Ten Years Ago

Hilltop grocers reported that due to a rapid increase in prices, they were unable to obtain goods at the prices they were retailing for a few days ago. Housewives were rushing to buy up certain articles of food although no shortage in supply has been reported.

• • •

Officials of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. said today that the streetcars on W. Broad-st will be replaced by trolley coaches within a year. It is assumed that the line will be extended past Hague-av at that time.

"The Japanese invasion of China is a blessing in disguise," said Paul Feng, a Chinese missionary and Bible student of the Quaker Church, visiting the Hilltop. He also predicted that the China-Japanese War would end soon if other countries did not send request from the service man between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15 only, postal officials said.

In a statement of policy The Hilltop Record said today: "We have adopted a definite editorial policy, that of a progressive program for the Hilltop and one of honesty and sincerity in our expressions. We will at all times continue to be independent politically and otherwise.

Kisses With A Different Flavor

By BETTY BARCLAY

Kisses — the culinary type — vary in kind; but all call for beaten egg whites and sugar. Some are flavored with vanilla extract, some with almond, some use coconut, nuts, or chocolate. These Toasties Kisses, made with cereal, are flavored with grated orange rind. Just a little variation that you will find most intriguing. We can recommend them highly.

Toasties Kisses

½ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
3 cups corn toasties

Add salt to egg whites and beat until foamy; add sugar, 2 table spoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Add flavoring; fold in toasties. Drop from teaspoon on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 10 minutes, or until done. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

By trade, St. Paul was a tentmaker.

Black and White Parfait

Try this striking and unusual dessert for a family meal or for any festive occasion when you want something new and different in the dessert line. Black and white parfait is a dessert with real eye appeal, and more than lives up in flavor to the promise of its appearance. Its dramatic contrast of creamy white and rich dark brown makes it an immediate eye stopper, and the equally dramatic contrast of frozen ice cream and lusciously smooth chocolate pudding appeals no less to the palate.

Black and White Parfait

Vanilla Ice Cream:
1 rennet tablet
1 tablespoon cold water
2 cups light cream
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup light corn syrup
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Dissolve rennet tablet by crushing in cold water. Add sugar, corn syrup and vanilla to cream. Warm slowly, stirring constantly. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM, (110° F.) not hot, remove at once from heat. Add dissolved rennet tablet and stir quickly a few seconds only. Pour at once, while still liquid, into refrigerator tray. Do not move until set — about 10 minutes. Place in freezing compartment and freeze until firm. Remove from tray to a bowl, break up with a fork, beat with an electric or rotary beater until free from hard lumps but still a thick mush. Finish freezing.

While ice cream is freezing, make chocolate pudding as follows: Melt 1½ squares bitter chocolate in top of double boiler. Mix 1½ tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ cup sugar, a pinch of salt, and blend with 1½ cups water. Add water mixture slowly to melted chocolate, mixing until smooth. Cook over boiling water until thickened, stirring frequently. Add ½ teaspoon vanilla and 1 teaspoon butter and cool. When ready to serve, fill parfait glasses, alternating vanilla ice cream and pudding. Garnish with chopped nuts.

'SNOOPY' BREAKS SQUEEZE RECORD

Leah Lampman, 4, shows friend where cow waggled through hole.

"Snoopy," 650 pounds of cow, remains un-moo-ved in her prison.

RESTING ON HER TIGHTLY-WON LAURELS and imprisoned in an Osceola, Wis., silo ain't exactly "hay" for a 650-pound heifer named "Snoopy." Her very appropriate name and an urge to squeeze the most out of life cost her her freedom when she wriggled through a 20x24-inch silo opening to land unhurt 12 feet below on the floor. But, she's taking it calmly since learning ▬ has outsqueezed "Grady," the Oklahoma bovine who last Feb. 14 squeezed through a silo hole the size of a newspaper page. (International Soundphotos)

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

"Congrats" to Mr. and Mrs. William Lindaman on their new little daughter.

"Goodbyes" were said to the Tom Leach family as they moved to Mansfield.

The Highfills just returned from their three-weeks' trip by train across the country. They went to Chicago, then to all points west: Yellowstone National Park, out to California, up through Seattle, Wash, way up to Vancouver, then returned by the northern route. They had a wonderful time.

Bill Oyer, his wife and Patsy, spent this week-end at Minerva.

The Paul Murnanes went to Cincinnati on Labor Day.

Now that baseball season is about over, Paul Campbell is using his batting arm for something else. He's swinging away with a paint brush again, doing a little interior decorating in his home.

Now that the Fair is over, did everyone get to attend? 'Twas a funny thing. Two families in this neighborhood met each other at the hog show! Remember the sayin' "See you at the pig pen?" Well, it looks like they really "kep" their word.

Though it rained every day last week except twice, this was one week we could still call each day a Fair Day.

Coffee party socials are frequently held over here on Belvidere. Heard through the grapevine that those on Butler have a skating team. Midnight excursions — a specialty. We should all get together.

You know, besides smoking cigars, I have a set of pipes that my wife always wants me to keep clean. I think that's bad enough, but when Bob's wife (I won't mention any last names here) poured Air Wick into one of his—well—I think there was some hair pulling. It might have smelled better but oh! the taste! A good smelly pipe gone to waste!

See you next week if I'm still living to tell any more tales.

Words of the Wise

It is a general popular error to suppose the loudest complainers for the public to be the most anxious for its welfare.
—(Edmund Burke)

Odd Fact

Because the citizens of a little village in Alabama ran "slap-out" of suggestions for a name for their community, a motion was unanimously adopted to call it "Slapout," Alabama.

Calling All Outdoorsmen

By Gee

The 1949 waterfowl hunting regulations have been officially on the federal books now for a month, so I thought I'd ask a question. What do you think of the new gunning code?

I've talked to a hundred or so gunners since the season was set and at least 90 per cent of the boys seem thankful for the extra days of hunting. The other 10 per cent, as usual, are griping about not getting more shooting days and a larger bag limit.

Frankly, I think the federal boys were quite liberal in upping the length of the season. And I know that many hunters appreciate the longer gunning period even if the bag limit is the same as last year. In fact, at public waterfowl meetings prior to setting the seasons, more persons voiced opinions in favor of a longer season and the same bag limit. That probably somewhat influenced regulations.

There are some rather interesting sidelights on the new regulations. For instance, most states have elected to have a continuous season rather than a split one. Of course, by selecting a split season the number of gunning days is cut.

Of the 17 states in the Atlantic fly way, only five have established split seasons. None of the 14 states in the Mississippi fly way went for the split deal. Four out of 10 states in the Central fly way found a split season the best, and three out of seven states selected a split season in the Pacific fly way.

If you happen to be loaded with folding money, it would be possible to gun for waterfowl over a period of approximately six months. You could open the season in Alaska in September (even Sept. 1 in one Alaskan zone) and follow through Canada and the States to Puerto Rico where the waterfowl season remains open until Feb. 12.

But regardless of where you hunt or when, lets be good sportsmen by taking only the shots that are within range and cut down the tremendous loss of cripples.

Summer Activities Of Hilltop 'Y' Come To End

The Gra-Y members of the Hilltop YMCA found their summer vacation well centered around the recreational and educational activities of the "Y" program.

The Gra-Y Clubs participated in a number of country hikes. Some 130 boys found their Wednesdays well spent by hiking five to seven miles in the country outskirts of Columbus. An overnight hike was the grand final with 30 boys spending the week-end at the South Side YMCA Park. The boys enjoyed the two-day outing fishing, playing ball, shuffleboard, soccer and a night hike.

The clubs were invited to attend the Columbus Red Bird baseball night games. Some 150 boys attended these night games under the supervision of the "Y" staff and fathers of the boys in the group. The boys also attended the model airplane show at the Sullivant Avenue Airport. This proved to be a very unusual event and created a new interest for the boys by introducing them to the art of model airplane building.

Throughout the summer the "Y" movie program ventured into the immediate neighborhood of the community. Movies were held every Friday and Saturday in the following churches of the Hilltop: Hilltonia EUB, Burgess EUB and the Oakley Avenue Baptist Church. At the "Y" movies were held every Friday afternoon and evening. Well over 1500 children of the Hilltop attended these movies provided and supervised by the "Y".

The everyday summer program at the "Y" consisted of the following activities, under guidance of the "Y" staff:

Monday, 9 to 1—Gra-Y softball games; 2 to 4 — Craftshop (woodwork).
Tuesday, 9 to 1—Gray-Y softball games; 2 to 4 — Craftshop (woodwork).
Wednesday — Hikes, swims and tours.
Thursday, 9 to 11 — Craftshop (plastics); 2 to 4—Craftshop (plastics).
Friday, 9 to 12—Ping-pong, pool, cards and games.
Saturday—Movies.

The "Y" feels that this is only the beginning of the Gra-Y activities and that in the summers to come they will extend and build their program to meet the demand of the needed recreational outlets for the children of this age level in the Hilltop community.

Record Attendance At Church Meeting

The Ohio Yearly Meeting of the Friends Church which convened in annual session at Damascus, O., Aug. 23-28, reports a record attendance.

General Superintendent Claude A. Roane of Alliance reported that the Home Missions Department of the Yearly Meeting has plans for the establishment of new churches in Akron, O., Oswego, N. Y., Broadview Heights, O., and Boston Heights, O.

The highlight of the week was when Dr. Walter R. Williams, superintendent of missions, reported the progress being made in missionary work in central India.

West High Draftsmen Take Honors At Ohio State Fair

By Myron T. Seifert

West High draftsmanship boys brought home the bacon again! Laurels and honors galore were heaped upon the boys of Instructor C. S. Kennedy, who, for the second consecutive year, were "crowned" state champions at the state fair last week, by virtue of cutclassing all other high schools in the state who submitted exhibits.

Out of 3000 drawings entered, 157 placed from nine different schools, the West boys garnering almost 100 of the 157 awards. In addition to West High, many other state schools were represented at the state exhibition, including Toledo Waite, Cleveland West Tech, Cleveland East Tech, Columbus East, Zanesville, Youngstown South and Cincinnati Walnut Hills.

Ribbons and the sweepstake trophy will be presented to the winners at an early school assembly, Mr. Kennedy advised.

Signal honor came to Bob Cromwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christy Cromwell, 86 S. Southampton-av, who was declared state individual champion at the fair.

Cromwell, who had 13 entries, capitalized on 10 of these: four firsts, two seconds, two thirds, one fourth and one seventh.

A graduate of West High last June, Bob excelled in a wide variety of activities and scholarship during his three years at the Hilltop school. The Occident, school year-book, lists the extra-curricular work of this versatile youth: Golf, 1, 2; swimming manager, 1, 2, 3; 100 Sales Tax Club, 2, 3; Spanish Club, 2, 3; Triangle Club vice-president, 2; Triangle Club secretary, 3; Book Exchange, 2; Hi-Y, 3; publicity chairman of senior party, 3; Occident feature editor, 3; state fair drafting, 2, 3; dramatics, 6th period; football spotter, 2, 3; Hilltop Record drive, 2; study hall monitor, 2; Booster Club paper drive, 2; scholarship test, 3, 3.

Bob plans to attend Ohio State University this fall where he will enroll in the college of liberal arts or in veterinary medicine.

West High has scored three state individual champions in the last 10 years, including Robert Tong, 1939, now chief designing engineer at the Ternstedt Division of General Motors, west of the Hilltop; Robert J. Smith, 1948, sophomore at OSU; enrolled in fine arts there; and Cromwell this year.

The prize winning West High boys were:

Hilltoppers Win In Talent Search

This week two talented Hilltop youngsters are being congratulated on their winning a year's scholarship in the Jimmy Rawlins "Search for Talent" contest.

They are Jimmie Walsh, 134 S. Roys-av, and Sharon Kay Stephenson, Rt. 1, West Jefferson.

The competition, held all summer long, was entered by some 200 children and the choosing of the winners was a difficult task, according to Mr. Rawlins.

Insurance Women Meet Sept. 8

The IWOCO'S (Insurance Women of Columbus, Ohio) will hold their first meeting of the fall season at the Ft. Hayes Hotel, Thursday, Sept. 8, with dinner at 6 p. m., followed by a business meeting at 7 with the following new officers in attendance: president, Mrs. Albert E. (Agnes) Harter; vice-president, Mrs. Geraldine Leeper; treasurer, Mabel L. Courtright; recording secretary, Lillian F. Lane; and corresponding secretary, June Aitken.

The speaker for the evening will be Will Rannells, associate professor of fine arts at Ohio State University, who is well known for his drawings of dogs and illustrations for children's books. Columbus was honored at the national convention in Miami by the election of Zora A. Wohlstein, as treasurer.

We just want to say it again—to be sure we did thank you. Anything you need in the automotive line—just ask us—if we don't have it for you—we'll get it.

And Have Not Love

By MARGARET NICHOLS

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR

"YOU'VE hated every minute of it with Ramsey since you've been back," Beatrice said.

"Because in the Navy," Porter said, "I learned things from men that made me ashamed of the things I'd said myself out for. I hated myself and you. Yes, you, too. Everything. The whole cockeyed, superficial, cruel mess we got ourselves into! I've been vile to you, I know it. I've hurt you, Bee. I can tell you now how sorry I am. How could I tell you before without letting you know I was living in a squirrel cage?"

She was scarcely breathing. "I didn't dream it was that. I thought it was you who wanted the material success and all the responsibilities that go with it."

He shook his head. "Not the way we had it. Lambs led to the slaughter. I would look at you wearing a dress that didn't cost less than two hundred dollars. You were beautiful. Sure. The most beautiful woman at the club, or the theatre, or at parties. I'd look at you and think, 'Where's Bee? Where's my girl?'"

"Oh, no . . . no!"

"Yes, you turned yourself into a perfect thing of your kind, but I didn't know you! You did it for me. I know that. You did it for me. In becoming someone you thought I wanted, you became someone I couldn't want at all! You were a symbol, not a flesh-and-blood woman. It's my fault, Bee. I know it. You did it for me."

And as the sunlight fell upon the fine planes of his face she thought, There is nothing between him and Bonnie Watson. There was no mystery. There was only my unknowing. I cannot repudiate eight years of incomparable happiness.

She stood there, knowing that the cold wall had melted away with the warmth of understanding.

"Didn't you get my telegram? I came home last night."

"I didn't get it until I got back to the office today. I missed it by only a few minutes yesterday. I called here today, but Frances said that you had gone out."

Her arms fell to her sides. Her breast rose and fell with her free deep breathing. When she looked at him, she knew both pleasure and pain. Love is both pleasure and pain, she thought. And I know now through what he had come to prove it true, and that whatever he does after this will not cost him his integrity or his manliness.

She said simply, "You may tell me about Bonnie, Porter. She knew as well as I that day in your office that we had met before. She was so troubled, as ill at ease she couldn't work."

His smile was compassionate for Bonnie. "She didn't want you to see what a poor typist she is. She is a terrible secretary, but she's a sweet girl. A little helpless and very confused, but sweet."

And after a moment he said, "Sure you'd meet her when we first went to California. She was a bride then and her husband had gone. You never met him, Bee. I was with him before he got a transfer—a one-way ticket. He never came back. He was a great guy, Buck Dunn. But he must have had some sort of premonition because he wrote Bonnie if she ever needed help to look me up. She did need help badly, so badly she came across country by bus. I gave her the job even though she had had almost no training. She was the widow of a hero. We forget too soon. She lost her baby, too, as you did. Giving her a job was the least I could do."

"He was a liar, wasn't he?"

"Yes. How did you know that?"

"Something she said."

Porter said, "She was having trouble with her husband's family. They live in Washington. They'd given her a time because they had opposed the marriage to a girl they hadn't met. They wouldn't have anything to do with her, and it broke her heart because that's all she really wanted—to be taken in by his family, to live with them, to be a daughter to them for the son they'd lost. That's all she wanted. She was terribly in love with Buck."

When he hesitated, Beatrice did not say anything. She understood now the girl's reticence to continue with her office work, and her face with a unique charm of its own that begged to be remembered for what it had been in a happier time.

Porter said, "She begged me not to tell you any of this until she had made it right with his family. She didn't want to meet any people, and she was terrified that if she did meet any men at our house or at the club the story would get back to his family and they wouldn't think she was sincere. It was hardly likely that would happen, but that's the way she felt about it and I respected her wishes because I was so sorry for her. She even used her maiden name. She was exposed to a lot of ghastly publicity when Buck was killed."

"And heroes were popular."

"Aren't you right? But it was a big order for any girl crashing his family. It took patience and tact and time, and having her feelings hurt, until they were finally convinced. And now they can't do enough for her. She moved in with them yesterday. That's where I was—taking her and her trunk and her few little belongings and Buck's medals. They asked me to dinner and I knew it would be late, so I decided to stay at a hotel. You weren't home. There's nothing to come home to when you're not here, Bee."

"I'm here now, darling."

Though he smiled, his eyes filled with tears. "Do you remember the day you took your hair down and took off your shoes and cried? You took like the devil when you cry, but I knew then that you were still my Bee—still human. In Chicago I wanted to wire you to come out and join me. I wanted you, Bee, but Libby was in a jam, and then I had to bring that man back with me, and you had to go to see your mother, and I had to put an end to the Rameys—"

"I'm here now, darling."

"Oh, Bee."

He came to her and put his arms around her, kissing her mouth, her throat, her eyelids, her hair.

This is surrender and homecoming, Beatrice thought. This is greater than I. This is tenderness again, long missed and achingly longed for.

"Bee, I'm so tired and I've lived so long on a leash—seeing nothing, feeling nothing, tasting nothing. Be patient with me until I learn to look at things again."

"Let the others have what we don't want anymore, Porter."

"They can have it. We're going to make life precious again, to see the warmth and color in the world. We're going away somewhere. I don't know where, but somewhere where there's sun and I can feel you're mine. We're together, Bee, and I've got my girl back again." When Marianne came into the room, he held out his hand to her. "My two girls," he said.

By Mrs. Harry C. Downing

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Roberts and family, 1864 Rosemont-av, have gone to Springfield, O., where they will live until next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pack, 2042 Eakin-rd, spent the week-end with relatives in Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bondy, 644 Binns-blvd, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Jack Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, 2929 Clime-pk. The wedding will take place early in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Musgrave, 1288 Hart-rd, are the parents of a baby daughter, born Sept. 3 in Doctors' Hospital.

Briggsdale PTA will meet next Tuesday evening, Sept. 13, at the school. Officers for the year are Charles Martin, president, Mrs. William Woodyard, vice-president, Mrs. Ralph Willcox, secretary, and Mrs. O. M. DeLong, [illegible].

Mrs. John Grannan, 2319 Harrisburg-pk, was hostess to several friends at luncheon a week ago Tuesday. Guests were Mrs. Earl McNabb, daughter Beverly and son Eddie, Mrs. Nellie Gardner and Mrs. Ernestine Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley O'Day and Mrs. Kathryn King, 2060 Eakin-rd, had as their guests Sunday, Mrs. Betty Myers and daughter, Diana, and Denny Dickey of Cincinnati. Mrs. King returned home with them for a visit this week.

Plans are being prepared for the installation of a traffic signal at the corner of Frank-rd and Harrisburg-pk, according to word received last Friday by Charles Martin, Briggsdale PTA president, from the State Highway Patrol.

The wedding of Lynn Weygandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weygandt of Briggsdale, to William Joseph took place last Saturday morning in St. Aloysius Church. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Joseph of Amherst, O.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Vanity Moore, 1570 Harrisburg-pk, in the loss of their daughter, Sadie, and son, Larry, last week.

Libby Downing, 2060 Eakin-rd, is spending her vacation with relatives in Los Angeles, Calif.

What Will The Harvest Be?

What will the harvest be? This question has been asked millions of times by farmers and persons of all walks of life. From the soil come the crops that will feed our people and save the starving millions of Europe and Asia. The whole world needs the harvest of America.

But the Bible tells us that to live by bread alone is not enough. The world, yes, even America alone, can only "exist" by the harvests produced from our rich, fertile lands. The harvest that the world must "live" by must of necessity include spiritual values. From them alone comes LIFE in its fullest, most meaningful sense of the word.

The world looks to America, not only for the harvests of the fields; it needs the spiritual leadership that America in its abundance can and has offered unselfishly these many years. It was America after World War I which fed the starving millions abroad and gave them new hope of a better day.

It is America now, after World War II, which holds high the flaming torch of freedom of religion—and all of the deeper values which go to make up the harvest that will mean HOPE and FAITH and CHARITY to the downtrodden of the world. America needs the harvest of values taught in its mighty churches—the higher, nobler ideals. We have accepted this challenge. We are our brothers' keepers, and America will not fail at this important crossroads of the ages.

New Request For Dance Hall

[illegible]ink and Richard Hoising- night withdrew a request [illegible] Franklin County Planning [illegible]mmission to use the property [illegible] Wilson-rd and the Pennsylvania Railroad as a dance hall.

Members of the commission say that a telegram from Link, withdrawing the request, was received about an hour before the scheduled hearing.

[illegible]should become an annual tradition. Talent-packed, the show moved along at a lively pace from the opening band number to the finale.

If any acts could be called outstanding, I would choose Frank Ongaro's accordion playing, Mike Mowrey's imitation of Frankie Laine singing "Now That I Need Youoo," and the singing of Jeannie Bennet Cummins. Ongaro was called back by the audience to do two encores.

The surprise "Star of the Future," whose identity was kept secret until the time of the show, was West High student Keith Miller.

• • •

Outstanding performances in "You and I" were turned in by Robert Spohn and Mrs. Howard Moon, who took the part of the middle-aged couple who, after 20 years of happy marriage, wonder if they might have made a [illegible] Le Konta played the [illegible] promising young archi[illegible] rain up against the same [illegible] that confronted his father 20 years before. The girl he wanted to marry was played by Marie Wilkins.

At play's end the father decides that his decision to marry 20 years previously had been a wise one and after many misunderstandings the son finally finds a way to combine marriage and study for a career.

To Be Brief . . .

Today's paper is only six pages instead of the usual eight because we're getting ready for a big paper Thursday and an important announcement that may be good news for you. Be sure to read Thursday's edition of The Hilltop Record.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Jesus Quoted From the Psalms

Scriptures—Psalms 8:2; 22:1, 16-18; 91:9-12; 103:8-13; 110:1; 118:22-.23; Matt. 21:15-16, 38-43; 22:41-46; Luke 24:44.

David, in his distress cried, like Jesus on the cross, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me? why art Thou so far from helping me, and from the words of my roaring?"

In the 22nd psalm, David cried to God: "They pierced my hands and my feet. They part my garments among them, and cast lots upon my vesture," even as they did to Jesus.

When Jesus was tempted in the wilderness, Satan told Him to cast Himself down from the top of the temple, "for He (God) shall give His angels charge over Thee," that no harm come.

Just before Jesus' ascension, He told His disciples, "These are the words that are written in the law of Moses, in the prophets and psalms concerning Me."

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 103:4.

On The Record

Librarians Perform Community Service

The recent presentation of awards to the 49er Summer Reading Club at the Hilltop Branch Library offered a good example of how a library serves a community.

The librarians deserve a lot of credit for the program they carried on this summer and the good use they made of the inadequate facilities of the Hague-av building.

Mrs. Frances Emrick conducted the club and made all of the displays that adorned the tables. With nothing but cardboard, paper towels and paint, she turned out some very realistic scenes of 1849 America.

Assistant librarians Pat West and Lavonne Beard gave an inspired performance at the presentation ceremony, where they played the part of two fictitious midgets.

The staff of the library is headed by Mildred Phalor. Mrs. Temrick and Ruth Hastings are the full time workers and were assisted this summer by Pat West, Virginia Witherspoon, Bettirae Beard and Mrs. James Farrell. Mrs. Farrell teaches in the Groveport High School, and worked at the library during the summer.

All of the librarians took an interest in their work. They have shown that rare devotion to their jobs that makes people do the ordinary things so extraordinarily well.

The 49er gold rush theme was a fitting one for the summer reading club, but, if anything, it was inadequate.

The world of books extends back through time more than 100 years and farther through space than the gold fields of California. Books make possible visits to fictional lands that we can never know in reality.

Members of the reading club accepted the invitation to an exciting vacation that could be had without ever leaving the Hilltop.

Truly they found treasure, a treasure of far greater value than gold.

13 Club Outing Sept. 18

Final plans are being completed for the 13 Club Stag Outing at Valley Ranch, W. Broad-st and Big Darby Creek, Sunday from 1 to 7 p. m.

Plenty of refreshments and food will be on hand, with the big event being a barbecue. Proceeds from the outing will all be used for charitable purposes.

The 13 Club has given away over $4000 to charity since 1944. This includes $3,435 to the Charity Newsies, $125 to the March of Dimes, $40 to the Camp Chase Post veterans' memorial fund, $150 to the Franklin County Crippled Children's Society, $200 to the Hilltop Kiwanis YMCA Drive, $25 to the Aladdin Crippled Children Hospital Association, $100 to the Franklin County Boys' Camp, $100 to fire victims, and $92 for coal, food, and clothing for needy families.

Tickets for the stag outing sell for $1.50 and are on sale now by members of the club.

Cause Unknown Of Sewer Stench In Westgate

Westgate residents complained Monday they have been subjected to stench during the past week which apparently emanates from storm sewers.

Those who took the trouble to investigate the source of the unpleasant odor found a soupy mass of contamination boiling furiously in catch basins.

Orrie L. Bonney, deputy city engineer, was at a loss to explain how the stench developed but promised to investigate.

"That part of town has seperate storm and sanitary sewer systems. Unless something very unusual has occurred, there should be no odor coming from storm sewers," Bonney declared.

He speculated that someone may have dumped something into the storm sewer system in the area.

He pointed out that the weather recently has been relatively dry and that the few leaves and other matter washed by rain from the streets would not cause gas to boil out of water standing in catch-basins as residents reported.

HBA Meets At W'gate Methodist Church Tonight

The next regular meeting of the Hilltop Business Association will be held Tuesday at the Westgate Methodist Church at 6:45 p. m.

Harold Greene, program chairman, has announced that motion pictures will be shown at the meeting. Members are requested to wear the identification badges that they were given for the Bean Dinner. These badges will be used as permanent identification and will be worn at all meetings.

The committee report on this year's Bean Dinner will be given at the meeting.

Holton Park Lake to Be Filled In

An old discarded tire lies half submerged in Holton Park Lake where workmen tore out a section of the dam to drain the swampy area west of the lake. In the middle picture Charles Earl, 151 Eldon-av, points to where a small stream of oily water trickles into the lake from storm sewers in the neighborhood. In the picture at lower left, weeds grow over the dam at the outlet of the lake and dead limbs and debris float on the stagnant water. The lower right picture shows weeds growing out into the narrow stream that feeds the lake. (Photos by Herb Topy).

City Officials Say Water Supply Too Scant For Lake

The passing of summer may see the passing of a well-known Hilltop landmark; the Holton Park Lake.

Ray Dietz, of the city parks and forestry division, says that the lake will be filled in as soon as dirt is available, leaving only a narrow channel through the park. "This would rid the area of an eyesore and add to the area of the playground," Dietz said. "There just isn't a large enough flow of water to maintain the lake," he added, "the only time the water flows through is just after a hard rain, or when the Hilltop Swimming Pool is drained." He said that several complaints have been received about the prevalence of mosquitoes in the area.

Residents of the area are not agreed on whether they favor the city's action or not. One man who does not want to see the lake filled in is Howard R. Young of 319 Eldon-av.

"I'd like to see a lake there instead of just a stream," he said. "It used to be nice there until the dam started, washing out from neglect. It was a good safe place for ice skating in the winter. My boy learned to skate there." Mr. Young added that to his knowledge the lake had never been a breeding place of mosquitoes.

City officials said that the dam had not washed out, but that workmen had torn out a section of it to drain a marshy part of the park.

Dr. Joseph Drayer, chief of the city division of sanitation, said that his department had inspected the lake and recommended filling it in. "I don't believe there is a mosquito problem there now," he said, "we've fogged with DDT as close in as we could and put DDT capsules in the water."

Dr. Drayer also pointed out that the lack of water caused unsanitary conditions at the lake. He said that work on the Holton Park project might not get well under way until spring because the city was planning to fill in Kesselring Swamp on S. Belvidere-av first.

"We are not going to make a dump out of the Holton Park Lake, we are going to wait until we can get clean dirt or masonry before filling it in," Dr. Drayer said. Some dirt has already been dumped there from the excavation of the apartment houses being built at Broad-st and Belvidere-av.

Dr. Drayer said that the cost of reclaiming the lake and repairing the stone walls and dams would be prohibitive. "We have too many other projects where we could make better use of the money," he said.

Dr. Drayer suggested that the area gained by filling in the lake could be used to add to the Holton Park playground or perhaps to install a picnic site.

The decorative stone walls and dams that once gave the park a decorative touch were constructed in August and September, 1935. They were one of the first WPA projects in Franklin County.

Holton Park Lake as it appeared in 1935 soon after WPA workers had completed the project there.

Charles P. Ealy Funeral Thursday

Charles P. Ealy, 78, died Monday evening in the home of his son, Russell Ealy, 486 Hilltonia-av. A hostler for the Pensylvania Railroad 30 years until his retirement 11 years ago, he was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

He is survived also by a daughter, Mrs. Laura Blankenship of Kilbourne, O.; five grandchildren; a great-grandchild and a sister, Mrs. Ora Cashdollar of Blacklick.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at the P. E. Rutherford Funeral Home. Burial will be in Sunset Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

PROPERTY OWNERS MEET

The Property Owners' Association of Franklin County will meet Friday in City Hall Council Chamber at 8 p. m. The meeting will be open to the public.

St. Aloysius Plans Inquirers' Class

An Inquirers' Class will begin Tuesday, Sept. 20, at St. Aloysius Church for those interested in learning more about the Catholic faith, and for Catholics who wish to revew the teachings of their religion.

Moderator for the class will be Rev. John Simon. Class meetings will be held every Tuesday and Thursday at 8 p. m. Those who wish to enroll in the class should contact Rev. Simon at the church, 18 Clarendon-av, or call RA. 2086.

Withdraw Request To Run Dance Hall

Roy Link and Richard Helsington last night withdrew a request to the Franklin County Planning Commission to use the property at Wilson-rd and the Pennsylvania Railroad as a dance hall.

Members of the commission say that a telegram from Link, withdrawing the request, was received about an hour before the scheduled hearing.

Hilltop Woman Is Third In Mrs. America Contest

Mrs. Mary Rippel (Citizen Photo)

A Hilltop woman placed third Sunday in the Mrs. America contest at Asbury Park, N. J.

Mrs. Mary Rippel, 26, of 708 S. Hague-av, came in third after winning first prizes for the best figure and the finest hair-do in preliminary judging Saturday night.

A blue-eyed brunette, Mrs. Rippel is five-feet-seven-inches tall, weighs 128 pounds, and has 26-inch waist, 36-inch bust, and 36-inch hip measurements. She is the wife of Wilbur M. Rippel, a building contractor.

The double panel of judges in the contest (one for beauty and one for home-making) included Sonny Tufts, Jack La Rue, Phil Baker, Morey Amsterdam, Philip Reed and Hal Boyle.

Mrs. Rippel is an Andre Correale fashion and photographer's model here. Her favorite hobby is water skiing, one which she participates in during week-ends at the Rippel cottage at Buckeye Lake.

Winner of the contest was Mrs. Frances L. Cloyd of San Diego, Cal., and second place went to Mrs. Laura Banion of Miami Springs, Fla.

Boosters Plan To Build Press Box

Agree To Sponsor Joint Banquet With HBA, Kiwanis Club

Decisions to hold only one athletic banquet annually and to work for the construction of a press box at the West High Stadium were made at the first meeting of the West High Boosters last Friday.

Lee Weigand, president of the Boosters, said that holding one banquet a year would make it possible to honor members of all athletic teams. Previously the Hilltop Business Association would sponsor the football banquet; the Hilltop Kiwanis Club would sponsor the baseball banquet; and the Boosters would sponsor the basketball banquet.

From now on, all three organizations will jointly sponsor an athletic banquet which will be held in May. Members of the minor athletic teams such as tennis, swimming, golf and track will be invited to these banquets.

President Phil Stout of the Business Association and President M. E. Sensenbrenner of the Kiwanis Club attended the meeting and said that their organizations would back the new plan.

Construction of the press booth, rather than a larger number of small projects, was decided upon by Booster Club members. It will be constructed on the stadium.

The Booster Club has set a goal of 2000 in its membership drive this year. Anyone interested in West High athletics is urged to join. Tickets are available from members.

Recent accomplishments of the Boosters include moving of the baseball bleachers, improvements to the girl's athletic field and installation of a new electric football scoreboard.

The next meeting of the Boosters is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 22.

President Lee Weigand of the Booster Club announced today that the Boosters have received a check from the 13 Club for $50 as a donation towards building the new press box on West High School Stadium.

Hilltop Patrolman Injured In Crash

Motorcycle Patrolman Will D. Daugherty, 27, of 354 Midland-av, suffered left shoulder and leg cuts and undetermined head injuries yesterday when his motorcycle collided with a bakery truck at Welch-av as he was chasing a speed violator north in Parsons-av.

Taken to Grant Hospital in a Cook & Son ambulance, Daugherty's condition was described as "good" this morning.

Police said the truck driver was [illegible] Ward of 1476 Thomas-av.

'Cowboy' Robs Old Trail — Hits Same

Dressed up in "western" toggery, a sombrero and his face masked with a green scarf, a young armed bandit last week held up the Old Trail Theater, 3636 W. Broad-st, and fled with $25.

Donna Thompson, 24, of 633 S. Burgess-av, who was working her first night as cashier, told sheriff's deputies the "cowboy" poked a blue steel pistol through the window and said, "This is a stick-up. Give me all your money."

She complied and he fled east in Broad-st.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL MEETS

The first fall meeting of the Hilltop Community Council will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Hilltop YMCA. Plans for the children's Hallowe'en party will be made. A representative from each Hilltop organization in the council is requested to attend.

Powell-av Man Accidentally Shot

Police report that E. R. Amrine, 36 N. Powell-av, was accidentally shot in the right elbow at about 2:15 this morning when a .22 target pistol he was carrying in his belt dropped to the floor and discharged. He was looking for his house slippers at the time.

Amrine was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital by Fire Dept. emergency squad No. 3, where he was treated and released.

Top Rate Talent Displayed In Alumni Show, Hilltop Little Theater Offering

By Harry Franken

In a review of a play or musical put on by an amateur group it is usually high praise to say that the singer sang the same number the band was playing, or that no one shouted "come in" before the sound effects man gave the knock at the door.

Such is not the case in two recent offerings of Hilltop groups; the West High School Alumni Musical, "Do You Remember", and the Hilltop Little Theater Group's presentation of Philip Barry's "You and I."

From all of the favorable comment heard on the Alumni Show, the review should become an annual tradition. Talent-packed, the show moved along at a lively pace from the opening band number to the finale.

If any acts could be called outstanding, I would choose Frank Ongaro's accordion playing, Mike Mowrey's imitation of Frankie Laine singing "Now That I Need Youoo," and the singing of Jeannie Bennet Cummins. Ongaro was called back by the audience to do two encores.

The surprise "Star of the Future," whose identity was kept secret until the time of the show, was West High student Keith Miller.

• • •

Outstanding performances in "You and I" were turned in by Robert Spohn and Mrs. Howard Moon, who took the part of the middle-aged couple who, after 20 years of happy marriage, wonder if they might have made a mistake in choosing marriage rather than have the husband continue with his study of art. Spohn was excellent as the man torn between two loves and being made aware that he could not have both of them. Mrs. Moon was exceptional as the understanding wife who insisted that her husband have a chance to see if he could really paint or was "just clever with a brush."

Katherine Belhorn furnished the comedy in the play as the maid who posed for a portrait by Mr. Spohn, and who had "sech a hard time jest trying to be a lady."

Le Konts played the role of the promising young architect who ran up against the same problem that confronted his father 20 years before. The girl he wanted to marry was played by Marie Wilkins.

At play's end the father decides that his decision to marry 20 years previously had been a wise one and after many misunderstandings the son finally finds a way to combine marriage and study for a career.

HILLTOP COUPLE MARRIED ON "BRIDE AND GROOM"

Miss Margene Welker and Mr. Byron D. Baker were married Aug. 17 in the chapel at Chapman Park Hotel, Hollywood, Calif. Rev. A. L. Hill, minister of the Christian Church in Highland Park, Los Angeles, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Preceding and following their marriage the newlyweds were guests of the "Bride and Groom" program, broadcast over the American Broadcasting Company (WCOL) from Hollywood. Miss Welker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl L. Welker, Dresden, O., and Mr. Baker's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Webster M. Baker, 133 S. Brinker-av.

From the large assortment of wedding gowns offered by "Bride and Groom" for the ceremony, Miss Welker chose a satin gown of bridal pink with an off-shoulder neckline and net inserts. A shirred puff on the shoulder was repeated in the skirt which gave it a bocged effect. The long sleeves came to points over her hands and she wore a sweetheart tiara which featured a fingertip veil of illusion. Miss Welker also wore a rhinestone necklace which was a gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet consisted of white roses and centered with seven Hawaiian orchids.

Her matron of honor and only attendant was Mrs. Bette Robinson, Hollywood, Calif., who wore an orchid taffeta gown and a matching orchid headpiece. She carried a pink aster bouquet.

Mr. Baker was attired in formal clothes, a white jacket, black trousers, maroon bow tie and a red carnation boutonniere. Mr. Richard West, Torrence, Calif., was his best man.

For their wedding trip to Apple Valley Inn, a resort near San Bernardino Valley and Sierra Madre, the new Mrs. Baker changed to a navy blue suit with kelly green accessories and wore the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Besides the trip to Apple Valley and the bridal bouquet, other gifts presented to the couple by "Bride and Groom" included a fitted Evins handbag, a Thor Automagic Gladiron, a 10-cubic-foot Kelvinator refrigerator, a Cavalier cedar chest, a Max Factor makeup kit, a photo album of their wedding, a keepsake book, a record of the broadcast, and a four-place setting of Gorham sterling.

Both Miss Welker and Mr. Baker are graduates of Ohio State. She graduated from Jefferson High School, Dresden, and Mr. Baker from West High. The new Mrs. Baker was formerly a market research investigator for the Procter and Gamble Company, Cincinnati. Mr. Baker is employed by the Burroughs Adding Machine Company as a sales representative.

They are now residing at 9114 W. Broad-st.

TEAMWORK GETS THINGS DONE

This is the time of the year when young men all over the nation hear the word "teamwork" repeated time and again. It is the football training period . . . the time when eleven men go out on the field to win a game . . . and fully well realize that winning that game will depend on their TEAMWORK.

It isn't only in football that teamwork gets things done. It is equally as important in the building of a fine community. It has been teamwork that has built the Hilltop to the attractive community it is today. It is that same teamwork that puts this community in the limelight whatever the event or situation may be. It is this teamwork that continues to get improvements for the Hilltop, to raise property values here, to make the community a better place in which to live.

This famous team is made up of a backfield of individual business men and women of the Hilltop. If they are to carry the ball they must have the cooperation and teamwork of the residents and property owners of the Hilltop, the people who play the other positions on this important team. Are you playing your part on this team by patronizing our locally owned business firms?

Mysterious, But Potent . . .

Advertising is a mysterious but none-the-less potent force in modern business.

Whether the advertising be done in the columns of The Hilltop Record or in some other medium, there is, it seems, an indefinite benefit that flows to the intelligent user of this modern business developer.

There are business men who believe that everybody knows them and what they have to see and that, consequently, they do not need to advertise. It would seem logical to draw such a conclusion but the fact remains that people often lose sight of the obvious and that repetition is the only way to assure permanent supremacy in any field.

Every reader can instantly name products that are known from one end of the United States to the other. A little reflection will reveal that every one of them is a well-advertised product and a little observation will reveal that the advertising is being continued by the wise men that operate the business.

Everybody's Business

New Wage Rate Increase Would Prevent Balance

by John Kelly

The percentage of estimated net income after taxes of all corporations to national income in 1948 does not appear to have been abnormally high for periods of general prosperity.

Profits increase rapidly as business expands toward capacity, more rapidly than do wage and salary payments. However, earnings decline with even greater speed — some of the vanishing point—under reverse conditions.

Preliminary studies of reported corporate income for the first six months of this year make the pattern of sales and earnings fairly clear. It is broadly significant of the multiple impact of diminished volume on earnings, and of the difficulty of making cost adjustments promptly.

The rapidity with which profits can melt away with shrinking volume suggests the danger of gauging industry's ability to absorb additional costs on the basis of earnings realized in periods of peak production and sales such as 1948.

This is particularly true of costs that become rigid, such as increased wage rates, pension and welfare programs, carrying charges on new plants, and interest payments on expanded debt. These rising costs have tended to lift industrial "break-even points" to a higher level than ever before.

On the whole, earnings are as vulnerable as most feared they would prove to be to any subsidence of the abnormal business volume. Undoubtedly apprehensions on this score have been a factor in the much commented upon failure of stock market prices to reflect high earnings more fully.

One of the reasons the companies had to retain such a large proportion of earnings was the difficulty of raising new venture capital from outside sources. In the absence of an adequate supply of outside money on a reasonable basis, it is only through large "retained" earnings that industry is able to finance soundly the costly replacements and improvements that are necessary to maintain and expand plant and equipment at the higher prices now prevailing.

A further increase in money wage rates would be the greatest possible obstacle toward restoring economic balance. It would raise costs, force up prices at the expense of all who did not obtain the increases, or accentuate the drop in profits and further reduce the incentive and means to make capital expenditures.

Under conditions now existing it would almost surely increase unemployment.

The examination of the question of wages and profits will be resumed in the next column.

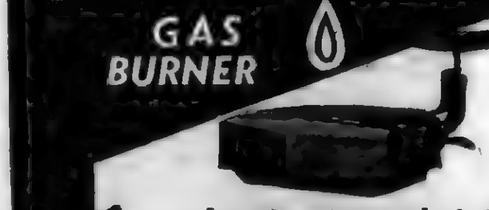
Boy Scout Fire Making Exhibit Takes Prizes

Boy Scouts of Troop 172, sponsored by the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, were represented at the Ohio State Fair with a display on primitive fire building. An exhibition of starting fires with flint and steel was put on at the booth six times an hour, and occasional demonstrations of starting fires with friction were made.



The exhibit won a fourth place ribbon in Class A' and a first in Class B.

Scouts participating in the exhibit were Glyndon Davis, Jack Howell, Robert Brownlee, Thomas Schroer, Ronald Adkins, David Rismiller, Tom Bryant and Bill Bryant.

Several times the flint and steel fires were started in the record time of five seconds. Also included in the exhibit were Indian costumes and dancing.

Adviser to the troop at the fair was Assistant Scoutmaster Fred Braithwaite.

Future plans of the troop include an open house and court of honor at the church next Monday evening at 7:30. Prospective scouts and their parents are invited to attend this meeting.

U. S. May Speed Up Action on Pacific Pact | Need Military Alliance To Save Non-Red Asia

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Rapid recent developments lead best-informed Washington quarters to believe the United States shortly will abandon its wait-and-see attitude and enter into a Pacific Pact to stop the spread of Communism in Asia.

President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines acknowledgedly made a profound impression on Congress with his flying trip to Washington to urge such an alliance.

Despite the fact that the State department has said the time is not ripe, it is known that Myron Cowen, United States ambassador to Manila—who accompanied Quirino—is convinced a Pacific Pact must be created, and told Secretary of State Dean Acheson so.

President Elpidio Quirino

Another portent is the knowledge that J. Leighton Stuart, United States ambassador to China, who arrived a day after Quirino, also told the administration steps must be taken immediately, or all Asia will be lost.

Still another potent force is arguing for a pact—the Navy high command which, through experience, knows the Pacific and can sense the trends as well as veteran diplomats.

It all adds up to: North China is lost to Russian-dominated Reds, but the rest of Asia must be saved, and only quick action through a military alliance can turn the trick.

● NO WELFARE PAY?—Some coal operators are considering the idea of stopping payments to the United Mine Workers welfare fund. Attorneys reportedly have advised them that they can take such action in view of expiration of the old soft coal wage agreement last June 30. John L. Lewis has ordered the miners to work three days a week until a new pact is signed.

However, coal industry attorneys contend that since expiration of the old contract, which called for a 20-cents-a-ton royalty, the operators are under no legal compulsion to continue welfare payments. Any decision on the operators' part to halt contributions to the UMW fund would certainly bring an immediate coal strike.

One of the reasons for Lewis' decision to scrap his old "no contract, no work" policy and keep the miners on the job three days a week was to maintain a flow of money into the welfare kitty.

The fund's expenditures have been exceeding its revenue and the UMW chief is extremely reluctant to do anything which would force the union to completely halt benefits to retired or injured mine workers.

● WHEN?—Sentiment ranges between optimism and pessimism as to when Congress will adjourn and House Republican Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts says he was being hopeful when he predicted Congress would not adjourn until Thanksgiving Day. Martin added, "Those who are pessimistic say we won't get through until Dec. 20."

Congress To Be In Session Until Jan. 15

However, Democratic leaders in the House at least hope to salvage something by inaugurating three-day recesses until the Senate can catch up with its work.

It was anticipated that the three-day recesses, during which only two perfunctory sessions a week would be held, would begin after the House disposed of the arms bill and the new social security measure.

Final adjournment of Congress is dependent on when the Senate completes its work, as the House can sweep its calendar clean at short order.

Glenwood Methodist Wins Over State Hospital 20-2

By Dave Miller

Glenwood Methodist smashed the ball to all corners of the lot last night at the State Hospital grounds, swamping the State Hospital team, 20 to 2, in the Class B Tournament.

Led by left-fielder Harry Grashel, who collected five hits, two doubles and three singles, in the same number of trips to the plate, the local church team pounded out 14 hits, and in only one inning, the final and seventh, were they held hitless, however, getting an unearned run.

State Hospital was led by Eddie Emsberger, alert third baseman, who drove in both S. H. runs, one with a home run in the fifth, the other on a ground ball to second in the seventh. Pitcher Jim Higgins and left-fielder Bob Harden collected two apiece for S. H., also.

Glenwood tallied five in the first inning, on three errors, two walks, and two singles, one of them by Harry Grashel with the bases full. Three came home in the second on hits by Hank Davis and H. Grashel, fielder's choice and walk. That's just about the way it went the remainder of the way, with Glenwood getting two more in the fourth, six in the fifth, and one in the sixth.

Let's Talk Things Over

When young people get married, these days, one of their biggest problems is to balance the budget. There are so many things they'd like to have — perhaps a radio, a new automobile, a home of their own. Or simpler things like furnishings for the den or the spare room, new drapes, or even going to the movies. Yes, there are all kinds of ways to spend money, and all kinds of nice things to buy.

But let me tell the young husband something. He's going to be a whole lot happier if he knows he's taken care of the little lady should anything happen to him. Don't forget, sometimes young husbands die. And I'm not being morbid. It's just plain common sense.

So, young fellow, just you look into your budgeting right now, and put some of your savings into a Sun Life insurance plan that'll take care of the little lady you'd do anything for. She's worth it.

Whatever your income, I think I can tell you how you can go about it.

Let's talk things over—today!

RECORD OFFERS $3000 IN PRIZES IN BIG SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN

The Spectator By C. Hartley

Like To Have a New Automobile?

We think one of the biggest pieces of news to strike the Hilltop this week is the announcement in today's paper of the big Record circulation drive telling how we are going to give away a new Dodge four-door sedan, an RCA Victor television set, installed and with service agreement all valued at $523, a $250 grocery order, an order for $150 in merchandise and numerous cash awards.

While the Dodge is valued at $2066 this means that the person earning this fine prize will be getting an average of nearly $300 per week during seven weeks for his or her efforts. Not bad pay, eh?

And we think the contest will provide a lot of interest for every one of our readers. You'll be wanting to learn who the contestants are, how they are progressing, and the excitement promises to become quite intense as the final week of the campaign approaches.

Why not turn to pages 4B and 5B right now and learn all the details of this big event!

HOLDS BAKE SALE

A bake sale will be held by the missionary group of the Hilltop Church of God at the Beaver Auto Store, corner of Broad-st and Hague-av, at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, Sept. 17.

REUNION POSTPONED

The reunion of the January, '49 graduating class of West High School, which was planned for Sunday, Sept. 18, has been postponed indefinitely.

Side Street Parking On Hilltop Seen

More side street parking on the Hilltop may soon be available E. O. Melvin, representative on the traffic commission, reported to the first fall meeting of the Hilltop Business Association on Tuesday evening at Westgate Methodist Church.

He pointed out that he will seek to allow parking on one side of the street in side streets that now prohibit parking on both sides. This applies to streets north and south of Broad-st and Sullivant-av.

The association voted to endorse the Hilltop Mum Show being arranged by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club and directed by Leo McComb of Rosebud Floral Co.

Guests of the association included Safety Director C. C. Cole, Inspector Thomas Scully, Park Superintendent Ray Dietz, Jack Sensenbrenner, Bob Mead and J. Cuting of David Davies Packing Co.

Opening of New Danziger Home Center Today

The grand opening of the Danziger Home Service Center will be held today, Friday and Saturday at 971-979 W. Broad-st.

The new section of the store adjoins the former location, offering additional floor space in which a large variety of home and family needs will be shown.

Included in the new service center is a complete line of Sherwin-Williams paints and paint products, Admiral refrigerators, ranges, radios and television sets, floor coverings, kitchen-ware, rugs, and other household necessities.

The public is invited to come and see the new department, which will be open until 9 o'clock Friday and Saturday evenings.

The first 250 ladies who enter the door of the home service center will receive a free door prize. In addition, other door prizes will be awarded Saturday night at 8:30.

SEWER CAUSED STENCH

Clothes-pins are being used for hanging up clothes in Westgate again. Sewer maintenance crews investigating complaints of smells emanating from sewers said the stench was caused by a sanitary sewer clogged about 400 feet south of Olive-st in an alley between Westgate and Brinker-avs. The sewer was cleared Tuesday afternoon.

Dodge Sedan, Television Set Head Campaign Prize List

A new Dodge four door sedan, valued at $2066, and an RCA Victor television set valued at $523 and other prizes totaling well over $3000 will be given away by The Hilltop Record on Nov. 14

This attractive prize list is being announced today by C. Carlton Hartley, Record publisher, who urged Hilltoppers to study the plan and avail themselves of one of the most profitable and interesting campaigns ever sponsored in this community.

The prizes will be awarded to the persons turning in the most new and renewal subscriptions The Hilltop Record in the period starting Sept. 20 and continuing to Nov. 14.

First prize in the Record subscription campaign will be a new four-door, Meadowbrook Dodge sedan, valued at $2066, purchased from West Side Motors, Inc., 1350 W. Broad-st.

Second prize will be an RCA Victor television set, installed and with one year service guarantee, valued at $523. The set will be purchased for the winner from one of the Hilltop RCA dealers, Better Home Center, C. C. Robinson Co., or Westgate Electric.

Third prize will be an order good for $250 in groceries. The groceries may be selected by the winner from any local grocer who regularly advertises in The Hilltop Record. The groceries may be purchased as wanted.

Fourth prize will be $150 in merchandise certificates good at any firm advertising in the Nov. 15 or Nov. 17 issues of the Record.

Any contestant not winning one of the above prizes will be given cash commissions of 20% on all subscription revenues turned in during the entire campaign.

The contest is open to any resident of Franklin County. In order to enter, a person must merely fill out an entry blank contained in the large ad on Pages 4B and 5B in today's Record, mail or bring it to the Record office, 2465 W. Broad-st. Upon receipt of the entry blank by the Record circulation department the contestant will receive full instructions, order blanks and report sheets. Contestants may solicit subscriptions anywhere.

Special Rates During Campaign

The prizes will be awarded on the basis of points received in the drive. A schedule of these points is printed in the contest ad in the Record today. Special long term subscription rates will be in effect during the contest, thus resulting in savings to subscribers who sign up during the campaign.

Record subscribers living on the Hilltop will receive the Record both Tuesday and Thursday by carrier boy for the duration of their subscription period. Those living off the Hilltop will receive the paper by mail.

The major prize award, the Dodge sedan, is now on display at West Side Motors, Inc., 1350 W. Broad-st, and will be displayed at various locations on the Hilltop in the next few weeks. Each of the three local RCA dealers are displaying one of the RCA Victor television sets to be given away.

Advisory Board Named

An advisory board has been named to assist the publisher in making any necessary decisions relative to the contest. The board includes Phil Stout, president of the Hilltop Business Association; Jack Sensenbrennar, president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, and Rev. Norman Schreiber, president of the Hilltop Ministerial Association. They will act as judges of the contest to determine the winners.

Prospective contestants are reminded that this is not a lucky drawing or anything bordering on a lottery. It is strictly a sales campaign.

Full details of the subscription drive are contained in a double page message in today's Record on Pages 4B and 5B, along with a schedule of prices and points and rules of the contest.

Twp. Voters Must Register In Sept.

Valleyview, Marble Cliff Residents Included In County-wide Registration

"If you expect to vote in November, you must register in September."

That is the rule that applies to all prospective voters in Franklin Township, the area that surrounds the Hilltop on three sides. In preparation for this registration 13 voting places will be open in the township and in the incorporated villages of Valleyview and Marble Cliff.

Registration will be held on three different days so that every person will have an opportunity to get his name recorded in the official records. Hours are from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. and 4 p. m. through 9 p. m. on Thursday, Sept. 22, Saturday, Sept. 24 and Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Two election workers will be on hand in each voting place to handle the registration. Election officials have emphasized the fact that in order to be eligible to vote at the Nov. 8 election, residents of all townships throughout Franklin County must register on one of the three days.

A number of new polling places were set up last year in an effort to speed up the counting of ballots following elections. Precincts I and G have been set up in new locations this year. A complete list of the precinct numbers, the polling place and general boundaries of each precinct follows:

A—Voting house, 980 Midland-av. Territory bounded by B. & O. Railroad on east; northside Eakin-rd on south.

B—Township hall, 3443 Sullivant-av, bounded by N. Y. C. Railroad on north; Columbus corporation line and Demorest-rd on east; township line south and west. Includes Burnside Heights.

C—Office at 741 Grandview-av. All territory east of Scioto River.

D—Briggsdale School building. Eakin-rd and Hopkins-av on north; Brown-rd on east; Frank-rd, south; B. & O. Railroad on west.

E—Voting house, rear 2338 Valleyview-dr. Scioto River on east; Columbus and Valleyview corporation lines on south; line east of Hague-av on West; Trabue-rd on north.

F—Office at 575 N. Hague-av. Hague-av (both sides) on east; Pennsylvania Railroad on south; township lines west and north.

G — Residence at 1275 Hard-rd. Frank-rd on south; Brown-rd on west; township line north; city limits and Scioto River on east.

H — Voting house, rear 2143 Harrisburg-pk. Frank-rd on north; township line east and south; B & O Railroad on west.

I—Close Inn Auto Court, rear 1001 Harrisburg-pk. Brown-rd on east; Hopkins-av and Eakin-rd on south; B and O Railroad on west; city limits on north.

J—Voting house, Grace-st, just west of Wilson-rd. Pennsylvania Railroad on north; Hague-av on east; city limits and N. Y. C. Railroad on south; township line on west.

K—Residence at 2519 Clime-rd. Columbus corporation and Eakin-rd on north; B & O Railroad on east; township line on south; Demorest-rd on west.

Valleyview — Entire village votes at village hall.

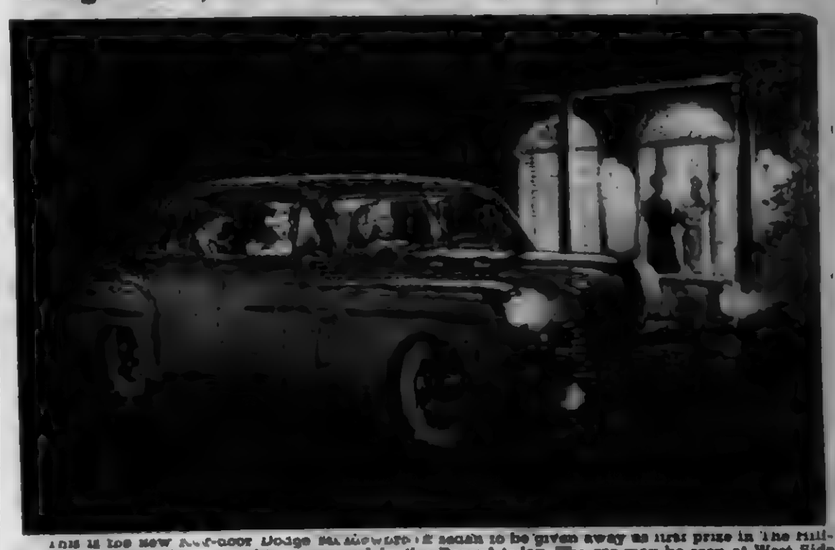
Marble Cliff — Entire village votes at First Community Church, 1320 Cambridge-pl.

CANDIDATE WITHDRAWS

Jack S. Alkire, 3038 Crescent-dr, today announced his withdrawal as a candidate for commander of Camp Chase Post No. 98 of the American Legion.

The election for post officers will be held at the post between 7 and 9 p. m., Sept. 16.

MOUND ST. IMPROVEMENT



City Engineer Paul Maetzel told city council this week that work on the improvement of Mound-st between Wayne-av and Binns-blvd would begin in 1950.

Camp Chase Post Plans Motorcycle Race

Dodge Auto, RCA Television Top Record Prize List

This is the new four-door Dodge sedan to be given away as first prize in The Hilltop Record circulation campaign announced in the Record today. The car may be seen at West Side Motors, Inc., 1350 W. Broad-st.

Kiwanis Club Mum Show Starts Here

Chrysanthemum planting for the Hilltop Kiwanis Club sponsored Mum Show on the Hilltop will begin this week, according to Leo McComb, chairman of the project.

The mums, which have been growing in yards and greenhouses on the Hilltop, will be transplanted along Broad-st between Central-av and the city limits.

McComb said that most of the plants are budding now and should soon be in bloom. Officials of the state hospital, state school and bureau of juvenile research have been contacted about planting the flowers along their property, and Ray Dietz of the city division of parks and forests will be contacted about planting mums on the city property on W. Broad-st.

People with mums growing in their back yards are urged to transplant them in front of their homes during the show. "A lot of people have beautiful gardens in their back yards, and now we want them to put their flowers out front where everyone can enjoy them," McComb said.

Liquor Sales Up At Hilltop Store

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control reports that the total sales for the five week period beginning July 25 and ending Aug. 27 at Jean's Beverage Shop, 3108 W. Broad-st, were $11,895.55. The commission earned during that period was $594.78.

Proprietress of the shop is Mina Jean Williams.

Harry F. Shifflette, comptroller of the department of liquor control, reports that liquor sales in the 47 private agency stores increased 27.5% during the period.

Hilltop YMCA Selling Equipment

Forced to leave its old location at Broad-st and Burgess-av, the Hilltop YMCA is looking for a new home. As part of its pre-moving plans the "Y" is going to sell some of its equipment.

Articles on sale are an American Radiator hot water heater, a shower stall, a lavatory, two medicine cabinets, a kitchen light fixture, and a hot water heater and tank.

Anyone interested in buying any of this equipment should contact Averille Thorn by phoning JO. 4641.

This fine new RCA Victor television console completely installed and with a one year service guarantee is valued at $523 and will be given away as second grand prize in the Record subscription cmpaign. One of these sets may be seen on display today at Better Home Center, Robinson Electric and Westgate Electric. It is also being displayed at Seiler's Department Store and Hilltop Bank.

Hilltop YMCA To Sponsor Talent Show At Old Trail

Hilltop youngsters with talent, those who like to appear in public performances, are to have such an opportunity that may bring them valuable prizes as well as further possible opportunities to display their talents.

This is the objective of the Hilltop "Stars of Tomorrow" contest to be sponsored by the Hilltop YMCA in cooperation with the Old Trail Theater.

Present plans call for the contest to start about Wednesday evening, Oct. 5, at the Old Trail Theater, at which time several local youngsters will be presented in the first of a series of weekly elimination contests.

Winners of each weekly contest will be presented in a grand finale presentation at a date to be announced at the conclusion of the preliminary eliminations.

A large prize list will be available to winners of the various events and the grand champion will be crowned at the final performance.

Full details of the contest will be announced in next Thursday's Hilltop Record by C. Carlton Hartley, chairman of the Hilltop Y Board, and Johnny Hardgrove, representative of the Academy Theaters. An entry blank will be carried in the Record starting next Thursday.

Property Owners To Hear Thatcher

Newton A. Thatcher, Franklin County treasurer, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Property Owners' Association of Columbus and Franklin County at 8 p. m., Friday, Sept. 16, in the City Hall. Mr. Thatcher's topic will be on his impressions "Of the Home Owner's Problems in Other Countries."

Herbert J. Bailey, former city councilman, will preside at the meeting.

All new members are invited to attend.

Miss Gilbert, Mr. Young Are Wed Aug. 14

Mr. and Mrs. Denver Young

Miss Phyllis Mae Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gilbert, 654 Binns-blvd, became the bride of Mr. Denver J. Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young, 112 Columbian-av, on Aug. 14 at 2 p. m., at the West Park Methodist Church, with Rev. William M. George officiating before an altar decorated with candelabra and white gladioli, backed with palms.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a sheer gown of frosted organza with a fitted bodice and off-the-shoulder neckline and carried a bouquet of white gladioli, white carnations and stephanotis. Her matron-of-honor was Mrs. R. I. Smith, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Harm, niece of the bridegroom, and Miss Judith Gilbert, sister of the bride. They wore matching dresses of frosted organza in blue, pink and yellow, respectively, and carried red, yellow and pink carnations.

The best man was Mr. Joseph Moriya, the bridegroom's brother, and the ushers were Mr. Robert Kahler and Mr. Richard Gilbert.

The bride's mother wore a sheer pink crepe dress with blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a crepe-flowered blue dress with blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The reception was held at the bride's home, 654 Binns-blvd, for 100 guests. The bride and bridegroom left immediately following the reception for a two-week honeymon in New York City.

The bride wore a blue two-piece crepe dress with red and blue accessories and a white glamelia corsage.

The bride is a graduate of West High School and Ohio State University and is now employed as receptionist with the Mumm, Mulley and Nichols advertising firm.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Central High School and is now associated with the traffic department of the Norfolk and Western Railway Co.

The couple now resides at 112 Columbian-av.

Blue Star Mothers Entertain 575 Men At Veteran's Hospital

With only three days notice, the Glenwood Unit of Blue Star Mothers planned entertainment for 575 men at the Chillicothe Veterans' Hospital.

Carl Tennis and Joan Oakley, Columbus duo, furnished accordion music. Twenty-five entertainers from the Jack Sherrick Studio with their accompanist, Mrs. Tollis Galyean, provided an hour's variety show with song and dance routines.

Refreshments consisted of ice cream and cookies baked by the Glenwood Mothers. Mrs. Carl Rucker, 110 Whitethorne-av, rehabilitation chairman, was in charge of the project.

Those assisting her were Carl Rucker, Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Engle, Kathryn Kline, Fay Smith and Keith Smith.

About Folks You Know

Goings — Comings — Doings
Of Your Hilltop Neighbors

By Helen James, Society Editor

Mrs. Maggie Thrush of Amanda, is visiting with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey P. Wilson, 153 Nashoba-av, this week and will spend next week with Mr. and Mrs. Norris Booths, 514 N. Harris-av.

* * *

We just received word that the Forrest Grubbs family are moving to their new home out on West Broad-st. They formerly resided at 111 N. Hague-av.

* * *

And Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rhoades, who lived at 44 S. Richardson-av, are moving into the Grubbs' home at 11 N. Hague-av. And that keeps it all in the Hilltop family!

* * *

Cpl. Harry Perkins, Jr., stationed at Camp Hood, Tex., is spending a 25-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Perkins, 183 S. Terrace-av. He returned from Germany last March after serving three years overseas. Cpl. Perkins arrived home Sept. 2.

* * *

Richard K. Cave, 803 Crescent-rd, returned home Tuesday from Salt Lake City, Utah. He spent a month at Paradise Inn in Mt. Rainer National Park, Wash., and also visited in Denver, Colorado Springs, Cheyenne, San Francisco, and saw Dr. Czatt and family in Modesta, Calif.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Remington, Ft. Collins, Colo., have been the guests of Mr. Remington's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Remington, 123 N. Ogden-av, for the past week. Upon their return home Jack will start on his master's degree in the college of forestry at Colorado A. & M. College.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Trott, 574 Townsend-av, and sons, Charles and Robert, spent last week-end at Kernersville, N. C.

* * *

L. M. Charles and his daughter, Treva, 652 S. Harris-av, arrived home yesterday after a trip through North and South Carolina and other points in the South.

* * *

Mrs. Judson L. Pullen (the former Martha Allen) will leave this Saturday to fly to Fort Worth, Tex., where she will join her husband and take up residence. Mr. Pullen, a graduate of Ohio State, has recently joined the firm of Fakes and Company in Fort Worth, as interior designer. Mrs. Pullen will be accompanied by their daughter, Lee. The family formerly resided at 2308 W. Broad-st.

Bridal Shower Given For Fay Grassle

Miss Faye Grassle, 278 S. Warren-av, was honored at a personal shower given by Connie and Corinne Taylor, at 110 S. Westgate-av, Thursday, Sept. 8. Miss Grassle is to be married to Mr. Jack Mayhew Sept. 24.

Those present were Mrs. Lucille Grassle, the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Mayhew, the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. Betty Grinstead, Jeannine Mayhew, Donna Mayhew, Donna Spring, Vera Smith, Shirley Thurell, Joan Mason, Virginia Martin, Mrs. John Capretta, Mrs. John Bachman, Mrs. Delores Ailing, Margy Skinner, Margaret Spicer, Ruth Gerhardt, Jean Lane, Dorothy Clary and Carolyn Wilson. Mrs. Ruth Cox was assistant hostess. The guest of honor was presented with a rose corsage by the hostesses.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

As I saunter up and down these streets, I notice a few television outfits rigged up on the roofs. Among them are the Chester Kenrichs, the Winnestaffers, the Camerons and the Hughes. Wonder if they'll be putting the picture screens out on the lawn for neighbors during football season?

Julia Miller had unexpected guests last week, Relatives from Rushville.

The Leo Masthaums still love their Kaiser. It's really something to look at.

The Clarence Millers have the tiniest trees out by their sidewalk. The smallest I've ever seen. Speaking of trees, it's quite an unusual thing to see an umbrella tree. But we have a couple of them in this section. The owners? The Callahans, and they certainly keep them nice. Being on the subject of umbrellas, these large garden umbrellas are just the thing this summer. Allwoods have a large green and white one in their back yard, and the Vorheer display a beautiful yellow one in their side yard.

Ronald Gadin has a new green Buick and the Prindles a blue one. Both are beauts.

It was good to see Mrs. De Angeli's mother out walking. Mr. Brown is spending quite a bit of his time outdoors, too. Both are recovering from an illness.

Has anyone seen stars on Belvidere? Go down at Bob O'Shaughnessy's and look at his shutters. Cute, isn't it?

Mrs. Ray Patridge was certainly honored with her uncle who came down from Canada to visit them. Capt. J. W. Smith and his wife are formerly of Sussex, England, near Brighton. They will return there the end of this month.

The Fippins have the "chimney beautiful." It is completely covered with vines. Not one brick is visible. 'Tis a pretty thing.

The Arthur Scotts were in Pittsburgh over Labor Day. They visited Mr. Scott's parents. Their phone rang several times while they were gone, but they failed to leave a pencil and pad there at the telephone so they haven't learned yet who called. Now what am I saying?

This smoke is getting in my eyes. Time to turn in. I guess I'll waste some more time with my gadgets writing messages.

John Neffs Reunite Seventh Time

The seventh annual reunion of the John Neff family was held at the Cecil Neff country home, 6700 Cleveland-av, on Labor Day.

The following were chosen as officers of the association:

George Neff, president; S. Z. Neff, vice-president; Mrs. Gerald Neff, secretary-treasurer.

Rev. and Mrs. Thaddeus Neff, from Alexandria, Egypt, were in this country on furlough and attended the reunion. Mr. Neff gave an interesting talk on his work in Egypt and a recent vacation in Switzerland.

K. B. Neff, as historian for the group, sketched the history of the Neff forebearers.

The following families, mostly Hilltoppers, were present: George Neff, S. Z. Neff, Paul Neff, K. B. Neff, Gerald W. Neff, Thaddeus Neff of Alexandria, Egypt, J. Raymond Neff of East Canton, O., George Hayslip, Charles Cunningham, James Wolfe, W. B. Keefer, Otto Stone, Eugene Wolford, Keith Williams, John Snyder, Earl Ball, Lee Briscoe and Mrs. Rodney Yahn of California.

Otterbein Freshman Honored At Party

A going-away-to-college party was given for Virgene Braithwaite by Mrs. Ernie Amrine and Jennie Patton, Sept. 7, at 36 N. Powell-av. Miss Braithwaite is entering the college of education at Otterbein College, Westerville.

Those included on the guest list were Phyllis McElwee, Karen Brock, Nettie Davis, Mrs. Anna Penn, Mrs. Grace Rowe, Mrs. Nell Clemons, Mrs. Norris Boothe, Mrs. Agnes Harris, Mrs. Ollie Eppert, Mrs. Henrietta Davis, Mrs. Vivian Brock, Mrs. James McElwee, Mrs. Clyde Braithwaite, Mrs. Eve Beckwith, Mrs. Leona Gottier, and Judy Harris.

Girl Scout Leaders To Meet Monday

The Leaders Association of the Girl Scouts of the West High neighborhood will meet in the school's housekeeping apartment at 2:15 p. m. Monday, Sept. 19, to make plans for the fall and winter program. Mrs. W. C. Glass, 213 Demorest-rd, will preside.

Miss Joan Smith, field secretary, and Mrs. H. C. Booth, 319 S. Roys, district chairman, will be the speakers.

Elected President Of Westmont CCL

The Westmont Circle of Child Conservation League has announced its new officers for the year.

Mrs. Paul Leighninger has been elected president and Mrs. Curtis Wade, vice-president. Mrs. Carroll Distelhorst is the secretary, Mrs. William C. Erwin, treasurer.

The committee chairmen are: Mrs. Curtis Wade, program; Mrs. Harold Warsmith, telephone; Mrs. Claire Futlz, membership; Mrs. Emmett Martin, sunshine; Mrs. Walter Evans, social; Mrs. Maurice Newberger, publicity; Mrs. M. G. Deck, federation representative; Mrs. R. J. Borland, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Ruth Harper, Hilltop community representative.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Westgate Methodist Church will hold its first fall meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 20, at the church. Rev. Norman L. Schreiber will speak on "Our Faith." Mrs. Harry Thompson will have the devotions, and members of Circle 1 will be hostesses.

Program booklets for the year will be distributed at this meeting. All women of the church are invited to join the Women's Society and attend the monthly programs.

An executive committee meeting will be held at 7 p. m. Mrs. Walter J. Cochran will begin her second year as society president.

The Westgate Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild meeting, regularly scheduled for Monday, Sept. 19, is postponed until a later date, to be announced.

Pioneer Hilltop Resident, Dies

A pioneer resident of the Hilltop, Mrs. Anna Estella Marsh, 78, died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank L. Packard, 4371 E. Broad-st.

Mrs. Marsh formerly lived on Clarendon-av where the family built one of the first homes on the Hilltop. She has been living in St. Petersburg, Fla., due to ill health.

Mrs. Marsh was a member of the Glenwood Methodist Church and the Robert Morris Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by her husband, M. G. Marsh; four sons, Dana, of 160 S. Westmoor-av; Milton C. of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Tom and Frank B. of Richwood, O.; 11 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home, 2553 W. Broad-st, Rev. Joseph Shellhaas officiating. Interment will be in Price Cemetery, Richwood, O.

Illness Fatal To Frank P. Waller

Frank P. Waller, 43, of 356 Nashoba-av, died Wednesday in his home after a three-week illness. He was a clerk for the Western Union Telegraph Co.

A member of the West Gate Lodge, F&AM, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Waller; his father, Fred E. Waller; a brother, Frederick H. Waller, and two sisters, Mrs. John C. Winget and Mrs. Inez E. Benner, all of Columbus.

Friends may call at the Jerry Spears Funeral Home after noon today. Services will be at 2:30 p. m. Friday in the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church. Burial will be in Green Lawn Cemetery.

RCA Dealers Map Promotion Campaign

Representatives of three Hilltop RCA Victor dealers attended a meeting of the Ohio Appliances Co. this week to map out the fall promotion campaign on the new Victor 45 rpm record player.

Hilltop dealers represented were the Westgate Electric Co., 2655 W. Broad-st; the C. C. Robinson Co., 2403 W. Broad-st, and the Better Home Center, 2775 W. Broad-st.

Jack Fall, sales manager of Ohio Appliances, announced that the record player would sell for $12.95, the lowest price that has ever been placed on a completely automatic record player.

The player uses the new seven-inch Victor records, which feature distortion-free reproduction.

The records also come in different colors so that collectors can choose the classification of records they want without sorting through their entire collection.

Briggsdale And Brown Road

By Mrs. Harry C. Downing

H. G. Mallernee, 2535 Climepk, was host to more than 100 relatives, friends and neighbors Sunday at a lawn dinner at his home. His brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, and another sister, Lena Mallernee, all of Kalamazoo, Mich., are spending this week with Mr. Mallernee. Other relatives from Smithfield, Cadiz and Finley, O., and Monroe, Mich., were present at the Sunday dinner.

Thirty-one ladies from the Jackson Chapel and Briggsdale Methodist Church spent last Wednesday with Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Shirer of the Ohio Masonic Home, Springfield. The trip was made by chartered bus.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale Cline and daughters, 1089 Harrisburg-pk, had as house guests over the Labor Day week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cline of Marysville.

Asa Buchfield, 1043 Geneva-av, is recovering from a cataract operation performed in Mt. Carmel Hospital recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Burchfield were hosts Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. John Radekin and Mr. and Mrs. Sedwick Vale and son, all of Meigs County.

Wilson PTA will hold its first meeting of the year Friday evening, Sept. 16. There will be a reception for the teachers. Miss Skipper, a Wilson teacher, is taking a year's leave of absence. Mrs. Nellie Gardner, former Briggsdale teacher, is now in charge of the fifth grade at Wilson.

Briggsdale PTA met Tuesday evening, with Bronson Farmer presiding. A social hour followed the business meeting. Miss Dawson, a former Skidmore teacher, is now at Briggsdale this year.

Rea-Bow News

By Jo Ann Kidd

A bean dinner will be served at the new Rea-Bow Hall Saturday from 3:30 to 7:30 o'clock, sponsored by members of Rea-Bow Improvement Association.

Mrs. G. H. Helyer, 2100 Whitehead-rd, her granddaughter, Barbara Jean Myers of Mt. Sterling, and Mrs. Richard Rehl and son of Columbus are visiting relatives near Cambridge this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cartwright of Rea-av were visited Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cartwright and son of London.

Mrs. Loutisha Kidd of Columbus visited over the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Kidd and family on Vadis-st.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfe, 856 Midland-av, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Hymen on Cleveland-av.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Conkle and family of 2256 Eakin-rd visited relatives near Lucasville Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Garless Chapman, 891 Clarendon-av, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Haines of W. Broad-st went fishing at Madison Lake Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Graham, 953 Midland-av, had as guests at the Rea-Bow social Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Foster, daughters, Karen and Dianne, of Columbus. The daughters entertained with tap dancing.

To Head New Danziger Home Service Center

The three men pictured above will head the new Danziger Home Service Center which opens today at 971-979 W. Broad-st. They are Joseph Block, owner of the store; Arthur Block, general store manager; and Samuel Zelvin, manager of the service center.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dickson, Shirley and Danny, 926 Clarendon-av, attended the Dickson reunion Sunday, also the Cruit reunion. Both were held at Rising Park Lancaster.

Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson and Louise, 1089 Whitethorne-av, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mayer at Etna Friday evening, where the body of their daughter, Mrs. Joan Ice, waited burial Saturday. Mrs. Ice was killed in an accident in New Mexico while she and her husband were on their honeymoon. Mrs. Ice was a close friend of Louis Richardson.

Mrs. John Boyd and children of Briggs-rd visited Mrs. Hobert Kidd and family on Vadis-st Tuesday.

Evelyn Doughty, 1063 Whitethorne-av, was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital after a cement block fell on her leg while she was playing at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brekamp and family, 939 Clarendon-av, were visited Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bohman of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Brokamp of Rome and John Brokamp and John Welch, both on leave from the U. S. Navy.

In 1861 there were two presidents in the United States—Lincoln in the North and Jefferson Davis in the South.

Words of the Wise

As ceremony is the invention of wise men to keep fools at a distance, so good breeding is an expedient to make fools and men equal. —(Steele)

With the possible exception of Herbert Hoover, George Washington was the United States' wealthiest president.

John Adams, who died at 90, lived longer than any other U. S. president.

FENCES

Now that the kiddies are spending a lot of time out in the yard, you'll feel much safer if they're protected by a GRAVES CHAIN-LINK FENCE. These high-quality fences are an excellent safeguard against trespassers, as well as an improvement to the appearance of your property. They can be purchased on easy terms and we're prepared to erect one for you immediately.

Camp Chase Post To Sponsor Race

Announcement was made this week by Dewey A. Stout, Commander of Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion, of a Six-Star Motorcycle Race to be held at the Ohio State Fairground Track on Sunday, Oct. 9. The Golden Arrow Motorcycle Club of Columbus is assisting the Legion with the plans for the meet and is acting as co-sponsor.

Larry G. Scales has been named general chairman of the combined Legion-Arrow committee with Robert Hitchcock acting as finance officer. William Ferguson, a post member, quite active in local motorcycle circles has been named liaison officer for the two organizations. The legal details have been worked out by Michael H. Austin of the post.

The program comprises nine events plus an Ohio State Championship Race for expert riders only and should provide plenty of thrills for the race fans. $2100 in cash prizes will be awarded the winners in addition to a handsome trophy to the winner of the state championship event.

Quite a number of entries have already been received and include the names of many outstanding riders in Ohio as well as others whose names are familiar to motorcycle race fans throughout the country.

Time trials will begin at 10 a. m. with races scheduled to get under way at 1:30 p. m. General admission will be $1.00 with grandstand seats at $1.00 and reserved seats $1.50 extra.

Have You Heard The Good News?

If you want to buy, sell, rent, or have a service to offer, the best medium for reaching the most likely prospects for the least money is The Hilltop Record's Classified pages.

Last Thursday Mrs. E. W. Gharadin, 166 E. Brinker-av, advertised a large deluxe style doll carriage. A Record reader bought it Friday morning. "I could have sold it a dozen times." Mrs. Gharadin tells us. Her three-line ad cost only 54c.

See for yourself—join the thousands of Hilltoppers who have used Classified — and whose wants and needs have been satisfied. It's so easy to run a want ad. Dial RA. 1125 and place yours today. Payment can be made through the mail at your convenience.

You'll be wise to scrutinize the Classified columns every issue for the many bargains offered there—and also for the free Westmont Theater tickets which are scattered among the ads. Watch for your name! The tickets are valid for two weeks after publication, and you can redeem them by identifying yourself at the Westmont.

West High Eleven Goes Up Against Marion Team In Season Opener Friday

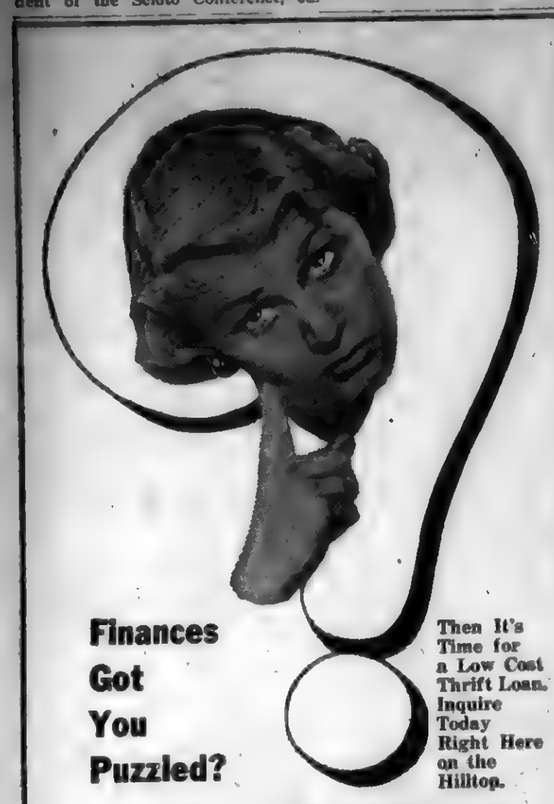
The 1949 West High football team will take the field this Friday evening for the opening kickoff of the season against a tough Marion Harding eleven at 8 p. m. on Magly Field.

The Cowboys, who thought themselves proud to report six lettermen, took the back seat in the veteran department last week when it was discovered that the Marion team has 16 returning monogram men.

The visiting Marion team has the same set-up that West expects to use this Friday, the two-platoon system of both an offensive team and a defensive eleven. West will use a five-man line in defense, with two linebackers, and the regular set-up in the backfield. Marion engaged a 5-4-3 defense in the Harding-Cowboy game at Marion last year.

Marion will have two big ends to start off their regular offensive lineup. Jack Daum and Sonny Hoffman will be two terminals. Both are lettermen, with the former playing his third straight year. Two tackles, Jack Gran, 200 pounds, and Jack Loeffler will be starters at the "big" spot in the line for the visitors. Co-captain Larry Williams and Bob Messenger, both regulars last season, will be at the guards, with Merle Daum, also a regular last season, at the center spot. The latter is Marion's top all-around athlete, being a star basketballer with the Presidents, and also being a pitcher on the baseball team. He is co-captain of the football team.

At the signal-calling position, the visitors will have Jack Williams, brother of guard, Larry. At the halfbacks will be Jim Kennell and Bill McCrabb, and at the fullback post will be Gene Lubwig. Lubwig was a halfback with the 1949 Harding team, and was a thorn in the side of the Cowboys last season. However, the real troublemaker for West last season was Fullback Bob Smith, who ran for two of Marion's touchdowns, and set up the other. He was gone for 15 yards every time he touched the ball.



For West, it will be letterman Jim Rudolph, who has been the star of the West exhibition games so far this year, and who looks like a sure bet for all-city honors, and Eddie Sensenbrenner, who saw small action last season, at the end posts. At the tackles, it will be big 195-pounder Cliff Voss and 180-pound Junior Dick McDermott. Voss was a regular last season, and also is another bet for all-city honors this season.

At the guards are two little, but rough fellows. They are Dick Will, 170-pounds, and Bobby Wilson, 175. It is hard to tell which has the most spirit and roughness in them on the gridiron. They balance up the line, with a regular from last year's team, Bob Epps, 185-pounds, holding down the center spot.

In the backfield, it will be Bob Birle, 170-pounds, at quarterback, with competition from Don Nafzger. Those two are still up for decision at this writing. At the halfbacks, it will be Carmine DeMatto and Ronnie James, with Walt Binkley at fullback.

GARAGE BLAZE

Firemen were called Tuesday afternoon to extinguish a fire at the rear of 106 Binns-blvd, when a garage belonging to Elmer Hegenberger was ignited from a pile of burning wood. Unofficial estimate of the loss was $5.

Hilltop Man Makes Aviation History 42 Years Ago By Participating In Balloon Race; Four Balloons Leaving St. Louis Passed Over Columbus

By Myrcn T. Seifert

A Hilltop man, Edward W. Mix, relative of Mrs. Laura Mix Cromwell, 211 Eldon-av, made aviation history 42 years ago, when he piloted one of the nine huge balloons for the Gordon Bennett cup in the international balloon race emanating from St. Louis in October, 1907, and flying over his Hilltop environs during the course of the race.

Significantly, it was more than an above the cloud race; it was a scientific experiment of maneuvers, data of which were compiled for peace or war purposes, much in the same manner, it is thought, that present day aviation maneuvers are being conducted around Dayton, but of course under wholly different circumstances.

Hilltop interest in the race was widespread, and the fact that a former Columbus man, Edward W. Mix, a graduate of Ohio State University, was one of the contestants, had not a little to do with that interest.

He must have been thrilled as the French balloon, in the basket of which he was riding, took him practically over the spot where he was born and reared. Possibly none of his boyish dreams took the form of a forecast that in his manhood he should pass over the farm west of Columbus where his childhood was spent.

Mr. Mix dropped three messages which were found, and possibly others which were not located. Two were to his aunts, Mrs. Ed. Miller of Grove City and Mrs. Nellie Mix of Camp Chase, and others were to H. C. Lord, professor of astronomy at Ohio State University, a personal friend, whose acquaintance he formed while the two were students a score of years ago at what was then a small university.

Professor Lord, with the aid of the lenses maintained in the university, was probably the most interested and best satisfied observer of the course of the balloons over Columbus.

At night everybody was looking for balloons in the sky. There were myriads of lights, and thousands thought they were attached to balloons. The State Journal received reports of at least a dozen balloons seen about the city during the evening. Investigation, however, led to the opinion that the gazers had received false impressions.

Columbus saw four of the nine balloons which left St. Louis Monday afternoon, Oct. 21, 1907, at 4 o'clock in the annual international race for the James Gordon Bennett and other trophies.

Their passage over the city constituted a most interesting sight. Thousands left their work and homes in order to get a glimpse of the aerial craft. It was a beautiful October day, although the atmosphere at times was a little hazy and the balloons could be seen distinctly as they approached from far in the distance and went over the heads of the people. All were traveling at a minimum rate of probably 25 miles an hour, and part of the time they were speeding much faster. They appeared as a tiny speck to the west and to the east and south. While over the city, the big balloons glistened in the sun and their immense size could be appreciated.

Owing to their altitude, the identity of only one was established by the eye, even with the aid of powerful lenses. That was the German Pommern, one of the largest balloons in the contest. However, by means of notes dropped the names of two others were fixed also. They were the Ile de France, representing the country whose name it bears, and the Dusseldorf of Germany.

The appearance of the balloons in this section was unexpected, for predictions were made that the air currents would be such thta none of the balloons would come in this direction. It is one of the remarkable festures of the race, therefore, that four of the nine participants in this contest, promulgated in the interest of science, should pass, contrary to the forecast of scientists, over Columbus in a path, the extreme width of which would not exceed 10 miles, and that two or three others came within short distance of the city on the south.

The distance by rail from Columbus to St. Louis is 431 miles. It was thought the balloons in their trip to Columbus traveled much further than that, so they were maintaining a minimum speed of 25 miles an hour.

Mr. Mix's message to Prof. Lord was picked up in E. Second-av by W. J. Meyers of 65 Lorain-av. The message read: "Rush! Prof. Lord observer: This message is dropped from the balloon 'Ile de France' at 4:30 o'clock p. m., Oct. 22, 1907. Greetings to all my friends at OSU. This is a SURPRISE PARTY to me. Will see you in a few days."

While Mr. Meyers was gazing at the big bag that was floating a mile high and in a northwesterly direction, this message came floating from the sky on a breeze that stood the state house flag almost straight to the east. The message was in a yellow envelope.

The first balloon to arrive, the Pommern, appeared on the western horizon at 1 p. m. It came slowly from a little north of west with a breeze of 12 miles an hour as registered at the U. S. weather station here. The pedestrians in High and the adjacent streets quickly began to look up and notice things. Then it appeared that the speck was not a cloud, there was a rush to the optical shops to hire spy glasses and the like. In the space of 30 minutes the shops had been cleaned out.

Majestically as a full rigged ship before a light breeze, the bag of silk floated toward the city, and thousands strained their necks to watch it. Slowly the yellow bag floated through the dense smoke and clouds thrown up at the pumping station of the Columbus State Hospital, and rapidly becoming clear.

After a time, by the aid of powerful glasses, two figures, looking more like ants than anything else, could be seen peering over a spider-webbed basket. On and on came the balloon, and finally just over the Scioto River, when the American colors, held taut by the upper air currents, broke into folds, there was a cheer from the watching factory workers.

Professor Lord, at the university, with a powerful pair of field glasses, gazed long at the floating bag. Then he focused the big four-inch objective on the floating sphere and took another long look. As the gas bag slowly revolved the professor, with students gathered around him, slowly speled out the name, "Pommern."

After the people in the streets had been satisfied that one balloon had passed over the city they were loathe to leave the east and west streets, and many hung about the prominent corners until after nightfall.

After the first excitement was over at State University some one cried through the open window, "Professor Lord! A balloon to the east and two to the west approaching!" The professor scanned the horizon with his field glasses, and down by the sky-line to the northeast was a big black balloon.

Soon the cry went up, "Here come two others." The nearest balloon was seen sailing toward the city from a direction a little north of west. A small black object, looking through the glass like a fly speck, was seen floating earthward, and from the position of the balloon and the time—4:30—this was thought to have been the French entry from which Mr. Mix dated his message to his old college chum, Professor Lord, and to his relatives, which were found later.

Ohio Hunting Law Digest Available Oct. 1

Hunters who have already purchased new hunting licenses which became effective Sept. 1 and are disturbed over not receiving digests of the hunting and trapping regulations are advised this week that the digests will be available from license agents and division of wildlife field men around Oct. 1.

Due to the Wildlife Council's preference of determining as accurately as possible what the game population surveys, just completed, reveal before setting the regulations, the printing of the digests was delayed.

Although the delay may cause some inconvenience to the early license buyers, hunters will benefit generally, with regulations which correspond more nearly to actual game conditions in the field, thereby safeguarding the continuance of public hunting. Because of the more abundant game population indicated by the surveys this year, hunters will enjoy more liberal regulations.

Thatchers Find Accent of Residents Of Leeds Different From Rest of England

(Editor's Note: This is another of a series of articles written by Newton Thatcher during his visit to England with his wife this summer.)

Friday, June 24

Because we had been once before to Euston Station, at the time we made our trip to Ireland, we felt that we knew our way about. We reached the station without getting lost and in time to catch the ten o'clock train for Leeds in Yorkshire.

The ride to Leeds was scheduled to take a little over three hours so we decided to do it in comfort by going first class with the idea that first class accommodations would be comparable to Pullman travel in our own country. To our disillusionment we soon found that we had paid a very much higher fare for nothing. The car was dirty with accumulated soots from many journeys. The windows were so dirty we could scarcely see through them. All in all the accommodations were worse than when we had previously travelled by third class. We were glad then that the trip was only three hours.

At the station in Leeds we were wondering if we would meet our hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Tempest. We had never seen them, nor their pictures, and the same was true with them as they had never seen us. Once again we relied on the experiences of the past that we would be recognized by our American style clothes and my American hat. It worked and, in a few moments after alighting from the train, a man and his wife came up to us. They asked if we were not Newton and Violet.

With Ted and Martha acting as guides we ambled about the streets of downtown Leeds, finally winding up at the town hall. Students at the university were observing a day of fun and frolic. Each year on this day they put on all kinds of stunts on the streets of the city. Bands play and people dance. Students go about with collections boxes. The proceeds are then given to the loyal hospital. Today, as we stood in front of Town Hall, a college band was giving a concert there for all passersby.

From Leeds, with all its characteristics of an industrial city, we went by bus to Harrowgate. This was a beautiful little town. It is a college town and a spa town combined with the result that there is both activity and a sense of quiet restfulness about it. Shops were numerous and attractive. In a nearby tea shop we had tea and fine cakes served to us in an attractively decorated dining room.

From the refreshing moments at the tea shop we walked through the gardens in the center of town. A tiny stream rippled through the grounds while along its banks were many different kinds of flower gardens plus other gardens scattered all about. Roses of all varieties filled many of the flower beds.

Mingling with the crowds in Leeds and Harrowgate gave us something else to think about. The accent of the people here was so different from that in other parts we have so far visited that we often had to think twice to know what people were saying. With Ted and Martha to keep up the accent we gradually realized what was being said. As we continued to listen to and enjoy this quaint kind of English accent as spoken in Yorkshire we boarded one of the local buses which carried us out through the country to Knaresboro. This was another of the kind of towns we had been looking for here in England. Streets leading in all imaginable directions, extremely narrow thoroughfares, they were bordered with gouses and shops bearing all the earmarks of having lived through centuries of history.

At the edge of the village we sat in the shadows of antiquity to cool off after exposure to a hot afternoon sun. The site was the grounds surrounding the Knaresboro Castle. Situated atop a high hill these grounds overlooked the river valley and from it we could look directly down into the river in scenes which would do credit to any photo album. Having sat in the hot sun as long as we could stand the heat while looking out over the panoramic scenes, we turned to look for shade while we finished a further half hour wait for another bus. The shade was provided by the walls of the ruins of Knaresboro Castle. Not much more than the four walls of this old castle remain to provide shade but, as we sat beside it, we could try to imagine the scenes that had taken place there in the days of Cromwell and before.

Our last bus of the day arrived while we were mentally reviewing the past events involving the old castle. Boarding this bus, we were soon out in the country again. Along this route we passed Harewood House which Martha and Ted pointed out to us as the home of Princess Mary, sister of the present King George. It was a great mansion surrounded by stately trees which were in turn surrounded by the broad acres of the Earl of Harewood's farms. Despite the pretentiousness of the house Martha said that the Princess often comes to the church and neighborhood affairs of the nearby villages. For this reason the people thereabouts have a very personal friendly feeling for the Princess.

As the bus rolled along through the county we passed through several small towns. One of these was Deighton, named back in the days when the locality was identified by the church or "kirk" there. Nearby, also, was the village of Deighton Bar where the term "Bar" referred to the toll bar which at one time many years ago barred the road to travelers until they had paid the current toll or road fee. Another community we passed through was Ribbenston Pippin. This place got its name from an apple. It seems that many years ago one of the native farmers went to France. While there he ate some apples which pleased his palate. He saved the seeds, or pippins, and later planted them on his own ground. The resulting fruit became one of the popular apples of Britain, whose people gave to this apple the name of the first grower and the source from which it came.

A little distance from Deighton Bar we came to Weatherby. We had been following along the Great North Road, the main highway from London to Edinburgh, Scotland.

At Deighton Bar we left the bus and followed our host and hostess to one of a group of houses clustered along the Great North Road. This was Vermont, home of the Tempests, so named by them in honor of a close friend who lives in the State of Vermont. Greeting us from the doorway was a huge American flag which Ted and Martha had hoisted to tell the world that today they were having American visitors. We felt almost like the king and queen because a special flag is always flown over whatever palace they happen to be residing in.

A hurried tea was occasioned by the arrival of the local taximan who was to take us, with Ted and Mr. Kirk, to the Wellington School, located some little distance out in the country. This was one of the private boarding schools so typical of England. It was different because both boys and girls were in attendance here whereas usually the boys and girls have separate schools. This, in a sense, was an experimental school operated by the Friends Church. It being after school hours when we were there, the girls were amusing themselves making pottery in a well equipped pottery shop. The boys were doing likewise in a wood-working shop. Some of the pottery made at the school was being given to Ted to be sold at a bazaar soon to be held to raise money for the church of which Ted is one of the active members.

The church was our next stopping place. It was a real reminder to us that England is an old old country. One part of this church was built so long ago that no one knows when it was built. All that is known is that it was built before the Normans invaded England in 1066. The rest of the church building was constructed about 1260. Looking almost like a miniature cathedral in its general outlines, the heavy stone walls and stone floors indicated that the church will serve this countryside for many more centuries to come. Thanks to the care being given it by one of the ladies of the church there was no sign of the dust and dirt which are so often associated with old places. The floors, the pews, the altar and all the fittings about the church were shining with cleanliness.

Some good news came to us about the lighting project for this old church. Early this year, and I think I have mentioned it before, Ted had explained to his many pen friends how his church was badly in need of modern electric lights and the problem of raising the necessary money in this district which cannot boast of a very high average individual income. Ted had volunteered to try to raise funds for one portion of the lights. As we roamed through the church Ted told us that up to the present time he had received more than twice the amount he had hoped to be able to raise. It was a real pleasure for Violet and me to be able to see this old church and to know that we and our friends in Columbus had been able to have a part in the forthcoming installation of the "lights of friendship."

Contest Opens September 20

HOW TO ENTER CONTEST

This contest is being sponsored by The Hilltop Record in order to increase the Record subscription list thus providing local business firms and individuals with an even better local advertising medium. It is the belief of the Record management that one large campaign of this type will be far more effective in acquainting more and more people with this newspaper than otherwise might be possible with sales effort of smaller magnitude.

Every contestant entering the race has nothing to lose and everything to gain. Everyone will receive payment for all the subscriptions he or she turns in. No one can lose. This is not a drawing or lucky number contest but is based entirely on sales effort and the popularity of the various contestants.

In order to enter the campaign just clip the coupon on this page, fill it out and mail to the Record office, or better yet, come to the Record office in person and enroll.

When you have entered your name you will receive full instructions and the necessary supplies as well as numerous good leads on possible sales as well as other helps in making the contest interesting as well as profitable. You then will call upon your friends and neighbors, acquaintances everywhere and ask them to subscribe to the Record. You will be surprised how easy it is to get the subscriptions and how many people will soon become interested in the campaign and offer their help by soliciting their friends too.

The prizes will all be awarded on the basis of points received in the drive. A schedule of these points is printed in this ad.

Take the time now to study this list of points and make up your mind you want that new four door Dodge sedan, the fine RCA Victor television set or one of the other prizes totaling over $3000 in value. It is important that you make up your mind soon, enter right away and receive your subscription blanks and supplies so you can get right to work.

Just think: If you win the new Dodge valued at over $2100 it would mean you would be earning an average of over $300 per week for the next seven weeks. Isn't this worth putting some real effort behind? And someone is going to win just that very same Dodge, the $500 RCA television set and the other valuable prizes . . . and remember you just can't lose because regardless of where you finish in the race you will receive a 20% commission on your sales if you have not received one of the major prizes.

Send in your entry blank right now . . . be one of the first to enter the campaign—and make up your mind to win that first prize!

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. Anyone residing in the City or surrounding territory is eligible to enter the Contest.
2. No salaried employee of The Hilltop Record or member of his family is eligible to enter. This does not apply to correspondents.
3. Contestants will be required to make weekly reports to The Hilltop Record and turn in all money and subscription orders taken to the date of reporting.
4. The two main prizes will be awarded not later than November 17 and announced in that day's issue of The Hilltop Record and an announcement will be printed showing the exact final standing of each contestant.
5. The winners will be the persons who have earned the most points for turning in both new and renewal subscriptions to The Hilltop Record.
6. Contestants may secure subscriptions anywhere in Franklin County, Ohio, and the U. S. A. Only subscription orders accompanied by cash, checks, or money orders will be accepted.
7. Subscribers will be aiding their favorite contestant by giving him or her an order for a subscription. Points in the Contest will be allowed to the person writing the subscription order. A subscriber may not change his or her order after it is once given to a contestant.
8. In event of a tie for any prize an award of identical value will be given the contestants who are tied.
9. Each contestant not receiving one of the major prizes will be awarded 20% of gross receipts he or she has turned in at the conclusion of the Contest. To be eligible for payment of 20% commission at the conclusion of the Contest each participant must turn in at least $5 in subscription revenue each week of the Contest.
10. Any contestant failing to make a report and settlement in full for subscriptions sold to date on each weekly report period will become disqualified and will forfeit all rights to a prize or cash commissions.
11. Points are not transferrable. No contestant will be permitted to withdraw and turn his points over to another contestant. All points will be cancelled should a contestant withdraw from the Contest.
12. Any question of collusion will be settled by the management of The Hilltop Record and an advisory board. Any decisions of this group are final.
13. Contestants will provide each customer with a temporary receipt and will be responsible for turning in an equal amount to The Hilltop Record. Official receipts will be mailed each subscriber from The Hilltop Record Office showing exact amount paid and expiration date of the subscription.
14. There will be strict adhereance to the rules of this Contest published herein. The Record will not be responsible for any promises made by a contestant not contained in these rules and regulations.
15. Reports of the standings of the contestants may be published during the Contest up to the fifth week, thereafter all reports will be placed in a sealed ballot box to be placed in the vault of the First Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n, where contestants will make their final reports. In this way no one will know the standing of the contestants as the Contest draws to a close.
16. Each contestant must sign an agreement that he or she understands the above rules and agrees to abide by them.
17. A subscription made out to a different name at a present subscriber's address will be counted as a renewal.

FOURTH GRAND PRIZE

$150 in Merchandise Certificates good at any firm advertising in the Nov. 15 or Nov. 17 issues of The Hilltop Record.

All Other Prizes Will Be Cash --

Each contestant who does not earn one of the four major prizes will receive 20% commission on all money turned in during the contest.

CONTEST JUDGES

The following well-known Hilltop men have consented to serve as judges of this contest and will serve also as an advisory board to assist the Record publisher in determining an equitable and fair solution of any questions that may arise during the contest.

Hunters Take Field As Squirrel Season Opens

The 1949 squirrel season in Ohio opened at daybreak today, Sept. 15, and will close at dark on Sept. 30.

The daily bag limit of four and possession limit of four per hunter remains unchanged from last year's regulations. Daily hunting hours are from daylight to dark.

During the hunting season the sun rises shortly before 6 p. m. and sets shortly after 6 p. m., and since it is daylight about a half-hour before sunrise and until a half-hour after sunset, hunters will be able to enjoy several hours hunting without cutting into normal working hours.

H. A. Rider, chief of the wildlife division of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, said today that hunting license sales, together with information reaching the Columbus office from game protectors throughout the state, indicate that the number of hunters who will take to the woods may exceed any previous year.

Hunters were urged this week to use caution in the woods by wearing bright red caps or at least a strip of red cloth sewed to a hat and down the back of the hunting jacket in order that they not be mistaken for a squirrel by some careless shooter.

Some hunters prefer to find a soft stump and just wait for the bushytail to make a careless appearance while others like to roam from one position to another and even from one woods to another. Both styles of this hunting require a great deal of patience. Veteran hunters like a crisp, snappy early morning hour following a rain for shooting. When the underbrush is dry and noisy, getting around without being detected by the squirrel is difficult.

Franklin Twp. Has Lowest Tax Rate In County

In spite of increased governmental services now being rendered, residents of Franklin Township enjoy the lowest tax rate of any governmental subdivision in Franklin County, Paul Wichterman, 1540 Reaver Lane, clerk-treasurer of the township, said this week.

Franklin Township is the only township in Franklin County with a current rate of less than 10 mills. The present tax rate is 9.80 mills or $9.80 for each $1000 of tax valuation, Wichterman stated.

Township government including road maintenance and fire protection is made available to the residents at a cost of 1.20 mills.

Members of the present board of trustees are Otto Peoples, 1300 Hart-rd; Harry Shonting, 477 Josephine-av; and L. W. Hendershott, 1490 Arlington-av (Marble Cliff).

Peoples, president of the board, and Shonting, recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Bryan McCullough, are candidates for re-election at the Nov. 8 election. Hendershott's term of office does not expire at this time.

Blue Ribbon Exhibit On Display

Pictured above are members of Cub Pack and Scout Troop 250 of St. Aloysius Church with the handicraft and hobby displays that won them two blue ribbons at the Ohio State Fair. The display was exhibited at the church annex after the fair. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martindale and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin supervised the booths at the fair.

New Harvester, Combine On Display In New Rome

Meyer's Sales & Service, 5348 W. Broad-st, New Holland dealer, has just received the first New Holland automatic field forage harvester shipped into this community.

According to Leo J. Meyer, this machine has been placed in production after years of development and testing. Farmers in the area, he said, will be interested in the many improvements in this machine. Typical of the changes is the new design which makes it easier to convert the machine to either a hay or a corn harvester.

By adjusting five bolts either the windrow or row-crop unit can be attached to the basic machine in 10 to 15 minutes. The machine includes the basic unit, weighing only 2750 pounds. To this can be attached either the 275-pound windrow unit or the 575-pound row-crop unit.

The harvester has been designed to operate at high capacity while assuring uniform cutting with a minimum of power. There is a crawler-type upper feeding apron to provide positive feeding and uniform cutting. A special cutting angle lowers the power requirements.

The basic unit has dual shock coil springs to provide a floating unit for either corn or hay attachment and is adjustable up and down without tilting the basic unit.

A three-way distributor elbow permits loading wagon or truck at the rear or either side. The new Holland harvester has a capacity of three to six tons in dry hay, five to eight tons in 40 per cent moisture hay, eight to 16 tons in hay silage and 10 to 25 tons per hour in corn silage.

It has an individual engine drive with 31 horsepower air-cooled engine. Cutting lengths vary from one-quarter inch to four inches.

The 75-inch wide hay attachment picks up hay with steel fingers on a drum. Stones are removed before the hay moves into the cutter head.

The corn attachment is of single row construction with sickle bar. Gathering points are 27 inches apart to make the unit easy to guide along the rows. The harvester is manufactured by the New Holland Machine Co., New Holland, Pa.

The first shipment of the new "Super" series self-propelled combines has arrived from the Massey-Harris factory consigned to Meyer Sales & Service. According to Mr. Meyer, the "Super 27" self-propelled, 16-foot machine and the 12-foot "Super 20" represent the culmination of 10 years experience in self-propelled combine designing and manufacturing, incorporating such advancements in engineering as balanced separation, simplicity and accessibility, balance and stability, and multiple speed drive. These new features place the 16-foot "Super 27" combine in an unchallenged place of leadership as the biggest-capacity combine on wheels, yet its unique frame design and balanced construction have resulted in strength and stability without adding cumbersome weight, thus allowing substantial fuel economy.

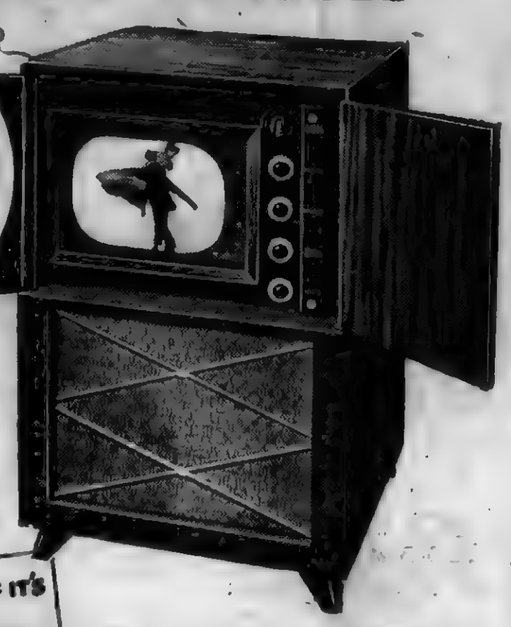
Hilltop Man Builds Own Video Set

Art W. Geddes, 1479 Thomas-av, has just built his own television set, and it has the neighbors all a-gog. It's a transvision 16 inch model and now has its own honored place in the living room of the Geddes home.

Geddes, who has lived on the Hilltop for almost 10 years, attended Central High School before leaving with the Medical Corps overseas, where he spent more than two years in the special service of the corps.



Now he is employed at General Motors. He got the idea for building his own television set from David Gnessin, 53 W. Norwich-av. Gnessin had been building television sets for his friends, getting so many orders that he set up his own television agency.

Geddes

Gnessin prepared television kit for Geddes, complete with instructions. Working with only household tools, Geddes soon had his television set built and working. Installed in a mahogany console cabinet, the professional-looking big television set is a source of pride and joy to the Geddes household.

Details To Be Published On Obtaining Use of Completely Modern Kitchen

M. A. Van Atta, manager of the C. C. Robinson Electrical Appliance Store at 2403 W. Broad-st, has announced that the General Electric kitchen on display there will be made available to churches and charitable organizations on the Hilltop.

He said that an open letter will soon be published to all such organizations telling them how to arrange for the use of the kitchen for any type of food or baking sales or promotion.

Made up of the latest developments in kitchen appliances, the kitchen is equipped with complete wall and base cabinets, a freezer top G. E. refrigerator, an electric sink, a G. E. Stratcliner range, an automatic oven gas range, and a G. E. all-automatic washer.

The base cabinet tops are of the new material, "Formica", and the background is of aluminum tile.

All of the appliances on display are for sale at the C. C. Robinson Co.

Disc Jockey To Be At Tune Shop

Eddie Saunders, WVKO disc jockey, will make a personal appearance Saturday from 1 to 3 p. m. at the Hilltop Tune Shop, 2492 W. Broad-st.

Prior to joining the staff of WVKO, Saunders was with WHKC. He was the originator of the Swanee Hour, and has been the promoter of 17 singing organizations.

He is one of the first colored disc jockeys and received a Rockefeller award in 1948 as one of the outstanding members of the Negro race.

INJURED IN FALL.

Bill Cline of Bill's Texaco Service, 2714 Sullivant-av, broke both bones of his right forearm in a fall at the station Friday. A customer, J. J. Thompson, took him to Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he was treated.

Former Hilltop Woman Dies

Mrs. Anna J. Hamrick, 79, formerly of 133 N. Eureka-av, died Wednesday at her home in Carbon Hill after a three-week illness.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Charles F. Duncan of the Eureka-av address, and Mrs. William Bauer, 1774 Sullivant-av; one son, Fred Hamrick of Sand Run, O.; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services were at 2 p. m. Friday at the Carbon Hill Methodist Church. Burial was at New Straitsville.

Words of the Wise

Knowledge will not be acquired without pains and application. It is troublesome and deep digging for pure waters; but when once you come to the spring, they rise up and meet you. —(Felton)

Household Hint

There is a special technique for froning linen-textured spun rayon dresses. All these medium weight spun rayons should be pressed with a hot iron when they are bone dry. If the material is damp it will not press well and the job takes longer. For best results, iron on the wrong side of the fabric, using a clean, well-padded ironing board.

You'll find the best buys in the Record ads every week.

Mrs. Murnane (the former Dorothy Mitchell) is kept very busy these days by Ronnie, age 2½, and Eileen, 1 year old.

"More Bargains Than Ever In the Twice a Week RECORD"

was the remark made by Mrs. Paul Murnane, 640 Butler Ave.

"Having a home and family of my own makes me appreciate why mother used the Record as a money saving guide when the family was at home."

"I read the Record page by page to find out where to save on the things we need, and enjoy reading the chatty news about my friends on the Hilltop," says Mrs. Nurnane.

What Other Editors Say

Those "Wicked" Profits

One of the most intelligent discussions of what socialism can do to a nation has been written by Dorothy Thompson, in a newspaper column. It deals specifically with the British situation, but what is true there is also true in all the totalitarian economies.

"The present practical confiscation of profits stops the building of new capital, interest in profits is killed, and wages, interest and dividends are knocked away," writes Miss Thompson. "Actually, not production, but production costs, are rewarded. The businessman is interested to raise, not lower, costs in order to make the net taxable revenue small, not large . . .

"Socialist planning always shows its worst failures, not in production figures, but in the price level. The enterpriser, exchanging profits for security, in the form of fixed prices and subsidies, stops caring about costs . . . a rigid economy follows, in regard to all the elements of production, which shows inelasticity in respond to consumers' shifts . . . .

"No one can accuse Socialists of the wicked 'profit motive.' They genuinely desire 'the welfare of the masses.' But this righteousness regarding their own motives induces a peculiarly irritating smugness, blinding them to the fact that 'noble' bureaucratic cost can greatly exceed wicked profits, and that the welfare of the masses has to demonstrate itself by facts, not theories."

We are being urged to follow much the same path that Britain has chosen. A determined campaign is on to nationalize industry, as in the case of light and power. An equally determined campaign would have us accept a compulsory health insurance scheme that differs only in detail from England's enormously costly experiment in this field. The advocates of cradle-to-the-grave security—at a cost which no one can estimate—are beating the drums throughout the land. And, in spite of the tremendous burden of taxation that stifles our initiative, no real effort has been made to cut the cost of government.

Every socialist or communist proposal is based on the appealing fiction that by eliminating profit we will advance the welfare of the masses. Yet, in every case, precisely the opposite result has been achieved. It is not an accident that high wages and high living standards have been gained under the profit system. The system has its faults—but socialism, as the record proves, has infinitely more and some of them are beyond correction.

Everybody's Business

Real Value of Earnings Still Above Pre-war Years

By John Kelly

In support of the demands for fourth round wage increases plus company financed pensions, social insurance and other benefits, the principal arguments are—

1. That since the end of the war the cost of living has risen more rapidly than wages, and that therefore labor has suffered hardships and injustice;

2. That industry has been making so much money that it can easily absorb the additional expense;

3. That wage increases are necessary to bolster purchasing power and thus prevent further deflation and business recession.

The first two arguments are mainly questions of fact, upon which reliable information is readily available. The third argument is theory, and highly controversial theory at that. Before taking up questions of theory, it would be well to get the facts straight about the first two points.

It is true that after 1945 wage earnings tended to lag behind living costs. However, it is also true that during the war period up to 1945 the rise in wages far outstripped the rise in the cost index, as computed by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Taking the war and postwar periods as a whole—and no one denies that the latter was caused by the war—the increase in wages over living costs was substantial. While the price index rose 72 per cent from 1939 through 1948, actual hourly earnings of factory workers increased 117 per cent and average weekly pay up 131 per cent.

In other words, the "real" value of hourly and weekly earnings rose by 26 and 34 per cent, respectively. These gains are being soft-pedalled in the campaign for the fourth round increases. Labor stresses the lag in wages as compared with living costs since 1945, when wartime production was at its height and price controls and rationing were still in effect.

This year the cost of living has been declining. According to the official price index, it is about three per cent below the peak reached last fall. Thus the purchasing power of wages is being once more increased.

Advances in wage rates during the war and much overtime at premium rates, on the one hand, and OPA control of prices and rationing, on the other, caused wages—in terms of real purchasing power—to rise to the highest level in history. In this period we accumulated large backlogs of savings because there was little to spend it on.

While the three rounds of increases during the postwar boom carried wage earnings to a new peak in 1948, the rise was more than offset by the rapid advance in the cost of living. Prices could not withstand the impact of our tremendous pent-up demand and purchasing power after removal of controls and rationing. There were too many dollars chasing too few goods.

The average weekly earnings of factory workers have declined due to elimination of overtime and to curtailed operations. It is plainly not a situation that can be corrected by increasing rates of pay unless the higher wages would result in putting more people back to full time work.

The second point will be discussed in the next column.

The Leaf Shall Be Green

By Marian Chamberlain

CHAPTER ONE

IT WAS, thought Proctor, who had a mind for somber things, a perfect day for a funeral. The early March sky, with small veils of cloud shifting across the pale blue, was ready to weep at an appropriate moment. The sunlight was discreetly fitful. Proctor had kept his eye on the weather since early morning, twitching at the red curtains in the library to watch for the first sign of an umbrella. It was as perfect a day as it could be to bury someone you loved—and God knew he loved his sister, Elizabeth.

The sedate mauve crepe that hung on the outside entrance looked well. The gray casket, banked with blue hyacinths and lilies, lay in lovely gloomy shadow in the drawing room. The five pallbearers, he would make the sixth, would carry out their duties with dignity and feeling. He had deliberately chosen the same five men who had been ushers at Elizabeth's coming-out party. There was a melancholy comparison here that pleased him.

Proctor sat down at the large Sheraton desk in the center of the room and for the twentieth time went over his schedule for the afternoon.

Luncheon—12:15. This they had arranged especially early to get the maids quieted before the ceremonies.

Minister: 2:00.

Service: 2:30-3:00.

Drive to Chestnut Hill: Approximately two hours.

After the last notation Proctor had left a blank. He felt it indecorous to come right back to tea. Now he wrote in "talk to Katherine." He skipped another blank to allow for passage of time and wrote "B. Hall to dinner." Benjamin Hall was the family lawyer. His wife would not be present, which meant there would be no social talk and they could get right down to details. He gave a long sigh to relieve his impatience.

Too nervous to plan or think further, he leaned back in his chair and surveyed the room. With the exception of the desk which he had bought at a private auction, everything was the same as it had been in his father's time. The two longer sides of the room were shelved with books reaching half way up the wall. Above these, the walls were covered with dark red damask, not a warm, but a muddy color. The room was filled with Victorian relics.

Here on Sunday afternoons his father had read to him from Lamb's Tales. He must remember to read them this year to Katherine. Here he had come each Saturday to receive his allowance before he had gone to college. It all seemed so long ago, he felt suddenly old, though he was only a little over forty. Desperately, he turned back to a younger time. Here he and Esther had planned Elizabeth's coming-out party. He did not remember having seen Elizabeth much in this room. He retained his thoughts in abruptly. "I shouldn't be wool-gathering like this," he said half aloud. "I should feel more about her—but I'm numb, I can't." He slid down in his chair, extending his legs and dropping his head forward a little in an effort to relax.

Suddenly he was startled by the door bell—not as a friend of the family would ring, once gently, a longer twice—but sharp, ring on ring. His heart jumped. This was what he had been dreading all morning. This was the crack in his shell of numbness. So Marvell had gotten his telegram. He pushed his chair back; he would answer the door himself. The maids were busy with other things.

The door felt heavier than it ever had as Proctor swung it open. Marvell had come. He stood in the doorway, his right shoulder slumped a little against the fluttering crepe. He was hatless and carried a white box — not flowers, Proctor sensed this immediately. This was a flat, squat box that could only mean French pastry.

"Hello, Proc."

"Come in," said Proctor, holding back the door.

Marvell bowed his head as graciously as if he had received a word of welcome. He stepped unsteadily inside. Proctor smelled the sharp odor of whiskey at once. Drinking again, he thought bitterly. His body was taut with dislike and disgust.

"We expected you earlier. You received my telegram?"

"Bad weather in Rochester," Marvell's voice boomed in the muffled quiet. He held out the pastry box with a sweeping gesture. "For my daughter." Proctor saw that one side of it was dented in. He took it gingerly.

"Your bags?"

"Checked." Probably in some pawnshop, thought Proctor contemptuously. Marvell stumbled over the table that stood against one dim wall. "Why don't you have some light in here?"

"Katherine," Proctor went on in lower tones than before, "is asleep. Emily is with her. We'll go right up to the library."

"Lead kindly light," and the first line of the hymn was accompanied by a faint hiccough. A shudder of distaste ran through Proctor. How insufferably cheap the man was. God in heaven, don't let him be a disgrace till it's over, he prayed. His hands were clammy on the awful box of cakes. He didn't know where to put it and he would not go down to the maids with it.

Once in the library, Proctor measured the waste paper basket with a wary eye. It wasn't big enough. Marvell rescued his box.

"Careful," he admonished. "These are the best. I got 'em at Henri's."

"New York?" asked Proctor sharply. "Why didn't you come straight to Boston?"

"Bad weather in Rochester," Marvell repeated in a tone that indicated he was through with further explanations.

"Sit down, please." Proctor's attitude was that of an employer interviewing a prospective clerk. He himself remained standing to maintain what advantage he could. If I didn't hate him so, thought Proctor helplessly, I could manage him. He can't go to the service, he can't go to the cemetery. Damn the decency that had prompted his telegram. Damn this man who made him so impotent with shame and hatred. He glanced at the clock, twenty minutes to two. Marvell sat down in a leather armchair near the desk, the pastry box on his knees. He wore that look of deceptive docility of a child who awaits a mild scolding. "Am I in time for the funeral?"

Proctor disliked to admit that he was. "The funeral is at 2:30. The interment is to be at Chestnut Hill." And this, he hated most to say—"Do you wish to see Elizabeth?"

"No!" The word shot out with a vehemence that matched Proctor's intensity. "The whole thing is barbaric."

"There is such a thing as common decency," answered Proctor stiffly who couldn't resist getting in the last word. His voice sounded thin and reedy next to Marvell's. "In that case, perhaps you don't wish to go to the service."

Marvell raised one eyebrow slightly. "As her husband I shall do my best to keep the Barlow standard out of the dust. 'Won't weep? Won't fight? Won't fast?'" he quoted loudly.

"Sah. Do be quiet!"

"How about a hospitable drink, Proc?" Marvell ventured. That would be the easiest way out, Proctor decided. He walked over to the sideboard. His hand shook slightly as he poured about [illegible] inches of whiskey into a glass.

"Water?"

"Straight. I thank you." He drank it quickly and turned accusingly to his brother-in-law. "I would have come sooner if you had told me Elizabeth was so sick. Three months ago she looked fine. I couldn't be in two places at once, you know. Everything I have done out in Chicago was all for you. I can tell you, it was not easy living out there in hotels and boarding houses, never seeing your daughter . . ." Now it would begin, thought Proctor, the string of lies, the loud arguments. The last time Marvell had been home was after Thanksgiving. He had stayed less than twelve hours, and not even seen Katherine because of his "condition."

Marvell made an effort to continue. His mind was fussy. He was unable to stall off the drowsiness brought on by the warmth of the room.

"Since you have such an aversion to funerals, Marvell, I suggest you remain here to sleep if possible . . ."

"No, I'm going to be there. But I'll take twenty winks now if we have time—uh?"

Scientists From 47 UN Countries Visit Farms, Industries In Hilliards

A delegation of scientists from 47 United Nations countries visited Hilliards last Thursday to study industry and agriculture methods in this area.

Columbus and central Ohio was chosen by the United States Department of Agriculture for the visit because it is the dividing point between the corn belt and eastern grassland areas.

Some of the nations represented by the scientists were India, Pakistan, Thailand, China, Yugoslavia, England, Egypt, Australia, New Zealand, France, Belgium, Scotland and five South American countries.

The scientists' first stop was at a dairy farm, owned and operated by Clarence Kaiser, his wife and their son, Clarence, Jr. There they learned how a modern American dairy farm is operated. The farm is entirely power operated, and electricity plays a major part in this operation. All of the dairy equipment and the pumps are operated by electricity, and the Kaiser family has made use of the facilities available in the community for improved family living.

Their next stop was at the Lewis-Arnold farm, operated by Milt and Charles Lewis. This is a grain and livestock farm, and the delegates learned about the rotation of crops from corn, to soybeans, to wheat and then to grass. Mr. Lewis is very successful with hogs and beef cattle and explained his method of feeding and handling in order to derive the most profit from them.

The delegates' third visit was to the Hilliards Cold Storage Lockers, owned by Marvin E. Weber. This business slaughters and processes meats, fruits, vegetables, wild game and fish. The delegates witnessed slaughtering, cutting and wrapping of the meat, fast freezing, curing and storage.

The group was served lunch in Hilliards at the Methodist Church. The ladies of Grange No. 1275 served a home cooked meal of fried chicken and all the trimmings.

After dinner, the group visited the Russell Grain Co., where they were divided into three groups by John Russell, Nelson Russell and Charles Minner, for a tour of the plant.

Their last stop at the Russells' was a visit to their office, where they saw modern bookkeeping machines at work and were given a bag as a souvenir. Many delegates remarked that the material in the bag was much better than they can buy in their children's clothing in their own countries.

The delegates then visited the Hilliards branch of the Franklin County Farm Bureau. The manager, John Forrest, introduced them to Glen McDaniels, who took them on a tour through the plant.

The next visit was to the Central Ohio Breeding Association Farm. This cooperative, managed by Richard Kellogg, renders artificial insemination service to five different breeds of cattle in 54 countries in central Ohio. Here it was explained to the delegates how the semen is obtained from the bull and divided from 75 to 100 times and is used to breed more than 400 animals.

Upon their return to Columbus, the delegates boarded a special train and left to visit the Tennessee Valley for a three-day tour of Mussells Shoals, Norris Dam and adjacent projects in the TVA area, and then return to Washington and on to their homelands.

West High Seniors To Sponsor Movie

The senior class of West High School has scheduled a movie for Wednesday, Sept. 21, at 3:30 p. m. Admission to the movie, featuring Abbott and Costello, will be 15c.

The public is invited to attend this comedy presentation, which will also include two short Walt Disney cartoons. The movie will be the first project of the senior class for the fall season.

Photogenic Baby Contest To Begin In October

If you have a young scene stealer around your house, here is a chance to capitalize on his or her photogenic qualities.

The second annual contest to find the most photogenic baby and child on the Hilltop will begin the first week in October.

The contest, sponsored by The Hilltop Record and J. Curtis Allen, will continue for eight weeks. Each week six winners will be chosen and presented an 8x10 tapestry oil glazed portrait, valued at $15. The weekly winning photographs will be exhibited in Seiller's window, 2404 W. Broad-st, and will be published in the Record.

At the end of the eight weeks, two grand prize winners will be chosen. The official ballot for the grand prize winners will appear in the Record. A panel of impartial judges will be named to pick the weekly winners throughout the contest.

One winner will be a baby of less than a year old, and the other will be a child between the ages of one and seven. Among other gifts, the two grand prize winners will receive a $75 16x20 oil portrait from J. Curtis Allen. Prizes will also be awarded to the second and third place participants in each division.

Parents wishing to enter their child in the contest should contact Mr. Allen by phoning RA, 2324. There is no cost or obligation for entering the contest. All pictures must be taken by Mr. Allen or one of his workers during the contest to be eligible.

Set Dates For Evening School Registration

Wednesday evening, Sept. 14, Thursday evening, Sept. 15, and the following Monday evening are the dates that have been set for registration for the new semester in the Columbus Evening School. The time will be from 6:30 until 8 each of the evenings mentioned.

The evening school, which meets in the Central High School building from 6 until 10 on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, will present a well rounded program of academic and commercial subjects, leading to a high school diploma.

Two new courses will be featured this year. They are a course in advanced Spanish, which enables the Columbus Evening School to offer college entrance credit, and a course in zoology. The advanced Spanish class will be in addition to the beginning and intermediate Spanish courses now given.

Classes will also be offered in reading and arithmetic for those who need this type of work. The regular curriculum of the school includes courses in English journalism, public speaking, social studies, science, art, mathematics, commercial subjects and Spanish.

It has been requested that students bring a record of previous high school work, if they are entering for the first time, or if working for a diploma, and have not filed with the school a record of their former studies. Registration fees for residents of Columbus are four dollars for one class period, five dollars for two or three classes, and seven dollars for four class periods. The fees for non-residents are five dollars for each one period class.

CELEBRATES BIG DAY

Robert Cromwell Takes 4 Firsts At State Fair

Robert Cromwell

Honored at the Ohio State Fair was Robert Cromwell, 86 S. Scuthampton-av, who was declared individual state champion in the draftsmanship division.

He won 10 prizes on his 13 entries at the fair: four firsts, two seconds, two thirds, one fourth and one seventh. The divisions in which he placed first were for an economic or sociological graph, drawing of a landscape planning of a city lot, an architectural exterior, a construction of single unit and original design.

His second and third place ribbons were presented for an entrance construction, a working drawing of a piece of furniture, an architectural interior, and a structural steel truss column or girder.

DIPLOMACY

If you would flatter maiden ladies
Well past the age for lovers' kisses,
Do give their lonely hearts a flutter
By addressing them as "Mrs."

Conversely, matrons matronish
Whose souls are wrapped in married bliss,
Will glow if you presume to think
They're young enough to hail as "Miss."

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Rhoads

The Monitor Class of Columbia Heights Church was host at a reception for Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Rose, who are starting their fifth year as pastor of that church.

To relieve the usual crowded condition of Rome School, several school buses from this community transfer the children to Brown Township School. There are 197 pupils in Rome School. The teachers are Miss Wilcox, first grade; Mrs. Burba, second grade; Miss Weber, third grade; Mrs. Grooms, fourth grade; Miss Alherr, fifth grade; Miss Ansel, sixth and seventh grades; and the principal, Mr. Groves, seventh and eighth grades. Mr. Groves is starting his 15th year at the Rome School.

A family party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Giehl, 43 N. Grener-rd, Sunday, in honor of Mrs. Giehl's birthday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ballenger and son, Albert, Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Thomas and children of Chillicothe, Emma Ballenger, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ballenger, F. E. Ballenger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ballenger and children and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ballenger and family, all of London, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Giehl and family of Millersport, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Hunter and son and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peterman and daughter of West Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Giehl and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Longerbone, New Rome, the host and hostess and Danny Jo Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Walz announce the arrival of a daughter, whom they have named Barbara.

Mrs. Gemeinhardt, Pasadena-av, is in California, to be on hand for the arrival of her new granddaughter. The marriage of her daughter, Ann, took her to California to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hoffman and family, 762 Rome-Hilliards-rd, entertained with an outdoor hamburger fry Friday night, Sept. 9, the members of the St. Paul Lutheran softball team and their families. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grable and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weber and family, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Walz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fisher and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Swinehart, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blau, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Headley, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderon, Don Stauch and Robert Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wollard, Avondale, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Barnecut, Maple-dr, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lamb and two sons, Billjean and Jim, attended the reception Sunday afternoon for freshmen entering Otterbein College, where their oldest son is now going to school.

Phyllis Armstrong and Paul Armstrong have entered Denison University, Granville.

Jean Wycker, Norton-rd, is now teaching in a centralized high school near Bucyrus, where she is living.

Robert Edwards, Lennox-av, has entered Ohio State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Miller, Maple-dr, announce the arrival of a daughter, named Pamela Jane.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kaderly, Galloway-rd, entertained the Jolate Euchre Club Saturday evening. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Walz, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Graumlich and the host and hostess.

Priscilla Warner is a junior this year at Otterbein College.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shaner, Detroit, parents of Ernest Shaner of Rome-Hilliards-rd, have completed their garage home on Lennox-av and have started the erection of their permanent home. Their home will be the adjoining lot in the rear of the Ernest Shaner residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hall, Buena Vista-av, entertained for their two sons, Marshall, Jr., and Hadley, with a picture show Saturday night. Many of the views were surprise snaps of the guests, taken by Mr. Hall during the summer. Also some views of the West and a sports review and an Abbot and Costello film, obtained for this occasion. Between films, popcorn was served and after the show ice cream and cookies were served to the guests, who included Dickie Craven, Harold Kuhn, Jimmy and Betty Paternoster, Harry, Dick, Jim and John Kessler, Don Miller, Tim, Rex and Tad Lamb and the young hosts, Marshall and Hadley.

It's in the news that we'll soon have the royal visitor, Margaret Rose.
And that Merry Old England is flat broke, so the story goes.
She wants to meet President Truman, and have a little chat;
Well it isn't at all difficult to see through that.

Now I wonder is "Winnie" has been teaching her tricks?
To come over here and strike a few licks
I think for some time England's been seasoning the bait.
Well, let's hope Harry sees through it and gives her the gate.

Psalms Direct Our Daily Lives

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalms 15; 24:1-5; 101:2-10.

Lord, who shall abide in Thy tabernacle? Who shall dwell in Thy holy hill? He that walketh uprightly and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart.

He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth evil to his neighbor, nor taketh up a reproach against his neighbor . . . but he honoreth them that fear the Lord.

He that putteth not out his money to usury, nor taketh reward against the innocent. He that doeth these things shall never be moved. He shall stand in Thy holy hill.

Teach me to do Thy will; for Thou art my God: Thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightcousness.

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 101:6.

Rev. Stewart To Hold Revival At Nazarene Church

Rev. Paul Stewart

A two weeks revival begins Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the Warren Avenue Church of the Nazarene, 648 S. Warren-av, with Evangelist Paul Stewart of Sherman, Tex.

Rev. Stewart is nationally known as a preacher of the Nazarene Church. This will be his second meeting with this church.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30 through Oct. 2. Rev. Harris B. Anthony, the pastor, extends an invitation to everyone to attend these services.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS NEWS NOTES

By Patti Holycross

The Job's Daughters Bethel No. 3 held its first fall meeting Thursday, Sept. 8, at Schmelzer's Meeting Hall. We had a pretty nice turnout for our first time and the girls who weren't there missed a swell time.

To start things off, yours truly had to be late. Jackie, my little brother, was knocked off his bicycle and taken to Mt. Carmel. It wasn't serious but he has to take it a little slow for a few days. I'd also like to thank Ida Mae Emrich, who pro-temmed for me until I got there.

A lot of plans have been made already and there's no time like the present to tell about some of them. First coming up is a sales tax stamp contest. This one is going to be a three sided affair. It will be between the sidelines, the choir and the officers. The captains for the teams are: Jean Lockwood for the sidelines; Shirley Truit for the choir; and Geneva Emrich for the officers. The two losing teams will have to treat the winning team to a party, which will be held at the end of Julia Billingsley's term. So, girls, get behind your captain and bring in the sales tax stamps.

Another little contest which is under way is a membership drive. This year marks the silver anniversary of Bethel No. 3 and our Honored Queen would like to take in 50 candidates.

There is something else that the officers and the girls have cooked up but I'm going to keep you in suspense about it for a little while yet. All I can say about it is, "kind of keep Sept. 29 open." That's on a Thursday night.

We had several reports from our sick list that I'd like to mention. They are Mr. Heelcher, the father of our past Honored Queen, Ruth, who is in Cleveland Clinic. He just had an operation and I'm sure that he would appreciate a card from some of the girls. Also Joan Bergman's grandmother is very ill. Her addres is 112 S. Hague-av. Her name is Mrs. Griggs. Our guardian's mother, Mrs. Bryan, is at St. Anthony's Hospital and I understand that she reads the Job's Daughters news and she keeps right up with us. So if any of your girls get a chance I know she's enjoy seeing some of you. That ends our sick list for now and let's hope that they have a quick and speedy recovery.

Some real good news just came along and I know one girl who was happy about it. That is Shirley Snow, a senior at West this year. She was made manager of the Hilltop Tune Shop on W. Broad-st. Good luck on your new job, Shirley!

Well, if the meeting had lasted longer, my column would be longer. See you all at the next meeting if not before then.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wilson returned home Friday evening after a short visit in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Compton and children spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. William Compton.

Mrs. Kathleen Hildabrant and daughter of Alkire-rd spent Sunday afternoon with Ruby Wright.

Wanda, Dixie and Eldor Wright, Jr., spent Saturday evening with their mother, Mrs. Dorothy Griffith, of Mix Addition.

June Wright attended a party Saturday evening at the home of Eva Mae Grace of Danville, O.

Mrs. Isaac Ramey and son, Cpl. Bernard Ramey, and June Wright called on Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Todd of Grove City Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bettis and family of Columbus spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bettis.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hall spent Saturday visiting in West Jefferson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo England of Grove City called on Mrs. England's sister, Mrs. James Wright, and family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cochran and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Cecil Cochran of Columbus.

Starling Jr. High School Notes

INCREASE ENROLLMENT
By Norma Jean Callihan

One thousand and three pupils were enrolled in Starling the first week, 346 of whom are new. New pupils are from the county, sixth grade graduates, and new neighbors. This is a larger enrollment than last semester, and Mr. Huber expects at least 20 to be added this week.

• • •

SOMETHING NEW
By Carol Maxson

Starling has purchased new brass letters, 10½ inches high, for its name on the front of the building. The letters were molded especially for Starling at a cost of $400, and were mounted during the summer. For many years both parents, students, and faculty members have felt the necessity of identifying the building to passers-by.

• • •

GARDEN EXHIBIT
By Edward Green

The Garden Club is holding its annual garden show in the library on Thursday and Friday of this week. Classes of entries are: vegetables, canned fruits and vegetables, jellies, jams, flowers, and flower arrangements, and novelty or freak vegetables.

Frances Forbes is the director of the club. Judges for the event will be Mrs. Raymond J. Miller and Mrs. H. I. Spencer of the Hilltop Garden Club.

READING HELPERS SELECTED
By Donna Hixon

Helpers for Mrs. Bauer's and Mrs. Rothenbush's English classes for this semester are Betty Alexander, Carol Roby, Donna Hixon Esther Smith, Evelyn Neil, Janet LeValley, Judith Kaiser, Joanne Cordell, Miriam Smith, Mary Staley, Mary Blake, Nancy Risinger and Shirley Stone. These girls help with various word meanings checking books and taking the roll.

• • •

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS
By Margaret Clifton

Last week Mrs. Wiseman, the librarian, appointed her assistants for the semester. They are Georgia Barnhart, Billy Clark, Ralph Edsel, Edward Green, Benchley Harman, Arlene Meyer, Jean Parker, Sue Sevrens, Juanita Shaver, Patty Staten, Mary Vance and Barbara Yahn.

• • •

NEW DRAMATICS TEACHER
By Lewis Goode

Mrs. Pauline Mentzer will teach dramatics and English at Starling this semester. Her home town was originally Newark, O., but at present she is living in Granville. Her husband is a graduate student at Ohio State University. She says that she expects to like Starling very much as both students and faculty members have been very friendly.

In the southern states, the blooming magnolia is one of nature's most beauteous expressions. It represents life in its stage of fulfillment.

In many respects the human life may be compared with it. First a soul is born, then it is nurtured. Finally it reaches the period of its truest mission in life. The way a life is inclined by its early training determines the extent of its beauty and influence on the characters of others.

A child reared in the influence of the church and religion, attains the highest degree of beauty of character and accomplishment. Such an one growing into maturity and middle age, finds life's mysteries unfolding, its challenges successfully met.

As there is beauty in the magnolia blossom, so is there inspiration in a human life into which the Holy Spirit has come. Such a life may cause those whose influence it touches, to glorify God.

As the beauty of a flower is determined by the care it receives in its early stages, so will the training of a child bring forth character that will find its fulfillment in service to its Creator and its fellow men. Such a growth is best begun and nurtured within the church. The House of God stands ready to answer man's challenges with a faith and promise capable of withstanding all of the assaults of temptation and sin.

Go to church Sunday and refresh yourself spiritually for the challenges the coming week has in store for you.

Calling All Outdoorsmen

By One

With the fishing season tapering off into fall and the hunting season about ready to pop around the next corner, I have a suggestion to pass along. Get out the old shotgun, throw a box of No. 6's into your hunting coat and go crow shooting. It's a swell sport.

Henry Bradshaw, nationally-known author and sportsman, once remarked that crow shooting was the nearest thing to waterfowl gunning he had ever experienced. And who's going to kick about a sport resembling duck shooting.

Several times each summer I put the fishing gear away and go after crows. I've found it to be a sport almost second to none in good gunning. Crows are smart; outwitting them requires patience and a little know-how on the part of the hunter. And after you've had a successful day of shooting, with anywhere from one to a dozen or more black marauders on the ground, you can pat yourself on the back for a job well done.

Some hunters build blinds, use decoys and make a setup that is similar to duck shooting. I've found it easier to drive along a country road, stopping here and there when a crow is spotted for some shooting. But a crow call is almost a must, unless you are just plain lucky in getting them into shooting range.

Then if you happen to find a place where the crows are roosting, you are in for some fast and fancy shooting. You can keep your old scattergun hot for a few minutes before the crows decide it would be healthier to find another resting place for the night.

And don't overlook the important conservation angle in shooting crows. This bird annually is blamed for the loss of millions of game birds and animals through attacks on nests.

So there you have it—fine sport and a definite aid to conservation. This dual purpose is hard to beat.

Hilltop Women's Chorus To Sing At Art Gallery

The Hilltop Women's Chorus will present the program this Friday evening in the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts. This program is open to the public without charge and will begin at 8:30 p. m.

The gallery is open from 7 to 10 p. m. and all current exhibitions will be on display.

The Hilltop Women's Chorus is an unaffiliated group of women singers from all walks of life and is under the direction of Mrs. Bertha Masters.

The chorus sings mainly religious and classical music, and solo parts are sung by Dorothy Young and Garnet Menge.

It's football season, it's football season, it's football season, it's fo

Maybe it's because the leaves turn red, or maybe it's because the first frost comes and puts an end to hay fever, but I suspect the reason I like the autumn best of all the seasons is football.

There is something about football that makes it seem more exciting than other sports. There is always the chance of the unexpected happening. A kick may be blocked or it may be a surprise going completely over the heads of the opponents. A plunge through the line can end in a game winning touchdown or a disastrous fumble. A pass may mean a long gain or an interception and defeat. Spectators at Magly Field Friday night saw a Marion man intercept a pass and run 85 yards for a touchdown in the closing seconds of the game.

Every play in a football game is important and the outcome of the game may depend upon what any one of the 22 contestants on the field does at a given instant. There is something about the game that makes me look forward to September and the opening kick-off and the thud of blocking and tackling on the autumn turf.

In spite of the bad beginning the West High team got off to last week, they are still planning to go out and win a lot of games. Coach Mack Pemberton teaches the team that one loss is no indication of how a team will play next week, and as far as he's concerned the Marion Harding game will be the only loss chalked up to the Cowboys this season. And even if the team loses every game up to the last one, they'll fight just as hard for a victory in that final game.

You may see some victories this fall and you may see some defeats. For every game that's played there has to be a loser as well as a winner. One thing you are sure to see is two teams doing the best they can every minute of the 48 minute game. What more could you ask?

Kiwanis To Hear WTVN Owner Thurs.

Edward Lamb

Members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club will get some first-hand information on television when Edward Lamb, owner of Picture Waves, Inc., operators of Television Station WTVN, addresses the club Thursday.

Lamb built the first television center in the United States at Erie, Pa. The new Columbus station, which has transmitter control rooms and studios on the 37th floor of the Lincoln Leveque Tower, will be one of the most powerful stations in the country. It will commence operations on Sept. 30.

A Toledo attorney, Lamb also owns a newspaper and two radio stations. He is a graduate of Dartmouth College and studied law at Harvard, Yale and Western Reserve Universities. He taught economics at Columbia University.

He is a member of the American Bar Association, the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the National Association of Broadcasters.

RECORD COLLECTION STARTS

Collections for The Hilltop Record for the month of September will begin today for those who subscribe to the paper on a monthly basis. The new low rate of 25c per month will be in effect.

High-st. Crash Fatal To Valleyview Man

Hilltop Man Killed On Hunting Trip

A Hilltop man was fatally shot by his brother-in-law during a hunting trip Saturday at Cutler, O., near Marietta, Sheriff Dean Ellis of Washington County reported Monday.

Sterling Scott, 29, of 2407 Palmetto-av, a painter at the Lustron Corp., was wounded in the head by a shot fired by Lowell Hill, 22, of 427 N. Garfield-av, as the pair were hunting squirrels near Scott's former home.

Hill told the sheriff he had saw a movement in some brush and fired from a distance of about 71 feet. Investigating the effect of his shot, he found Scott lying unconscious. He died later en route to Marietta Hospital.

Sheriff Ellis cleared Hill of blame in the accident after an investigation. Funeral services for Scott were held this afternoon at Blackfork near Cutler, with burial at that place. Scott is survived by his wife, Mrs. Betty Scott; a son, Donald 6; three brothers; two sisters, and his father.

Six Injured In W. Broad Collision

A Valleyview man was killed and a Hilltop man is in Mt. Carmel Hospital as a result of weekend traffic accidents.

Luther Evans, 28, of 498 Prospect-dr, died in Grant Hospital 13 hours after the car he was driving skidded and struck a utility pole at High-st and Hinman-av.

A South Side woman, Mrs. Shirley Osborne, one of the three passengers riding with Evans, was also killed. Her daughter, Virginia Osborne, 19, was uninjured, and the other passenger, John Marshall, 26, was treated at Grant Hospital for head cuts and a sprained right ankle.

Miss Osborne said the group was returning from a South Side night club when the crash occurred.

Surviving Mr. Evans are his wife, Mrs. Ethel Evans; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Evans, of the residence; five brothers, Paul, Herbert, Billy Ray and Bobby Gene Evans, all of the residence, and Cecil Evans, Jr., of Chattaroy, W. Va.; four sisters, Mrs. Letha McCoy of Chattaroy, Mrs. Mary Dusenberry and Mrs. Sylvia Overturf, both of Columbus, and Dora Lee Evans, of the residence.

He was a welder at the Fornstedt Division General Motors plant.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the O. R. Woodyard Funeral Home.

Vaughn K. Hill, 17, of 296 S. Roys-av, suffered a possible fractured neck when the car he was driving collided with another car in the 1600 block of W. Broad-st Sunday.

William Allen, 816 Hamlet-st, who was riding with him, suffered chest injuries and a broken right leg.

The eastbound auto went out of control, careened across the street, was struck by another car and then crashed through a fence.

The auto was hit broadside by a westbound car, then jumped the north curbing and knocked down the iron fence of the Columbus State Hospital grounds, Patrolmen Larry Sears and John Murray reported.

Treated for less serious injuries and listed in "good" condition were Mrs. Betty Harris, 32, Robert Oaley, 51, and John W. Harris, 31, all of Lexington, Ky. and Mrs. Fannie Joor 32, of Dayton, passengers in the other car, driven by Mrs. Joor's husband, James Joor, 27.

All were treated in Mt. Carmel Hospital where they were taken by firemen.

Scouts and Scouters of the Southwest District held their round-up at Madison Lake Saturday and Sunday. The round-up theme was carried out in traditional western style, complete with branding ceremony for all "doggies" (scouts) and "ranch hands" (scouters).

In conjunction with this Saturday evening campfire, Harry Drake, district organization chairman, told of his recent experience at Philmont, the Explorer Scout Ranch, at Cimmaron, N. Mex.

District round-up ribbons were presented Sunday afternoon to all participating units. Two additional streamers were awarded for outstanding troop camp sites. Troop 73, sponsored by Burgess Avenue EUB Church, won first place with 85 points while Troop 204 of Bellows Avenue Church of the Nazarene placed second with 83 points. Each participating scout received either the crusade lapel pin or the crusade neckerchief slide.

Robert Daggett Is New Legion Commander Here

Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion, elected Robert G. Daggett, 344 Belvidere-av, commander for 1949-50 at the annual election of officers.

Daggett, a World War II veteran, is a supervisor in the insurance division of the local Veterans Administration office.

Other officers elected were Marlo Smith, 1688 Wyandotte-rd, first vice commander; William Ferguson, 36 S. Hague-av, second vice commander; Carroll Balo, 2594 Valleyview-dr, adjutant; Robert Jones, 86 S. Ogden-av, finance officer; and John Martindale, 2009 W. Broad-st, chaplain.

Michael Austin, 34 Richards-rd, and Vernon C. Fiscus, 616 S. Terrace-av, were elected to the executive committee and Austin was elected to the permanent home committee, while Fiscus was elected to the two-year term as member of the executive committee of the Franklin County Council of the Legion.

Members serving on the election committee were Frank Morgan, chairman, Robert Hitchcock, Frank L. Heft, Jack Shafer and Dan Stout.

All newly elected officers with the exception of Jones and Austin are World War II veterans.

Commander Dewey A. Stout, 30 N. Wayne-av, announced the new officers will be installed Oct. 14. Post membership committee announced 125 members paid for 1950. This is 25 per cent of quota. The total membership for 1949 was 566.

New West High Teachers

Pictured above are five of the six new faculty members at West High School this year. In the front row are Mrs. Thelma Knerr, 272 Morrison-av, who teaches journalism, English and business advertising courses; and Mrs. Mosell Warren, 139 Clinton Heights-av, who is teaching commercial subjects.

Standing in the back row are Jim Brown, 121 S. Harris-av, a West High graduate returning to teach mathematics; Richard Teichert, 550 Milford-av, art teacher; and F. E. Bonar of Lima, who is teaching geography and English.

Not present when the picture was taken was Mrs. Margaret Pool, 345 W. Eighth-av, who is teaching girls' physical education classes. (Photo by Roland Sunker)

Cowboy Band Demonstrates New Formations In Opening Game Show

By Dave Miller

West High's 1949 marching band reported themselves formally for the first time this year when they entertained the overflow crowd at the Marion-West football game last Friday evening at Magly Field.

The band went through a fine list of formations, and for the first time they were under the direction of a new band leader, Clair Barnard. C. W. Bennett, band director for a number of years is now residing in Arizona.

For the opening of the game, a line of trumpets and drums formed at the north end of the field and while the rest of the band lined up on the sidelines, they played a fanfare, with the band coming together, at the middle of the field, playing West's fight song. Then they marched to the south end of the field, playing Marion's school song and returned to the north end of the gridiron, playing "Hail the Cowboys." Then they played the national anthem.

At half-time, the band came out on the north goal line, all in one line, and played a fanfare to the theme of their program, "Childhood Memories." The drum major, drum majorettes and twirlers then formed a bridge with their batons, and the band came through and down the field playing "London Bridge."

Then they formed a star, playing "Twinkle, Twinkle," with the lights out, and waving their hands across their hats, making their lights twinkle in true star-like fashion. From there the band made a huge clock, with a hand pointing to one o'clock, and they played "Hickery-Dickery Dock." The band then formed an egg, and played "Humpty-Dumpty", with the egg breaking up into pieces on the last beat of the song.

From there the band went into a formation "M" and played Marion's school song, and then reversed it to make a "W" and played the two Cowboy fight songs.

Band Parents Club Meets Wednesday

By Myron T. Seifert

The West High Band Parents Club will hold its initial meeting in Room No. 2 at West High School, Wednesday, Sept. 21, Mrs. Earl F. Cline, president, announced this week.

The meeting will be a "get acquainted" affair, Mrs. Cline said, and all parents and school friends are invited. Officers, in addition to Mrs. Cline, include: vice-president, Mrs. J. D. Fledderjohann; secretary, Mrs. Harvey Fenstermaker; and treasurer, C. B. Story.

Committees appointed to date are: ways and means: chairman, Mrs. Charles Pike, assisted by Mrs. T. R. Brownlee, Mrs. Paul Nippert and Mrs. John Davis; Telephone: chairman, Mrs. H. C. Graham, Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. G. S. Redick. Sunshine: chairman, Mrs. E. F. Thompson. Publicity: chairman, Mrs. H. R. Thompson. Tax stamp: chairman, Mrs. Emerson Thomen.

Unique both in organization and membership, the West High Band Parents Club is the only group of its kind in the city of Columbus.

Its organization stems from a group of parents of boys and girls in West High senior and junior bands and orchestras more than a decade ago.

Its purpose is to promote the development, spirit and morale of the West High School bands and orchestras as a Hilltop organization and to assist in providing uniforms, instruments and music for the band.

The club sells Christmas cards, sponsors the big variety show, and promotes some school dances following the football games.

The Band Parents entertain the band and orchestra members and their families with a Christmas party each year. Last year 500 attended the party. The chairman provided a large three tier cake in the school colors, the music of the school song decorating the cake, on top of which was a figurine of a band director with his baton.

Ruder Named To Pension Group

Frank N. Ruder, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Ruder, 452 Catherine-st, was recently elected to the advisory council of the savings and profit-sharing pension fund of the Sears, Roebuck Co. in Pasadena, Cal. He will represent approximately 3000 employes of the 19 stores on the Pacific Coast at meetings with the trustees and executive director of the fund in Chicago.

Ruder graduated from West High School in 1928 and went to Pasadena the same year. He last visited the Hilltop when he flew home to visit his parents and relatives last summer.

He expects to visit Columbus twice this year in conjunction with business trips to Chicago.

SKIDMORE HOLDS FAIR

Skidmore PTA will hold its annual school fair at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Sept. 23 at 1100 N. Hague-av. A fish pond, novelty booth and an auction will be among the features offered. Mrs. Margaret Shirtzinger, 3566 Brookside-blvd, is in charge.

$3000 Subscription Contest Gets Under Way Today

Today marks the official start of the big Hilltop Record subscription drive to determine the winner of the new Dodge four door sedan, the RCA Victor television set, the $250 grocery order and $150 in merchandise being given away by the Record in a prize list that will total well over $3000.

Prospective contestants are urged to submit their entries in the contest right away. As of this morning the actual number of starters totaled 15 candidates. This means that the field is still wide open and anyone can win.

The first list of candidates will be published in the Record on Thursday and the list will be added to during the next week.

Persons desiring more details regarding the contest and how they may win one of these big prizes or other cash awards are urged to turn to Page 8 of today's Record and read the full detailed set of rules then enter the contest at once in order to get off to an early start.

More than 6000 local families are eligible to renew their subscriptions and the list of prospects to whom new subscriptions may be sold is unlimited. Subscriptions may be taken anywhere in the city, county, state or nation.

The four door Dodge Meadowbrook sedan, valued at $2066, is on display at West Side Motors, Inc., 1350 W. Broad-st. This will be awarded as first prize in the contest which ends Nov. 14. Second prize of a $523 RCA Victor television set may be seen on display at Better Home Center, Robinson's, Westgate Electric, the Hilltop Bank or Seiler's.

Readers of the Record are urged to read the details of this contest and determine how easy it may be to win one of these very valuable prizes. No contestant can lose in the campaign since all of those who do not win the large prizes will be awarded 20% commission on the gross amounts they turn in.

The contest will get under way in full swing this week so if you are at all interested in earning a new car or other valuable prizes or cash better take time now to call the Record and get all the details.

Group Plans Night Races At Hilliards

A group to be known as the Columbus Trotting Association and headed by Carl Johndahl of Buffalo, N. Y., plans to conduct a 19-night meeting of harness races at the Franklin County Fair Grounds at Hilliards next summer.

The syndicate plans to purchase the interests of Sam Wiedrick of Chicago and his group, which also operated under the name of the Columbus Trotting Association.

Wiedrick's organization conducted a night meeting of harness races at the Hilliards track in June, 1948. It was a financial failure. A fall meet was planned by the Wiedrick group that year but was canceled.

The syndicate headed by Johndahl eventually hopes to enlarge the course from one-half to three-quarters mile.

ELECTS OFFICERS

The Older Youth Group of the Westgate Methodist Church held its annual election of officers Sunday night, Sept. 18, at the church. Those elected were as follows: president, Bob Cochran; vice-president, Bill Locke; secretary, Patti Holycross; and treasurer, Joyce Huegely.

Add New Teacher To W. Broad St. School Staff

Matilda Stuart, principal of West Broad Street School, has announced that a new teacher has been added to the staff of the school due to the large number of enrollments in the first grade.

Mable Grau, originally assigned to the second grade, has been transferred to the first grade, and Mrs. Lynn Baker, 179 N. Chase-av, has been added to the staff as a second grade teacher. She formerly taught at Southwood School.

'I'm Very Lucky To Be Alive' Says Hilltop Survivor of Noronic Disaster

5 Hilltoppers Return To City

"I guess I'm very lucky to be alive," Madge Bishop, 48 N. Roys-av, said today after returning to Columbus following a narrow escape on the ill-fated luxury liner Noronic at its Toronto pier.

"We were in our cabin sleeping when we heard the noise and noticed the smoke. We put on our housecoats and left the ship. our cabin was on the first deck and we were among the first to get off the ship," she said.

Miss Bishop was with her aunt, Mrs. Cora Sheron, 105 N. Warren-av, Mrs. Agnes Seidel, and Mr. and Mrs. V. Mietzler on the cruise. Miss Bishop said that they didn't realize how bad the fire was until they reached the dock and turned to see the boat in flames. She said that she had left the boat bare-footed and that a girl on the Kingston, a ship tied up next to the Noronic gave her her stockings to wear.

She had nothing but praise for the Red Cross and the Canadians who helped them in an interview with a Record reporter yesterday. "The Red Cross took our clothing sizes and got us all new clothes and furnished our train tickets home and tickets for our meals until we got here," she said. She said that they were sheltered in the King Edward Hotel until they left and that the management of the hotel served their meals in their room until they could get clothing.

Miss Bishop said that members of their party lost all of their luggage in the blaze, but did save their pocketbooks.

Clarence C. Clevenger, 37 S. Warren-av, and his wife, who returned home Sunday morning from Toronto, said they believe they were the last people to come off the ship alive.

Their cabin was the second one back of the front lounge on D deck. They had retired about 9 p. m. expecting to arise early Saturday to go shopping in Toronto.

Mr. Clevenger said both he and his wife are "sound sleepers." His wife was awakened, however, by a noise outside which they finally decided was a fire siren.

"We looked out and saw the whole sky aglow. I saw the Kingston lying alongside up in the same slip and thought the trouble was over there.

"My wife said, 'There's something wrong. We better get out of here'."

Mr. Clevenger said he put on his shoes and pulled his trousers over his pajamas and went out.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clevenger (Journal Photo)

"We saw firemen spraying water in the lobby. That is the first time I realized there was a fire on the ship. The firemen were startled when they saw us and yelled: 'Get out of here.'

"I asked, 'Which way?'

"They pointed to the rear of the ship. We started to run along the passageway and they threw water on us as we went along the 150 to 175-foot passageway. The ceiling was ablaze and embers were falling into the passageway.

"We reached the gangplank without seeing anyone except the firemen. I looked at the clock on the pier and it was 3:30."

The fire broke out shortly before 2:30 a. m. Saturday. The ship had been an inferno for more than an hour before the Clevengers awakened and made their escape.

Mr. Clevenger said his money was in his trousers pocket. That and the scant clothing they wore off the ship was all they saved. They shopped in Toronto for enough clothing to return home. Mr. Clevenger is a chemist at the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co.

Dolores E. Howells, 147 N. Ogden-av, and her friend, Ann Breech, were among the first passengers off the burning ship.

Miss Madge Bishop

Miss Howells, who arrived in Columbus early Monday, related that she heard some glass breaking and looked out the porthole

About Folks You Know

Goings — Comings — Doings
Of Your Hilltop Neighbors

By Helen James, Society Editor

We just received word from a group who call themselves "His old gang" that the Hilltop has lost a popular couple. Mr. and Mrs. William J. (Cap) Lewis, formerly of 590 S. Warren-av, have moved to Buckeye Lake. Mr. Lewis served 25 years with the city fire department and is now employed at the Armstrong Furnace Co. as a packaging engineer. Both Mr. and Mrs. Lewis have been past noble grands in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Says the "gang", "Cap" was "a civic-minded individual" and always ready to "lend a helping hand."

And Mr. and Mrs. Heston W. Hensley came in to tell us that they are changing their address from 101 S. Wayne-av to 23 N. Harris-av.

Camp Fire Girls Begin Donut Sale Sept. 17; Plan Skating Party

The Campfire Girls are announcing plans for a doughnut sale and a roller skating party.

Sale of the doughnuts was started Saturday, Sept. 17, and will continue through Sept. 30, on a house to house basis. The proceeds will help finance a new swimming pool at Camp Wyandotte.

The date for delivery of the doughnuts in the west district will be Oct. 8.

The Campfire Girls will hold their annual skating party Monday, Sept. 26 from 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. on Riverside-dr between Broad and Town-sts. The police will block the street in this area and also provide a sound truck for music. In case of rain the party will be held the following day in the same place.

Mr. Charles Is Feted At Birthday Dinner

L. M. Charles, 652 S. Harris-av, was honored with a surprise birthday dinner Sunday, Sept. 18 at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Keller Milless, 1964 Aberdeen-av. Guests at the dinner included the Milless family, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Charles and son, Denny, of 158 N. Powell-av, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Trott and sons, Richard and Charles, 574 Townsend-av, and Treva Charles of the Harris-av address.

Sharing honors with Mr. Charles, who was celebrating his 70th birthday, were his daughter, Treva, whose birthday was Sept. 13, his son-in-law, Mr. Milless, whose birthday was Sept. 17, and his grandson, Denny, whose seventh birthday was an event of Sept. 11.

MISS CRUM, MR. PERINI WED IN ST. ALOYSIUS AUGUST 20

Miss Merry Louise Crum became the bride of Mr. Peter Perini at 9 a. m. Saturday, Aug. 20, before an altar decorated with lighted candles with greenery and arrangements of white gladioli at St. Aloysius Church. Rev. Father William Maloney officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Crum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Crum, 310 S. Hague-av, and Mr. Perini's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Perini, New Village, N. J.

The bridal gown was fashioned of traditional white slipper satin with a bertha cuff edging the sheer net yoke, forming a brief cap sleeve. The bodice was princess slim to the waist, where hip paniers held the full skirt out in a Colonial silhouette. Large satin bows caught the skirt at each hip and the full skirt fell into a sweeping circular train. With her gown, the bride wore matching full length mitts.

Her veil of imported silk illusion was caught to her hair with a dainty lace pateau bonet, which tied under her chin with illusion streamers. The bonnet was trimmed with clusters of orange blossoms at each side and, attached to it, under the blusher veil, was a separate tier of matching lace, which fell gracefully over her shoulders.

Mrs. Richard Ewing, cousin of the bride, served as matron of honor in a chartreuse taffeta gown. The short fitted jacket of the gown concealed the strapless bodice, and the very full skirt was worn over a hoop. Her headdress was a small halo hat of matching taffeta and her gloves of sheer nylon were in an off-white shade. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses tied with green ribbon streamers.

Wearing frocks of flamingo taffeta, styled identically like that of the honor attendant, were the bridesmaids, Miss Jeanne Easton, Miss Elaine Taylor and Miss Marcella Taylor, also cousins of the bride, Miss Jane Brown and Mrs. Guy Ferrelli. They carried bouquets of ivory roses with pink centers. Their halo hats were in the same flamingo shade and they wore nylon gloves.

The little flower girls, Janis and Janet Harvey, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Harvey, wore white taffeta dresses and carried baskets of ivory, pink-centered roses and rose petals.

Mr. Perini's best man was his brother, Mr. Edward Perini, St. Augustine, Fla., and serving as ushers were Mr. Pandel Savic, Girard, Mr. Rodney Swinehart, Wooster, Mr. Jack Wilson, Xenia, Mr. Richard Ewing, and Mr. William Crum, cousin of the bride.

A noon breakfast at the Club Gloria followed the ceremony. To receive her guests at the evening reception at 1114 E. Broad-st, Mrs. Crum chose a brown sheer dress with which she wore pink accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue with white accessories and both mothers had corsages of purple orchids. Hostesses at the reception were Miss Dorothy Dehl and Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Cleveland.

For their trip to Atlantic City, the new Mrs. Perini changed to a green gabardine suit with wine accessories and pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet to her shoulder.

The former Miss Crum is a graduate of West High School and attended Ohio State University. She now is associated with the Ternstedt Division of the General Motors Corporation.

Mr. Perini, a graduate of Washington High School in New Village, is a junior at Ohio State. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity and Bucket and Dipper, junior men's honorary, and also of the varsity football team and will captain the baseball team next year.

Miss Helen Louise McNary Is Married To Mr. R. M. Laird Sept. 10 At Nuptial Mass

The Rev. Raymond Bauschard officiated at a nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony in St. Mary Magdalene's Church which was the setting for the marriage of Miss Helen Louise McNary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McNary, 714 S. Roys-av, and Mr. Robert M. Laird, son of Mr. Robert Laird and the late Mrs. Laird, 140 N. Warren-av, at 9:30 a. m., Saturday, Sept. 10.

Tall vases of gladioli were arranged among the candles on the altar and white satin bows with fern bordered the aisle through which the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her gown was of candlelight satin, fashioned with a net yoke and off the shoulder line, bordered with a scalloped fold of the material, with the full skirt falling into a wide circular train. The long satin sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her two-tiered three-quarter length veil was caught to a satin band held by clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade of white carnations.

Miss Margaret McNary was maid of honor for her sister and wore a gown of antique gold satin, fashioned similar to the bridal gown. A pleated head band and long mitts of matching color completed her costume. Her bouquet was of bronze daisy pompoms.

The two bridesmaids, Miss E. Luckhaupt and Miss Beth Wilxman, wore gowns and head bands of turquoise satin, styled identical to that of the maid of honor, and carried colonial bou-

Let's Talk Things Over

When Bob died, the neighbours fell to wondering what would happen to the family. He'd been a real family man, a steady earner, but he wasn't very old when the unexpected overtook him. It looked like disaster for the family. You see he'd recently built himself the nicest of homes and, of course, had made only a few payments on the mortgage. His eldest girl was going to high school, and the boy was looking forward to entering next year. The sudden death of Bob surely would end everything.

But it didn't. Of course, there was great grief, but much to everyone's surprise, the widow kept the home, the kids went to school, and the uprooting which everyone expected didn't come.

You see Bob believed in life insurance. He knew how important it was to create an immediate estate out of his small savings. He knew too that only life insurance could do this. Now Bob's widow receives a constant income; her home is paid for; and all because Bob realized that it was part of his responsibility to look after his lovely wife and family in the best way he knew how.

Let's talk things over today!

Rev. Herd, Rev. McClure Share Wayne Ave. Pulpit

Two congregations are sharing the same church at 166 S. Wayne-av. The congregation of Rev. Patrick Herd purchased the building from the congregation of Rev. O. G. McClure, which is constructing a new church on S. Whitethorne-av between Safford and Homewood-avs.

Rev. Herd's congregation had to vacate the rented property they had occupied at 2819 Sullivant-av, and the new church on Whitethorne-av is not completed so both congregations will share the Wayne-av church until the middle of October.

Both congregations belong to the Church of God.

West Drops Season Opener To Marion Harding 20-0

West High's Cowboys went down in defeat to a tough and rugged Marion Harding eleven last Friday evening at Magly Field, 20 to 0.

The Cowboys looked considerably better than they had previously on the defensive play, but the offense bogged down. Offensive star of the game was fullback Paul Ludwig, who lugged the pigskin around like an experienced veteran in the opening game of the season. The Cowboys' halfback Ronnie James and quarterback Bob Birle shared the spotlight in the offensive play for the locals.

A last minute touchdown pass interception on the final play of the game made the score look much larger against the Cowboys than it really was throughout the game. The Cowboys' tight defensive wall of Bob Tewell, Eddie Sensenbrenner, Bob Wilson, Jim Rudolph and Jack West made it pretty tough going for the visiting Presidents throughout the latter's offensive punch.

The Cowboys were either in the shadow of their own end zone, or midfield practically all game, with only a spurt in the third quarter, which sent the locals to the Presidents' 11-yard line, where they lost the ball on downs. This was the closest the Cowboys got to scoring against the up-state school.

Marion tallied a touchdown in the latter part of the opening period and another TD with an extra point in the mid-way period of the third quarter, and then scored again on the last play of the game.

The Westerners, who lost eight regulars by graduation from last season's team, showed lack of experience throughout the entire fray. The only regulars back from last year's team were end, Jim Rudolph; tackle, Cliff Voss; and center, Bob Epps, who played most of the game.

Dick McDermott, junior tackle of the locals, was one of the best defensive men on the line play. He was constantly breaking up Marion's end runs by getting through his man, Dick Bomar.

Marion received the opening kickoff and Paul Ludwig ran it from his own 39 to the 50-yard line. Big End Eddie Sensenbrenner smashed through to get Ludwig three yards behind scrimmage on the next play, and Marion just missed a first down when Jack Williams gained six to the West 42. However, Harding refused to kick on the fourth down, and Ludwig again attempted a first down drive, but failed, where West took over the ball with no scoring resulting. After a series of plays, Birle booted to the Cowboys' 48, where Marion started the drive that gave them the first touchdown of the game.

West then received the ball, and drove as far as the Marion 39, but there their rally bogged down when Jack Rinnert of the Harding eleven intercepted a Bob Birle pass intended for George Crissinger, and ran back to the West 24-yard line, just moments after the beginning of the second period.

No further scores were tallied in the first half.

Marion started the second drive for a touchdown with only three minutes elapsed in the third quarter. After West's first chance with the ball in the half bogged down on the Cowboys' 35, Birle punted to the Marion 45. Three straight end around plays by fullback Ludwig brought the ball to the West 11. Williams gained one through off-tackle, and Ludwig went for five up to the West four-yard line. Then a back pass in the backfield forced Jack Williams to fumble, and with West boys rushing in from all sides, when Williams suddenly picked up his interference from the 12-yard line, and went driving over for a TD, and Marion had taken a commanding lead when Jim Kennell place-kicked the extra point.

West got into some more "hot water", then on the next play of the game when Golden fumbled the kickoff, and Lloyd Williams recovered for Marion. A pass from Williams to Jack Cramer was incomplete, but Ludwig and Co. failed this time to get a first down, and Kennell booted out of bounds on the West three. And from there on until the end of the game was held in that hole.

A last-minute desperation pass was completed to the Marion 29, but another pass with two seconds remaining in the game was intercepted by Harry Dowler of Marion on his own 17, and he raced 83 yards downfield, untouched on the last play of the game to score. Kennell split the uprights with his boot and Marion went home happy, winning, 20 to 0.

Why Remember?

A little blue flower will be sold on the streets of this city Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23 and 24 to remind the citizens of our community that the war is not over for those veterans who were disabled as a direct result of war service. That little blue flower was chosen for its name. It is the Forget-Me-Not, a flower of remembrance. It has been the official flower of the Disabled American Veterans since that organization was formed in 1920. It is symbolic of the service performed by the DAV, in behalf of our war-time disabled veterans, their widows and their dependents.

The DAV has never forgotten the wars' disabled. It is our hope that you will never forget them. And the coin that you drop is the canister for the flower means that you haven't forgotten. The money that you contribute to the Forgot-Me-Not drive in Columbus goes in its entirety to help the war-time disabled in Columbus. It's your way of giving a little to those who gave a lot.

The DAV obtains much needed benefits for its war-time disabled veterans who in many cases are unable to find immediate employment. The DAV does not stop with the veteran. When his widow or his dependents are in need it untangles their problems and helps them get whatever assistance they are entitled to receive.

SYNOPSIS

In the Victorian library of his New England home, Proctor Barlow meditates on the life of his late sister, Elizabeth, whose funeral service is about to begin. She and her small daughter, Katherine, had lived under Proctor's roof, and his tyranny, ever since the failure of Elizabeth's marriage to charming though dissipated Marvell Coomes. The despised estranged husband arrives from a distant city "liquored" as usual.

CHAPTER TWO

PROCTOR removed the pastry box and helped him off with his coat. It was a spring topcoat, too thin for March, with two buttons missing. Proctor could see that he hadn't shaved for a day or so, that his shirt collar was grimy. "Over there on the couch." Marvell sank down on it gratefully. The walk from the station had been chilly and he had been apprehensive of Proctor, but now all this was smoothed away by the warmth and the whiskey. He smiled trustfully up into Proctor's face as he threw the robe over him. "Call me, will you?"

It seemed an interminable time to Proctor until Marvell's sighing little snores proved him asleep. Then Proctor went over to the sideboard, picked up one decanter. The other was empty. With his free hand he retrieved the pastry box from the desk. It was awkward opening the door, but he managed. He met Annie, the second maid coming down stairs. "Here," he said brusquely, "take these to the pantry." Annie smiled. They liked pastry in the kitchen and they only got it a few times a year and then it was always smashed up some.

When Proctor entered his bedroom on the third floor, he found Emily fussing over the new hat and the long black veil she had had made for the occasion. A faint, pleasant odor of violet sachet tickled his nostrils. He strode over to her, caught her arm and said, "Emily, Marvell has arrived. He's downstairs in the library, asleep. We've got to keep him out of sight. Will you see that the liquor is locked up? If he awakes, you'll have to stay with him until we leave. We haven't much time—Dr. Perry will be here in a few minutes." He was so upset that his words knocked against one another in haste.

"But if he insists upon going to Chestnut Hill?" she inquired. She was a small compact woman of the gentlest kind. Her pink face flushed readily. Her lightish hair was elaborately curled. Always sweet in manner, she had acquired an especial soothing tone for her husband's meetings with his brother-in-law.

"Well, he can't, not if I have to lock him in."

"I shouldn't do that, dear, he'd make a great fuss."

"Wouldn't you think that once in his life..." he broke off abruptly. Emily went on adjusting the veil. Her black dress increased her rosiness. Proctor found the room irritating. The brass bedstead glittered, the chintz flowers danced up and down their foliage, even the silver on the dressing table winked at him. There was a knock at the door. Annie poked her head in. "Dr. Perry, Mr. Barlow."

"I'll be down. Annie, you are to stay with Miss Katherine every minute till we return..."

"Yes, sir."

"Annie knows that, Proctor." Emily shook her head in quiet reproof of any kind of disturbance. She came over to him and put her hands on his shoulders. Then she took out from her cuff a lace edged handkerchief and made a dab at his forehead. "You're damp, dear."

"Damp!" He was outraged and shrugged her off.

She patted his arm. "It will all be over in a few hours, dear."

"Nothing will be over until that fool downstairs is out of this house. I ask for nothing but a little respect towards my sister. This is the end for him, you now, too." He said it with a vicious satisfaction.

"Dr. Perry, dear..." Proctor, forgetting the solemnity of the call, slammed the bedroom door on his heels.

As he went down the heavily carpeted stairs, he expected to meet Marvell at every landing. Dr. Perry was waiting for him in the reception room on the first floor. Even in the muted light of a sunless afternoon, it seemed alive with color.

On their honeymoon Proctor and Emily had gone abroad and Emily's eyes had fallen on a collection of Louis Seize pieces that she had with some difficulty persuaded Proctor to buy—white and gold upholstered in Chinese yellow damask. They had tried the furniture upstairs but the high ceilings had dwarfed the fragile chairs and sofa into doll's furnishings. In this smaller room with the afternoon sunlight, the pieces did not look out of place. Emily had given them a royal base of rich, purple carpet. In the midst of this feminine splendor stood a small, stocky man whose masculinity protruded even through his tight clerical collar.

"My dear Mr. Barlow," he murmured, holding out his hand. He had called upon them earlier to comfort them in their loss but he had a good store of sympathy on tap which he was prepared to pour forth seventy times seven if need be.

Proctor shook his hand silently and led him to the golden sofa set crosswise in a corner. "There are only one or two things—the services are private, as you know. Only a few friends. Elizabeth would want everything simple. The prayer book service, a psalm or two. We should prefer no words about her personal life."

Dr. Perry dropped his eyes. "A good wife and mother, a beloved sister." These were the perfunctory phrases. He knew little about her marriage though he himself had married her. But he knew the undercurrent of talk—an unstable husband, a small daughter.

"Perhaps she had a favorite poem?" he suggested.

"No, no," Proctor remembered her reading Mrs. Browning. "The twenty-third psalm, and perhaps Corinthians thirteen..."

Proctor spoke under his breath, "Love suffereth long and is kind ... She knew that." The feeling behind his words startled the minister. Beloved sister, indeed. He felt a little uncomfortable and turned away to fuss with his notes. They should go upstairs soon so that he might make himself ready.

There is nothing more to say, thought Proctor passionately. Nothing that anyone remembers but me. "Let me be married at home, Proc!" He could see her now, her pale face with its big blue eyes, wider than ever in happy anticipation. "It's so much more gay. A church will frighten all of us stiff." And, he grinning down on her—"Too many people coming, Liz." What would six ushers do in the drawing room? Five had been friends of his, the sixth some friend of Marvell's, a sandy-haired accountant from the office called "Doc" in a rented suit. He himself had been best man. He had had an overweaning pride in the little house they had first taken in Charles Street. How he had worried over the cheap apartment in Cambridge the year before Katherine's birth. And then she had come back—to her old blue room after father's death. How could he know what she was thinking, where she was really hurt. "Oh, Liz, Liz, it doesn't matter; you have me."

Dr. Perry touched his arm. "I think perhaps—"

"Oh, yes, shall we go up. I don't think it will rain now, do you?" As they passed through the hall, Proctor saw that the elder of the two maids was already stationed by the door to admit the first arrivals.

* * *

All through his fitful sleep Marvell kept hearing the murmur of voices. Once he dreamed he was walking on a side street in New York, jostled and cramped by a crowd whose throats seemed choked with soft sounds. Again, he was addressing a meeting and the cries and the boos of the audience rose to his ears in muffled wave on wave.

When he woke up, the room was heavy with shadows. At first he could not remember where he was. His head ached, his shoulders and legs were stiff. He stretched sleepily and the afghan slithered to the floor. "By God," he thought with a start, "the time." He got up too quickly and the corners of the room changed places. He waited a moment and then stooped to pick up the robe. It was terribly quiet. Not even a clock ticking. In the silence he could hear his own heart beating. Had they gone? He couldn't quite believe it until he walked out into the hallway which was even darker than the library and saw that the big double doors of the drawing room were open. So they had gone without him. He felt first a twinge of relief and then a sharp stab of anger at their high-handed treatment of him.

Mr. Richard Laird served his brother as best man and seating the guests were Mr. Richard Wynn and Mr. John Wynn.

A breakfast for the wedding party was held at Schmelzer's following the wedding by Mr. and Mrs. McNary. To receive her guests at the reception held at the home of the bride, Mrs. McNary wore a gown of gray crepe trimmed with wide bands of matching lace, navy accessories and a corsage of pink shattered carnations.

Hostesses for the reception were Miss Mary Haney, Miss Barbara Boyd, Mrs. Fred Saas and Miss Virginia Laird, sister of the bridegroom.

For their wedding trip to Washington, D. C., the bride changed to a beige gabardine suit with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of white glamellias.

The new Mrs. Laird is a graduate of St. Mary's of the Springs Academy and attended St. Mary's of the Springs College for two years. Mr. Laird is a graduate of West High School and attended Ohio State University, and is now serving in the navy as a journalist. He is stationed at Little Creek, Va.

Library To Have 'Great Books' Discussion Group

The "Great Books" discussion course, for which the Franklin County Librarians' Council began training leaders last winter, will be launched the week of Oct. 10.

Meeting places will be announced in the near future. Meanwhile potential Hilltop members are urged to register immediately with Mildred Phalor at the Hilltop Branch Library, 721 N. Hague-av.

Registration involves no fee, but everyone must have a copy of the books to be discussed. Books may be read at the Hilltop Branch Library.

Previous schooling, or lack of it, has no connection with the course.

The course, launched 27 years ago by Novelist John Erskine, and later advocated by Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, chancellor of the University of Chicago, now has participating groups throughout the nation. Housewives constitute the largest single group, slightly outnumbering professional men and women.

Camp Fire Girls Elect Officers

The To-O-Ka Campfire Girls held their first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Richard Wright, guardian. Election of officers was held.

The new president is Carol Irion, and new vice-president, Frances Wright. Other officers are Nancy Schoulten, secretary; Merrillyn Thompson, treasurer; Shirley Miller, telephone chairman, and Katherine Thomas, scribe.

Mrs. Murnane (the former Dorothy Mitchell) is kept very busy these days by Ronnie, age 2½, and Eileen, 1 year old.

"More Bargains Than Ever In the Twice a Week RECORD"

was the remark made by Mrs. Paul Murnane, 640 Butler Ave.

"Having a home and family of my own makes me appreciate why mother used the Record as a money saving guide when the family was at home."

"I read the Record page by page to find out where to save on the things we need, and enjoy reading the chatty news about my friends on the Hilltop," says Mrs. Nurnane.

WIN $5,000.00 in PRIZES

Just Mark These 12 Puzzle Pictures "Right or Wrong"! IT'S EASY! IT'S FUN!

Here's your chance to win a valuable prize and at the same time help the Community Chest by learning more about the splendid work of its various agencies.

Here's all you have to do:—

1. Study the 12 pictures below.
2. Read the statement under each picture.
3. Decide whether or not the statement is completely correct.
4. Check your answers "✓ Right" or "✓ Wrong" on the coupon at the lower right-hand corner of this page.
5. Write a suggested slogan for the Community Chest, in 10 words or less. Space for the slogan is provided on the coupon.
6. Sign your name and address, clip the coupon and mail it along with One Dollar to the Advertising Council of the Columbus Advertising Club (which is sponsoring the contest), P.O. Box 1767, Columbus, Ohio, or deposit in box at Trailer, McKinley's Monument, State House grounds.

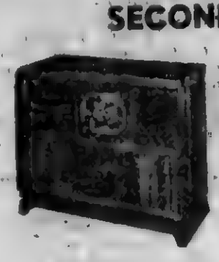
Simple, isn't it? It's a good test, too, of how alert you are in knowing about the fine work that the Community Chest agencies are doing.

Here's a good tip on the slogan: Be sure it reflects the fact that the Community Chest is composed of 66 agencies, each of which helps make our city and county better places in which to live. Example:—"One gift helps sixty-six." "Your gift is a lift for all sixty-six."

In case any of the picture puzzles should really stump you, there's an easy way to find the right answer. Just visit any of the Red Feather Agencies listed below and ask for the folder titled "Your Red Feather Services." It describes the work of every one of the Red Feather Agencies.

So don't waste a minute. Enter now. Contest closes Oct. 8, 1949.

FIRST PRIZE!

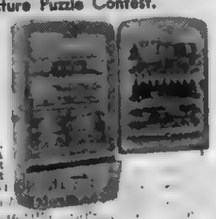


NEW 1949 4-DOOR

CHEVROLET

Think of yourself at the wheel of this fine car! Then consider the added thrill of knowing you won it by spending just a few minutes of your time working on the interesting Picture Puzzle Contest. You'll not only have brought a lot of added pleasure into your own life, but you'll have learned a lot about the good work of the Community Chest. So set your sights right away on this Chevrolet!

SECOND PRIZE!



Philco TELEVISION

Completely Installed

There's no place like home—with a Philco television set in the house. And there's no easier way to get it than by a winning entry in the Community Chest Picture Puzzle Contest.

THIRD PRIZE

Crosley Shelvador Refrigerator

1950 Model, 9-cubic feet capacity. Many new food-saving features. A fine prize for someone who'll start at once to use the Puzzle Contest "on ice."

FOURTH PRIZE

Tappan Gas Range

The newest model with the automatic oven that makes cooking and baking so much easier.

FIFTH PRIZE

G. E. Home Freezer

Eight cubic feet, 36-pound capacity. Hermetically sealed; 5-year warranty. Get hot in the contest and win this cold item.

SIXTH PRIZE

Ironrite Ironer

Irons anything that can be washed. Two open ends. A few minutes spent on the puzzle picture can save you hours of ironing drudgery.

SEVENTH PRIZE

Bendix Automatic Washer

Washes, rinses, dries. Your laundry days become just a push-button operation.

EIGHTH PRIZE

Baseball Passes

Two season passes to the Red Bird Stadium for the 1950 baseball games.

NINTH PRIZE

Lonergan Oil Heater

Enjoy a cleaner, more healthful home. Oil heat means a more uniform temperature; helps the family avoid colds and sniffles.

TENTH PRIZE

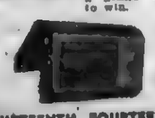
Norge Water Heater

52-gallon capacity—more than enough for the average family. Electrically-operated. Turn the heat on those picture puzzles and try your luck.

ELEVENTH PRIZE

Bulova Watch

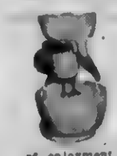
21-jewel, 14-carat gold case. If you're as accurate in the contest as this watch is in giving the time, you've got a grand chance to win.



TWELFTH PRIZE

Portable Sewing Machine

Has full-size sewing head, yet is easily carried from room to room. Better start sewing up this one right now.



THIRTEENTH, FOURTEENTH, FIFTEENTH, SIXTEENTH AND SEVENTEENTH PRIZES

Philco Portable Radios

Be one of the lucky five who will each receive this handy portable. Covers, plastic, with hand-tooled leather case. Instant, clear reception.

EIGHTEENTH AND NINETEENTH PRIZES

Westinghouse Mixers

Each has a juicer and is kitchen-tested. And you can squeeze a lot of enjoyment out of your spare time by testing your knowledge of the Community Fund agencies.

TWENTIETH PRIZE

Sunbeam Coffeemaster

Brews 8 full cups. Lasts a lifetime, easy to clean. See if you can cook up the right set of answers to the puzzle pictures.

TWENTY-FIRST AND TWENTY-SECOND PRIZES

Spiedel Watch Bands

The popular "Sir Galahad" models that enhance the looks of your [illegible]. As durable as they are smart. Be one of the two watch band winners.

1. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

Many types of cancer can be cured if discovered in time. The Cancer Clinic, a Red Feather Agency, will examine any person free of charge.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

2. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

Boy Scouts younger than 11 are called "Cubs." Boy Scouts older than 18 are called "Eagles." To advance in Scouting, a boy must do a good turn of three times around the block every day.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

3. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

Camp Fire Girls are Girl Scouts who have passed a test proving they can kindle a fire by rubbing sticks together. Franklin County membership totals 2241 Camp Fire Girls and 2982 Girl Scouts.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

4. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

The Instructive District Nursing Association, a Red Feather agency, made 62,129 nursing care visits in Franklin County homes last year. It also examined 2,085 children in day nurseries, kindergartens and for summer camps.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

5. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

17,996 War Veterans and dependents were advised and assisted by the Veterans Service Council which helps veterans of all wars with all veteran problems.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

6. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

The Salvation Army provides relief to needy local and transient men and women. Among other fine services rendered, the Salvation Army gave 25,901 nights' lodging to transients last year and served 91,336 meals.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

7. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

"Teen Age" Clubs are the handiwork of youths participating in the 11 Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. organizations in Franklin County. "Teens" are raised from either seedlings or slips. Some of the better "Teen Age" Clubs are masterpieces of craftsmanship.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

8. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

Fees, if charged by any Community Chest agencies, cover only a portion of the actual cost of providing services. The Community Chest makes up the difference. In no instances are individuals or families deprived of needed services because of inability to pay.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

9. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

Agencies which concern themselves with the problems of the physically handicapped include Goodwill Industries, Columbus Hearing Society, Columbus Association for the Blind and the Salvation Army Men's Rehabilitation Lodge.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

10. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

There are 66 agencies in the Community Chest. When you make a Community Chest contribution, you are giving through the Community Chest to all 66 Red Feather agencies. Because you give to 66 agencies, you should give more.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

11. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

There are nine settlements and community neighborhood houses in the Community Chest. Membership or participation is limited to pioneer families settling in Columbus before the year of 1850.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

12. Community Chest Cartoon Contest

There are seven day nurseries in the Community Chest. Only a nominal charge, based upon ability to pay, is made to those leaving their youngsters at these nurseries.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

CONTEST RULES and EXPLANATION

1. $60000 in prizes will be awarded in accordance with the instructions, official prize lists and these rules, to the contestants who have the greatest number of correct answers to the right and wrong puzzle pictures.
2. To be checked "Right," every fact in each statement under each of the 12 pictures must be correct. If any part of the statement is wrong, check your answer "Wrong."
3. Prizes awarded are those listed on this page. All have been contributed.
4. To enter, a contestant must send in with his set of answers to the puzzle pictures a donation of $1.00. All monies collected in excess of contest handling costs will be donated by the Advertising Council to the Community Chest. Contestants may send in as many sets of answers as they wish, but each coupon must have a dollar with it. Extra reprints of this page may be secured free of charge at any Red Feather Agency or this newspaper office.
5. In the event of a tie, which seems likely since many Columbus people know a lot about the Community Chest, winners will be decided on the merits of the Community Chest slogan, of ten words or less, which must be submitted with each entry. In case one or more persons tie, or have identical winning slogans, duplicate prizes will be awarded.
6. This contest is open to anyone except employees of the Community Chest, its affiliated agencies, and members of the Advertising Council and their families. Volunteer Community Chest workers are eligible.
7. The Advertising Council of the Columbus Advertising Club will appoint a board of judges after the contest closes. Opinion of the judges will be final.
8. This contest is being sponsored by the Advertising Council of the Columbus Advertising Club to stimulate further interest in the fine work of the Community Chest.
9. All entries must be postmarked before midnight October 8, 1949. Winners will be announced November 6, 1949.

Here's how easy it is to get the right or wrong puzzle answers:

The Family and Children's Bureau offers skilled service and guidance on Problems of family relationship, marital discord and child behavior. Other Red Feather agencies doing a similar type of work are Catholic Welfare Bureau and the Jewish Welfare Federation.

RIGHT OR WRONG?

By checking the Red Feather directory available at any one of the 66 Agencies you'll find the Family and Children's Bureau does offer skilled service on family problems. So do the Catholic Welfare Bureau and the Jewish Welfare Federation. As every part of the statement is correct, you would mark your answer:—[X] RIGHT

New Owner, New Name For Hilltop Beauty Salon

"Chat-'N-Curl" is the new name given to the beauty salon at 2656 W. Broad-st by Karl Franklin, the shop's new owner.

The new manager of the shop is LaVerne Crego. Miss Crego had a shop of her own in 1940-41 and worked in a downtown shop until her appointment as manager of the new salon. She lives at 241 Midland-av.

One of the new pieces of equipment at the shop is a Needle Fleet Wave permanent wave machine. Miss Crego said that they will also carry all makes of cold waves. Wanona Duncan is employed as an operator at the salon.

Miss Crego announced that the salon will be open during the evening on Thursday and Friday by appointment.

of the cabin she occupied with Miss Bresch.

"I saw a red glow in the sky and thought a warehouse near the dock might be on fire so I awakened Ann and said: 'Let's go to the fire'."

She said they put on their clothing and left their cabin. Only then did they discover the ship was on fire. They hurriedly went back to their cabin and picked up most of their clothes and ran off the ship.

Chevrolet To Be Given In Community Chest Contest

Special trailer headquarters are open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on the State House grounds to help thousands of central Ohioans enter the big new Columbus Community Chest cartoon contest now under way, in which $5,000 in prizes will be given away in 22 winners. First prize is a deluxe new Chevrolet sedan.

Community Chest headquarters, all 66 Red Feather agencies, or The Hilltop office can be contacted for information and they will provide reprints of contest pictures and rules and hand out copies of the Red Feather directory which contains all the correct answers to the puzzle pictures. The contest closes midnight, Oct. 8.

To enter the cartoon contest, entrants must mark "right" or "wrong" on the 12 cartoons that show the work of some Red Feather agencies, write a slogan of 10 words or less describing Community Chest services, and attach one dollar entry fee. All funds above contest handling costs go to the Community Chest and slogans will be used in deciding ties. Entries should be mailed to Post Office Box 1767 or taken to the trailer headquarters.

Other top prizes include a Philco television set, a Crosley Shelvador refrigerator, a Tappan gas range, a General Electric home freezer, an Ironite ironer, a Bendix washer, a Lonegran oil heater, a Norge water heater, a New Home portable sewing machine, two Westinghouse electric mixers, five Philco portable radios, a Bulova wristwatch, two season passes to the 1950 Red Bird games, a Sunbeam vacuum coffee-maker and two Epeidel watch bands.

Anyone is eligible to enter except employes of the Community Chest and its affiliated agencies and members of the Advertising Council and their families.

D.A.V. Flower Sale Sept. 23, 24

The Disabled American Veterans of Columbus, will hold its annual Forget-Me-Not Drive on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23 and 24.

Mrs. Frank Lausche is the honorary chairman, assisted by Wayne McClung, commander of DAV, Chapter No. 3, and Mrs. Blanche Scott, commander of the Auxiliary.

The little blue flower will be offered for sale on the streets by members of the Auxiliary, assisted by girls from the Junior and Senior High Schools of the city. Mayor Rhodes in his proclamation stated: "May every citizen be prompt and generous in his giving in exchange for a Forget-Me-Not." The slogan for the drive is "Give a little for those who gave a lot."

In The Hilltop Record Subscription Drive
Contest Starts Today -- Closes Nov. 14

HOW TO ENTER CONTEST

This contest is being sponsored by The Hilltop Record in order to increase the Record subscription list thus providing local business firms and individuals with an even better local advertising medium. It is the belief of the Record management that one large campaign of this type will be far more effective in acquainting more and more people with this newspaper than otherwise might be possible with sales effort of smaller magnitude.

Every contestant entering the race has nothing to lose and everything to gain. Everyone will receive payment for all the subscriptions he or she turns in. No one can lose. This is not a drawing or lucky number contest but is based entirely on sales effort and the popularity of the various contestants.

In order to enter the campaign just clip the coupon on this page, fill it out and mail to the Record office, or better yet, come to the Record office in person and enroll.

When you have entered your name you will receive full instructions and the necessary supplies as well as numerous good leads on possible sales as well as other helps in making the contest interesting as well as profitable. You then will call upon your friends and neighbors, acquaintances everywhere and ask them to subscribe to the Record. You will be surprised how easy it is to get the subscriptions and how many people will soon become interested in the campaign and offer their help by soliciting their friends too.

The prizes will all be awarded on the basis of points received in the drive. A schedule of these points is printed in this ad.

Take the time now to study this list of points and make up your mind you want that new four door Dodge sedan, the fine RCA Victor television set or one of the other prizes totaling over $5000 in value. It is important that you make up your mind soon, enter right away and receive your subscription blanks and supplies so you can get right to work.

Just think: If you win the new Dodge valued at over $2100 it would mean you would be earning an average of over $360 per week for the next seven weeks. Isn't this worth putting some real effort behind? And someone is going to win just that very same Dodge, the $580 RCA television set and the other valuable prizes . . . and remember you just can't lose because regardless of where you finish in the race you will receive a 20% commission on your sales if you have not received one of the major prizes.

Send in your entry blank right now . . . be one of the first to enter the campaign—and make up your mind to win that first prize!

5 Years	$12.00	7500 Points	6500	5000

The above schedule of rates and points to be awarded will not be altered during the Contest. One half the above points will be given for renewal subscription. A renewal is considered to be any subscriber who is at present receiving the paper either by mail or by carrier or anyone who has been a subscriber in the period thirty days previous to September 20, 1949.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. Anyone residing in the City or surrounding territory is eligible to enter the Contest.
2. No salaried employee of The Hilltop Record or member of his family is eligible to enter. This does not apply to correspondents.
3. Contestants will be required to make weekly reports to The Hilltop Record and turn in all money and subscription orders taken to the date of reporting.
4. The two main prizes will be awarded not later than November 17 and announced in that day's issue of the Hilltop Record and an announcement will be printed showing the exact final standing of each contestant.
5. The winners will be the persons who have earned the most points for turning in both new and renewal subscriptions to The Hilltop Record.
6. Contestants may secure subscriptions anywhere in Franklin County, Ohio, and the U. S. A. Only subscription orders accompanied by cash, checks, or money orders will be accepted.
7. Subscribers will be aiding their favorite contestant by giving him or her an order for a subscription. Points in the Contest will be allowed to the person writing the subscription order. A subscriber may not change his or her order after it is once given to a contestant.
8. In event of a tie for any prize an award of identical value will be given the contestants who are tied.
9. Each contestant not receiving one of the major prizes will be awarded 20% of gross receipts he or she has turned in at the conclusion of the Contest. To be eligible for payment of 20% commission at the conclusion of the Contest each participant must turn in at least $5 in subscription revenue each week of the Contest.
10. Any contestant failing to make a report and settlement in full for subscriptions sold to date on each weekly report period will become disqualified and will forfeit all rights to a prize or cash commissions.
11. Points are not transferrable. No contestant will be permitted to withdraw and turn his points over to another contestant. All points will be cancelled should a contestant withdraw from the Contest.
12. Any question of collusion will be settled by the management of The Hilltop Record and an advisory board. Any decisions of this group are final.
13. Contestants will provide each customer with a temporary receipt and will be responsible for turning in an equal amount to The Hilltop Record. Official receipts will be mailed each subscriber from The Hilltop Record Office showing exact amount paid and expiration date of the subscription.
14. There will be strict adherance to the rules of this Contest published herein. The Record will not be responsible for any promises made by a contestant not contained in these rules and regulations.
15. Reports of the standings of the contestants may be published during the Contest up to the fifth week, thereafter all reports will be placed in a sealed ballot box to be placed in the vault of the First Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n, where contestants will make their final reports. In this way no one will know the standing of the contestants as the Contest draws to a close.
16. Each contestant must sign an agreement that he or she understands the above rules and agrees to abide by them.
17. A subscription made out to a different name at a present subscriber's address will be counted as a renewal.

Best Wishes To New Hilltop Lions Club

Here's to success for the newly organized Hilltop Lions Club. We wish them well in their new organization and may their opportunities for service to the Hilltop be many.

That this is the second large service club to become established in the community is proof again of the growth of the Hilltop and the opportunities for expansion here.

Back The Contestant Of Your Choice

Today the Record is publishing the list of first entrants in the big subscription drive now under way. The drive is now under way in full swing and promises to become more and more interesting from week to week.

Contestants are keeping the telephone wires hot, are pounding the pavements and are lining up support of their friends all over the country.

It is not too late to enter the campaign and still be a winner. The surface has merely been touched. It is anybody's race.

The Record will publish standings of the various contestants from time to time during the campaign.

Individuals may support any candidate they favor. If after looking over the list you desire to assist any one of the group why not give that person a call right away and advise of what support you desire to offer.

We sincerely believe we have a good list of candidates and any one of them might finish in top place. At this point we would make no bets as to the outcome. It is an open race.

26. Rev. J. Ashburn, Jr., 300 S. Oakley-av.

Other prospective candidates have been interviewed and additional names will be announced as they enter the campaign.

It is still not too late to enter this big campaign. A grand opportunity still awaits any candidate in view of the very large territory in which prospects may be lined up. More than 6000 local families are eligible for renewals during the next 10 months and in addition several thousand new ones are available.

First grand prize in the contest will be a Dodge Meadowbrook four-door sedan valued at $2066, now on display at West Side Motors, Inc., 1350 W. Broad-st.

Second grand prize will be the RCA Victor television set, completely installed and with a one-year service guarantee, all valued at $526. This is available from either Hilltop RCA dealer, Better Home Center, Westgate Electric or Robinson's.

Third prize will be a $250 order for groceries from any Hilltop food store advertising in the Record. Fourth prize will be $150 in merchandise.

Every contestant will win, however, since each one not receiving one of the top prizes will be awarded 20% in cash commissions on all subscriptions they turn in during the campaign. This means that each time a candidate writes an order for a $2.75 subscription to the Record he or she will make 55c. It is easy for a good salesman to make up to $2 or more per hour at this job during the day or of evenings.

Further details pertaining to the contest and points to be awarded may be obtained in the full page ad on page 3B of the Record today.

Kiwanis Nominees Announced

Results of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club primary election were announced today by the nominating committee. Candidates chosen in the primary election will appear on the ballot when Kiwanians elect officers Oct. 6.

Phillip V. Stout, who was unopposed in the primary election, will be the only candidate for president of the club.

Twelve were to be nominated for directors of the club, but 13 names will appear on the ballot due to a three-way tie for tenth position in the nominations.

Those nominated are:

For first vice-president: Harold D. Cramer and E. G. Witherspoon.

For second vice-president: Harold Fox and C. C. Hartley.

For treasurer: Sam Alford and Elmer Hegenberger.

For directors: Russell L. Carter, Harold Cunningham, Leren C. Galloway, Fred M. Marsch, E. O. Melvin, James W. Miles, Sr., Lew G. Rausch, C. R. Roberts, John Willis Slyth, Roger F. Strauss, Bruce A. Tanner, Fred Warden, and George Williams.

B. McLain Is Beacon Light Golf Winner

Barney McLain won the second annual Beacon Light Golf Tourney and a year's possession of the Seiler Trophy this week by defeating Carl Dale 3-2 in the championship finals.

Both McLain and Dale will also receive permanent trophies, and permanent trophies will also be presented to the winner and runner-up in the consolation matches. The presentation will take place at the club's annual roundup, Oct. 2.

Three games remain to be played in the consolation match. Earl Carper, last year's winner, will meet Russ McLain and Ed Cockfield will play Dick Murray. The two winners will then play in the consolation finals.

For permanent possession of the Seiler Trophy, it must be won three times.

GETS MASTER'S DEGREE

Lucille Kirchner, 566 Columbian-av, received the degree of Master of Arts at the September Commencement at the Ohio State University. Miss Kirchner, whose field of specialization is economics, received her bachelor's degree summa cum laude at Ohio State in 1947.

FAREWELL SERMON

Friday's football game between West and Upper Arlington will be one of three West games broadcast over station WVKO under the sponsorship of Sparks-Kent Market and the David Davies Packing Co. Other games throughout the season will be sponsored by the Ronus Graf Furnace Co. and Young's Dairy.

A football game will be broadcast each week between Sept. 23 and Nov. 10, and the Armistice Day game between Grandview and Arlington on Nov. 11 will be broadcast.

Games that will be broadcast are: West at Arlington, Sept. 23; West at North, Sept. 30; Bexley at Grandview, Oct. 7; Aquinas at Linden, Oct. 14; North at Linden, Oct. 21; Linden at Bexley, Oct. 27; North at South, Nov. 4; Aquinas at West, Nov. 10; Grandview at Arlington, Nov. 11.

BOOSTERS MEETING

President Lee Weigand announced that the second fall meeting of the Booster Club will be held at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Sept. 22, in Rom 101 at West High School. All members are urged to attend.

Mt. Union People Meet

Mt. Union College Alumna and Mt. Union Women held a joint picnic but separated for individual meetings Monday, Sept. 19, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Herbert Haldy, 245 N. Powell-av. Mrs. Grover Woodin presided at the meeting of the Women and Rev. Raymond Hibbard led the meeting of the Alumna. Dr. W. Stanley, new area secretary of the Methodist Church and former professor at Mt. Union, was speaker.

Plan Party For Hilltop Halloween

Mrs. Earl Abram, secretary of the Hilltop Community Council, announced today that the council will again sponsor the Hallowe'en party for Hilltop youngsters.

All Hilltop organizations are invited to participate or help in the presentation of this party. Those interested should contact Mrs. Abram by phoning RA. 9625.

Arrangements have been made with Principal I. F. Young and the board of education to hold the party at West High School on Oct. 31, Hallowe'en night.

The general chairman in charge of the arrangements will be Elmer Hegenberger. He will be assisted by Averille Thora, Mrs. Abram and Mrs. Edward Thompson.

Further arrangements for the party will be announced as they are completed.

PAPER DRIVE PLANNED

West Mound Elementary School PTA will hold a paper drive Sept. 23 and 24. A truck will be in the school grounds from 4 p. m. Friday to Saturday noon for collecting. Any further information may be secured by calling Mrs. Walter Groezinger, RA. 2728.

ATTEND JOINT MEETING

Hilltop Kiwanis Club will have representatives present at the joint meeting of Lions and Kiwanians at Seneca Hotel next Monday noon. Eugene C. Pullium, publisher of the Indianapolis Star News, will be the speaker.

Church School Will Sponsor Youth Program

The Hilltop Lutheran Church School will again sponsor a Children of the Church program this year, which will begin Saturday, Sept. 24, from 2 to 4 o'clock, and continue every other Saturday until the end of May, at which time awards will be given for perfect attendance.

It will be open to all Hilltop children of pre-school and elementary school age.

The program includes Bible study, handwork and occasional treats of movies and refreshments. The free-will offerings are given to support various mission fields. The general theme of the Bible studies this year will be "The World God Gives Us," which includes an extensive study of nature.

Saturday, the program includes registration, and as a special added feature James Seagle, 78 S. Richardson-av, of the fire department emergency squad, will speak to the children on "Safety."

The staff this year is as follows: Mrs. John Ricker, leader; Mrs. Leo Wildermuth, Mrs. William Conrad, nursery; Mrs. William Hallsteine, Mrs. Herb Pfaltsgraf, Curtiss Steele, Charles Price, Mrs. W. C. McNutt, primaries; Mrs. Mary Price, Mrs. Hugh McCreight, beginners; Mrs. Karl Kruckeberg, Mrs. Carl Lucas, Herb Pfaltsgraf, Pastor Olson, juniors; Barbara Lee Barbee, pianist; and Charlene Bowers, assistant.

Approve Annexation Of Joan Heights

Petition Goes To City Council For Final Action

The petition to incorporate Joan Heights subdivision into the city of Columbus has been sent to the city clerk by the Franklin County Commissioners following passage of the petition by the commissioners.

No protests to the annexation were made Tuesday at the court house when a public hearing was held on the petition. The petition was passed unanimously by commissioners Nathan McCoy, Harry T. Vigor and C. P. Lauderbaugh.

City council must take action on the petition now within 60 days. Councilman Henry Koontz, 485 Hiltonia-av, formerly announced his approval of the petition.

Preliminary steps in the annexation were taken last July when a petition signed by 77 per cent of the freeholders of the subdivision was submitted to the county commissioners.

Initiators of the petition said that most of the residents worked in Columbus and paid the city income tax and believed they should receive the same benefits as Columbus residents.

Gas lines were being installed for the subdivision, but they did not have city water lines or sewage and refuse collection facilities.

Joan Heights contracted with the Columbus Fire Department for fire protection under a plan whereby they paid a standby fee plus charges for each fire run, dependent upon the amount of equipment used. However, fire fighters were hampered by lack of water.

Three lives have been lost in fires in the subdivision during the past 20 months.

The subdivision extends north from the city limits between Algonquin and Sylvan-avs to Valleyview-rd. About 75 families live in the area, of which approximately two-thirds own their own homes.

Mrs. Mary Slane Buys Gift Shop

The Ritzman Gift Shop, 2490 W. Broad-st, has recently been purchased by Mrs. Mary Slane, who has renamed the shop The Vogue. The store is open for business during remodeling, but a grand opening will be held in the near future.

Mrs. Slane has been a Hilltopper for many years and was recently associated with Montaldo's. The sale was handled by Rankin-Johnson & Co.

Grand Jury Indicts Wm. Spratley

William H. E. Spratley, 106 N. Ogden-av, was indicted Wednesday by the Franklin County Grand Jury in the hit-skip traffic deaths of two Briggsdale children, Aug. 31.

The indictment followed the Columbus CIO Council's acceptance of Spratley's resignation as its president. His resignation as chairman of the County Political Action Committee had been accepted earlier.

Spratley was charged with second degree manslaughter in the deaths of 16-year-old Sadie Moore and her brother, Larry, 3, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Vanity Moore, 1570 Harrisburg-pk; driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor; reckless operation; speeding; and unlawfully leaving the scene of the accident.

The Moore children were among a dozen boys and girls returning from a drive-in theater when the automobile driven by Spratley rounded a curve in the road and struck them. Two others were injured.

Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett said he had turned over the prosecution of the case to his assistant, Henry Holden. After Spratley is arraigned Thursday, Sept. 29, his trial will be set for the earliest possible date, Holden said.

Holden conducted the investigation for the prosecutor's office.

Sprately was arrested at his home several hours after the accident. Afterwards, he said he remembered nothing because of a head injury suffered when he and a companion were ejected from a grill in Harrisburg-pk.

Spratley is married and is the father of a married daughter and a young son. He was serving his third term as CIO Council president.

Athletic Banquet Committee Named

Committee members from three Hilltop organizations and West High School were named today to plan the all-athletic banquet for West High athletes.

George Williams and Arthur Bateman will represent West High School on the committee; Joe Briggs and Alva Nafzger will represent the Hilltop Business Association; Virgil Cline and Harold Cramer will represent the Hilltop Kiwanis Club; and Robert Case and Wesley Edstrom will represent the West High Boosters Association.

Legion District Conference Set For October 2

The annual fall conference of District 12, American Legion Department of Ohio, will be held on Sunday, Oct. 2, at Southway Post Club, located on S. High-st at Whittier-st.

Department Commander Bruce Henderson of Warren will be the guest speaker. Commander Henderson is the first veteran of World War II chosen to guide the destinies of the Ohio Legion.

Committee chairmen will report on their program for the new Legion year. Registration will open at 10 a. m. under the direction of District Adjutant William E. Brothe. The morning session will be called to order by District Commander D. Clarke Finneran, 211 S. Eureka-av. Other officers assisting are Chaplain Ray Coss and Sergeant-at-Arms Russell Shade.

Dinner will be served at Southway Post at noon with the afternoon session scheduled to start at 1 p. m. All veterans of both World Wars are welcome to attend and bring their lady friends.

Tennis Club Completes Summer Activities

* * *

The Westgate Tennis Club will end its summer activities with a combination wiener roast and club handicap tennis match at Westgate Park Sunday.

The big event of the season was when the club played host for the city clay court championship matches this summer. Many of the better known tennis players of the Middle West participated in this meet, including a large number of players from the Ohio State University tennis team. The match was sponsored by the city recreation department.

The team played two matches with the Westerville Tennis Club, both of which they won. A contest was also played among the team members. Dick Slager was the final winner of these matches.

William E. Sherker is president of the club, which was organized in 1944. Francis Harvey is the secretary-treasurer and Lee Dienst is the social chairman. Top social function of the club was a buffet lunch and dance at the La-Salle Hotel, Aug. 31. Dienst and Pat Tonti planned this year-end party.

F. W. Slager supervised the courts this summer, and Dick Merriman took care of them.

Kiwanis Nights At Old Trail Will Feature Stanwyck Movie Premiere

Purchasers of Hilltop Kiwanis Movie tickets will get a chance to see the Ohio-Indiana-Kentucky premier of "The Lady Gambles" at the Old Trail Theater Wednesday, Sept. 28.

The movie shown on the first two nights, Sept. 26 and 27, will be "Roseanna McCoy," the story of the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud. When purchasing your tickets, it would be wise to buy enough to see both features.

Theater critics have acclaimed "The Lady Gambles" for its realism. The plot probes the secrets of the mind of a woman to find the baffling answer to why she wrecks her life gambling at roulette and dice. The lead is played by Barbara Stanwyck.

A screen headliner for 20 years, Miss Stanwyck has never lost the youthful appeal that has kept her among Hollywood's most popular actresses. During her two decades of film work, Barbara has appeared in almost 50 pictures, running the gamut from comedy to tragedy, and teaming with some of the industry's top actors.

Co-starring with Barbara Stanwyck are Robert Preston and Stephen McNally. Preston, it is to be recalled, has been recently groomed for stardom, while McNally is finally gaining proper recognition for his acting abilities, especially since turning in an exceptionally outstanding supporting role in "Johnny Belinda."

Although the admission price at the box office will be 65c, holders of 50 Kiwanis tickets will be admitted Sept. 28.

Tickets will be on sale Saturday morning from 9 until 12 at the Hilltop Bank; at Hague and Broad in front of G. & W. Motors; at Hague and Sullivant in front of Spang's Drug Store; and the Hilltop Record office.

'Ladies' Day Out' Announced by YWCA

Mrs. and Mrs. E. W. Emig, 469 Townsend-av, and Mrs. C. E. Brady, 742 Binns-blvd, members of the YWCA Home Women's Committee, announce the opening of the fall term of the Ladies' Day Out program Thursday, Sept. 1.

Featured topic of the World Affairs Hour at 11:45 a.m. is "Understanding America's Role in World Economics" with Dr. James Calderwood, of the OSU economics department explaining what lies behind the "dollar talks." His presentations will be on October 6, 13, 20. Among other features of the World Affairs program a talk on "India," by Mrs. Rajammal P. Devadas, graduate student from India, will be presented Nov. 17

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patton Celebrate Fifty-fifth Wedding Anniversary Aug. 20

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patton

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patton, 39 S. Terrace-av, spent a "quiet day" with only a few friends visiting them on their fifty-fifth wedding anniversary, Tuesday, Sept. 20.

The Pattons have been residents of the Hilltop since 1918 and formerly lived on Cypress-av preceding the flood. They had moved to Franklin Township in 1907 near the old No. 4 school house and then into Columbus.

Both were born and reared on adjoining farms near Amesville, in Athens County, and both attended a country school called "Corn-pone." Mrs. Patton's (her maiden name was Sally Kasler) folks, incidentally, were among the first settlers in Ames Township, which is near Marietta. They came down the Ohio River on a raft from "York State," as New York was called at that time to settle in Ames. The couple were married at home. They recall that of the 55 guests at their wedding, only five live now.

Mr. Patton, a former builder and carpenter, retired in 1943.

When the Pattons built their home on Terrace, its site was in the midst of a cow pasture. There were only five other houses on the street at that time. Broad-st was paved only to Hague-av and continued as a mud road from there.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton had one child, F. W. Patton, who, with his wife, lives at the Terrace-av address.

... between Spires Shell Service, Fox Cafe and the VeeDee'ers exists for first place in the Thursday Night Business Men's League as all three teams have records of six victories against three defeats. Both Spires and Fox Cafe failed to take advantage of the chance to go into undisputed first place in the middle game. Spires was beaten by the VeeDee'ers' 825-818 while Fox Cafe tied Schroeck's 838-838 and then lost the roll-off. Both teams were outclassed in the third game as Spires were beaten 987-895 and Fox Cafe lost 907-823.

Several good team games were rolled as Mecca Cafe had 945, Spires 955, VeeDee'ers 987 (high game for the evening) and Riviera had games of 918, 931 and 978 for high team total of 2819. Gene Urban's 239 and Chuck Worthington's 624 were also high.

A battle royal developed between Allen Milk and Grotto in the Monday Night Recreation League as Allen remained in undisputed first place with a two-game victory over the Grotto team. The first game went to Grotto, behind the 214 of Al Hermann, 904-902, while Joe Swisher and company bounced back to win the second game 979-974. Joe had 242, good for top single game of the evening. The third game found both teams letting up slightly as Allen won it 873-809. Three game honors went to Howard Minnameyer with 609 while team honors went to Allen Milk who had 979-2754. Bob Fischer and Al Hermann both had good series, getting 607 and 606 respectively.

West High School Principal Presents School Year Program At Assembly

By Myron T. Seifert

An innovation at West High School, enacted on the second and third days of the school term were assemblies (senior high on Wednesday, junior high on Thursday), presided over by Principal Irvin F. Young, who presented in his inimitable manner a practical program for the school year, and asking the full-hearted cooperation of the student body in making West High one of the best in the country.

Mr. Young's remarks met with universal approval of the student body, as attested by student comments following the assembly.

Last spring, Mr. Young recalled, West High School, following visitations by State Department of Education supervisors, was lauded for its fine work, and well rounded educational program, meeting the needs of both the economic academic and vocationally-minded students.

A major portion of his informal talk with the students emphasized development of character and attitudes as a prerequisite to a successful life.

Specifically, the West High educational leader, pointed out the necessity of frequent and orderly fire-drills, asking all students to know and follow fire drill directives of the school.

Respect and courteous attitude toward teachers was cited, and a wholesome relationship among students themselves was to be desired. Respect for school property, and the property of other pupils, was stressed by Mr Young, who also reminded students that the beautiful building and its environs should be conducive to effective school work.

Appreciation and utilization of opportunities offered students at West High were suggested.

Wisdom, honesty and sincerity (West High School virtues seen in study hall daily and on the stage curtain in the main auditorium) were enlarged upon by Mr. Young.

Loyalty to the American flag and that for which it stands, and a patriotic fervor, were injected into the principal's speech.

Other purposes of the assembly were to introduce new teachers publicly to the students, and to officially welcome new students to West High.

Faculty Athletic Manager George Williams presented a new plan of ticket sales to the home football games this fall. Season tickets for the six home games would be available, he said, at $1.75, the fourth, fifth and sixth periods daily in front of the school cafeteria. Single ducats to the football contests would be sold for 40c on the Tuesday preceding each game at the game time and place.

Bert Stille To Appear At Hilltop Tune Shop Saturday

Bert Stille, disc jockey for the WHKC "Sweet and Swing" program, will make a personal appearance at the Hilltop Tune Shop between 1 and 3 p. m. Saturday.

A graduate of Ohio State University, Stille has been with the local station for a number of years since leaving the army. He lives at 1831 Sullivant-av.

Complete Service' Is Garage Motto

"Complete automotive 'service" is the motto of George Whitelaw, who has been operating the garage at 21 S. Souder-av since May.

Whitelaw said that they not only offered pick up and delivery service on cars, but if someone downtown wanted to leave the car for work during the day, they would take him to work and pick him up in the evening.

An important piece of equipment at the garage is the Sun Motor Analyzer, with which motor trouble can be traced to its Three mechanics employed at the garage all have previous automotive experience. Mr. Whitelaw was in the transportation division of army ordnance for five years.

From The Record Files

Five Years Ago

Selective Service boards on the Hilltop have inducted 17 into the armed forces since the beginning of September. Board 11 sent 10 ... into the navy and six to the army. Board 12 sent two to the army and one to the marines; Board 13 sent four to the navy.

• • •

Joan Duncan, 336 Whitethorne-av, won a $50 war bond for turning in 6215 pounds of paper in a Hilltop scrap-paper drive. The city recreation department reports that 332,150 pounds of waste paper were gathered throughout the city.

• • •

M. H. Austin won the election for commander of Camp Chase Post No. 98 of the American Legion. Two World War II veterans, H. C. Gourley and Frank Sheridan, were among those elected to posts in the legion.

• • •

A reception was held at the Westgate-Evangelical Church for the new pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Harold Dutt. Rev. Dutt says he will devote much of his time to the youth program at the church.

• • •

The Recreation Department's traveling zoo will visit the Hilltop playgrounds next week. The zoo is made up of 14 cages and 20 animals, including monkeys, baboons, foxes, raccoons and a whistling parrot.

• • •

Ten Years Ago

Four Hilltoppers were nominated for municipal offices in the recent primary election. They are Floyd Green for mayor and Ray G. Hountz, Wyatt L. Millikin and Henry A. Koontz for city council.

• • •

City council has passed legislation to allow the removal of streetcar tracks from Sullivant-av between Whitethorne and Central-aves. Repaving after the removal of the tracks will be done by WPA workers. The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. announces that it will start the removal of car tracks on W. Broad-st next year.

• • •

A would-be robber entered the car of Al. C. Dale at Martin-av and W. Broad-st, jabbed a gun in his ribs and demanded his money. Dale refused and the robber fled.

• • •

Jones Flying Service at Sullivant Avenue Airport has announced that it will sponsor a parachute jump next Sunday. Dave Binns will be the parachutist.

Tom Stone Begins AF Training At Lackland AFB

Tom Stone

Pvt. Thomas H. Stone, Jr., 17 son of Mrs. Mable Cowley, 101 N. Eureka-av, has reported to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., the "Gateway to the Air Force," to begin the air force basic airmen indoctrination course.

His 13 weeks of basic training will prepare him for entrance into air force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course will include a scientific evaluation of his aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career.

Lackland is the world's largest air force base, center of WAF's basic training, indoctrination station for prior service re-enlistees and home of the air force's officer candidate school. Here, too, is headquarters of the indoctrination division, air training command.

TO SERVE SPAGHETTI

G M Manager, Promoted; Replaced By Paul L. Jones

James L. Conlon

The appointment of James L. Conlon as general manager of the Ternstedt Division of General Motors was announced today by C. E. Wilson, president. He succeeds John W. Jackson, who is now on leave of absence. Mr. Conlon, who has been resident manager of the Ternstedt plant in Columbus since that plant began operations in September, 1946, will make his headquarters in Detroit. He assumes his new duties immediately.

Paul L. Jones, who has been works manager of the Ternstedt plant here, succeeds Mr. Conlon as resident manager at the Hilltop plant.

Mr. Conlon was born 54 years ago at Fort Lambton, Ont., and received his early schooling at Marine City and Chatham, Ont. He received his high school education at Loyola College, Montreal, and later attended the University of Detroit. He served with the United States Army as a commissioned officer in the field artillery during World War I. He joined the Ternstedt Division in 1925, working as an experimental mechanic and draftsman until November, 1933, when he was named chief draftsman of the Ternstedt Division.

Mr. Conlon was assigned to the standards engineering department Apr. 1, 1934 and three months later was named assistant to the engineer in charge of Fisher Body's mechanical parts engineering department. He returned to Ternstedt as chief engineer in July, 1938. In August, 1940, he became works manager, supervising Ternstedt's production of aircraft instruments during the war. In February, 1945, he was appointed plant manager of the Ternstedt Detroit plant and in June, 1945, he was appointed plant manager of the Ternstedt Detroit plant and in June, 1945, was named resident manager of the new Columbus plant. Mr. Conlon is married and has five children.

Mr. Jones was born Feb. 4, 1904 in Mitchellville, Tenn., and received his early schooling in Orlinda, Tenn. He also attended Wilbur Wright High School in Detroit and the University of Detroit. He joined the Ternstedt Division in Detroit as a machine operator June 28, 1923. He was named a foreman in 1928, general foreman in 1931, assistant divisional superintendent in 1933, and divisional superintendent in 1934.

In August, 1937, he was appointed factory manager of the Ternstedt plant in Trenton, N. J., returning to Detroit in 1942 to become assistant to the general factory superintendent. In October, 1944, he was appointed executive assistant in charge of Ternstedt's postwar planning program and in March, 1945, was named works manager of the Columbus Ternstedt plant. He moved to Columbus from Detroit in September, 1946, when the new plant there opened for operations. Mr. Jones is married and has one daughter.

School Superintendent N. G. Fawcett To Address West High PTA Tuesday

By Myron T. Selter

Columbus schools are in good hands and many Hilltoppers, members of the West High PTA and school friends will get their first glimpse of M. G. Fawcett, new superintendent of the Columbus Public Schools, when he will be guest speaker of the West High PTA to be held at the school Tuesday night, Sept. 27.

As leader of Columbus largest industry (75 schools, 1500 teaching and maintenance personnel and 50,000 students), Mr. Fawcett will bring to the Hilltop audience his own views on education, based upon common sense, careful study and experience.

His interest in the Hilltop locale stems from early visits to several West Side schools, including West High, prior to the opening of school this term.

M. G. Fawcett

High in his praise of the facilities and physical properties at West High, the new superintendent was impressed with the opportunities afforded Hilltop youth and still hopes to improve the situation here.

Youthful and aggressive, Mr. Fawcett has a vicarious interest in his 50,000 pupils enrolled in the Columbus schools and he proposes that every child be given every possible opportunity to gain an education.

A believer in steady progress of a long range program, Mr. Fawcett brings to the Columbus school system many educational policies, many of which are to be developed gradually.

In his Hilltop talk it is expected that he will enlarge upon specific recommendations for the improvement of the Columbus schools.

His basic philosophy is centered about the child, his needs, his school environment, activities, and school work, geared to meet individual needs in a changing world. There is much ahead for Hilltop boys and girls in training them to become useful citizens in our democracy, as Mr. Fawcett's ideas are put into practice.

Foremost of all, Mr. Fawcett avers, is a constant and continuous course of study.

Here again child guidance is an essential factor in setting up a curricula in the various departments and schools of the city. Special personnel to work exclusively in this field could be hired and a separate division of curriculum and instruction, similar to those maintained in many city school systems of comparable size, might be established, he said.

"This, and other services are not new ideas here," Mr. Fawcett said, "but there has never been enough money to carry them out. With additional revenue, realized from an extra levy, we could at least make a beginning on most of them."

Other possible improvements, he said, should include an expanded program of fine arts in the elementary schools to offer to smaller children the same kind of planned study units now available to junior and senior high school students.

Household arts courses in the junior and senior high schools should be brought up to standards more comparable with the present industrial arts program, the superintendent continued. The entire field of audio-visual and radio education should be expanded, in line with up-to-date methods, and the field of child guidance studied and expanded.

The Columbus school health program also needs further expansion, Mr. Fawcett said, and more consideration should be given to the fields of special education—for the speech-defectives, slow-learners, hard-of-hearing, etc.

School buildings, like homes, must constantly be repaired and brought up to date. A broader maintenance program is needed, Mr. Fawcett said. Equipment replacement, better lights, elimination of hazards need attention.

"Some provision has already been made for all of these things in Columbus," he emphasized again. "but there hasn't been enough money to carry through. Under a school four-mill levy, to be submitted to the Columbus voters in November, we can expect to 'make a pass' at all of them."

Rev. Crumrine Begins 16th Year At Local Church

Rev. J. W. Crumrin

Rev. J. William Crumrine started his 16th year as pastor of the Sullivant Avenue Friends Church this month.

Rev. Crumrine was ordained in the fall of 1918, the same year that he graduated from the Cleveland Bible College at Cleveland. His first charge was in Fullerton, O., where he stayed five years.

He was then sent to Zanesfield, O., for four years; from there he spent eight years at Beloit, O., and following that charge he was assigned to the Sullivant Avenue Friends Church.

SYNOPSIS

In the Victorian library of his New England home, Proctor Barlow meditates on the life of his late sister, Elizabeth, whose funeral service is about to begin. She and her small daughter, Katherine, had lived under Proctor's yoke. And his tyranny, ever since the failure of Elizabeth's marriage to charming though designated Marvell Coomes. The despised estranged husband arrives from a distant city "figured" on time. He falls into a sound sleep and the burial proceeds without him.

CHAPTER THREE

MARVELL went to the window and leaning his cheek against the cool pane, looked down the length of Commonwealth Avenue. The Mall was bare and brown. He felt very forlorn, not because of Elizabeth, but because they had deliberately left him behind. In a way they were burying him, too. What was he to do now? There was no longer any reason for Proctor to keep up a civil pretense of friendliness. Where his position before had been humiliating, now it would be insufferable. What rankled most was the fact that after fourteen years on and off he was still only an employee of the firm. He had never been elected an officer, never owned a share of stock. Old Barlow had left some to Elizabeth and Katherine in trust, the remainder were Proctor's and that fellow, Abbot. They had recognized his value by an occasional bonus and a more than adequate salary that often as not was spent before he received it. Arrogantly he had sometimes demanded to know what this cautious firm of contracting engineers could have done without him. Proctor, a man who was all detail, no imagination. Abbot who couldn't work with the man on a job, who despised the competition of estimating and bidding for contracts. His friend, Doc, had warned him. Doc was head bookkeeper now in some firm in New York. "While you're going fast for them, they'll hold back on you, you'll see." He was struck with a sudden idea. Doc had some money, saved and scrimped, had no one to worry about. By heaven, they'd go into business together. He had always gone well on bluff for a starter. New York was the place. He was striding up and down the room now, deep in his new plans.

He needed a drink. He went back to the library, snapped on a light and made for the decanter. Empty. He made an impatient gesture. "We are in a fix." He dropped to his knees and tried the cabinet doors below. Then he took a penknife out of his pocket and began to work on the flimsy lock. This wasn't the first time Proctor had pulled this trick. The blade of the knife was too broad. A scissors might do it.

He began rummaging through the desk drawers. Nothing but check-book stubs, bank deposit slips, inventories, note papers, all in orderly files. He heard a slight movement behind him. Someone was in the room. From his stooping position he could see a pair of white stockinged legs rising out of black buttoned shoes. When he raised his head his eyes met those of a small girl in a dark blue dress who stood looking at him with serious fascination.

"Why, hullo, Katherine." He straightened up. She gave him a puzzled half-smile. It was evident that she had been watching him absorbedly for some moments.

"All alone?" he asked. He put the paper knife back on the desk and sat on one corner of it, swinging his leg.

"Annie's been with me," she spoke very distinctly in a rather low voice for a child. She had changed in some way. He hadn't seen her for almost six months, and then only for the briefest half hour. They gazed at each other intently, until he turned his head. Her hair had been cut. She used to wear it in braids looped together in the back with a ribbon, now it hung square and dark around her face. Her forehead was covered with straight bangs that gave her a severe look.

"Why didn't you come sooner?" she asked, her eyes still on his face.

"Did you miss me?" An irrelevant question.

"No." She was more poised than he and he admired her for it.

"Are you going to stay?"

He wished he could be as direct. He swung off the desk and replied, "I don't know, Kit."

She looked surprised at this. "My name is Katherine."

"Sorry. Now that you're here, let's have some tea or something. I brought you some pastry from New York." The thing was to treat her as a grown-up, he could see.

"Chocolate?"

"Yes, and pistachio."

"What were you doing on the floor?" She had been waiting to ask this question from the first but had compromised a little out of politeness.

"Just looking at the books—it's kind of lonely around here."

"Oh, they'll be back. I guess we'd better not eat it in here." She didn't like this room anyway, nor the sweetish smell lingering in the hall like the withered lilies they threw out after Easter.

"Are you inviting me up to your apartment?" there was a mockery in his tone that intrigued her. Instinctively she felt possessive and a little daring. This was the first time she had ever been alone with this man—the first she could remember. There was no one here now to interrupt them with a "run along, Katherine." No other people to talk above her head on matters she did not understand."

"Come with me," and this time she really smiled at him.

With a backward glance at the empty decanter on the sideboard, he followed her up the stairs. He automatically counted the steps as her white legs pumped up and down before him.

Her room, an improvised nursery as she was the only child in the house, was on the fourth floor. From the windows you could look out over the backs of the Marlboro Street houses, a maze of chimney pots and irregular roofs, down into the cobbled alley that separated the neat backyards and carriage houses of one formal street from the other. It was a cheerful room, with pink geraniums in the windows, white dimity curtains and a large oval braided rug of varying stripes and colors upon which Katherine played games of her own devising, marching her imaginary companions from one stripe to another on daring and exciting journeys. Although Marvell did not know it, he was often included in these games, placed far off in the dark oval center "somewhere out west" as she had heard her mother say so many times.

The room was sealed well for a little girl—lower ceilinged than the floors below. There were white chairs and a table, a rosewood desk and in a big wardrobe in the corner she kept her toys. She opened up the doors and began to choose certain things to show to Marvell. While she was busy about this, Marvell wandered across the room, partly out of restlessness, partly in curiosity. He stood in front of a small mahogany bureau and looked at the ivory dresser set that lay in rigid order on an embroidered scarf. Then he saw himself and Elizabeth, head by head in an elaborately scrolled frame. They were not recent pictures. Elizabeth could not have been more than twenty, judging by the pompadoured hair, the swan-like pose of her head rising out of tiers of white ruffles. For the first time, her presence, or rather the loss of it, affected Marvell. There was a quality of eagerness in the picture that seemed very alive—that was, as he remembered, the strongest characteristic of her face. For a moment he was genuinely moved by the memory of a few brief scenes when they had been closest. The supper dance where he had met her; one late afternoon's canoeing on the Charles when she had told him how she had loved him from their first "tender meeting"—her words of falling in love; their first Christmas away from Proctor when they had been living in Cambridge on next to nothing. He thought, a little miserably, that not to love someone who loved you was harder to bear than anything.

Katherine spoke to him. "Here they all are," she said.

"All what?" he asked blankly. She had laid out on the play bench several objects that had no particular meaning for him until he recognized a box of clay and tools for modeling that he had sent her from Chicago. There were two intricate jig-saw puzzles, a huge paint box well enough equipped for an art league student. There were other things too. Didn't she like any of them, he thought wistfully. He felt as forlorn as he had in the drawing room a half hour earlier. He had no way of reaching out to her. What separated them went farther back than she could remember. But as if she sensed his loneliness, she picked up the clay set and asked seriously, "How do you work with it?"

"I was on the wrong track, wasn't I? What do you like better?"

Everybody's Business

How Can Wages Be Raised Without Added Efficiency?

By John Kelly

Our last discussion pointed out the facts behind labor's contention that the cost of living has outstripped wages, Point 1. The record of their three principal arguments, corporate ability to pay easily, also will bear examination from the "facts and figures" standpoint.

Money taken in earnings is either paid out in dividends to shareholders, whose savings established the company, or reinvested in further developing and improving the business. If wages are increased without corresponding gains in efficiency that hold down costs, the money can only come from any one, or combination, of, the following sources: 1. higher prices. 2. Reducing dividends. 3. Reinvesting less in the business. 4. Borrowing. 5. Floating more stock.

Assuming for 1948 the same wage-salary ratio as prevailed in 1947, the figures for all American corporations might have been affected by a straight 10 per cent wage boost as illustrated by the following table:

All American Corporations in 1948
(In Billions of Dollars)

	As Reported	Wage 10% Incr.	% Change
Corp. wages and salaries	97.0	95.5	8.7%
Net Income bef. taxes	33.2	23.5	8.7%
Income tax liab. (38%)	12.5	9.0	3.5%
Net income aft. taxes	18.7	14.5	5.2%
Dividends Paid	7.8	7.8
Income reinvested	11.8	6.7	5.2%

Source: Figures as reported are estimates by U. S. Department of Commerce.

Without a compensating increase in selling prices (which is inflationary in a boom and impracticable in a period of business contraction like the present) net income before taxes would have been reduced by $8.7 billion, the amount of the blanket 10 percent raise.

U. S. tax revenues would have been cut by $3.5 billion and would have been offset only to a minor extent by personal taxes on larger salaries and wages. The treasury would have had to countenance even greater deficits or ask for more taxes (also admittedly impracticable under current conditions).

The figures show that there would be a very serious problem in connection with the $5.2 billion reduction in net earnings after taxes. It is estimated that dividend payments to stock holders in 1948 amounted to only $7.8 billion, about 40 per cent of total corporate net income; the lowest ratio, with the exception of 1946, in the entire 40 year period covered by comprehensive records.

The most interesting part of this study of where the money would have to come from will appear in our next paper. Keep these figures for reference.

Briggsdale And Brown Road

By Mrs. Harry C. Downing

Mrs. S. S. Kelley of East Liverpool was a guest last week of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Lockwood and family, 1691 Harrisburg-pk.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hoover and children, 2166 Glover-la, moved to Circleville last week. Mr. Hoover has been employed there several months.

The Room Mothers' Club of Briggsdale School met Wednesday, Sept. 21, at the home of Mrs. Reba Jones, 1715 Harrisburg-pk. A pot luck luncheon was served at noon with Mrs. Ruby McVey and Mrs. Elizabeth Downing assisting the hostess. During the business session in the afternoon plans were made for the PTA membership drive and also the annual school fair, which will be held Friday, Sept. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, Briggsdale, have returned from their vacation in Michigan.

The W. W. Class of Briggsdale Methodist Church held its September meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Faye Borror, 249 N. Warren-av. Plans are being made for a dinner to be held at the church in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Nichols, 2045 Frank-rd, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Betty Jane, to Edwin H. Hamilton of Columbus. The wedding took place last Saturday in the Glenwood Church parlor with Rev. J. B. Shellhaas officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Russell Evans of Columbus were the attendants. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hamilton of Memphis, Tenn.

Wilson School will hold its annual fall festival Friday evening, Sept. 23.

Earliest New England houses were built of thick planks instead of logs as is generally believed.

James W. Taylor Organizes New Lumber Firm

Announcement was made this week of the formation of a new business to be headed by a Hilltopper, James W. Taylor, who resides at 34 N. Ogden-av.

Mr. Taylor has formed the J. W. Taylor Lumber Co., located at 977 Jenkins-av. The new lumber firm will carry a complete line of construction lumber and building materials to serve contractors and industrial accounts alike.

The J. W. Taylor Lumber Company succeeds the Foat Lumber Company at the Jenkins-av address. A new office building has been completed and work is under way on a new style, concrete block fireproof lumber shed.

For the past three and a half years Jim Taylor has served as president and general manager of the Columbus Lumber Co. Prior to entering the lumber business he served almost four years in the air corps as a bombadier navigator. He was stationed at various air fields in Texas and Florida as an instructor.

He has lived on the Hilltop for approximately five years. He is a member of the Hilltop English Lutheran Church, West Gate Masonic Lodge, the Columbus Exchange Club, the Columbus Variety Club, the Columbus Lumbermen's Club and the Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers.

Words of the Wise

Inquisitive people are the funnels of conversation; they do not take in anything for their own use, but merely to pass it to another. —(Steele)

Odd Fact

A used car dealer in Memphis, Tenn., attracted buyers by changing the usual prices of $600, $900, etc., on the windshields of his vehicles to 39 cents per pound, 49 cents per pound and 57 cents per pound.

This New 4 Door Dodge Sedan, An RCA Victor Television Set, $250 Grocery Order, $150 in Merchandise

See Dodge Sedan on Display at West Side Motors, 1350 W. Broad St.

In The Hilltop Record Subscription Drive
Contest Starts Today -- Closes Nov. 14

HOW TO ENTER CONTEST

This contest is being sponsored by The Hilltop Record in order to increase the Record subscription list thus providing local business firms and individuals with an even better local advertising medium. It is the belief of the Record management that one large campaign of this type will be far more effective in acquainting more and more people with this newspaper than otherwise might be possible with sales effort of smaller magnitude.

Every contestant entering the race has nothing to lose and everything to gain. Everyone will receive payment for all the subscriptions he or she turns in. No one can lose. This is not a drawing or lucky number contest but is based entirely on sales effort and the popularity of the various contestants.

In order to enter the campaign just clip the coupon on this page, fill it out and mail to the Record office, or better yet, come to the Record office in person and enroll.

When you have entered your name you will receive full instructions and the necessary supplies as well as numerous good leads on possible sales as well as other helps in making the contest interesting as well as profitable. You then will call upon your friends and neighbors, acquaintances everywhere and ask them to subscribe to the Record. You will be surprised how easy it is to get the subscriptions and how many people will soon become interested in the campaign and offer their help by soliciting their friends too.

The prizes will all be awarded on the basis of points received in the drive. A schedule of these points is printed in this ad.

Take the time now to study this list of points and make up your mind you want that new four door Dodge sedan, the fine RCA Victor television set or one of the other prizes totaling over $3000 in value. It is important that you make up your mind soon, enter right away and receive your subscription blanks and supplies so you can get right to work.

Just think: If you win the new Dodge valued at over $2100 it would mean you would be earning an average of over $300 per week for the next seven weeks. Isn't this worth putting some real effort behind? And someone is going to win just that very same Dodge, the $500 RCA television set and the other valuable prizes . . . and remember you just can't lose because regardless of where you finish in the race you will receive a 20% commission on your sales if you have not received one of the major prizes.

Send in your entry blank right now . . . be one of the first to enter the campaign—and make up your mind to win that first prize!

SCHEDULE OF RATES AND AWARD POINTS

The following schedule of points will be awarded in the term of subscription designated. This schedule applies to NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS only. 50% of the points will be awarded for renewal subscriptions.

Subscription rates		First 3 Weeks Sept. 20 to Oct. 11 The following points will be issued:	Next 2 Weeks Oct. 12 to Oct. 25 The following points will be issued:	Last Period Oct. 26 to Nov. 14 The following points will be issued:
4 Months	$ 1.00	250 Points	200	150
6 Months	$ 1.50	375 Points	325	250
1 Year	$ 2.75	1000 Points	800	650
2 Years	$ 5.00	2500 Points	2000	1500
5 Years	$12.00	7500 Points	6500	5000

The above schedule of rates and points to be awarded will not be altered during the Contest. One half the above points will be given for renewal subscription. A renewal is considered to be any subscriber who is at present receiving the paper either by mail or by carrier or anyone who has been a subscriber in the period thirty days previous to September 20, 1949.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. Anyone residing in the City or surrounding territory is eligible to enter the Contest.
2. No salaried employee of The Hilltop Record or member of his family is eligible to enter. This does not apply to correspondents.
3. Contestants will be required to make weekly reports to The Hilltop Record and turn in all money and subscription orders taken to the date of reporting.
4. The two main prizes will be awarded not later than November 17 and announced in that day's issue of The Hilltop Record and an announcement will be printed showing the exact final standing of each contestant.
5. The winners will be the persons who have earned the most points for turning in both new and renewal subscriptions to The Hilltop Record.
6. Contestants may secure subscriptions anywhere in Franklin County, Ohio, and the U. S. A. Only subscription orders accompanied by cash, checks, or money orders will be accepted.
7. Subscribers will be aiding their favorite contestant by giving him or her an order for a subscription. Points in the Contest will be allowed to the person writing the subscription order. A subscriber may not change his or her order after it is once given to a contestant.
8. In event of a tie for any prize an award of identical value will be given the contestants who are tied.
9. Each contestant not receiving one of the major prizes will be awarded 20% of gross receipts he or she has turned in at the conclusion of the Contest. To be eligible for payment of 20% commission at the conclusion of the Contest each participant must turn in at least $5 in subscription revenue each week of the Contest.
10. Any contestant failing to make a report and settlement in full for subscriptions sold to date on each weekly report period will become disqualified and will forfeit all rights to a prize or cash commissions.
11. Points are not transferrable. No contestant will be permitted to withdraw and turn his points over to another contestant. All points will be cancelled should a contestant withdraw from the Contest.
12. Any question of collusion will be settled by the management of The Hilltop Record and an advisory board. Any decisions of this group are final.
13. Contestants will provide each customer with a temporary receipt and will be responsible for turning in an equal amount to The Hilltop Record. Official receipts will be mailed each subscriber from The Hilltop Record Office showing exact amount paid and expiration date of the subscription.
14. There will be strict adherance to the rules of this Contest published herein. The Record will not be responsible for any promises made by a contestant not contained in these rules and regulations.
15. Reports of the standings of the contestants may be published during the Contest up to the fifth week, thereafter all reports will be placed in a sealed ballot box to be placed in the vault of the First Federal Savings and Loan Ass'n, where contestants will make their final reports. In this way no one will know the standing of the contestants as the Contest draws to a close.
16. Each contestant must sign an agreement that he or she understands the above rules and agrees to abide by them.
17. A subscription made out to a different name at a present subscriber's address will be counted as a renewal.

Psalms That We Sing

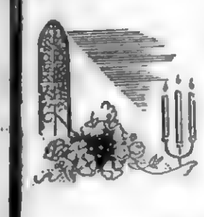
ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Psalms 23; 46; 90; 121; 145. By Alfred J. Buescher

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside still waters.

Yea, though I walk in the valley of the [illegible] of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me always.

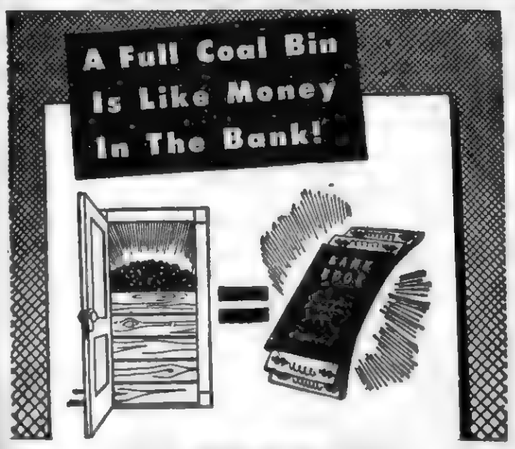
Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God; for I will praise Him.



The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, even forevermore.

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 92:4.

Wind must travel at least a mile a minute to be a hurricane.



George Washington never did occupy the White House.

Plan K. of C. Anniversary

A class of 40 candidates will receive the degrees, starting with a Mass at 9 o'clock and followed by a breakfast at St. Mary Magdalene Church, S. Roys and Parkside, then proceeding to the council's clubrooms at 2589½ W. Broad-st.

Bowen has named the class in honor of the charter members. The organization was originated in 1944 with 28 members and now has a roster of more than 500 active members.

Members of the Ohio State Council, including Henry L. Holden, 34 Medbrook Way, local district deputy, and surrounding councils, will participate in the program.

Rev. Howard Buckley, pastor of the Ohio Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church of the city will be the pastor evangelist. Services will be held each night at 7:30.

An invitation is extended to all to attend this series of meetings.

News of Rome

By Mrs. E. C. Sheets

Don't forget the Monitors' spaghetti supper, Saturday night, at the Columbia Heights Methodist Church. Complete meal, 75 cents; children, 35 cents.

To live 90 years within 10 miles of your birthplace represents a life of contentment and satisfaction with this world's goods. Such was the case of Mrs. Fannie Holt, who passed away Saturday night at her home on Norton-rd. As a young woman, she lived where her daughter (Alma), Mrs. Clint Miller, now resides, at 7363 W. Broad-st. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Webb. She leaves many relatives in this community. She was confined to her bed the last few months, in pain, but seldom complained. As the end came, she just slept away.

Rev. Harry Hadley of Asbury Park, N. J., visited his niece, Mrs. Marshall Hall, Buena Vista, this week.

The Columbia Heights Methodist Church will hold their picnic Sunday afternoon at Valley Ranch. A good program of games and contests is being prepared. Supper at 4:00 is followed by vesper service.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fast, Pasadena-av, visited last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hurst, formerly of Buena Vista, now of Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lappe and son, Paul, of S. Roys-av, formerly of Rome, are vacationing throughout the West.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denman entertained their Euchre Club Saturday night. It was the first meeting of the season and those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. William Butin, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Richey, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elliott and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Denman.

An accident happened on the Rome School ground, Tuesday afternoon, which resulted in little Jerry Evans being taken to Children's Hospital.

In My Father's House Are Many Mansions

The Riverside Church, New York City, was an outgrowth of the Park Avenue Baptist Church. It was built to enable the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick to practise his ideals of "non-partisan" religion.

The gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., its tower houses the largest carillon in the world, with 72 bells. The carillon was first tried in the Park Avenue church, but the sounds were too loud and reverberated from other nearby tall stone structures.

The Riverside Church was constructed with this in mind, so as to eliminate the interruption of the tones of the carillon. Here the bells may peal out over the Hudson River with nothing to obstruct their lovely call to worship.

This great House of God follows the lines of the 13th century French Gothic style of architecture in general, and those of the Cathedral at Chartes, in particular. Begun in 1925, The Riverside Church was formally opened in 1930. It is one of America's great religious shrines, built to glorify the mighty God.

All of us cannot attend such magnificent houses of worship, but within our own smaller churches are the "many mansions" which Christ said there were in His Father's house. God is present wherever men assemble to worship Him. He is within your own church. His Kingdom is also within you. Surrender yourself to His will.

Cowboys Take On Tough U. Arlington Team Friday

By Dave Miller

One of the toughest football elevens in Greater Columbus will be encountered by the West High Cowboys Friday evening when they meet the Upper Arlington Golden Bears at 8 p. m. on the Arlington gridiron.

The Bears, headed by a hard-charging line and a smooth-clicking backfield, will be getting some tough competition from the local lads. Arlington will be out to avenge previous scraps with the Cowboys. In 1947 the Cowboys soundly trounced a favored Arlington eleven, 40-0, and last season the two teams played to a 13-all deadlock.

The flashy Doug Goodsell and such backfield men as Dick Young, Hube Weigel and Ronnie Green will be expected to be plenty rough for the Cowboys throughout the game. Goodsell, only a junior at the Golden Bear school, has been a star of all sports for Arlington this year. Last season in football, he was second highest scorer of the Greater Columbus players, and was highest in the individual column for the Central Buckeye League. He starred also on the basketball and track varsity teams, all in his sophomore year, in 1948. Now, with another full year of sports coming up, the Arlington athlete is expected to develop into the most promising athlete in Columbus for many a year.

The big halfback scored two touchdowns for Arlington at South last Friday.

Arlington will be seeking its second win of the year, and West, its initial. The only comparison of scores available between the two teams at the moment is the fact that Grandview swamped West, 27-12, in a practice tilt, and in another exhibition Arlington whipped Grandview, 21-0.

Coach Mack Pemberton, West's grid mentor, disclosed earlier this week that the only statement he had to say about the game was "We'll be in there fighting all the time!"

The starting lineup for Arlington will be a very heavy eleven.

Pemberton expected to use about the same team that started the Marion game last week, so at press time it looked like the starting line-ups would be as follows:

Arlington		West
Maloney	LE	Rudolph
Fenner	LT	McDermott
Hamilton	LG	Wilson
Lamb	C	Epps
Deegan	RG	Will
Smith	RT	Voss
Pennel	RE	Crissinger
Green	QB	Birle
Goodsell	LH	James
Young	RH	DeMatteo
Weigel	FB	Golden

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

(The bold face words in the following are the names of quite a few of our neighbors. See how many you know. Maybe you'll find your own name. Who knows? But read on.)

I turned out the 100 Watt (s) light in the front room, closed the door and went to the street and started my car for a ride to Boulah Park.

My Bersman (the little wifey) went to a wedding this afternoon and hasn't gotten home yet. The Bride is Edward's niece, Barbara, who received a 5-caret Diamond from Burna, her ex-fiance, and a set of Sterling from the Johnsons. No doubt Smith is the Wightman for her, but he always gave me a head-Ake, when we used to play Rummy together. He's a stocky guy, very Hafey, you know. Green(o) as they come. Just a Moran and she set the Trappe for him. He'll Frey, you just wait and see.

After that rain this morning I bet the track will be all Meyer and mud. This traffic today isn't so bad. Glad I don't have to run into traffic like the Fisher plant has.

Wish I could blow my horn at that one-horse Shea coming out of that Lane, but my battery is so low it won't toot a sound. That Steed has a Shank on it that Saunders down the Hill like a Campbell with Sand(s) in its feet.

By golly, a Miller just flew in the Winder. Always something to hinder my drivin'—besides my sneezin' with the hay-fever from the pollen Seeds in those Reeds. I'll be doin' good if I don't Merritt a Dent in the fender of my Rolls Royce.

Ouch! My Knee—Land sakes alive! That gout is gettin' me. Ate too much Meilen last Knight, I know.

Got sort of Cose this morning. It was so chilly I put Allwood in the furnace, and as I was Honing a Leach in the basement, my Pearl tie stick pin (Kirby's best) fell to the floor and rolled into my Ream of paper that I use to write articles on. I stooped to pick it up and tripped over my big Burley feet. Had my new Brown shoes on—no wonder I fell. Not used to shoes. Down in good ole Kentuck', never had to wear 'em; yet I was as Hale and hearty as the Bair that roams the Dale in the Thirtyacher ground near Cooperider Lake.

Well, I'm just about to the track now. Great Scott! I'd better hurry or the races will be over. When I get there will I bet t-Erwin? Nope! I'll just go up to the concession stand, buy a Clark bar and sit myself down, open my Hilltop Record I brought with me, and read the news about my friends back on the Hilltop. Real Wish it were a Dudley paper so I could always look forward to reading it to-Morrow.

Why did I come way out here? Well, because those High Ridge folks are tryin' so hard to track me down and find out who I am. So I'll just sit here a spell where I'm safe, until it's time to write my next week's gossip column.

What's News On The Hilltop?

What's news?

It's news on the Hilltop that an 84-year-old man goes shopping on a bicycle. It's news that someone is going to win a new Dodge, thereby earning nearly $300 per week for seven weeks' work, by selling subscriptions to The Hilltop Record. It's news that there will soon be a press box at Magly Field.

And what's different about these items of interest to you and your neighbors? It's this, the only paper where you could have gotten the full story of this news is The Hilltop Record.

Record readers are kept up to date on such things as what is being done to provide more parking space for Hilltop shoppers. They know how 150 children made a trip across the continent and struck gold by traveling no farther than the Hilltop Branch Library. They know about the teacher who has designed 216 houses and personally built 120 of them. They got first word of a big new real estate development being planned for W. Broad-st. They know that before a Hague-av wife went to New Jersey to take third place in the Mrs. America contest, her biggest worry was where to buy a bathing suit at the end of summer. They know how a Hilltop man made aviation history 42 years ago as he flew over Columbus in a balloon.

These are a few of the stories that our subscribers have read in the past few weeks. But what about the future?

You'll want to know all about the Hilltop man who returned from a hunting trip with two tons of beef. You'll want to know the standings in the Hilltop YMCA Talent Contest. From week to week you'll want to know the results as the Hilltop Record and J. Curtis Allen seek the most photogenic baby and child on the Hilltop. There are 6,907 pupils enrolled in schools on the Hilltop and you'll want to know when they make news.

We mentioned a contest early in this column. It's a good contest because everybody is going to win. Contestants who don't win a major prize will be given a liberal commission on the subscriptions they sell. But not the least of the winners will be those who subscribe or renew their subscriptions. They will be getting a year's supply of news and entertaining features that can be found only in The Hilltop Record.

To Compete In Motorcycle Race

Dick Klamfoth

Dick Klamfoth, Groveport youth, who will reach his 21st birthday Sept. 30, will be watched closely in the state championship motorcycle races at the state fairgrounds on Oct. 9.

Klamfoth is the 200-mile national champion by virtue of his time shattering victory at Daytona Beach, Fla., last March. His more recent wins are second place in the 100-mile race at Langehorne, Pa., and first place in the 100-mile race at Wasaga Beach, Canada.

He is rated in the first 10 in the expert class in the United States and Canada.

The day's program includes nine events plus the state championship race.

Entries of riders from Illinois, Michigan, Pennsylvania and New Jersey have been received to date.

The race is being sponsored by Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion, and the Golden-Arrow Motorcycle Club, Inc.

NEW WATER LINE

County officials disclosed last week that a water line is being installed along Hague-av from a point 150 feet south of Harrison-rd to a point 150 feet north of El Paso-dr.

Ribs Fractured In Traffic Accident

Robert Reed, 18, of 465 Binns-blvd, was treated in Mt. Carmel Hospital for fractured ribs when he was thrown from the rear seat of the auto in which he was riding in Rt. 62, at Derby-rd, four miles south of Harrisburg Saturday.

Highway Patrolman Stephen Hobar said Reed was riding with Herbert Dutoit, 18, of 3032 Wicklow-rd, and two other companions when the auto was sideswiped by another car.

Golf Course Plan Due This Week

Revised plans of the new municipal golf course on Trabue-rd are due back from the New York architect by this week-end, Phil Stout, Hilltop attorney and president of the city Recreation Commission, announced today.

Robert Trent Jones, golf architect from New York, is expected in Columbus this week with revised plans and aerial photos of the area surrounding the former Yeager home on Trabue-rd, near Wilson-rd.

In addition to a 27-hole course, the project will feature a park and picnic area.

First Meeting Of Hilltop Ministers Is Wednesday

The first meeting of the Hilltop Ministerial Association will be held at noon on Wednesday, Sept. 28, at the Westgate Methodist Church. The speaker for this noon luncheon will be Carlton Hartley, publisher of The Hilltop Record, who will speak on the subject, "Church Publicity."

Rev. Norman L. Schreiber, president of the association, announces a new policy this year of noon meetings every other month. The meeting in November will be the annual banquet, to which the ministerial wives are invited. The meeting in January will feature another Hilltopper as speaker. Jerry Spears, Sr., will speak on "The Funeral."

The meeting in March is planned for the Kiwanis Club members who have been asked to be the guests of the association at an Easter program. The arrangements of this program are in charge of Rev. Harold Dutt. The final meeting will be in May, with election of officers and the topic for discussion will be "The Pastor's Vacation."

IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Anna Perkins, 471 S. Ogden-av, is in only "fair" condition in White Cross Hospital where she was taken last week for a heart condition.

Kiwanis Drivers License Sale Ends Sept. 30

You have only a few days left to buy your new drivers license and it may be your best buy of the year, depending upon when you were born.

The license you buy this year will expire on your first birthday after Sept. 30, 1950. That means if your birthday is Sept. 30, the 40c license will be valid for two years. After this license expires you will renew it every three years on your birthday.

Drivers' licenses on the Hilltop are available at the C. C. Robinson Co., 2403 W. Broad-st, where the sale is being conducted by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. Kiwanians and their wives, who have forsaken the kitchen for the volunteer selling job, will be on hand to take care of you.

Licenses are on sale from 9 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. and will continue to be sold until Sept. 30, the date that the old licenses expire.

Hilltop Lions To Meet Wednesday

The new Hilltop Lion's Club will meet Wednesday, at 7 p. m., at Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, according to Richard P. Laird, secretary.

The club's charter is expected to be closed and plans started for Charter Night. Final committee appointments will also be made at the meeting.

Club President George W. Schaaf recently named John Keefer as general chairman of the Charter Night Committee.

Two Hilltoppers In Concert At Memorial Hall

Tommy Dale, 842 Clarendon-av, and Ziggy Coyle, 251 Nashoba-av, will be two of the musicians featured in a concert of modern American music in Memorial Hall Saturday.

The works of Gershwin, Porter, Kern, Dizzy Gillespie and other well known composers will be featured. Dancing to the music of Ziggy Coyle's Orchestra will follow the concert.

Coyle is instructor of instrumental music at East High School and Dale holds the same position at Starling Junior High. Both are graduates of West High School and the Ohio State University school of music.

Tickets are on sale at Heston's Music Store and Long's Bibliophile near the Ohio State campus.

Entries Open In YMCA Talent Search Search

Hilltop youngsters who would be "Stars of Tomorrow" will have an opportunity to show their talents in the contest by the same name to be conducted starting Wednesday, Oct. 5 at the Old Trail Theater and sponsored by the Hilltop YMCA.

First call for tryouts is being announced today and youngsters are asked to fill in the application blank printed below and mail or bring it to The Hilltop Record office, 2465 W. Broad-st, as soon as possible.

Any amateur living on the Hilltop, the territory west of Central-av, is eligible for the contest. The only requirement is that they be able to sing, dance, play an instrument, or perform in some other type of act suitable for presentation from the stage. They may provide their own accompanist or one will be provided for them.

All applicants will be screened by a special committee in charge of the contest and about eight will be selected for each Wednesday evening show.

First, second and third place winners will be selected each week and the first place winners from each weekly show will participate in the grand finals to be announced for later in the contest. Weekly elimination events will be held for several weeks until the talent list has been exhausted.

Valuable and attractive prizes will go to the winners and special large prizes will be provided for the finals. Plans are also being made for the finalists to appear on a special television show.

Winners of the weekly events will be selected on the basis of applause of the audience.

Regular admission prices will be in effect for each weekly show on Wednesday nights. This price is 45c. The Hilltop YMCA will share in all proceeds from the Wednesday evening shows for the duration of the "Stars of Tomorrow" contest.

Mrs. Knepper Is West Side Chairman In $1,300,000 Community Chest Drive

Women in the West Residential Division of the Community Chest campaign are more than busy these days anticipating the role they will play in the coming drive for $1,300,000.

In order to complete plans of procedure for solicitation the latter part of October, Mrs. Benjamin F. Knepper, 2672 W. Broad-st, chairman of the division, entertained her colonels and majors at a luncheon at the Scioto Country Club last Friday.

Mrs. Chester O. Cramer, 188 S. Westmoor-av, has been named co-chairman of the division, Ira M. Claggett, 2622 W. Broad-st, will serve as colonel in charge of business solicitation, and Miss Sarabell Henderson, 15 S. Algonquin-av, will be colonel for the residential section.

Assistant colonels are Benjamin F. Knepper, 2672 W. Broad-st, and Averille M. Thorne, Hilltop Y. M. C. A. Those who have volunteered to serve as majors include: Mrs. Joseph Hague, 44 Binns-blvd; Mrs. Joseph Briggs, 34 S. Algonquin-av; Mrs. Harold Mielke, 661 Binns-blvd; Mrs. Harry Knipp, 524 S. Wayne-av; Mrs. Donald Dewhurst, 24 S. Richardson-av; Mrs. Howard H. Hagans, 141 N. Powell-av; Mrs. Michael Sheakey, 361 Guernsey-av; and Rev. R. S. Parr, 522 Columbian-av.

Enthusiasm Mounts In $3000 Contest; Contestant List Continues To Grow

That list of prizes valued at more than $3000 being offered by The Hilltop Record in the big subscription contest, now under way continues to attract additional contestants. It is still not too late to enter the contest since there are more than six weeks left in which to work.

Contestants reporting this week for the first time are enthusiastic in their support of the drive and claim it is a lot of fun as well as having every assurance of being profitable.

Typical of the remarks was this from one candidate: "I'm out after the big prize, but if I don't win one of the big four I'll have the satisfaction of knowing that all the time I have spent on the campaign has been worth over $2 an hour." One candidate reported one evening he worked during which time he didn't have the first turndown. All of which proves that it will be a profitable contest for all those who work.

Additional candidates may enter the campaign by calling RA. 1125 or appearing in person at the Record office.

New candidates entering since the list was published last Thursday include:

Patricia Lantz, 676 S. Wayne-av.
Pat Manus, 659 S. Hague-av.
Thelma Neal, 36 N. Sylvan-av.
Betty Swayne, 90 Dana-av.

All candidates are due to make their first weekly report not later than today. They must continue to make weekly reports for the duration of the contest.

Persons subscribing are urged to request their copy of a printed temporary receipt from the solicitor. An official receipt will be mailed to the subscriber by the Record circulation department. This receipt will show the exact expiration date of the new subscription. Any renewals will date from the time of the present subscription now in force.

Persons who have been taking the Record and paying the carrier boy monthly will continue to owe their carrier boy for the present month. The new subscription will be in effect as of the first of the following month. Carrier boys will continue to receive their payment for delivery of the paper. All Record newsboys will make more money per month at the conclusion of the subscription drive due to the fact that they will have many more subscribers. They will likewise have to make fewer monthly collections.

Why not pick your favorite right now and give him or her your support by offering your subscription, and assist in getting subscriptions from your friends. Contestants may also take subscription orders for the Record as Christmas gifts to be mailed anywhere in the U. S. Out of town subscriptions to former Hilltoppers, friends or relatives will also count in the contest.

Two weeks remain in the first period of the contest. All subscriptions sold in this period are worth many more points than if received later.

A complete list of the candidates is as follows:

1. Jack Apel, 41 Powhatan-av.
2. Joann Kidd, 2259 Vadis-st.

Miss Charlotte Hoffman, Mr. David Evans Are Principals of Double-Ring Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. David Evans

Miss Charlotte M. Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Hoffman, 2857 Medina-av, was united in marriage to Mr. David Evans, Sunday, Aug. 14, in Linden Heights Methodist Church.

Mr. Evans' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Evans, 23 N. Warren-av. Rev. C. R. Williamson read the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline and long fitted bodice, accented with self-covered buttons down the back. Her fingertip veil of illusion was edged with lace and fastened to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and stephanctis, centered with an orchid. Her jewelry was a rhinestone tear-drop necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Agnes Jean Creager, maid of honor and cousin of the bride, wore a gown of buttercup yellow net over taffeta and a halo of net and flowers of matching material. She carried pink sunburst roses with pink satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Starkey, Miss Eleanor Shannon and Miss Nancy Delozier, junior bridesmaid, cousin of the bride. Their gowns were made similar to that worn by the maid of honor.

Evan Evans, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Bill Minturn and Lloyd Stemen of Pickerington. A reception for 75 guests was held at the home of the bride immediately following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Evans is a graduate of Linden McKinley High School, and is associated with the Ohio National Bank. Mr. Evans was graduated from Findlay High School and is with the Kroger Baking Co.

They are residing at 2857 Medina-av.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS NEWS NOTES

By Patti Holycross

Thursday night marked meeting night number two for Bethel No. 3. It was family night and also the first of our initiatory work. We took in four candidates and before I go any further I'd like to introduce them to you right now. They are Wilma Righter, Virginia Kendall, Carol Robinson and Darcy Crispin. They went through our treatment and came out with flying colors.

If you remember, in my last column I said to keep Thursday the 29th open. Now the time has come when I can tell you why. Thursday night we are planning to have a "Food Festival." The purpose for this get-together is to raise money for new capes for the line officers. It is open to everyone and we hope to have a fine tournout. Perhaps I had better explain what a food festival is, where it is, who's in charge of what, when it is, and how much it will cost. Three girls will be in charge of beautifully decorated food booths. The cost per serving will be five cents and we will do it up cafeteria style.

The various booths and those in charge are: potato salad, Mary South, Barbara Wendell, Glenna Walton; baked beans, Shirley Shroyer, Nancy Roby, Jeannine Dickendesher; potato chips, Marjorie Compton, Patty Smith, Shirley Truit; macaroni salad, Eileen Landenberger, Marilyn Davis and Peggy Jhenson; scalloped potatoes, Nancy Hardy, Cheree Kingsolver, Alice Weiler; salads, Barbara Wheaton, Mary Lou Manson, Jean Meservey; cakes, Ann Wilson, Sandy Ross, Mary Cummins; pies, Irene Curl, Phyllis Truitt, Irene Battinger; cookies, Collene Green, Pat Thompson, Pat Holycross; bittersweet, Jean Lockwood, Julia Billingsley, Thelma Lou Mugrage; coke, Jean Lahman, Kay Glass, Nancy Hagan. Our hostesses for the evening are Sue Lahman, Bonnie Wentzell, Linda Hall. Those in charge of entertainment are Nancy Hardy, Verna Manson and Joan Imboden. Mr. Cummins will show a motion picture and we will have a fortune teller but you'll have to come out Thursday night to find out who it is.

I don't think you could go anywhere else for an evening's entertainment and have lots of food, fun and yet cost so little. The public is invited to come and so let's make this a great big gala affair. The place: Schmelzer meeting hall, 3187 W. Broad-st. The time: 6 p. m. until?

So I'm hopin' to see you and you and you and you and especially YOU.

I almost forgot to mention that Sunday was "Go To Church Sunday" and was held at the EUB Church at Columbian and Springmont-avs.

Everybody's Business

Lack of Venture Capital Causes Profit Retention

As illustrated in the preceding column, a 10 per cent blanket wage boost would have reduced corporate net income about $5.2 billion.

The proportion of dividends paid to total private national income dropped from prewar 5.8 to 3.8 per cent. In view of the difficulty of selling equity issues as it is, it is hardly conceivable that much, if any, could be sold if dividend returns were further reduced.

"If it be assumed that wages are increased, but dividend payments remain unchanged, then — other things being equal—the balance of net income available for use in the business will be reduced.

In the foregoing illustration, based on 1948 figures, the drop would be from $11.9 billion to $6.7 billion. Yet, actually, according to the Securities and Exchange Commission, the corporations required a total of $21.4 billion last year.

This vast sum was used for expansion and improvement of plant, and to build up working capital for handling the expanded dollar volume of business. To finance this expansion of $21.4 billion last year, only $7.1 billion, or about one-third, was secured from outside sources.

This vast sum was used for expansion and improvement of plant, and to build the working capital for handling the expanded dollar volume of business. To finance this expansion of $21.4 billion, only $7.1 billion, or about one-third, was secured from outside sources.

Of the $7.1 billion, $5.9 billion came from long-term borrowing and $1.2 billion from the sale of new stock. The remaining two-thirds of the necessary funds came from retained earnings and depreciation accruals.

Had retained earnings been cut $5 billion or more corporate industry would have had a problem of desperate urgency to solve. Either their expansion and modernization program for meeting the public demand for goods (incidentally creating jobs) would have had to be cut back, or it would have been necessary to raise additional funds from these other sources.

But borrowing, which can't go on endlessly without being properly balanced by equities, was frowned upon as inflationary, while stock issues fell on an unreceptive market. As has been pointed out, depreciation reserves are inadequate to provide for future replacements at current higher costs.

It will be seen, from the foregoing, that shouted charges of "rapacity" and "corporate greed" do not answer adequately the question of "corporate ability to pay" the current demands.

It is not only a matter of what funds are available, and of which of various alternative uses will, in the long run, most benefit the well-being of our people as a whole. It is current consumption, on the one hand, and a continued "ever expanding economy" on the other.

How much of corporate income do we want to divert to everyday spending? How much do we want to plow back in improving productive equipment, which lowers costs and reaches new customers?

How much do we want, through research and application of capital, to use a substantial portion of corporate net income to the development of new products and new industries that create new jobs and satisfy new wants?

Ask yourself, would America really have been better off if still higher wages had been paid by industry after the war, thus intensifying public demand for scarce goods? Aren't we far better off to have used this money for the increase of production which has turned scarcity into aoundance?

In our next issue, you will find a discussion of the theory of the purchasing power argument.

SYNOPSIS

In the Victorian library of his New England home, Proctor Barlow meditates on the life of his late sister, Elizabeth, whose funeral service is about to begin. She and her small daughter, Katherine, had lived under Proctor's roof, and his tyranny, ever since the failure of Elizabeth's marriage to charming though dissipated Marvell Coomes. The despised estranged husband arrives from a distant city "liquored" as usual. He falls into a sound sleep and the burial proceeds without him. Awakening to find the mourners departed, Marvell encounters his little daughter, Katherine.

CHAPTER FOUR

KATHERINE was interrupted by the entrance of Annie. Annie had stayed with Miss Katherine all afternoon. She was a bright Irish girl whose stories and sayings were embroidered with brogue and good humor. She felt awfully sorry for the child losing her mother so young like that, she had told them downstairs. She had decided to cheer her up with [illegible]bric tea and the wickedest looking piece of cake with nile green and brown icing she had ever seen. She carried a tray set as correctly as if Aunt Emily herself were presiding. She stopped short when she saw Marvell. "Well, now, company, Miss Katherine. That's nice. I'll just go for another cup." Annie's opinion of Marvell was uncritical. She liked his easy-going manner, his voice, and above all his vitality. It was a pity he was on the loose so often, but every family had one of them, so why mind it as Mr. Barlow did? Annie was quick to notice the faint smell of whiskey. To her it was in no way objectionable—she turned directly to him and asked, "Maybe you'd rather have a glass of port, instead, Mr. Coomes?" It was a shame the way he had been locked in the library and prevented from going to his own wife's burial. Marvell thanked her inwardly. "I'll have tea with Miss Katherine, Annie, and a piece of that wonderful stuff," but he gave her a wink as she left the room.

Whether it was the promise of a drink or not, Marvell did not know, but as he watched Katherine arrange the table for tea he felt a glow of satisfaction in her unquestioned acceptance of him.

"I'll draw up this chair," he said, "and we'll tuck in as soon as Annie comes back." Katherine ran her finger along one side of the pastry and icing with a sidewise look at Marvell to see if he would scold. Gravely he took a small swipe from the other side. They both grinned.

Annie came back with another cup and saucer, more pastry and a glass of port. To her mind it should have been spirits, but she didn't dare touch the whiskey for fear Mr. Barlow would measure the bottle when he returned.

Katherine asked immediately, pointing to the port, "What's that for?"

"That's just tonic for your father, Miss Katherine," Annie answered quickly, "he takes it before tea."

She received this explanation with no comment, her eyes fastened on the cake dish, where a brown potato, just like a real one, lay in a ruffled frill of paper.

Annie closed the door on them softly. She had her satisfaction, too. The child was safe where she ought to be, with her father.

Marvell drank the port appreciatively, though he gagged a bit over the sweet pastry and weak tea. They shared the pieces equally except for the chocolate eclair which he declined in her favor. Between bites, Katherine kept up conversation. She was not a shy child and she was a little excited by Marvell's presence. She had a feeling she must make the most of his time. Her grief over her mother, with the accompanying strangeness of a new routine, had been cried out in the last three days. When she asked for her mother and was told she had gone away where she would be happier, her insides fluttered a little in fear, but this was often dispelled by Annie's kindness and Aunt Emily's soothing. At the moment she was conscious of nothing but Marvell.

She told him a good deal about herself indirectly. How she went skating on the Charles on double runners when she needed grown-up skates with boots now. She revealed that the geraniums had been brought up from Cape Cod last fall together with a starfish and two eels. Uncle Proctor had disposed of the latter. She went to a small private school nearby and explained in some detail the gold and silver star system of merits and the prizes. She was better at reading than anyone, but her writing sloped badly. She had persuaded her mother to have her hair cut just like a boy's in her class whose last name was Custard.

"Good lord," Marvell commented, "baked or boiled?" It was a joke she liked, made up for her, and she laughed delightedly, forgetting her secret admiration of the willowy little boy.

And Marvell, who usually preferred to talk rather than to listen, followed her intently in every detail.

There was a light knock on the door. It was Annie who announced warningly, "They've just driven up, Mr. Coomes." He got up quickly.

"Thank you, Katherine, thank you very much for the tea. I must go down to see your Uncle Proctor."

She stopped in the middle of her recital, a smear of chocolate on her cheek, disappointment in her whole expression. He was about to speak, but Annie stepped in again, "We'll take the tea things downstairs together, Miss Katherine," she said smiling, "shall we?"

Katherine looked up at her father. The fluttering was there again. "Goodbye," he said hesitantly. That was the nicest afternoon he had had in a long time. He would remember it, and he would remember the single runner skates too, when he got down to New York.

• • •

The drive back from Chestnut Hill seemed endless. Emily was sleepy and made delicate little grimaces in order to keep from yawning openly. She was grateful that it was all over and surely, she reflected, Proctor must have taken some comfort in the charming simplicity of the service which had been fittingly sad for the death of one so young.

To Proctor the whole thing had been a nightmare from the beginning and the waking would be as painful as the dream. The loss of Elizabeth was wound enough without the added salt of Marvell's return.

They drew up before the short flight of brownstone steps—the crepe had been removed and the whole facade of the house was gloomier than ever. There was a dim light in the hallway from the octagonal lamp that hung from the ceiling. Ellen was there to take Proctor's hat and coat and rubbers. Emily gave a soft-voiced order for tea.

"In the library, ma'am?"

Emily frowned. They must have discovered Marvell there. "Shall we have it in the library, dear?" she asked her husband.

"Of course, where else?" He was dreadfully impatient to get the rest of this day over with. "Ben will come by about seven."

Proctor found Marvell in the library, seated in an armchair in front of the coal fire which was glowing in reddish blue curls of flames. With the heavy curtains drawn and the lamps lit, the room was more inviting by night than by day. There was something maddening to Proctor in the way Marvell was stretched out before the hearth, more like the genial host than the unwanted relative-by-sufferance that he was.

"Hullo," he said, turning his head. "I see you got off without me."

Proctor ignored his greeting. "You will be staying for dinner, I presume. Ben Hall is coming."

"I wish you had awakened me. Didn't your friends expect to see me turn up one way or another? Cousin Amy won't sleep tonight for speculation."

Proctor braced himself against this easy tone. "No one knew you had come back," he replied evenly.

Marvell looked into the fire for a moment and then said irrelevantly, "Elizabeth was a lovely woman. Do you suppose Katherine will take after her?"

When had he seen Katherine? "Katherine is darker. I'll ask Emily to bring her down." Proctor's proprietary tone stung a little.

"Don't bother," said Marvell as Proctor half rose out of his chair, "we met this afternoon."

"Indeed?"

"Yes," continued Marvell, still without visible annoyance in his tone, "she wandered down here and I escorted her back upstairs. She seems quite grown-up."

"She is a subdued child." All this talk Proctor considered a waste of effort. His hands tightened on the arms of the chair. "We'll take her up to Maine early this year. She will need a change."

Subdued, my hat, thought Marvell, and wondered if she liked canoeing.

"What are your plans?" Proctor asked abruptly.

"I'm getting out, don't worry. Out of the job, out of Boston. You and Abbot can jog along how you please."

"You are aware, of course, that Elizabeth left you nothing."

"Not even something out of the legal courtesy due a husband?"

Proctor smiled thinly. "Elizabeth's income came from a trust fund, as you know, established by my father, and will pass to Katherine. Furthermore, she has little personal property in this house."

West Bows To Upper Arlington In 33-0 Defeat

By Dave Miller

Upper Arlington's great offensive spurts were just too much for the Cowboy eleven as the Golden Bears trounced the Cowboys, 33 to 0, on the Arlington gridiron last Friday afternoon before a jam-packed crowd.

On two places in the game, the Bears were getting off on a long run, and about to be downed when the runner suddenly lateraled to a man behind, and both times the lateral-receiver went on over to score.

Arlington received the opening kickoff, and it was run back to the Bear-30. After Doug Goodsell, fleet Arlington halfback, who was held touchdownless throughout the game, gained five to the 35, he fumbled the ball on a rough tackle by Cliff Voss of the Cowboys, and the latter recovered the fumble, and it looked as if West might start moving.

Charlie Hunter, recently brought up from the reserve team, went through off-tackle on two consecutive plays for seven yards. However, with the ball on the Arlington 28, Bob Birle's pass to the Arlington four-yard line was intercepted, stopping the West drive.

Arlington started their march for their first touchdown. Goodsell ran to the West 43. Then the Golden Bears ran for three consecutive first downs, before a 15-yard clipping penalty stopped them. However, Quarterback Ronnie Green went to the West ten.

After three straight plays without scoring, Arlington was pressed with fourth down and four yards to score. Green then lobbed a pass to left-end Don Maloney, scoring for Arlington. Bob Muller's attempted extra point was blocked by Jack West.

The Cowboys racked up 10 first downs, but their offense bogged down throughout the contest whenever they got near pay-dirt.

On the last play of the first period, Birle unloaded a bullet pass to Bill Thrush, completed on the Arlington-6, and it looked like a sure spot to score. On the opening play of the second period, Golden plunged to the four, but on the next play, fate caught up with West. Birle fumbled on a line-buck and Bill DeLong of Arlington recovered on the Arlington three-yard line.

Three plays later, Arlington scored again. Dick Young took Green's handoff in the backfield, and following beautiful blocking downfield, the big halfback raced to the West 20, where he was nearly tackled, and he lateraled back to Green, who was right behind him, and the quarterback of the Bears went over. The play covered 97 yards.

Miller booted the extra point and Arlington led, 13-0.

Play then continued at midfield for both teams, until Arlington's Goodsell again broke loose from the West 35 and again when about to be tackled he lateraled to Green, who went over to score his second TD of the evening. After Miller again kicked the extra point, Arlington led, 20-0, at half-time.

After a series of play following the half-time, Arlington started a drive that began on their own 25. After Green, Goodsell and Co. had come to the West 15, a 15-yard clipping penalty on West set the ball on the one-yard stripe. Dick McDermott and "Flip" Eppert stopped Goodsell on the goal line, but on the next play Green scored his third TD of the night, putting the ultimate winners ahead, 26-0. Miller's kick was blocked by Jerry Johnson and Jack West.

With 10 seconds remaining in the game, Frank Edwards tossed to Don Maloney for the final TD. Young passed to Triffon for the extra point, and West had suffered their second straight loss, 33-0.

Hilliards Wins League Opener 21-0 Friday

Hilliards won its first game in the County league last Friday by defeating Hamilton Township 21-0.

The Hilliards 11 made no attempt to kick the points after touchdown, but scored all three of them on running plays.

Hamilton staged a long march to the Hilliards 25 in the first period, but Hilliards reversed proceedings and marched right back to the 10 from where Lutz scored. Winkler plunged for the extra point.

Hilliards kicked-off but was given the ball on the Hamilton 40 on a penalty. Lutz went to the 17 and Shaner went for a touchdown. Shaner ran the ball for the point.

Hilliards drove deep into Hamilton territory where a fumble was recovered by Hamilton on the 25. The home team punted to the 50, Lutz went to the 30 and then scored again. Winkler made the extra point on a line play.

Tennis Matches, Party End Season For Westgate Club

Members and guests of the Westgate Tennis Club closed the 1949 tennis season Sunday at the Westgate courts, by participating in a "tennis roundup". Handicap tournaments were staged in Men's Singles, Women's Singles and Men's Doubles. Prizes were awarded to the winners in each event.

Dick Slager won the Men's Singles event by defeating Rev. Bob Scully in a well-played final. Mrs. Jim Haggerty won the ladies' championship and Jim Haggerty teamed with Francis Harvey to win a tightly contested doubles final from Rev. Scully and Ned Moore, the final set going 8 to 6. The competition was greatly enjoyed and the lights had to be turned on to complete the final doubles match.

After the matches refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bigler, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Forman Slager and Lee Dienst while the whole group gathered around a camp-fire.

Let's Talk Things Over

I heard of a man the other day who a few years ago decided to go into business on his own. He was quite a clever mechanic and a hard worker. He worked all hours, and pretty soon had a nice garage business. Then he began to add to his staff until it took fifteen people to run the now sizable organization. He was making up to $10,000 a year. He'd built a nice home. His kids were in a good school. He still had to keep on working hard. It was a one-man business, you see. His personality, his ability, his character, kept it going.

Then, one day, the end came following an accident. After his death, the enterprise collapsed. The driving energy was gone. The good-will of the business died with him. His family had to dispose of the business for a song.

And yet, with a Sun Life business insurance policy, this man's business could have been transferred to the senior employees, at a price which he, the owner, would have determined before his death. If I own a one-man business, I'd really like to talk things over with you sometime. It's important—to your family.

Let's talk things over—today!

Scouts Hold Roll Call Inspection

Hilltop scouters and members of Camp Chase Post of the American Legion are conducting inspection of local scout packs and troops in conjunction with the Boy Scout national roll call and uniform inspection.

Several packs and troops have already been inspected and others will be inspected during the next few weeks. Inspectors met recently and were instructed on the procedure to be used for the inspection by Cliff Matthews, field executive.

Each inspector is furnished with a roster of the unit he inspects so that individual attention can be given to the scouts.

Following is a list of the units, their sponsors, and the inspectors with the date they are to be inspected.

Sept. 20

Troop 37, sponsored by Westgate Methodist Church, inspected by Herman Eisele.

Air Squadron 9 and Explorer Ship 3, sponsored by Hilltop Kiwanis Club, inspected by James McCready.

Sept. 23

Pack 86, sponsored by John Burroughs School, inspected by Vernon Sanford, Joe Goodwin and V. A. Barbee.

Troop 89, sponsored by Sullivant Gardens, inspected by Charles Gressel.

Sept. 28

Troop 131, sponsored by New Rome PTA, inspected by Ray Eyerman.

Troop 147, spensored by Highland Avenue Friend Church, inspected by James McCready.

Troop 181, sponsored by Hillcrest Baptist Church, inspected by R. E. DeVore.

Troop 81, sponsored by Elks Lodge 37 and West Broad Street Presbyterian Church, inspected by Harry Drake.

Troop 250, sponsored by St. Aloysius Church, inspected by Vernon Sanford.

Sept. 27

Troop 219, sponsored by Club 219, Inc., to be inspected by Harry Drake.

Troop 49, sponsored by Wilson School PTA, to be inspected by Joe Fleming.

Troop 29, sponsored by West Park Methodist Church, to be inspected by Herman Eisele.

Troop 86, sponsored by St. John's Lutheran Church in Grove City, to be inspected by Vernon Sanford.

Troop 224, sponsored by Grove City Methodist Church, to be inspected by V. A. Barbee.

As Little As 25c A Day

On Robinson's Easy Meter Plan

Model NC-8

Just take a look at this beautiful refrigerator. It's the new 1947 General Electric Space Maker Refrigerator — the refrigerator that gives you one-third more refrigerated food storage space with no increase in kitchen floor space.

And look inside this great, new General Electric. Note the ample shelf space, the space for additional bottle storage, the deep meat compartment, and the deep, full-width fruit and vegetable drawer.

This is General Electric's answer to the demands of homemakers for more refrigerated food storage capacity. It's the greatest advance in home refrigeration in 20 years.

This new, advanced design is made possible by improved design and engineering of General Electric's famous "sealed-in-steel" refrigerating mechanism. It is smaller than the previous units, so it takes up less room in the base of the refrigerator. Yet it has ½ more refrigerating capacity, freezes ice 35% faster, and consumes less electricity.

How The Meter Plan Works

1. Choose Model you want from 10 new GE Models.
2. We deliver it immediately — no down payment required!
3. For your convenience in making payments we install a meter.
4. You merely drop as little as 25c a day into the meter.
5. Our representative will collect once a month and give you a receipt.
6. The daily small change you save will actually buy your new GE.

COME IN TODAY AND SEE OUR COMPLETE LINE OF G-E REFRIGERATORS!

Here's a whale of a refrigerator at a whale of a buy! You get 50% more refrigerated food-storage space than in older models occupying the same floor space. Wonderful for small kitchens.

You get practical features that you'll use every day in the year.

You get famous General Electric dependability. More than 2,000,000 G-E Refrigerators have been in use 10 years or longer!

Model NC8 50c Per Week

THE GENERAL ELECTRIC HOME FREEZER has the same type of sealed-in refrigeration system as that used in G-E Refrigerators. Further, it has Perfect Seal cabinet construction that prevents moisture from reaching the 4-inch-thick Fiberglas insulation.

Liner is aluminum. Removable wire baskets. Stain-resistant enamel exterior. 8-cu-ft freezer holds 280 lbs. of frozen foods.

Freezer Model NA8 75c Per Day

DELUXE 8-CU-FT SPACE MAKER packed with extra-special features including General Electric's famous butter conditioner in the door, a sliding utility basket for small-item storage, a sliding vegetable drawer. Gives one-third more storage space than old-style models in samfloor space.

Model NH8 75c Per Day

Dependability
More than 2,000,000 GE Refrigerators in service 10 years or longer

REFRIGERATOR-HOME FREEZER COMBINATION with separate compartments and SEPARATE DOORS. Each compartment separately refrigerated and separately insulated. Freezer compartment can provide zero temperature at all times. Will quick-freeze foods and store up to 5 pounds of frozen foods. Lower compartment is a Space Maker refrigerator that needs no defrosting! The storage space of the lower compartment alone is equivalent to that of an 8-cu-ft standard refrigerator.

Television Shows Are Looking Up

With the connection of the coaxial cable this past week Columbus television fans are quite enthusiastic in their remarks about the type of TV programs now available.

Local appliance dealers report an exceptional sale of sets over the past week-end and predict that the demand will increase right along.

Edward Lamb, president of WTVN, atop the Lincoln-LeVeque Tower, speaking to the Hilltop Kiwanis Club meeting last Thursday, predicted that no sets would be available in a few days after the new lineup of programs was made available and after people saw their first football game via TV.

Many a Hilltopper is saying, "I'd rather sit home in an easy chair and see the game than to have to buck that traffic to Ohio Stadium."

New Homes Being Built At Hospital

Two new homes for State Hospital physicians are being built on the institution's grounds on W. Broad-st, Thomas H. Brison, hospital business manager, reported today.

The homes, one double and one single, are due to be completed by Feb. 1. They are being built by Kent Bros. Co., contractors.

Also under construction at the institution is an addition to the hospital's power plant. This will allow room for a new generator.

Subscription Contestants Have Over 250,000 Points

With the first report of candidates in The Hilltop Record $3000 subscription drive now in, it was revealed this week that the campaign is off to a good start with a total of more than 250,000 points earned by the candidates by Tuesday evening.

Every indication is that this is a mere drop in the bucket and that many of the candidates have not turned in nearly all the subscriptions they have sold to date.

The really good workers in the contest are beginning to show up in reports now coming in and to date 15 candidates have turned in good reports which indicate they have been busy. Any one of 10 of these candidates could still win the first prize, that four-door Dodge sedan valued at $2066, being purchased from West Side Motors, Inc.

In a survey spotted throughout the community this week the Record circulation department reveals that many of the candidates have not yet started a systematic house to house canvass in many sections of the Hilltop.

Less than two weeks remains in the first period of the contest, during which time every subscription is worth considerably more than it will be worth in succeeding weeks. The first period ends on Oct. 11, after which the point value of subscriptions will fall about 20%.

In order to assist your favorite candidate you will do the most good by turning your subscription order and money over right away. Then too, signing up for two to five years will assist the candidates toward many more points.

A special subscription order blank will be printed in the Record next Tuesday to make it possible for present readers to sign up for their favorite candidate and mail it to the office if the candidate has not called in person. The Record has been advised by numerous people, "No one has called on me for a subscription yet."

As of today it is anybody's race and even newcomers to the race have an excellent opportunity to enter and win one of the major prizes, the Dodge sedan, a $528 RCA Victor Television set, a $250 grocery order, $150 in merchandise or cash awards. Everyone will receive at least a 20% commission on all orders turned in.

If you would like to have a new Dodge sedan call the circulation department of The Hilltop Record right away for full details. Six more weeks work can be worth over $300 a week to you.

Two new candidates entered the contest this week:

Mrs. Carl Spohn, 486 S. Wayne-av.

Thurman Bendy, 113 Emalth-rd.

Delays Honeymoon To Take Part In Motorcycle Race

Paul Myers

Paul Myers, Harley rider from Cleveland, is one of the riders who will race in the "Legion-Arrow" State Championship Race at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Sunday, Oct. 9.

Myers won the Ohio TT Motorcycle Championship for 1948 and '49. He has won more individual races in Ohio this year than any other rider, which makes him the winner of the "Hall of Fame" award for 1949.

The day before the race has been set as his wedding date. But his bride-to-be insists the honeymoon be postponed several days so he will be able to enter the race.

Time trials for the races start at 10 a. m., with the day's program beginning at 1:30 p. m.

Camp Chase Post No. 98, American Legion and the Golden Arrow Motorcycle Club, Inc., are co-sponsors of the race. Proceeds will go towards the Hilltop Veterans Memorial Building Fund.

Drivers' License Sale To End Saturday

The sale of drivers' licenses on the Hilltop has been extended to Saturday, Oct. 1.

They will be on sale one extra day after the official deadline. The licenses are on sale at the C. C. Robinson Co., 2403 W. Broad-st. The sale is being conducted by the Hilltop Kiwanis Club.

Licenses are on sale from 9 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. The 1949 license expires on Friday, Sept. 30.

'Great Books' Remain Modern Even Today; Are Basis of Today's Thinking

By Bill Gibbon

In a few weeks Hilltop residents—store clerks, housewives, mechanics, professional people, almost everyone—will be reading, studying and discussing with their neighbors, classics by Plato, Aristotle, St. Augustine, Machiavelli, Shakespeare, Locke, Adam Smith and Karl Marx.

Starting on Oct. 10, Hilltop neighbors will come together every two weeks to discuss what they have read in 18 "Great Books."

These Hilltoppers — in their class of 20 or so—will not be alone in their endeavor to learn more of the past in order to better understand the present and the future. More than 10 million "little" Americans—a few with college degrees, a few with only grammar school training, most with a high school education—will meet in groups all over the country to talk about Plato's "Republic" or St. Augustine's "Confessions" or Marx's "Das Kapital".

A description of the "Great Books" discussion series tells us that the books "in actual age . . . may be a few days or a few thousand years old, but in content they are as modern as today." Certainly this is true, for the books that have been selected for this study are the basis for every phase of thinking today.

That is the reason Robert M. Hutchins, Chancellor of the University of Chicago, and one of the founders of the Great Books Foundation, and his distinguished board of directors have picked such books.

They are the root of modern thinking in democratic government (Plato and Locke), economics (Marx and Smith), religion (St. Augustine), law (St. Thomas), literature (Shakespeare and Milton), philosophy (Kant and Nietzsche), psychology (Freud), and so on for every field of thought.

It is obvious why we—any of us, regardless of educational background (because higher education is not required for this discussion group)—should be eager to take advantage of this excellent opportunity to learn and thus be better equipped to comprehend what is taking place in the world of today.

This "Great Books" discussion course is so designed and so priced that all may enjoy its merits. Any adult may enroll and for only $9.60 for the entire 18-weeks course. This covers the cost of the books. There is no registration fee.

The discussion course here is sponsored by the Franklin County Librarians' Council. The council began training discussion group leaders last winter.

One of those to take this training was Mrs. Stella Rafsnider of 3003 Crescent-dr. She is a typical housewife who became interested in the "Great Books" series because "I felt I was getting into a rut." At present she is leading a group at Trinity Church and would, in all probability, be the leader for the Hilltop group.

If you are interested, drop into the Hilltop Branch Library, 21 N. Hague-av, and register with Mildred Phalor for this excellent course.

Better take advantage, and do it today while there is still room in the group. Mrs. Rafsnider said that she is anxious to start the group Oct. 10.

West High Booster Club Plans To Build Press Box; Membership Goal 2000

The baseball bleachers, above, were moved behind the south goal posts of Magly Field as a Booster Club project, thus accommodating 1300 more spectators at football games.

• • •

Accomplishments Includes Scoreboard, Moving Bleachers

By Myron T. Seifert

Benefactor to West High School athletics is the local Booster Club.

Thousands of dollars have been raised, and spent by the Boosters, all dispensed to many worthwhile projects at West High.

"Our goal this fall is 2000 members," said President Lee Weigand, 3181 W. Broad-st, one of the men whose untiring, unselfish devotion to the cause, has helped to make possible the legion of services to the local school.

Other officers are: Wes Edstrom, 895 S. Hague-av, vice-president; Jack Sensenbrenner, 335 Guernsey-av, secretary; Phillip Stout, 3532 W. Broad-st, treasurer.

Probably the most active, energetic organization of its kind in the country, its membership is eager to see that West High is one of the top schools of the country—and pledges an "all-out" campaign with this in mind.

Major project this year is to provide necessary funds for the erection of a press-box on Magly Field, "second to none among high schools anywhere," Mr. Weigand said.

A modern press box with modern facilities and equipment, will enable the school to get broader and better coverage of its athletic contests, and attract sport scribes, who can work under more favorable circumsances, subsequently making better news copy for readers. Yes, it's a dream, but past experience has shown that what the Boosters undertake the goal is always realized.

The "13 Club" a civic group of 50 members on the Hilltop, last week made an initial contribution of $50 to the Boosters' Club for the West High press-box.

Booster services to the high school are legion, and constant study of West High needs, in conjunction with recommendation of Principal I. F. Young, and athletic coaches are paramount considerations on the Booster agenda.

Last fall the Boosters sponsored a paper drive on the Hilltop which netted "a pretty penny."

The newly paved blacktop approach to Magly Field and the new electric scoreboard.

This, plus a dip "in the Booster treasury" was used to move the former baseball bleachers westward, behind the south football goal post on Magly Field, thus accomodating 1300 more spectators at athletic contests.

In addition, the Boosters, last fall, installed an intercommunication system between the press box and the Cowboy field benches, enabling Coach Pemberton and the press box spectators to compare notes as to what exactly was taking place on the field.

The club appointed in 1947, a committee of two, Mack Pemberton, coach, and the late Dr. C. O. Cramer, team physician, to visit the Ohio State University for the purpose of learning about the latest training room equipmen for athletes with a view of using the recommendations of the coach and doctor as part of the West High athletic unit.

The Boosters purchased, upon recommendation of these two, whatever equipment seemed necessary for a training room at West.

This equipment is to be of the movable type and will be used not only for football, but for all other sports.

Then, too, the official electric scoreboard with its up-to-date appointments on Magly Field was made possible through the efforts of the Boosters.

Spectators who attend the game, now follow the progress of the games more accurately.

The new blacktop surfaced walk leading from Powell-av to the stadium seats, making for safer and more comfortable walking in bad weather is another project in which West High Boosters participated.

These and a hundred other services help make the West High Booster Club one of the tou-flight groups of its kind in the nation.

Hilltop Man Loses Bout With Bandit

While no youngster, a Hilltop service station attendant took his chances in a fighting bout with an armed stick-up man and lost. The robber got away with $15 in bills and a few dollars in change in the early Wednesday holdup.

Aza Burkhead, 52, of 43 Binns-blvd, told police a man stepped into the Spur Filling Station, W. Broad-st and Glenwood-av, about 3 a. m., pulled a revolver from inside his shirt and demanded his money.

Burkhead said he tried to knock the gun from the man's hand but the bandit got the upper hand and forced the attendant into the wash room where he took the money.

Six months ago Burkhead was the victim of another bandit who fled the station and was chased but not captured by police.

Champions Get Their Ribbons

Shown above are West High drafting students at a recent assembly as they were awarded ribbons won at the Ohio State Fair, where the West entries won the state championship for the second consecutive year.

West won nearly 100 of the 187 awards for drafting. Bob Cromwell was state individual champion, his 13 entries taking 10 ribbons.

'Will Clean Park Lake' Says Koontz

"Westgate Park's lake will be cleaned up." That's what Henry Koontz, city councilman and chairman of council's Service Committee, had to say yesterday about the park's condition.

"We want the county to improve its sewer system out that way so that the park's pond can be kept clean. If we can't legally make the county do it, I'll see to it that the project is included in next year's city budget," Koontz stated.

The council's Service Committee this week turned the matter over to the city attorney's office. This office was told to consult the county commissioners on the matter.

According to Koontz, Baxter Evans, a member of the city attorney's staff, is working full time this week in order to make a report at next Monday's council meeting on the Westgate Park situation.

Because there is no sanitary sewer along Derrer-rd, just west of the city limits, city health officials report that the lake park is contaminated

Eakin-rd Man Says Law 'Crammed Down Our Throats'

An Eakin-rd real estate broker today notified County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett that he is circulating a petition requesting an investigation of a pamphlet distributed by the Franklin County Planning Commission "which influenced voters in favor of the rural zoning law," and an attorney general's ruling setting aside the law in Franklin County retroactive to the date of inception.

Harry C. Downing, 2050 Eakin-rd, said today that the law "is not being intelligently administered in Franklin County." He claimed that the planning commission has issued a pamphlet on rural zoning and had "crammed the law down our throats."

In a recent letter to the governor's office, Downing said that the pamphlet "presented facts for zoning, but not those facts, theories and comments which would have presented the case against zoning."

Rural zoning was made possible in Ohio by an act of the state legislature in June, 1947. All but two of the townships in Franklin County adopted the zoning plan, however three of them may repeal the law in referendum votes at the next election.

Mr. Downing stated that a referendum of the issue would have been held in Franklin Twp. if the petition had been circulated in time.

Downing claimed that the zoning restrictions in the township were established without any of the officials examining the property they zoned. He said that for intelligent zoning the officials would have to inspect all of the property under their jurisdiction.

"I am not in this fight merely for my own gain," Downing said, "I am more interested in just laws and intelligent administration than I am in my personal problems and I intend to see this through."

Here's Chance To Win $10 For Grid Predictions

Do you have a system for predicting the scores of football games, or are you a good guesser?

In either case you will want to get in The Hilltop Record "Professor Pig-skin Contest." It's easy to enter the contest.

Each Tuesday through football season a section of the paper will be set aside for the contest. Among the advertisers on the page will be listed four games scheduled for the following weekend. You pick out the games and then pick the team you think will win and what you think the final score will be.

Each week's winner will be awarded $10 and the runner-up will get two theater passes.

Co-sponsors of the contest are Abbott Laundry and Dry Cleaners, 1580 Sullivant-av; West Side Lumber and Coal Co., W. Broad-st and Big 4 Railroad; The Teeter-Inn, 2755 W. Broad-st; Georgiton's at W. Broad and Hague, and W. Broad and Eureka; Goodwin's Pharmacy, 2772 Sullivant; Rodenfels Chevrolet, 555 W. Broad-st; County Auditor Fred C. Dunn; Gearhart Hardware, 2387 Sullivant-av; Kirwin's Restaurant, 2449 W. Broad-st; Mary Lou's Beauty Salon, 10 S. Hague-av; Central States Laboratory, 585 N. Hague-av.

See Tuesday's Record for complete details.

Harry E. Hessinger Funeral Friday

Services for Harry E. Hessinger, 61, of 1691 Sullivant-av, who died Tuesday of a heart attack, while at the throttle of a New York Central passenger train three miles northwest of Marysville, will be at 10:30 a. m. Friday at the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home, 1278 W. Broad-st. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery, Circleville.

En route from Toledo to Columbus, the train was brought into Union Station by Hessinger's fireman, Elmer Jones, 2150 Indiana-av.

An employe of the New York Central for 42 years, Mr. Hessinger was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Laura M. Hessinger, and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Brooks of Cleveland.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

It's Not Too Late To Send In Coupon For First 'Stars of Tomorrow' Show

There's still time to be considered for the first "Stars of Tomorrow" amateur shows for Hilltop youngsters at the Old Trail Theater.

Coupons mailed or delivered to The Hilltop Record office by Saturday morning will be in time for the show to be given Wednesday, Oct. 5. The show is being sponsored by the Hilltop YMCA.

Any amateur living on the Hilltop who can sing, dance, play a musical instrument, or perform in any other act suitable for presentation from the stage, is eligible for the show.

Three prize winners will be selected at each show, chosen on the basis of audience applause. The first place winners will participate in the grand finals of the show.

Weekly shows will continue until the supply of talent has been exhausted. Plans are being made for the finalists to appear on a special television show.

A plan was announced this week whereby Hilltoppers could earn tickets to the show. A free ticket will be given for every 10 tickets sold. Those wishing to sell tickets should contact Averille Thorn at the new offices of the YMCA at 2622 W. Broad-st.

The regular admission price of 45c will be in effect for the weekly "Stars of Tomorrow" shows.

The bouffant skirt was worn over an old-fashioned hoop and cascaded into a circular train. Her full length veil of imported silk illusion was held in place by an illusion bonnet trimmed with pearlized orange blossoms and a ruffle of lace to match that used on the gown. She carried a purple-throated orchid on a white Bible and carried a lace handkerchief.

The maid of honor, Miss Martha Brown, and matron of honor, Mrs. David Brown, wore identically styled gowns of gold brocade fashioned with portrait necklines trimmed in amber velvet. The basque bodices buttoned down the front in a row of tiny matching velvet buttons and sashes of matching velvet were tied around their waists. To complete the picture, they wore matching sweetheart bonnets of brocade trimmed in the same velvet. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Solm Brown, Mrs. Donald Manson and Miss Jeannie Mayhew, wore gowns styled identically to those of the honor attendants in green brocade trimmed in dark green velvet.

The best man was Mr. Clyde Buchanan and Mr. George Brown, Mr. Dean Buchanan, David Brown and Doyle Buchanan seated the guests.

To greet her guests at the reception at the church following the wedding, Mrs. Brown chose a teal blue dress with black accessories and wore a picardy glamellia corsage. Mrs. Buchanan was attired in a wine dress, black accessories and wore a caroma glamellia corsage.

West Opens City League Play Against North Friday

By Dave Miller

West High's Cowboys will begin their 1949 City League season Friday evening when they encounter a rough North High eleven on the latter's gridiron at 8 o'clock.

The locals will be seeking their 13th consecutive City League win in the encounter Friday and of course, by that fact, they are slight favorites to win the game. However, the Cowboys shouldn't take their opponents too mildly, as the Polar Bears have whipped Cincinnati Hughes, 26-6, and lost to Newark, 32 to 6.

They are rated one of the toughest in the loop, and also have one of the most experienced coaches in the business, Mike Hagely, who is starting his 29th season as North grid mentor. Hagely made a change this year in the North offensive set-up. His defense now runs from the "T" instead of their usual single wing. For all the seasons Hagely has been at the Polar Bear school, he has run them from the single wing, being the only City Loop team to do so. However, this year he has run from the T against Cincy Hughes and Newark.

The only comparison of scores between the two elevens is the fact that North was downed by Newark, 32-6, and West, playing the Bears in a practice game Sept. 9, was defeated only 27-7. However, it must be considered that in the Newark-West encounter substitutes were used frequently, but in the North-Newark clash, it being counted in seasonal records, the ultimate winners played their first stringers much longer.

Coach Mack Pemberton says he is going to go along with the same lineup that started against Upper Arlington last week. This backfield consists of Bob Birle at quarterback, Cammie DeMatteo and Ronnie James at the halfs, and Clarence Golden at fullback. However, such backfielders as Don Nafzger, Charlie Hunter, Frank Carson, Walt Binkley, LeRoy Hood, Jerry Johnson and Willie Evans will see service.

The North backfield will consist of a hard-running back, who scored three touchdowns against Cincinnati. He is Charlie Zepp, a senior, who weighs 195 pounds. At quarterback for the Polar Bears will be Zack Willson, and at the halfs, Bob Blanchard, a letterman, and Joe Bourne. Zepp will be at full.

The Cowboys' last City Loop loss was to Central, 12-6, in the last game of the season in 1947. From there on, for two seasons, they were undefeated in league play.

West Side Girl 'Gives All' For Baseball Team

Wanda Williams, well-known West Side baseball player and coach in the girls' diamond league, likes the game, takes it pretty serious, and, in fact, has just about given her "all" for the sport.

During her career on the diamond, which covers playing with four teams, including the Avondale EUB Church squad, she has received more injuries than many big league veterans.

While playing in the USA tournament a few years back, Miss Williams suffered a severe dislocation of her left elbow when she attempted to reach second base safely.

But that's only a part of it. In games around the West Side in recent years she has torn three bones loose in her ankles and broken her right hand once.

She's a good player, too. Her batting average is .450, and in fielding she rates .998. This season she played with the Shepard Athletic Club which won the A. S. A. Central District "B" tournament for girls.

At present she is sergeant-at-arms at the Shepard A. C.

Ohio Basketball Coaches To Meet At West Oct. 28

West High School will play host to the annual clinic of the Ohio High School Basketball Association on Friday, Oct. 28. Coach George Williams, West's basketball mentor, is chairman of the program.

Five hundred high school basketball coaches from all over Ohio will attend the all-day program, which will be held in the school's auditorium. School will not be held on that day because of a teachers' meeting.

Slated as speaker at this first all-day clinic are Ed Hickey, coach of the University of St. Louis; Harold Anderson, Bowling Green coach; "Tippy" Dye, bucket mentor at OSU; Joe Martin, coach of the Lockland, O., Wayne High School champions; Warren Scholer, coach of Hamilton High, and Paul Walker, Middletown High coach.

In addition to West High and the basketball association, Ohio State University and Ohio Athletic Association are also sponsors of the conference.

West X-Country Team Set For Meet Sept. 29

By Myron T. Seifert

In the hope of retaining their city and district championships of last year the West High cross country team has been working out after school for the last several weeks.

Coach Rufe Glass has only one letter man returning from last year's squad, Ronnie Coup. Ronnie was the city and district champ and finished 18th in the state last year. He is only a junior and will be back again next year.

The remaining boys working out for positions on the squad are Cliff Everett, Dick Pendell, Bob Wood, Jerry Witherspoon, Bill McCrady, Malcolm McCoy, Jack Luebering, Jack Perkins, Ken Roe, Bill Shelton, Wilbert Werling, Dick Burnett, Allen Parker and Dick Conrad.

The team is pointing for the city and district crowns with the city meet scheduled for Oct. 19 and the district meet for Oct. 29. The remaining schedule is as follows:

Sept. 29—South at Ohio State
Oct. 6—Newark at Newark
Oct. 11—Marion and Worthington at Worthington
Oct. 25—Springfield at Springfield

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Cub Pack 86

Cubs of Den 2, Pack 86, welcomed nine new members in their den, at the home of their den mother, Mrs. Charles Meddles, 507 Binns-blvd, last Friday.

The new members were Mickey Leach, David Eagan, Jackie Lamando, E. G. Bucheib, Bill Kern, Dick Glass, David Dawson, James Elliott and Billy McLaughlin.

Cubs graduating from Den 2 into Scouting are Earl Mangold, Bob Edwards, Gary Glass, Freddie Martin, Walter Renner, Bob Courtney, Jimmy Wilson, Mike Ranney and Dick Vadakin.

Plans are being made for a barbecue at Westgate Park for the new members and the graduating Cubs given by the old members of the den.

Cub Pack 250

The St. Aloysius Cub Pack 250 graduated 13 Cubs into Boy Scout Troop 250, Thursday, Sept. 22. The candlelight ceremony was held by Scoutmaster Jean Jaquay and the Boy Scouts.

A party was held in honor of the graduates after the meeting.

The graduates were: from Den 1, Pat Mahoney and Frank Wolfe; Den 2, Fred Gallucci, Donald Kienle, Wayne Claggett, Robert Maxwell and David Shea; Den 3, Jerry Walsh; Den 4, William Kenney, Paul Sipe and Dennise Martin; Den 6, Bob Lee and Mike Sheskey.

Scout Troop 250

Troop inspection was held the past Monday night for Boy Scout Troop 250 in the school annex. The 13 new Boy Scouts attended the meeting. The troop was well represented by the parents and committee members.

Announcement of the new Boy Scout Mothers' Club, now being organized by Mrs. K. L. Martindale and Mrs. Ted Roberts, was made. The first meeting will be held Oct. 3 at 7:30 p. m., in the annex.

Old Wall Surrounding Ancient York Is Relic of Days When Romans Held City

Returning to Vermont we found that Martha had been busy preparing a fine dinner for us.

Ted told us of his experiences two years ago when he traveled in America from New York to San Francisco, his first visit across the Atlantic. He told of the old Guild Hall in York and how it was bombed during the war. He told of having carried from the Lord Mayor of York to the Mayor of New York a gavel made from one of the old oak beams of the Guild Hall. As he told this Ted gave to us something which we will always prize. It is only a piece of wood but it is wood with a history. The memento is a piece of one of the old red oak beams from the bombed Guild Hall. The hall was built in 1447 so that the wood we have is 502 years old and what a story it could tell of the songs and the talk which used to fill the hall to its rafters. This piece of wood is almost as hard as rock; it is in perfect state of preservation and has a beautiful feather like grain in it. For my own future reference I am noting here that Ted reminded me to cut this wood along the flat side if I should ever have the block cut into two parts and wanted to bring out the full effect of the feather grain.

Saturday, June 25

We had just awakened this morning when we heard Martha excitedly calling, "It's our David. Our David is home." There was joy in the Tempest home at this moment. Two days ago David, the eldest son, had come home on furlough from the RAF. It was his last furlough before being sent to some unknown place across the seas. It had been a sad moment at home when he had left for this unknown destination from which he would not return for at least two years. This morning David returned on an unexpected leave. He will be here today and tomorrow before again taking his final leave.

Martha left soon after David's arrival to go to Harowgate for her Saturday session at the bookshop. Violet and I went with Ted to wait on the Great North Road for a bus to York.

Going along the road toward York, Ted was pointing out all the places of interest with which, as a native, he was very familiar. Crossing a stream at one time he called attention to the bridge (Padhorse Bridge, I think it was) a relic of days gone by. In those days horses and some small carts were the usual means of transportation so the bridge was built to accommodate them. Today it is just barely wide enough to allow a bus to cross.

Further along we came to the Village of Tockwith. It is a very small town, without industry and completely surrounded by countryside. One wonders why this place would ever be a target for war bombs, yet it was. One night during the war one or more bombs dropped on the town, resulting in the loss of 60 lives out of a total population of not much more than 120. Ted told us of conditions that night when he and men from miles around came in to assist. He said that this was one of the places where the clothing, donated so generously by people from America and other countries, was so much in need. Within two hours after the blast the homeless residents had been provided with supplies of clothing from warehouses which had been set up many miles away.

At Marston we were at the point where Cromwell defeated, in 1600, the Royalists during the Civil War in England. After a total ride of an hour or so we came to York. Our stopping place was called the Toll Gate. This was just outside the city walls opposite a gate where there had once been a toll bar. It was only a short distance from our stopping place to the old wall. This old wall was built by the Romans and still stands intact to surround completely the city of York.

It gave us a queer feeling to walk through the narrow gate leading through the wall into the town. One could not help imagining what this place must have been like in those old Roman days.

Inside the walls we walked along historic street until we came to the River Ouse which we crossed by an historic bridge. In the railings of the stone bridge and in the stone walls of buildings along its side were carved numerous roses signifying that this once was part of the stronghold of those taking part in the War of the Roses. White roses, if I remember right, were supported by those who fought here.

Beyond the river we soon came to the Minster, the great cathedral which gives York the right to be called a city. This beautiful cathedral was built in the year 927, or at least it was started at that time. Like all other cathedrals it probably never will be completely finished as there is always something to be added or remodeled. While Ted guided us through the Minster he showed us where workmen were busy replacing some old beams which had become infested with "death watch beetles', insects which were destroying the wood in much the same way as termites destroy American buildings. In other parts workmen were replacing the ancient art glass windows which had been removed for safekeeping during the war.

While the Minster as a building dates back to 927 its records go even further than that. One of the memorials is to St. Paulinus, the first Bishop who served the church as early as 625. Many other memorials were shown to us and explained by Ted as we roamed through the corridors. Among them were those erected by many of the early members of the Minster. Some of these were partially destroyed, not by bombs but by Cromwell during his armed fight of protest against the Catholic Church of his day. He was so sure in his belief that Catholics worshipped idols instead of God that he destroyed, or damaged, every statue he found in the churches he attacked. Many of those damaged in the Minster were nothing more than memorial statues erected in memory of departed members of the congregation.

From the cathedral we entered the Shambels, a section of Old World buildings reputed to be the most perfectly preserved of these ancient structures. The street down which we walked was not much wider than a medium sized automobile. The sidewalks were wide enough for only one person to traverse. Two people walking abreast found it difficult to keep together unless one of the couple did most of his walking in the street. The buildings were of the pre-Elizabethan type with great oak beams criss-crossing the front wall. Most of these buildings, from the second floor, were built so as to extend out over the sidewalk so as to give a feeling to the pedestrian that he was walking through a covered street. Most of the shops along this street are now catering to the tourist trade but their uniqueness makes them interesting just the same. Almost everyone has a bay window in which to display wares. These bay windows on shops which themselves are not much larger than an ordinary small living room add still more to the impression of days gone by. From the Shambels we followed other narrow streets to the old Guild Hall. This was especially interesting because it was the building from which the part of a beam, given to us by Ted last night, had come. The Hall for centuries was the headquarters for the Guild, or trade unions of those days. It was a great square stone building whose interior was just one immense room used as a meeting place. The bomb of the recent war had destroyed the entire roof of the building but had left all four walls and the stone floors intact. At the present time the city government has some temporary sheds built in the interior which are used as offices.

Beside the Guild Hall was the Mansion House, official residence of the Lord Mayor. Ted had made an appointment for us to visit the Mansion. We arrived there right after lunch at the appointed time. The Lord Mayor was not at home but he had arranged to have the official butler meet us and show us through the House. The butler has served in this capacity for a great many years, so he was full of information about the origin, history, uses and past and present tenants of the house. Magnificent grandfather clocks, tapestries and paintings seemed to be in every room. Rich furnishings and jeweled ornaments filled the rooms. In the dining-room the brilliantly lighted cut glass chandeliers were throwing their rays onto an immense dining table, capable of seating at least thirty guests, which was completely covered with the official family silver. We were told by the butler that the silver here displayed had a value of over $150,000.00. He picked up each piece for us to look at while he explained where it was made and who, among kings and queens and other notables, had originally donated the item. After having circled the table looking at the many beautiful table pieces we were just about ready to pass on to other rooms when the butler lifted from the center of the table the last shining item. It was made of sterling silver and beautifully engraved. Holding it up to our view, the butler told us, "This is the Royal Chamber Pot" which had been presented to one of the former English Monarchs.

From the Mansion House Ted took us down one of the narrow streets close to the Minster. Here was another mansion-like house known as the Treasury House. It was built in 1500. Until a comparatively few years ago the treasurer of the Minster was provided with a mansion and all its services in the same way as the Lord Mayor. This is no longer the practice and the house today is kept in its original state as a museum. Bricks used in the construction of the fireplaces in this house were made by the Saxons so they are undoubtedly very much older than the house in which they are contained. The dining room, besides the old fireplace, had another feature which interested me but which I could not quite verify as far as my ideas was concerned. At one end of this hall were two small balconies, each just large enough to allow a person to stand on it. In my own mind I thought these might have been used by singers or musicians during a large banquet and I wondered if they might not have been designed for the old minstrels who used to be the royal entertainers during banquets of olden days.

From the Treasury House we sauntered back to the city gates passing, as we did so, another of the city churches. Here a wedding ceremony had just taken place and the assembled witnesses were waiting on the sidewalk to watch the bride and groom emerge. We waited a few moments until we saw them come out and get into a waiting car. The new couple were now man and wife but as their car started away it carried no announcements to a curious world. There were no old shoes, cans or bells attached to the car, not even a "Just Married" sign. Having seen the end of a wedding we finished our walk under the Roman wall back to the toll gate and from there to the railroad station. Here we went back to third class traveling, said goodbye to Ted with similar sentiments to Martha, boarded a train which brought us back to London in time for supper.

JOE BRIGGS Says:
Poliomyelitis is a "jawbreaker" but worse yet it's a heartbreaker.
Call it poliomyelitis, polio, or infantile paralysis—it all adds up to a lot of suffering, anxiety—and EXPENSE.
No one can say when or where this most-dreaded disease will strike next. But you CAN be prepared for the expense it involves—with a "2 for 1" policy, which covers your entire family for TWO years for ONE premium—which is only $10. The premium for individuals is $5 for the two-year period. There is no age limit for adults, and all unmarried children 3 months to under age 18 can receive benefits.
Remember — this policy pays polio-incurred expenses up to $5000 for each afflicted person. No waiting period. Can YOU afford to gamble with polio? Better consult Joe Briggs today about this vital, yet inexpensive, protection

Columbus To Join Bell TV Network Early In October

The Bell Telephone System plans to add Columbus to its television network facilities on total service basis on Oct. 8, but also plans to open the service on a part-time basis by Oct. 1, it was announced today by Philip Gibbs, district commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

The part-time service will operate over one channel of radio relay between Columbus and Dayton. At Dayton the radio relay system connects with coaxial cable which extends to Toledo, where it connects with the main east-west coaxial cable.

Network programs to and from Columbus will be piped over coaxial cable installations running to television broadcasting stations here. Programs originating here will be piped to terminating and relay equipment located on the 40th floor of the network by coaxial cable.

The horn-type antennas on the Leveque Lincoln Tower can be used for either transmission or reception of micro-wave signals so that they can either relay signals to Dayton for relay to the main network or receive transmission from that point.

Two intermediate relay stations are being constructed between Dayton and Columbus and Cincinnati. The relay towers are located so that they can direct the micro waves along an unobstructed line-of-sight path from one tower to the next. These towers range from 60 to 200 feet in height, depending on where they are constructed.

The coaxial cable is as big as a man's wrist and contains eight copper tubes, each about the size of a little finger. One pair of these tubes can carry hundreds of telephone conversations and with the addition of electronic equipment can also transmit television programs. An entire tube is needed to carry one television program one way.

Odd Fact

For the third time in twenty-eight months two women shared the same room at the same Dorchester, Mass., hospital after delivering their third babies.

THE RIGHT MISTAKE

I know you've kept your illusions all the years,
And I adore your gift, although it's late
(My birthday being on the fourth and not the seventh;)
But husbands are expcted to forget the date.
I'll always treasure them, although I cannot wear them—
Proving your typical beloved blindness. Oh, thank heavens
You never seemed to know—those dear, ridiculous, sweet slippers—
You bought them in size four, and I wear sevens!

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

What's NEW in my NEWS today? Well, I see some NEW television aerials aloft. SANDS are happy about theirs. Who wouldn't be—having it installed in time for football season?

CAMPBELL'S just got their NEW one connected about the time for the game to start. Wasn't that some fight with Missouri?

MEYERS also enjoy watching their NEW television set. Our neighbors over there on Butler will all be confined to their homes watching shows.

Better watch our wives. They'll be forgettin' to cook the meals, once these soap operas get on the screen.

"Not a NEW furnace," said MRS. PAUL CAMPBELL, "but just as good as one. We have a gas conversion. It suits us fine not to have to fire a furnace."

(Nope, I'm not selling anything in the gas line. My line is mostly gas, anyhow.)

Yep, and the NEW fence the Meyers on Mound-st have, plus the NEW refrigerator. Even their house has been NEWLY repainted. Looks sharp, too.

Now this is something that isn't new. In a home over here, one wife was reading an article in The Hilltop Record to her neighbor, which said last week that "the streetcar tracks were going to be removed on Sullivant-av." The neighbor remarked, "Good. I'm glad. Those tracks were a hazard to driving." Then the reader noticed she was reading under the heading of "Five Years Ago." Tut, tut. Do women really know what is going on, after all? Anyway they had a good laugh about it. Born 5 years too soon, I'd say.

Sorry to learn our friend and neighbor over here on Belvidere, LOREN HIGHFILL, was hit by a car. He is recovering from a broken hip in White Cross Hospital. He'll be home next week but must stay in bed a couple more weeks. Good luck, Mr. Highfill! We'll be over to see you.

MRS. SCOTT underwent a nose operation. She is getting along fine, and is almost well.

LINDAMAN'S little baby daughter loves to ride in the new Pontiac.

Our neighbors are still vacationing. We thought going away on one vacation was pretty soft, but when WATTS went again on another week-end! Oh boy! It must be nice. This time CORDRAYS went along.

The wind blew some news into my den last week, after my column had already been rolling off the press, so here it is.

The BERNARD FLOYDS went tripping on their vacation up through the New England states after they visited Niagara Falls. In Boston they viewed the cemetery of signers of the Declaration of Independence. They also saw the old town hall and Paul Revere's home. Remember Paul Revere's ride? Neither do I. I meant in history.

Mrs. Beverly Willoughby and Mrs. Bert Albright were guests for several days at GREENOS' They hail from Circleville, as do GREENOS.

Anyone going to the pumpkin show down there this year? The frost is nippin' the pumpkins. As a matter of fact, I feel it nippin' my nose right now, and it's puttin' out my cigar—so, so long, folks!

Nine Girls Count West Tax Stamps

By Myron T. Seifert

Nine West High School girl students, known by the impressive name of Sales Tax Clearing House Student Officials, count the sales tax stamps turned in by the students at the school. The girls work at the job during the first period each morning.

These stamps are turned in to the state of Ohio and converted into cash, to be used to replenish the general school fund and help in financing worthwhile projects about school.

The girls are already making rapid strides in setting up their business enterprise. The school clinic, adjoining the school office, is used to house the sales tax equipment, and from this quarter the stamps are counted, tabulated, weighed and processed for shipment to the state sales tax office on Gay-st.

Students enjoy this task, and take great pride in doing an accurate and neat job, Margaret Campbell, adviser for the group, said.

Students this semester who are cooperating in this laudable school enterprise are Carol Tanner, 149 S. Algonquin-av; Katie Lorenz, 3009 Fremont-st; Shirley Rein, 25 S. Ogden-av; Patty Pryor, 385 S. Warren-av; Mary Kimball, 314 S. Harris-av; Nancy Fleming, 461 S. Wayne-av; Gloria Brockington, 417 S. Burgess-av; Kathryn Lentz, 463 N. Hague-av; and Diana Kasler, 251 Pasadena-av.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cook, 163 N. Guilford-av, daughter, Wednesday in Mt. Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith, 2544 Brown-rd, daughter, Wednesday in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Carr, 297 S. Chase-av, son, Tuesday in Grant Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fielding, 225 Midland-av, daughter, Tuesday in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown, 550 Columbia-av, daughter, Monday in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Marriage Licenses

Ten West Siders To Appear In Vaudeville Show At Memorial Hall

Three major performers and seven youngsters from the West Side have parts in the "Preview of 1950" vaudeville show to be presented twice on Sunday, Oct. 9, at Memorial Hall.

Best known of the group are Raymond E. Hathaway, 378 S. Burgess-av, and Fred E. Washburn, 255 S. Sandusky-st, members of the Buckeye Song Busters, formerly the Singing Sheriffs, who will offer barbershop harmony in the approved style.

Mr. Washburn, a bass for 20 years, has teamed with Fred T. Hawkes in a blackface team known as the Scandalmongers. They appeared in John W. Vogel's minstrel shows and belong to both the Shrine Chanters and the barbership singing society. Mr. Washburn is with the county board of elections. Mr. Hathaway, a baritone, was a member of the Godman Four during its 12 years of entertaining. He also is the Shrine Chanters. His daytime occupation is bailiff in the court of Judge Duncan.

Lois Neff, 17, of 3263 Springmont-av, young coloratura soprano and West High School student, is one of four promising singers from the Dorothy Stevens Humphrey studio selected for this show. She hopes to enter the entertainment field after graduation next spring.

The seven youngsters are all tap dancing pupils of Jack Sherick at the Jorg Fasting studio. They are Sharon, Sheila and Sonya Albery, 2634 Ellicott-av; Nancy O'Brien, 560 Clark-av; Nancy O'Brien, 316 Midland-av; Dianne Doyle, 815 Chestershire-rd, and Dolores Moriva, 2932 Fremont-av.

Headlining the show is the Mt. Vernon Harmonica Quintet, making its road debut.

Other units in the production are Frank LaRue and his Seneca Hotel orchestra, playing in the pit, and Jack Courtney, Columbus magician. Chet Long, news commentator on WBNS, will be master of ceremonies.

Tickets are being sold at Heaton's Music Store.

City To Observe Fire Prevention Week Oct. 9-15

Chief Walter G. Strickfaden of the Columbus Fire Department announced today that Columbus will participate in the observance of National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-12.

He appealed to all the citizens of the city to be doubly cautious of fire hazards during this week. Most fires occur in homes, Chief Strickfaden said, and about 75% of these are caused by careless-ness.

V of A Expands Visiting Program

The Volunteers of America project for shut-ins, the Sunset Club, is expanding its program, according to Lt. Col. Susan Thom, whose Columbus headquarters are at 379 W Broad-st.

"We built up a record month of 75 hours spent visiting 368 aged and shut-in members of the club during September," states Lt. Col. Thom. This month's activities also included two parties.

Mrs. P. T. Gillie is the Volunteers of America visitor.

West Band Presents Novel Show At Arlington Game

By Dave Miller

West High's marching band put on another great show at halftime of the Arlington-Cowboy grid game last Friday evening at Arlington. For the first time this year, they were greeted by competition from another band.

Before the game, the band had a novel formation as it came upon the field. Assistant Director Tom Dale thought up the idea of having the band line into two separate lines. On a drum beat, the drum row came out to the five-yard line, and the two lines marched out, slowly forming the band together.

The band went down the field to the tune of the two West fight songs. Arlington's band then came inside the local band, and united to play "The Star-Spangled Banner."

At halftime, the band displayed their same fanfare, and went down the field playing, "You Be a Football Hero" and forming a football. They then broke formation and formed an "O" with the outside and inside lines having white lights and the middle having red. The band revolved, forming the letter to the tune of "Fight the Team." The band then formed an "M" and sang "We don't Give a Darn for the Whole State of Michigan."

They then formed "CAL" and played California Here We Come" and, because the Rose Bowl game is played on New Year's Day, they played "Auld Lang Syne." From there they formed a "UA" and played Arlington's fight song, turning from there and forming a "W" and playing West's two fight songs, followed by the Alma Mater.

Named To Head Ice Show Group

Mrs. C. E. Brady, 742 Binns-blvd, a member of Twig 4 of Children's Hospital, has been named general chairman of the "Holiday on Ice of 1950" show, which is to be sponsored by the 86 twigs of the hospital.

The show will be held Friday night, Oct. 7, in the Coliseum on the state fairgrounds. The proceeds will go to the Polio Center at Children's Hospital.

Mrs. Brady is also in charge of tickets to be on sale at a booth in the lobby of the Deshler-Wallick Hotel.

PLAN CONCERT NOV. 30

Plans were made for a concert by the Columbus Civic Concert Orchestra to be held Nov. 30 at Central High School by the concert committee of IOOF and Rebekahs at a meeting last Friday.

The proceeds for the concert will go for a new hospital building at the Odd Fellows' convalescent hospital in Springfield.

Curtis Ell, 56 Hull-av, is chairman, and Thomas R. King, 686 S. Ogden-av, is treasurer of the committee.

CROAIRE the sensational NEW WAY TO HEAT WITH GAS

Just $25.00 Down
Easy Budget Terms

Here's the automatic heating system that makes regular furnaces and ordinary heaters completely out-of-date. Patented Coroaire is different and definitely better than any unit yet developed.

SENSATIONAL SAVINGS

After you install Coroaire, you won't believe the low figure of your gas bill. Users in the coldest part of the nation, in the coldest months of winter, report heat for the cost of a light bill, as low as $5.00 per month average for five and six room houses.

Coroaire is a miracle of post-war development. It is a completely automatic heating system that cleans, humidifies and circulates warm air. Coroaire has design and construction features no other brand can offer you. Quick and easy to install as an automatic washing machine.

SENSATIONAL COMFORT

Coroaire is completely safe. Once you see the thermostat and sit — no attention required. Coroaire's automatic system tumbles air from a deep-pitch fan in a gentle continued circulation, automatically cleaned by an efficient filter ... automatically humidified for healthful enjoyment, and every room of the house is supplied with a regular temperature with no waste of fuel.

SENSATIONAL QUALITY

The heavy cast-iron heat exchanger of Coroaire and the finest automatic controls are marks of good value found only in high grade units. Quiet operation and complete comfort make Coroaire the quality leader. No other unit of this size does a complete heating job as well.

COROAIRE with exclusive Patented features
THE GREATEST ADVANCE IN HEATING IN THE LAST 50 YEARS

HERE'S THE BIG DIFFERENCE

Imagine a heat-radiating surface of 96 sq. ft. That's the secret of Coroaire's sensational thrift. The patented venturi-type heat exchanger gives you more heat indoors, cuts up-the-chimney heat loss. There's nothing like Coroaire at any price. See how it can save money for you.

AUTHENTIC REPORTS FROM USERS PROVE COROAIRE IS THE BEST BUY FOR YOU..!

Documented proof of Coroaire economy can be found in the actual records of homeowners in the Great Lakes area. Reports like these are prevalent:

"My six-room house is heated during the coldest months for never more than $5.50 per month. Coroaire is a wonderful invention."

"After installing Coroaire we noticed a big drop in gas bills. For the season, our records show we saved nearly 50% of heating bills."

"Our change to Coroaire has saved us over $6.00 per month this winter."

The records of Coroaire economy are available to anyone who cares to investigate.

'4-Mill Levy Needed At Once, But We Will Keep Commitment to People'--Fawcett

In a public statement on the public school levy to be submitted to the people on the Nov. 8 ballot, N. G. Fawcett, new superintendent of schools, said:

"One of the most important responsibilities of a board of education is to decide on the amount of financial support required by the schools to operate a school program which will meet most of the needs of the children and yet be within sound and reasonable financial limits.

"For many years the Columbus Board of Education has been working to improve its financial structure and to develop its educational program as rapidly as funds would permit. During recent years the cost of operation and maintenance, the cost of supplies and equipment, and the need for salary adjustments has increased to such an extent that present resources are no longer adequate to underwrite the cost involved in keeping the Columbus schools up to acceptable standards.

"The board has made a careful study of this problem during recent months since a two-mill levy is expiring and must be renewed at the November election this year to pay the bare cost of operating the schools at the present level. Since no additional funds have been forthcoming from the state or from the federal government, it is now apparent that we must go to the people and request the necessary additional funds to operate the schools.

"An examination of publicity materials used during the promotion of the bond issue in 1945, and some investigation of public opinion reveals that the board is committed to keeping the total tax rate in Columbus within a 20-mill limit until after November, 1950. This commitment was made to the people of Columbus and to the Metropolitan Committee, and it is the intention of this board of education to keep faith with the people.

"While every effort has been and will continue to be made to live up to this agreement, the board senses its responsibility to provide sufficient income in the years ahead to move in the direction of expanding and broadening the special services of the schools, of adjusting salaries of teachers and employees to an acceptable level, and of providing for a more adequate program of regular maintenance and equipment replacement.

"Therefore, the board of education has seen fit to ask for a four-mill levy in November, only two mills of which will be in addition to the present rate. Since adding two mills to the present rate would violate the commitment to the people to keep the total tax rate within 20 mills until after November, 1950, the board is committing itself to collecting only 2.7 mills during the first year the levy is in operation and four mills during the remaining period.

"This decision fulfills the commitment to the people and yet provides adequate millage in the years ahead to take definite action on the problems listed above.

"The passage of the four-mill levy will make it possible to begin building a program which might include such services as a division of curriculum and instruction and additional emphasis on fine arts in the elementary schools, household arts in the junior and senior high schools, health education, radio education, audio visual education, and child guidance.

"While four mills is needed at this time, the need for the fifth mill will need to be delayed for a period of one year until all four mills can be levied. Until that time plans will be developed and some attempt will be made to adjust salaries, expand some services and develop a long range program of regular maintenance and equipment replacement."

PTA News

By Myron T. Seifert

West High School's PTA program for the ensuing year was announced this week by Mrs. L. S. Will, 611 S. Warren-av, president.

Initial general meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 27, at the Hilltop school, when new superintendent of schools, Novice Fawcett, will be guest speaker. Cost of Services

A larger slice of our income than would have been normal prior to the war now goes for telephones, streetcars and buses, and taxicabs, according to recent surveys.

On the basis of prewar experience, it costs more these days to be hospitalized, belong to a club and secure legal advice. The poor old M. D., however, is not taking a bigger cut of the public's disposable income.

Contrary to the general impression, garages and mechanics and repairmen, and the cleaners and dyers are getting less of the pie than might be expected.

Business

The cost of doing business is not the same thing as the cost of staying in business. The successful enterprise bears a share of the burden of the failures; those who guess wrong, and helps pay the cost of the many social services entirely unrelated to that industry.

Only if the company can cover all such costs out of current production will it preserve its own and society's resources intact.

—?—

5c Fare

It is hard to understand how Columbus can point with pride at the "nationally famous 5c bus fare" without embarrassment over the king-size power rate which makes it possible.

"No Contract, No Work"

It is to be hoped that the great John L., between blasts, hasn't become too exalted to chuckle wryly over his celebrated "no contract-no work" hokum boomeranging into "no contract-no royalty payments."

However, chuckle or no chuckle, the gentleman wouldn't stand still for the horse play if he didn't have to.

Britain

Having pointed out some of the inaccuracies and deficiencies in the current campaign of our own labor movement, it is only fair to aim the same finger at another's soft pedalling.

The London Economist, frequent critic of the Labor government, is widely and frequently quoted in America as the high priest of the 2 plus 2 equals 4 doctrine.

With forthright honesty, this leading Conservative financial weekly has declared that "Britain's present difficulties are not due to anything that can properly be called Socialism; they are not due, save to a minor degree, to policies of the Labor government that would have been substantially differently applied if another party had been in power; and to make the present crisis the excuse for an anti-Socialist campaign will hinder rather than help toward its solution."

—!—

M. or h?

The writer has learned the hard way not to use "friend" loosely. Always, at Jewish New Year's time, it is our custom to send a greeting to two dear people whom we are lucky to count real friends. When it dawned on the proprietor of the greeting card shop that this gentile was up to something special, we were welcomed with this story:

A teacher of very little folks canvassed her flock with the question, "And where do you want to go when you die?" The children all chose Heaven. Finally she came to a small Jewish boy—

Teacher: And how about you?"

Boy: "I want to go to hell."

Teacher: "WHAT!"

Boy: "Hell, of course."

Teacher: "For Heaven's sake, WHY?"

Boy: "Well, that's where they say business has gone."

What Other Editors Say

CONSIDER YE EDITOR! A child is born to the wife of a merchant in the town. The physician getteth ten plunks. The editor writeth a stick and a half and telleth the multitude that he child tippeth the beam at nine pounds. Yea, he lieth even as a Centurion. And the proud father giveth him an El Verso.

Behold, the young one groweth up and graduateth. And the editor putteth into his paper a swell notice. He telleth of the wisdom of the young woman and of her exceeding comeliness. Like unto the ross of Sharon is she, and her gown is played up to beat the band. And the dress-maker getteth two score and four iron men. And the editor getteth a note of thanks from the sweet girl graduate.

And the daughter geeth on a journey. And the editor, throweth himself on the story of the farewell party. It runneth a column set solid. And the fair one remembereth him from afar with a picture post card that costeth six for a jitney.

Behold, she returneth, and the youth of the town fall down and worship her. She picketh one and lo, she picketh a lemon. But the editor calleth him one of our most promising young men and getteth away with it. And they send unto the editor a bid to the wedding, and behold, the bids are fashioned in a far-off city.

Flowery and long is the wedding notice which the editor printeth. The minister getteth ten bones. The groom standeth off the editor for a twelve month subscription.

All flesh is grass and in time the wife is gathered unto the soil. The minister getteth his bit. The editor printeth a death notice, two columns of obituary, thre lodge notices, a cubit of poetry and a card of thanks. And he forgetteth to read proof on the head and the darned thing cometh out, "Gone to her last roasting place."

And all that are akin to the deceased jumpeth on the editor with exceeding jumps. And they pulleth out their ads and canceleth their subs, and they swing the hammer even unto the third and fourth generations.

Lo, ye poor editors!

SYNOPSIS

In the Victorian library of his New England home, Proctor Barlow meditates on the life of his late sister, Elizabeth, whose funeral service is about to begin. She and her small daughter, Katherine, had lived under Proctor's roof, and his tyranny, ever since the failure of Elizabeth's marriage to charming though dissipated Marvell Cousnes. The despised estranged husband arrives from a distant city "liquored" as usual. He falls into a sound sleep and the burial proceeds without him. Awakening to find the mourners departed, Marvell encounters his little daughter, Katherine. In her cheerful up-stairs room in the Barlow house, father and daughter become affectionately acquainted.

CHAPTER FIVE

NO ONE got on Marvell's nerves more quickly than Proctor. "Well, it is all settled, then," he made an impatient gesture. "But I'll need some money to get on my way."

"Naturally," said Proctor coldly. This man would bleed him as long as he could—until Katherine had her own income. Thank God she could never touch the principal. Proctor's words were tinder to the dry anger that was stored up inside Marvell. Now he flared forth.

"Look here," Marvell got up and came nearer to Proctor. "I don't want anything from you. You couldn't begin to pay me back for what I've done for your firm. You'll have enough on your conscience in making up to Elizabeth some day. I need enough money to get down to New York and to live on till I get settled. I won't come back for more. You gave me a dollar once, remember? It was when we were living in Cambridge, a Christmas Eve when I'd stopped in here to wish you all well. And you gave me a dollar to get a hack home! I bought a bottle with that dollar, all right, as you thought I would, and I walked home. We drank it together, Elizabeth and I—did you know that? She was happier than she had ever been and was free enough to drink a toast to 'the ogre.' That was you, her dear brother. Why didn't you let her alone?"

Proctor looked at him with narrowed eyes. He didn't believe a word of it, but it hurt him nevertheless.

"You choked her to death in this featherbed of a house."

"You'd better not say any more," warned Proctor in a low voice.

"Why didn't you let her take the chance thousands of other women take when they make a poor marriage? Why didn't you let her face it? She could have made something out of it if you had left her alone. You made her a weakling. If she had been a man she would have drunk herself out of it."

"Do you propose to stay in this house after saying this?" The words were like stone pebbles thrown against a window pane.

"Do you think I want to? I'll clear out. You can give me some cash and a check now." Marvell's voice had been loud, now he dropped it and said almost courteously, "And I want to thank you for keeping me out of sight this afternoon. You did me a good turn."

Without a further word, Proctor walked over to the desk and pulled out his check book. He was writing the check as Emily entered.

• • •

Ben Hall arrived for dinner a few minutes before seven. He had walked down from his house on the Hill in a cold drizzle, in the hope that the brisk walk would be a stimulus against the evening ahead which he frankly dreaded. He had noticed Marvell's absence this afternoon. Did that mean he was not yet in Boston?

He rang the bell and brushed the coat of mist from his shoulders. Ellen, admitting him, still wore that peculiarly respectable air of gloom with which she had greeted all visitors the last few days.

"Mr. Barlow asks that you go right upstairs, Mr. Hall. He will be with you in a few minutes."

Ben was rather fond of this awkward, elaborate house. He was familiar with the massive stairs that led to the second floor library, the heavily carved hand rails painted an ivory color gleaming against the red damask walls. He felt the softness of the maroon treads through his thin evening shoes. For a regretfully short time he had climbed these stairs very regularly to call on Elizabeth Barlow with the never-too-confident hope that she might eventually marry him. A classmate of Proctor's in college, he had always been welcomed here. Later, as legal advisor, he had further tightened his friendship with the whole family. Tonight, however, he was faintly apprehensive of his reception.

The library was chilly, the coal fire had died down, and the quiet emptiness was forbidding. He took out of his inner coat pocket some thin Manila envelopes and laid them on the desk. Then he sat down and picked up the newspaper that lay on a side table. The headlines, delicately leaded, were remotely concerned with the Dardanelles. He turned first to the editorial page as he did automatically every evening. The door opened, and Ben got up peering out of his circle of light into the shadows at the far end of the room.

"Did you think I was a ghost, Ben?" asked Marvell.

Ben shook his head. "I had a feeling you would turn up."

"I overslept this afternoon. Bad manners." He went over to the fire, raked a poker through the low burning coals and shook on some coal from the brass scuttle. Ben watched his easy movements. His hair is quite gray, he reflected, as the coal dust momentarily flared up in the grate. Marvell straightened up. He had shaved and his starched white shirt crackled crisply. Emily had taken care of these details.

"You know," Marvell continued, "fate is unkind. I spent my bottom dollar to get here in time and then missed the show."

Ben looked at him curiously. There was no rudeness in his tone. No disrespect, merely a regretful note of his own laxity.

"I am very sorry about Elizabeth," Ben said. "You have my sympathy if you wish it."

"Yes, I know." He smiled reassuringly at Ben as if to promise he would be no bother at all. Ben felt the new warmth of the room thawing his personal reserve.

"Oh, the newspaper." Marvell fingered its pages.

"You've seen Proctor?"

"It hasn't changed an inch, has it? Same weather man writing his heart-felt prosy reports 'March thus far keeps a remarkably even tenor for a month famed for its boisterousness.'" He grinned at Ben, with a look of sharing a secret. "'Since we opened we have not had a day of which we could fairly complain. We are not yet out of the March woods . . .'"

Ben could not help smiling back at him.

Marvell walked back and forth in the long room. "I have one pleasant recollection of this room. It was the night I first met Elizabeth. There was dancing out in the hall and the front room. The punch bowl was over in that corner."

Ben nodded. "I was here, too."

"I was office help, so I didn't know anyone except Proctor and his father. You know, I almost stayed away. But my room on St. James Avenue was so cold I had to go somewhere. I used to patch up the furnace for the landlady when I was behind in my rent."

"Steam heat seems to have affected your life in more ways than one," Ben observed dryly.

"Not here. There has always been a damp draft here."

"I always liked this house," Ben said defensively.

"You don't live in it. You nest cozily on Chestnut Street. How is your wife, Ben?"

"Very well, except for a slight cold. We expect a baby in May."

"Good!" Marvell stopped his pacing. He frowned. "I saw Katherine this afternoon."

"What did you think of her?"

"What did she think of me, you mean. There isn't much of her to think about—she's only eight. How will Proctor feel about her if he ever has a child of his own?"

"That depends," Ben answered slowly, as if he were trying to piece out the future. "He may be very hard on her."

"Oh, she'll be good. She'll be safe."

"Nothing may ever happen to her, in that event." Ben was thinking aloud.

"Well, what really happens to any of us?" Marvell demanded. "I live in the future so much that when it comes it's stale."

They heard voices in the hall. Emily fluttered in ahead of her husband, exuding apology, greetings and honeyed sachet.

Isaiah Is Called

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Isaiah 6

By Alfred J. Buescher

In the year that King Uzziah died I saw also the Lord sitting upon a throne, high and lifted up, and His train filled the temple.

Then said I, Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips: for mine eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts.

Then flew one of the seraphims unto me having a live coal in his hand; he laid it upon my mouth, and said, thy sin is purged.

I heard the voice of the Lord saying, Whom shall I send? Then said I, Here am I; send me.

MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 6:8.

Congregation To Dedicate Church

The Church of God, which recently purchased the church building at 116 S. Wayne-av, will dedicate the new quarters at services on Sunday, Oct. 2, at 3 p. m.

The Church of God formerly held its services at 3319 Sullivant-av. Rev. Heard was the minister of this church from 1931 to 1936 when he was called to Chicago. He returned here in 1945.

Since that time the congregation has purchased the parsonage at 91 S. Oakley-av, in addition to the new church.

Dedicatory remarks will be made by the pastor, Rev. Patrick Heard, and visiting ministers at the dedication services. Everyone is invited to these services.

Brotherhood Plans Meetings

The Men's Brotherhood of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church will present Arthur J. Vorys as the principal speaker at the first of five meetings of the season, on Oct. 21, 1949.

Vorys will tell of his trip with Commander Donald McMillen aboard the "Bowdin" into the frozen north on an expedition to Newfoundland, Labrador, and up the coast of Greenland. With the aid of color slides he will tell of "life Among the Polar Eskimos."

Vorys has also been a member of the Marine Corps, being wounded on Okinawa. He is at present attending the college of law at Ohio State University.

Tickets for the series of meetings sell for $5.50 for the entire series or $1.50 for each meeting. Dinner at the meetings will be served at 6:30 p. m. Unless otherwise announced, all meetings will be held at the church.

Community Sunday School Rally Day Observance Oct. 2

Sunday, Oct. 2, will be observed as Rally Day in the Hilltop Community Sunday School. This Rally Day observance will mark the first service in the church's new auditorium. The school is attempting to double its average attendance thus far this year.

For eight years the congregation has been worshipping in the basement unit. Although the church is not complete in every detail it is the plan of the congregation to complete it in the near future. Thus far the church's plan has been to pay as it builds.

The church is located at 179 N. Huron-av. An invitation is extended to the public to visit there next Sunday at 9:30 by Rev. J. L. Dean, pastor.

SCHOOL FAIR

The annual Briggsdale School Fair will be held Friday evening. The auction will begin at 8 p. m.

10:30 a. m. — Holy Communion. "Two Basic Stewardship Considerations."

THE man in this picture is reading the help wanted ads in his daily newspaper. He is out of work. His money is gone. In short, he appears to be worried. We would call him "down and out."

Persons who have come to know God and to rely on Him as their infallible guide to peace of mind in life are never confounded. Those who are out of work or who have otherwise fallen into situations of misfortune are never dismayed if they place their trust in God.

Regular church attendance teaches man how best to live so that his greatest problems are stepping stones to a more glorious future, to a fuller inward contentment.

"Ask and it shall be given," our churches teach us. Asking with the faith that our prayers will be granted, according to God's will, opens the door to employment and solution of life's other problems that beset us.

Your church needs you. You need your church. Why not seek the Kingdom of God and His righteousness if you prayerfully desire that life's blessings shall be added unto you?

W. Richards, associate manager, 268 Brehl-av, headed the leading staff. J. Stanforth and Waldo Davis were first and second place winners.

The prizes were presented at a picnic. Chet Wagner, 667 Wiltshire-rd, was in charge of arrangements for the picnic.

Wifey wired from resort: "In four weeks have reduced my weight by half. May I stay a little longer?"

Hubby replied: "Stay another four weeks."

Record Carriers At Wiener Roast

Pictured above with circulation manager Bob Maxwell is a group of Hilltop Record carriers at the wiener roast given for them at the Hilltop YMCA. Carriers ate hot-dogs, baked beans and donuts; drank cider; played baseball; and attended a free movie at the Westmont to see "The Life of Riley."

On The Record

By Harry Franken

We Have A Week Of Our Own

When an industry or a profession has a week dedicated to it, it gives members of that industry or profession an opportunity to look back and see the progress made through the years.

During donut week we hear of how the dunkers' delight has gone into mass production, and the superiority of the donut machine over the old cup and thimble method of manufacture. During national air week we are told of how the first flight of a plane was no longer than the wing-span of some of our modern air giants.

This is National Newspaper Week and my first impulse was to write of how much faster and better papers are turned out today than in the old days of hand-set type and hand operated presses. The linotype machine that sets the type and the presses that turn out thousands of papers an hour are indeed mechanical wonders.

But progress doesn't seem to be the big news about papers. Looking through the Record files discloses an amazing similarity between today's news and that of five or 10 years ago.

The activities of Hilltop groups, the programs of Hilltop schools, interesting news of Hilltop residents—these are the stories that continue to be the main stay of our paper.

So while we are proud of mechanical advances in newspapers and printing, we are prouder of the unvarying sameness of the paper. During National Newspaper Week we look back with pride at the 33 years of continuous community service the Record has given the Hilltop. That's our success story.

Great Books: Word comes from the Hilltop Branch Library that there are still some vacancies in the "Great Books" discussion group.

The list of books has been chosen not because some of them are old, or because the author's name is often hard to pronounce, but because their messages are timeless. It is amazing how the great works of the chariot and bread-sword days provide insight into the problems of a jet plane and atom bomb age.

It is probable that no great new truths will be found during the discussion periods. It will probably be only on rare occasions that a conclusion will be reached and agreed upon. But the participants will find themselves doing some deep thinking, and they will learn that just thinking a thought can be a pretty exciting experience.

Homer E. Frye To Discuss Press At Kiwanis Meet

Homer E. Frye, president of the Columbus Better Business Bureau, will be the Kiwanis luncheon speaker Thursday.

Frye, who has just returned from Europe, will speak on the controlled and free press of European countries. The program has been arranged in commemoration of National Newspaper Week.

Frye was manager of the Toledo Better Business Bureau for 10 years before coming to Columbus in 1934 as acting general manager of Columbus Better Business Bureau, Inc. In 1935 he was made general manager and when the Columbus Bureau's Code of Regulations was amended in 1947 he became its president and general manager.

He was formerly secretary-treasurer and a member of the Board of Governors of the National Association of Better Business Bureaus, Inc. and presently is the only honorary vice president of that association.

During World War II he served, by appointment, as chairman and public member of panels hearing wage disputes in war industries under the Fifth regional office of the National War Labor Board, which position he elected to fill without compensation.

He is married to Grace Hare Frye, the founder and executive director of Columbus Town Meeting.

INJURED IN FALL

Alex Fetings, 26, of Galloway, is in Mt. Carmel Hospital with a fractured left arm and injured back he suffered when he fell from the roof of a building under construction at 1963 W. Broad-st. He was helping raze the building for Tonti Bros. Builders, 2370 W. Broad-st.

West High Choir To Make First Appearance At PTA Convention Oct. 5

Pride of West High School is the colorfully bedecked vocal group, who will be on parade at many functions throughout the coming school year.

Adding color and dignity to the mixed choir group at the Hilltop school, 68 boys and girls, garbed in chestnut brown robes, and with gold stoles over the shoulders, will greet the public when the celebrated choir makes appearance.

Measurements were taken last spring for the new vestments and the attractively tailored gowns are now ready for use.

The project is costing the group about $1,000, and the choir proposes to pay for the new equipment through public performances.

The choir will make its debut in its new gowns at the PTA convention at Central High School on Oct. 5. They are also singing for the state school principals' meeting to be held in Columbus, Oct. 18. Vocal Director Mrs. Edna White of the Hilltop school said today.

Other plans on the vocal agenda include a worthwhile operetta, Christmas program and spring musicale.

Those not in the picture are Lee Love, Don Miller, Joe Balthaser, George Brown, Bob Glassburn, Joe Dickson, Jack Roberts.

C. Armentrout Is First Football Contest Winner

A $10 check is on the way to Chester Armentrout, 526 S. Wayne-av, for being the winner in the first Hilltop Record "Professor Pigskin" contest.

Armentrout was one of 15 contestants picking all four winning teams, and was judged winner of the contest for guessing nearest on the scores.

Second prize of two tickets to the Westmont Theater went to Fred W. Heyl, 423 S. Hague-av. His entry placed second by four points.

Greatest stumbling block in the contest was the West-North game. Most people had too much team spirit to pick West as a loser. The biggest mistakes in picking the scores were made in the Central-Linden game. Few contestants expected Central to wallop Linden by 45 points. The game most consistently guessed closely was the Notre Dame-Washington U. tilt.

Losers last week and new contestants have a chance to try again this week. This week's contest appears in the Record today.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

Walter L. Pope, 24, 1481 Brownrd, was seriously injured shortly after noon Monday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an auto at High and Walnut-sts.

E. O. Melvin Suggests Pool For Westgate Park

A suggestion to make the Westgate Park lake into a municipal swimming pool today came from a well-known Hilltopper.

"If the city is planning to improve the pond in Westgate Park, why not make it something we can be proud of and turn it into a swimming pool." That is the idea submitted by E. O. Melvin, retired hardware dealer and long a Hilltop resident.

Henry Koontz, Hilltop city councilman, commented that he thought the Westgate Swimming Pool idea might be all right. "However, there are some details that would have to be worked out," he added.

Koontz has been leading a drive to get the county to improve its sewer system that drains into the park lake. So far, neither the city nor the county has taken action to clean up the park.

"Cost Negligible"

"The cost would be negligible," Melvin stated, "since little excavating would be necessary." "The county, or the city, is going to have to take the needed steps to clean up the contamination in the lake anyway," he added.

"The swimming pool is needed in this community, and the pool would certainly improve the park," Melvin declared. "I expect to bring this matter up at the next business meeting of the Hilltop Business Association," he remarked.

Melvin is a member of the HBA, the Hilltop Kiwanians Club, and the City Traffic and Transportation Commission.

Six Hilltop Businesses Hit In Burglary Wave

A wave of burglaries swept the Hilltop early last Friday morning. Six business establishments were entered on W. Broad-st, and Sullivant-av, city police and the sheriff report.

The burglars broke into the Broadway Restaurant, 3770 W Broad-st, where they stole $235 from a cashbox and then ate a meal. From there, sheriff's deputies believe, the same robbers, went to the Old Trail Theater, 3636 W. Broad-st.

From the theater the intruders took an undetermined amount of change and did damage to some of the doors, according to Richard Laird, 140 N. Warren-av, theater manager.

Alert Cruiserman George Skipper and John Beasley arrested a burglar suspect inside Cap's Confectionery, 1950 Sullivant-av. The suspect had $10 in bills and change in a paper sack.

Also burglarized were: Margie's Beauty Salon, 1946 Sullivant-av; Del Monte's Cafe, 2514 Sullivant-av, and the Short-Stop Confectionery, 2094 Sullivant-av.

Lions Club To Meet Thursday

The Hilltop Lions Club will meet Thursday, Oct. 6, at 6:30 p. m., for a supper meeting at Schmelzer's Restaurant. George Bukey, program chairman, announced today.

The club's regular meetings will be held on the first and third Thursday each month at 6:30 p. m., at Schmelzer's, according to Richard Laird, club secretary.

The club will hold its Charter Night on Oct. 30, in a joint program with the newly organized north side Lions Club at a downtown hotel. Arrangements have not yet been completed for this meeting.

Robinson Kitchen Now Available For Groups' Use

Robinson's electrical appliance store at 2403 W. Broad-st, has opened its doors for the use of its "complete General Electric kitchen" to all Hilltop clubs, church and charitable organizations.

In addition to using the complete kitchen, the store is offering space in its showroom in which the organizations may hold their bake sales.

The management requests that reservations be made in advance so that Robinson's will be able to advertise the bake sales.

There is no charge or obligation for this service.

Tom Ravell Gets Hole-In-One At Beacon Light Sun.

Tom Ravell provided the golfing thrills at the Beacon Light round-up Sunday, by scoring a hole-in-one on the 160-yard third cup. Ravell also won two of the major prizes for his low gross of 36, and for coming closest to the cup on the third hole.

He finished his round in a one-under-par 35, his lowest score.

Jerry Spears, Jr., took a prize with his low net score of 32, and Gary Cooper won the driving contest with a 301 yard drive. Bob Kimmel was the blind bogie winner.

Joe Wirthin, Stan Russell, R. Wilkins and G. M.'s Dewey were the only four to plant their tee shot in a 12 foot circle on the sixth hole.

Sam DiAngleo, city caddy champ and West High golf star, shot 76 for 18 holes.

In the women's division Betty Kidwell had a low gross of 51, and Mrs. Kelly a low net of 36. Mrs Joe Briggs won the blind bogie. Every woman present was given a pair of nylon hose.

Barney McLain and Carl Dale were given the winner and runner-up trophies for the Seiller tournament, and consolation trophies were given to winner and runner-up Dick Murray and Earl Harper.

More than 250 persons attended, with 149 men and 12 women playing. Hilltoppers from six local courses attended the round-up and one foursome came from Ashland to play.

More than 200 prizes were awarded, counting the 55 pairs of nylon hose that were given away.

$10,000 Fire Hits Hilliards Farm

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large barn and its contents and one empty silo Monday on a farm at 5215 Avery-rd, causing loss estimated at $10,000.

The farm, located about one and a half miles north of Hilliards, is owned by Jonas Derrer, 117 Derrer-rd, and farmed by Francis Walker.

Inside the barn and destroyed were about 600 bales of hay and straw, milking machinery, a corn binder, 300 pounds of oats, a fertilizer machine, and other equipment.

Saved by firemen from Hilliards and Dublin was one silo. Mr. Walker discovered the fire after seeing smoke come from the barn. While origin was not determined officially, he said "bad wiring" might have started the blaze.

A Hilltop boy, Herbert Brown, won first place in a city-wide yo-yo contest sponsored by the Ohio State Journal. He was presented with a bicycle for his win over 200 top spinning experts. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Brown, 112 N. Warren-av.

Suzanne Lehman, 705 S. Hague-av, won a birthstone ring in the contest.

Hook-up Seen In Phony Phone Call; Selling Attempt

Hard times are here, if this sales method is any indication.

Last week a housewife in Valleyview received a phone call in which a man caller threatened her. She became angry and hung up.

The next day a letter was delivered to the same home from a New Jersey firm offering to sell her a gadget for $12.50 to be carried by unescorted women to ward off molesters.

Louis M. Blum, police marshal for the village of Valleyview, sees a direct tie-up between the phone call and the letter.

W. W. Hennick Taken By Death

W. W. Hennick, 1198 Fair-av, former resident of the Hilltop for many years at 1330 Wilson-rd, died at White Cross Hospital Tuesday at 12:02 a. m., following a short illness.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at Schoedinger Funeral Home.

Curtain Rises On Talent Show Wed.

Top Hilltop talent has applied to appear in the first YMCA "Stars of Tomorrow" talent search tomorrow night, and it looks as if the audience will have a hard time deciding the winner.

For the first Wednesday night show at the Old Trail Theater the following performers have sent their applications to The Hilltop Record office.

Leo Phillips, well known showman on the Hilltop, will emcee the show.

Geraldine Murnane, 824 Chestershire-rd, song and dance.

Pat Manus, 858 S. Hague-av, baton tap.

Mitzi Karabinas, 440 S. Roys-av, singing.

Linda Lee Prior, 811 S. Roys-av, dancer.

Sheila and Sheron Albary, 2634 Elliott-av, baton.

Bob Johnson, West High School, "Bumble Boogie" on the piano.

Three other acts have been scheduled, but details were not available at press time.

Tickets for the show are on sale by youngsters on the Hilltop, members of the "Y" board, and at the theater. The winners of the weekly contests will be chosen solely by audience applause, so come and support your favorite.

The deadline for next week's show is Saturday.

15 People Wanted Mr. Lamneck's Bike

George Lamneck, 108 N. Oakley-av, had a girl's 24-inch bicycle to sell. Being a practical man, he advertised it in the medium most likely to produce the desired results—The Hilltop Record want ad section.

His confidence was well justified. The bike was sold the same afternoon—even before his copy of the Record arrived. Ten persons called that night and five the following day.

Placing a Record want ad is quite simple. Just call RA. 1125, ask for "Classified." The deadlines are 5 p. m. Monday and Wednesday. Why not place yours now?

MISS GREBILL ELECTED

Nancy Grebill has been elected president of the Wa-Ka-Ko Campfire Girls for the coming year. Other officers are, vice-president, Carol Pflueger; secretary, Carol Campbell; treasurer, Judy Budd; scribe, Nancy Gaskill.

Record Contest Judges

Judges in The Hilltop Record $3000 subscription contest post with the television set that will be awarded as second prize. They are Philip Stout, president of the Hilltop Business Association; M. E. Sensenbrenner, president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club; and Rev. Norman Schreiber, president of the Hilltop Ministerial Association.

One week remains in the first period of the contest, during which subscriptions turned in have the greatest point value. A subscription blank and the names of the contestants appear inside the Record today, so you will be able to support the contestant of your choice while the point value is still highest.

Hilltop Library Cornerstone Laid

A copy of the Hilltop Record, the three city dailies, a weekly news magazine, and a history of the branch library are preserved in the cornerstone of the new Hilltop Branch Library which was laid last week by J. A. Meckstroth, president of the Columbus Public Library board of trustees.

The $47,000 structure at 2955 W. Broad-st will be the first public-owned branch library in the city. It will replace the old library on N. Hague-av. Meckstroth said the library will be completed this year.

In a talk to the spectators on hand for the ceremony, Meckstroth told of how the library was finally started after a 10-year wait through depression, war, and high prices.

Will Collins, city librarian, said that one of the projects of the library for the near future was a bookmobile, offering library service to the neighborhoods.

Phillip Stout, president of the Hilltop Business Association, represented his group at the ceremony. Harry T. Roderick, architect, and Alvin V. Love, president of College Hill Homes, Inc., builders of the library, attended.

Saint-Donahue Wedding An Event of Sept. 3

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Donahue

Holy Cross Church was the scene of the marriage Sept. 3 of Miss Patricia Saint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Saint, 194 N. Hague-av, to Mr. Richard Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Donahue, 1425 S.Champion-av. Rev. Dury officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a white satin gown, accented with Chantilly lace which also trimmed her tulle veil. The veil was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white mother-of-pearl prayer book, adorned by a white orchid.

The bride's three sisters were her attendants. Sue, in fuchsia taffeta, was maid of honor; Dolores, in sky-blue, Margaret in gold taffeta, were bridesmaids. The flower girl, Clara Jane Imman, the bride's cousin, was dressed in aqua and carried a small basket of pink and blue flowers.

The best man was William Kaiser, and ushers were Bernard Saint, Richard Alsbrecht, and Howard Speck.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Saint were hosts at a wedding breakfast at the Southern Hotel for 30 guests. The bride's mother wore an autumn suit of slate satin and a corsage of pink flowers. The groom's mother wore a taupe suit and her flowers were yellow rosebuds.

A reception was held in the evening at the bride's home for 250 guests. Mrs. Dorothy Glantzman, Mrs. Dorothy Saint, and Miss Linda Shelby were hostesses.

For their wedding trip east the new Mrs. Donahue changed to an aqua suit with brown and navy blue accessories and wore her orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of West High and is associated with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. Mr. Donahue was graduated from St. Mary's High School and is also associated with the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

The couple are now making their home at 1043½ Seymour-av.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS NEWS NOTES

By Patti Holycross

Whew! am I flabbergasted. When I walked into Schmelzer's Thursday night and saw all the people who had come to the Food Festival, I was speechless. When 200 people turned out we ran out of food and out of room, but everybody had fun.

The evening's entertainment, which I'm sure everyone enjoyed, was headed by Sue Hardy. A big thanks goes to her and her committee who did such a swell job.

And our mysterious fortune teller was none other than Donna Cramer who did a swell job as Madam Curie.

The gas company was kind enough to show us a motion picture on gas. I think everyone was surprised when the picture they saw was put to a story and all done up in technicolor.

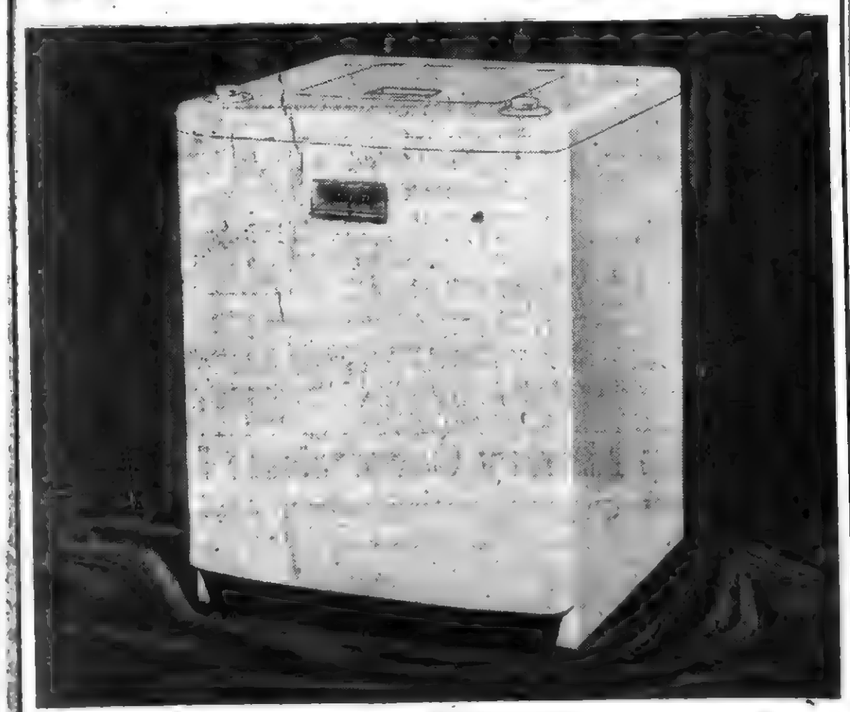
Mr. Lockwood, who is the father of one of the girls, showed us some pictures that he had taken at our convention in Cleveland and on some of the summer picnics that Bethel No. 3 has had, and also pictures of their family on vacation.

In closing my article I'd like to say that, on behalf of the officers and myself, a great big thanks goes to the parents who helped in preparing the food and to the people who came out to it because without them it wouldn't have turned out to be a success.

Glenwood WSCS To Meet Oct. 6

WSCS of Glenwood Methodist Church will meet Thursday, Oct. 6 at 10 a. m. in the church parlor. Mrs. Edward Bentz will open the meeting with devotions, followed by Mrs. Harry Kattau, Mrs. Dale Vance and Mrs. H. G. Traut presenting the study book "Japan Begins Again." Mrs. A. S. Brown will be he soloist.

Luncheon will be served at noon by Circle 2 with Mrs. Harry Kattau as chairman.



The afternoon meeting will begin at 12:45. Mrs. Carl Kuhn, district recording secretary, will speak on "Japan, Today and Tomorrow." Elaine Fry, Joan Otp and Lavonne Beard will furnish the music. The business meeting will follow with Mrs. P. C. Edwards presiding.

WSCS of Briggsdale Methodist Church will sponsor a bake sale at 10 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 8 at th Briggsdale Coal Company.

This is all for now and I'll be looking forward to seeing all of you at our next meeting which will be Thursday, Oct. 13.

Carelessness Causes Fires

By Chief H. W. Caldwell, Bureau of Fire Prevention

The majority of fires occur in the private homes, and about 75% of these fires are caused by carelessness. CARELESSNESS in disposing of cigarette stubs . . . CARELESSNESS in cleaning materials with inflammable liquids . . . CARELESSNESS in disposing of hot ashes . . . CARELESSNESS in keeping matches within the reach of children . . . CARELESSNESS in allowing rubbish to accumulate in the home or the garage . . . CARELESSNESS in not knowing the telephone number of your Fire Department.

Make certain that your heating plant is in safe condition before being placed in use for the winter. Check the smoke pipe, fire bowl and chimney flue for cracks that will allow fire and carbon monoxide fumes to travel to every room in your home via the hot air ducts. Make certain that you have a metal container with a tight fitting lid for the hot ashes as they are taken from the furnace or stove. Do not run extension cords over nails or metal pipes. Extension cords under rugs are a hidden potential fire hazard. All of the branch lighting circuits should be protected with 15 ampere underwriter approved fuses. Fuses are the safety valve of your electrical system, the silent watchman who shuts off the flow of current in the wiring when a short circuit or an overload occurs.

The Fire Prevention Bureau will be glad to check your home, at your request. Call MAin 3132, and ask for this free service. When a fire strikes, make sure it won't be your home or family that is involved in a fire that resulted from your carelessness.

The Leaf Shall Be Green

By Marion Chamberlain

SYNOPSIS

In the Victorian library of his New England home, Proctor Barlow meditates on the life of his late sister, Elizabeth, whose funeral service is about to begin. She and her small daughter, Katherine, had lived under Proctor's roof, and his tyranny, ever since the failure of Elizabeth's marriage to charming though dissipated Marvell Coomes. The despised estranged husband arrives from a distant city "liquored" as usual. He falls into a sound sleep and the burial proceeds without him. Awakening to find the mourners departed, Marvell encounters his little daughter, Katherine. In her cheerful up-stairs room in the Barlow house, father and daughter become affectionately acquainted. Returning home in bad humor, Proctor determines to rid the family of Marvell, forever. He makes ready for the final show-down.

CHAPTER SIX

BEN SAT through dinner in complete detachment—a kind of state he experienced sometimes in dreams. He talked sensibly enough of the European war, the symphony, gardening and other currently correct topics. His ears caught every sound—the shuffling of the pantry door as the maid went back and forth, the creak of the dumbwaiter that carried each course up and down from the kitchen to the butler's pantry, the rustle of the long linen cloth against his knees, even the soft breathing of the candle flames.

But behind the normal, familiar sounds that accompanied a family gathering around a table, Ben detected something else. It was a nameless rustling and he could only describe it to himself as the sound of fear. It was all nonsense, he told himself, I'm nervous because I am tired and Fanny's cold worries me and I am sorry about Elizabeth. Whose fear was he listening to? Not Emily's. She was serene in tactful deference to her three stalwart males. Not Proctor's. His attitude of condescension to the family nuisance was frozen at the peak of perfection. Not Marvell's. He was acting the part of the warm-hearted old rip to a point of ripeness that verged on farce. If it is any comfort to me, Ben thought, I am the means of communication between two aliens, as Elizabeth wished me to be because Katherine needs it.

When they had finished, Ben could not remember for the life of him what he had eaten. "We'll have coffee up stairs," Proctor announced stiffly. Emily murmured something about Katherine. The three men filed lugubriously up to the library. Marvell counted to himself the hundreds of steps he had taken that day in and out of one room to another. It was as if the house had been planned to allow for the unnecessary passage of time as well as stairs.

With coffee, brandy and cigars passed in order, Proctor felt a little easier. He had seen the Manila envelopes on the desk.

"I suppose," Proctor addressed Ben, "it would be wise to get through these details so that Marvell can leave for New York as soon as he wishes."

"Are you going to New York?" Ben asked.

Marvell nodded. He was leaning on the mantel, his glass in his hand. He stood there flexing the fingers of his free hand. He was terribly weary of questions and questioners. He was tense to be off. Why had he stayed this long? Emily had pressed him to remain for dinner, for the sake of whatever amenities she considered necessary. He had yielded to her, too, in defeated weariness. What possible interest did he have in any of them now? The brief visit with Katherine was no more than a scratch on a hardened surface. He knew Proctor was afraid he would raise his voice in some way, that was why he had written him so generous a check. Why not call it quits now?"

Ben had apparently digested Marvell's news. He walked over to the desk and picked up the envelopes.

"As this is very informal," he said with a rather professional smile, "we can go right ahead." He opened an envelope and took out the blue-backed legal forms. Proctor accepted his copy with a patronizing air of one who is already familiar with the contents but will generously wait for the others to catch up. Marvell unfolded his copy slowly and stared at the first line, "I, Elizabeth Barlow Coomes, being of sound mind . . ." He read no further though he still kept his eyes lowered. The terrible finality of the phrase struck him sharply. He wanted to cry out—to protest, to retrieve what was so irritrievable. But he had not allowed for this narrow margin of expression in himself. And he had no one to whom he could cry out. No one would listen.

Proctor's words, as thin as the flimsy in his hand, roused him. "When were these changes made?"

"About three months ago. The exact date is written in."

"Why was I not informed?"

"My dear Proctor," Ben reminded him in some irritation, "the private business of a client is kept, naturally, in strict confidence."

Now what had happened? Marvell eyed Proctor in some curiosity. There was such bitter dismay on his face that he winced. He turned to Ben. "Wait a minute, let me catch up. I haven't read it." Quickly his eye ran down the first dozen lines. "I give, devise and bequeath all my property, real and personal, to my husband, Marvell Coomes, except such as may otherwise be disposed of under other provisions . . . I nominate and appoint Marvell Coomes and Benjamin Hall as co-executors of . . . No bond or security required . . ." What have you done, Elizabeth, he thought, with a sudden burst of tenderness that made his eyes moist, and why now, why now?

Proctor brushed his arm. "I won't allow this. You are not fit to be executor."

Ben gave a legal little cough, "May I say, Proctor, that he is perfectly capable of carrying out the formalities involved. Do not confuse this role with that of a trustee of the Barlow estate which does not come into this document at all. I also have a note for you." He handed Proctor a square envelope.

"I am not confusing anything." Proctor turned on Ben viciously. "I am quite well aware of the fact that the Barlow heirs are protected by the trust fund, over which my sister had no control. Her share of that passes to Katherine intact. But I am also aware," his voice trembled a pitch higher, "that the value of Elizabeth's free property is considerable and belongs by all that is decent to Katherine."

"Or to you." Marvell regretted that. Proctor's face was so filled with hate that even Marvell was awed.

"This will was re-made three months ago. You were just here at Thanksgiving. At that time, I knew the contents of her will. I was executor. We provided for certain contingencies together. Katherine's share in the Barlow trust is less than it would have been had she been my heir, or a male heir. This free money of Elizabeth's was to expand her future. You knew nothing about it—before. Why [illegible] you? You took no responsibility for a home, a wife, a child. I took care of them until Elizabeth came into her own money at twenty-eight. I shall have to care for Katherine now. Then you come back [illegible] November and in some filthy, threatening mood force her into this—gesture. Why? So you can have a hold over the Barlows, and be a disgrace to Katherine and this city which is her home, a disgrace to the memory of her mother."

"I won't have time to disgrace the city of Boston, too," said Marvell, stunned by Proctor's attack.

"Don't you realize what this means?" Proctor turned back to Ben. "How could you let her do this stupid thing? She was ill, she was not herself. She looked on me as Katherine's guardian. She would never have turned away from me."

"Elizabeth did not turn away from you," objected Ben. "She has left you her half of the Bar Harbor house and personal mementoes that prove her feeling for you. This is a statement of her faith in you both. The real problem was Katherine and, as you have just pointed out, her future is safeguarded in every way."

"I will contest this," Proctor, his voice low and thin. "You are not fit . . ."

"On what legal grounds could you contest?" asked Ben coldly.

"Just a minute, you two," said Marvell. "I am not fit for responsibility. Exactly what is my responsibility? Not to be seen in the Barlow offices, not to be found in Boston, not to be star boarder at my daughter's table when I'm down and out? Isn't that all you ask? Didn't you get anything I said to you before Ben came? I'm through. With the Barlows, with Boston. I'm going to New York. If you want to break the will, all right, go ahead and try. You'll get nothing but cheap publicity because I'm not taking anything from Kit; I'm going to give back that money with a public letter that will jerk the eyes out of a cow."

Ben stood up. He was rigid with embarrassment. "If there is anything that you wish, as legatees, to discuss with me further, I suggest you come to my office tomorrow. I think it would be most unfortunate, Proctor, to attempt to invalidate this simple will." He might have saved his breath. Proctor was encased in bitter silence, turning the envelope over and over in his hands.

Marvell stuffed the papers into his coat pocket. He had to get out. "I'll walk over the Hill with you, Ben. I won't stay here tonight but I'll drop by in the morning to say goodbye to Katherine."

Ben looked at Proctor's shrunken face and wondered if he would let Marvell in the next day. He held out his hand. "Don't come down," he said quietly. "Give my apologies to Emily. If you want me, call me at my office."

Proctor nodded without answering. Marvell had already gone downstairs.

Gold Star Wives Observe Memory Week Oct. 1-8

National Headquarters of the Gold Star Wives of America, Inc. have designated Oct. 1-8 as "Memory Week," at which time the public will be asked to recall the sacrifices made by the men who died in the service of our country and to remember the families they left behind. Gold Star tags will be sold by local units of the organization throughout the United States to raise funds for the welfare of the children of our nation's war dead.

A purple heart emblem with the gold star as a background will appear on the tag, with the words "Remember the widows and orphans of the men who gave their lives in the service of our country" printed on the reverse side.

All the profit from the sale of gold star tags in the community will be used for the gold star children in this area. One half of the money goes immediately into a special fund the local chapter of the Gold Star Wives maintain for emergency medical and dental care for these children, and the remainder goes toward their general welfare work for deceased servicemen's families.

Local arrangements for "Memory Week" are being made by Mrs. Bertha I. Hayden, president; Mrs. Helen Leitwein, publicity chairman; Mrs. Pauline Hendricks, secretary; and Mrs. Rebecca White, treasurer of the local chapter.

PROPERTY OWNERS MEET

The Property Owners' Association of Franklin County, will meet Friday, Oct. 7 in Council Chamber, City Hall at 8 p. m. All members are urged to be present. The public is invited.

Oct. 10 Is Deadline For Registration

Franklin County voters who failed to register at their precinct voting places during the recent county registration will still have an opportunity to vote in the November election, but they will have to go to the Board of Elections to register.

The final deadline for city and county voters is Oct. 10. They may sign up at the Board of Elections, 214½ S. High-st, between 8 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. daily except Saturday, when the offices closes at noon.

Thousands of persons registered at 163 polling places in the three suburban cities and 18 townships on the final day for registering in home precincts.

Frank Marsh, clerk of the election board, said the unofficial count indicated that 44,396 persons signed up during the three-day registration period.

He said election officials had estimated that about 83,000 persons were eligible who failed to register.

Persons living in Columbus who failed to qualify as electors also may register at the elections board.

Last year more than 10,000 people (over 30 a day for the entire 365 days) burned to death as a result of fire. Is there a more horrible, more grucsome death?

SET ATTENDANCE RECORD

The Hilltop Community Church had a new record attendance of 171 in their Sunday School Rally last Sunday, Rev. J. L. Dean reported. The Rally marked the first service in the church's new auditorium.

North Wins League Opener 19-13 On Cowboy Fumble

By Dave Miller

West High's Cowboys lost their first City League game in three years last Friday evening when North High's Polar Bears edged the locals, 19 to 13, on the winners field.

The Cowboys, however, scored their first points of the season in the game, with End Jim Rudolph, scoring two touchdowns on passes from Bob Birle and Ronnie James.

It was an unheralded North halfback who won the game for the Polars Bears. With the score knotted in the middle of the final period, Clark Lawrence, a sophomore back, pounced on a Cowboy fumble on the West 23-yard stripe, and then raced over to score the winning points.

The game was a highly-exciting affair, with the Cowboys playing inspired ball throughout the game. Whenever a Cowboy runner was about to be tackled, the Cowboy ball carrier would spin out of the would-be tacklers arms to gain that extra yard or two.

The Polar Bears scored first in the opening period, and the Cowboys came back with a TD and an extra point in the first part of the second period. They then exchanged touchdowns until Lawerence's run in the final period ended scoring matters.

West was in the game all the way, despite yielding a first period score to the winners, who took the opening kickoff, and guided by quarterback Zack Willson, marched 68 yards in nine plays to score the opening touchdown. Charlie Zepp, hard-running North halfback, cut around left-end from the 15 to go over for the first North touchdown. Jim Spung's attempted conversion was missed.

The locals then started the drive for their first touchdown. After three straight first downs for the Cowboys, the first period ended with West trailing, 6-0, and having the ball on North's 48-yard stripe. Clarence Golden ran off-tackle for five, and Bob Birle shot a bullet pass to Bill Thrush on the 4 for the first down.

Aided by Hunter and Golden's running the Cowboys' drive to the North 10, where Golden gained five and then one through plunges in the center of the line. Then passin' Bob Birle unloaded a perfect pass right into the arms of Jim Rudolph in the end zone for the Cowboys' first TD of the year. Bob Birle place-kicked the extra point.

North received a bad kick on the 50. Jim Spung, a junior fullback, gained eight. Then Zack Willson of the Bears threw a pass that was intercepted by Thrush of the locals. After that the Cowboys couldn't get going and Birle kicked to the North 39. On the first play from scrimmage, Spung took off, and following beautiful downfield blocking, ran for a 61-yard touchdown. The little fullback also kicked the conversion putting North in front, 13-7, as the half ended.

The Cowboys received the ball on the half-time kickoff and held on to it, gaining four first downs, to the North 11. On the next play Birle passed in the end zone again to Rudolph, who at first juggled the ball, then caught it. This tied the score at 13-all, and on a fake kick by Birle, he got the ball from Center Bob Epps and passed in the end zone, the pass being knocked down by North.

The Cowboys and Bears then exchanged hands with the ball in the opening part of the fourth and final period. After three straight plays within their own 25 yard line, they lost the ball on a bad hand-off in the backfield.

There is where Clark Lawrence entered the picture, jumping from scrimmage, he drove over to score the winning touchdown. Spung's kick was blocked by Jerry Johnson, Jack West and Cliff Voss.

Rudolph, Ed Sensenbrenner, Dick McDermott, Bob Epps, Dick Will, Bob Wilson, Cliff Voss, Jack West and Jerry Johnson turned in a good performance on the line.

Quarterback Bob Birle suffered a bruised rib in the game, and LeRoy Hood, refensive halfback, may be out the rest of the year with a leg injury, suffered in the North fray.

Hilliards Wins Over Grove City Last Friday 27-0

Hilliards won its second league game Friday night by defeating Grove City 27-0.

Larry Lutz went over for three of the Hilliards TD's and Jack Winkler made the fourth score. Winkler, Lutz and Chuck Foster each kicked one point after touchdown.

The defensive play of the Hilliards line and the ball carrying of Lutz were the high points in the game. Lutz scored his touchdowns on runs of 55, 22 and 14 yards.

Hilliards' forward wall broke through the Grove City line to recover six fumbles in the game, three of which led to scores.

Hilliards gained a net total of 270 yards to 40 yards for Grove City.

Scoring—Hilliards, touchdowns, Lutz, 3, Winkler. Points after touchdowns, Lutz, Winkler, Foster.

Church Union Is Kiwanis Subject

Members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club held a church committee panel on church union at last week's meeting.

R. K. Cramer discussed "Church Union and the Community;" Harold Fox talked on "Church Union and the Church"; and Dr. Don Timberman spoke on "Federal Union of Churches."

The plan discussed was that set forth by Dr. E. Stanley Jones, Methodist Missionary to India. It would consist of a World Council of Churches made up of representatives from national councils. There would be three national councils; one from England, one from America, and one from other nations. All Christian churches would be represented on these national councils.

Speakers pointed out that this unity would add strength to the church. Dr. Timberman said that there are at present 256 Protestant denominations in America.

It Is Worth Your Time To Go Down And Register

Important offices are to be filled at the election on Tuesday, Nov. 8. Important issues are to be settled by the American right of use of the ballot.

Thousands of people get hepped up every day about the matter of public affairs. Many of these same thousands do nothing but talk about it. Because it is necessary to exert a little effort they don't take time to register and then go to the polls to express themselves.

You still have time to register. Monday, Oct. 10, is the last day. The Board of Elections office, 214½ S. High St., will be open from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. that day.

If you are a resident of the county and did not re-register this year or if you live in the city and have not voted in the last two years then you should register on Monday.

A Fine Neighbor Passes

Many Hilltoppers are mourning the death of W. W. Hennick.

He was a familiar figure in the harness business in Columbus for many years and was a good neighbor to Hilltoppers when he lived at 1330 Wilson Rd., for a long time.

He was a fine old gentleman. His 88 years were filled with much service, kindliness and helpfulness.

No Action On Zoning Petition

Barnhart Says Zoning Pamphlet Issuance Is Legal

Assistant County Prosecuting Attorney Robert P. Barnhart said today that his office plans no action on the request of a Hilltop real estate broker to set aside rural zoning laws.

Barnhart said that he found nothing illegal in the issuance of a pamphlet on rural zoning by members of the Franklin County Planning Commission.

Harry C. Downing, 3050 Eakin-rd, had requested investigation of the pamphlet, "Rural Zoning for Franklin County," which he said, "preented facts for zoning, but not those facts, theories and comments which would have presented the case against zoning."

Downing said this week that he had been erroneously reported as saying restrictions were established without any of the officials examining the property they zoned.

However he did state, "Certain instances here would make it reasonable to assume that they had not inspected certain premises under consideration, or if they had, it was, to say the least, a waste of county time and gasoline."

In a letter to the zoning commission Downing said, "I have practically nothing but contempt for the zoning law. After all our country did manage to struggle along and make phenominal progress in the past without a lot of red tape and arbitrary restrictions. It is fortunate that the U. S. made its progress first, before applying the shackles."

Two Injured As Truck Hits Auto

Two passengers in a truck were injured Tuesday, one critically, when the truck skidded across W. Rich-st at the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad overpass, rammed an abutment, then collided with an auto. Police arrested the truck driver.

Elmer C. Baugess, 27, of 3217 Valleyview-dr, suffered a skull fracture and possible internal injuries, and Mrs. Catherine Sargent, 37, of 771 Bernhard-rd, suffered a deep skull laceration.

The Fire Department emergency squad took both to Mt. Carmel Hospital, where Baugess' condition is listed as critical and Mrs. Sargent's as "good."

ON HONOR ROLL

Jack Oak Early, Hilliards, appears on the summer quarter honor roll of the college of agriculture at Ohio State University.

Seek Way To Build Rink At W'gate Park

City Recreation Director Nick Barack revealed this week that his office has been meeting with a committee from the Hilltop Community Council, to find a means of building a hard-surfaced area at Westgate Park that would be suitable for a skating rink.

The Community Council has $800 collected for this purpose a number of years ago, and the Hilltop Kiwanis Club voted to donate $500 to the project at its last board meeting.

It was also learned today that the Hilltop Business Association is favorable to the project and will probably support it.

Barack said that the city will provide approximately $2500 for the project. This is the approximate cost of asphalt surfaces that have been built in eight other city parks.

It is planned to build the area at Westgate Park of concrete, so it can be used for ice skating in the winter. In the summer it would be suitable for roller skating, dancing and playing such games as volleyball and badminton. The cost of a concrete area has been estimated at about $4500.

High Ridge Group To Elect Oct. 18

The High Ridge Civic Association will hold an election of officers for 1950 at its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 7:45 p. m., at W. Mound-st School.

Two slates of officers were nominated at the first fall meeting of the association on Sept. 20.

The candidates are: for president, H. T. Van Ness, 654 Whitethorne-av and Frank P. Shea, 629 Belvidere-av; for vice president, Don G. Anderson, 629 Woodbury-av and H. T. Van Ness; for treasurer, Lloyd V. Ross, 2078 W. Mound-st and Mrs. Evelyn Seelig, 2150 Suncrest-dr; for recording secretary, C. M. H. Rumfield, 630 Butler-av and A. F. Cameron, Jr., 2062 W. Mound-st; for corresponding secretary, A. D. Scott, 614 Belvidere-av and George Spanabel, 535 Belvidere-av.

All members are urged to attend this meeting and cast their vote.

Legion To Elect County Delegates At Friday Meet

Commander Dewey Stout announced today that Camp Chase Post will elect delegates and alternates to represent the Post for the coming year in the Legion's Franklin County Council at its regular meeting to be held this Friday, Oct. 7, at the Post Headquarters, 10 S. Burgess-av.

Vice Commander Mario Smith asked that all members who are willing to assist with the motorcycle races to report to him at the Fairgrounds Sunday, Oct. 9.

Department Commander Bruce Henderson has announced the re-appointment of Larry Scales, 603 S. Eureka-av, as State Chairman of Junior Baseball. Mr. Scales has served in this capacity for 10 years and has been responsible for the success of this very popular program.

Vernon C. Fiscus, 616 S. Terrace-av, has been elected treasurer of the Franklin County Council for 1950.

At the fall conference of the 12th District Sunday at Southway Post, Camp Chase reported 50% of the 1950 quota paid to date. This is better than the outstanding record set by the Post last year, when they reached a record high in membership.

District Commander D. Clarke, 211 S. Eureka-av, has assigned Past District Commander Harry O. Weaston, Jr., of Westerville, to install the new officers of Camp Chase Post on Oct. 14. Robert Daggert, 344 Belvidere-av, is the commander-elect.

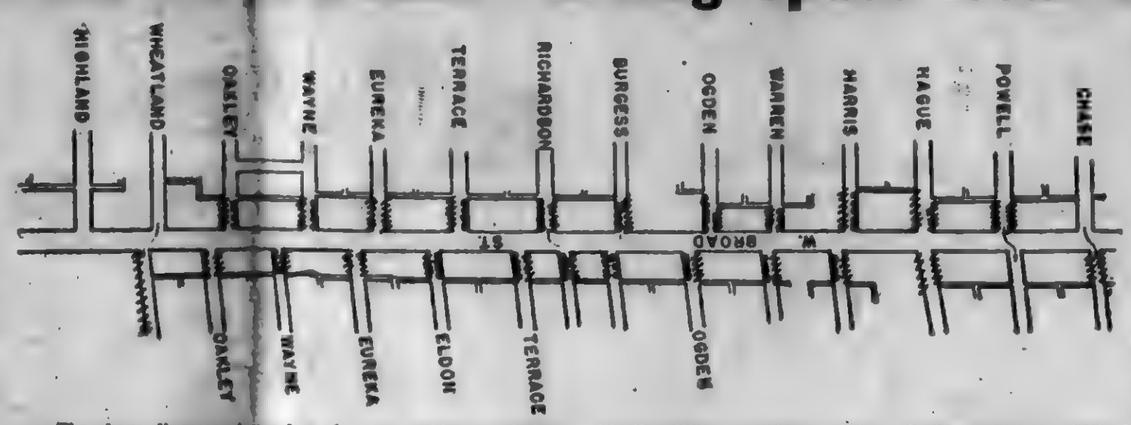
Tom Green Injured In Denison Game

Tom Green, 281 S. Southampton-av, guard on the Denison University football squad, broke his right leg in the Denison-Capital game last Saturday at Granville.

Green, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green, is recuperating in the Granville Hospital. Mr. Green is employed at the Jones Lumber Co., 57 N. Sylvan-av.

Booster Club Organized At St. Aloysius School

Mrs. K. L. Martindale, 86 Clarendon-av, sells the first St. Aloysius Booster Club membership card to Mayor James A. Rhodes as Richard Koontz, 485 Hillcrest-av, chairman of the club and coach, looks on.



A Booster Club to provide athletic equipment for the football, baseball and basketball teams of St. Aloysius School has been organized and will begin its membership drive Friday.

Richard Koontz, coach of the St. Aloysius teams, has been elected chairman of the club. Other officers are Rev. John Simon, treasurer; Mrs. Ted Roberts, banquet chairman; Mrs. Joseph Gregory, recording secretary; Mrs. K. L. Martindale, publicity chairman; and Thomas Walsh and E. P. Wolfe, entertainment committeemen.

Membership tickets may be obtained from any of the officials.

Members of the club will be entitled to attend all the games. The St. Aloysius teams play in the grade school league.

Melvin Says Traffic Commission Will Approve Plan To Increase Parking Space Near Broad St.

The above diagram shows how the new parking regulations in the crossed areas. Each dot represents a parking space that will affect Hilltop parking conditions. Parking will be prohibited will be available where parking was prohibited previously.

69 Parking Spaces Added; To Survey Sullivant-av Area

E. O. Melvin, Hilltop member of the City Traffic and Transportation Commission, declared today that passage of new parking regulations for Hilltop side streets was virtually certain at next Monday's meeting of the commission.

The new arrangements, which will provide 69 additional parking spaces near Broad-st between Wheatland and Powell-avs, will go to city council for final action after passing the traffic commission.

At present, parking is prohibited on both sides of these streets. As the result of an extended survey, the commission picked those streets to release for parking which would yield the greatest number of parking spaces.

Parking Prohibited

Parking would be prohibited on one side of two streets that were previously open. There will be no parking on the east side of N. Wheatland-av, from W. Broad-st to the driveway of the Bureau of Juvenile Research. Also, due to the bus turn-around, there will be no parking on either side of S. Powell-av. At present, parking is permitted on the west side.

Another change will prohibit parking on N. Chase-av. Due to traffic congestion there, parking will not be permitted from W. Broad-st to the first alley.

City Councilman Henry Koontz stated that he has been for releasing these streets for parking for two years. "If the traffic commission OK's the plan I'll engineer it through council," Koontz declared.

Hague, Eureka Unchanged

Mr. Melvin stressed the point that Hague and Eureka-avs will remain unchanged. Because of heavy traffic on these streets, parking will continue to be prohibited on both sides of the street, north and south.

The Sullivant-av district will be surveyed in the near future, Melvin announced today. It is likely that similar changes will be made in that area.

The new parking set-up, depending upon council's action, will bring about parking changes on 13 Hilltop streets. The changes will prohibit parking on some streets, but will release more streets for parking near business areas.

There will be no change on N. Powell-av. Parking is now permitted and will be continued.

Little Chance Of Moving BJR Director Says

There appears to be only an outside chance that the Bureau of Juvenile Research will be moved from the Hilltop to new and larger buildings at the Ohio State University.

According to Dr. Maurice Newburger, director of bureau, located at 2280 W. Broad-st, the state has appropriated a half million dollars for the expansion of the institution's facilities. "However, this is not for moving our quarters," Dr. Newburger stated.

Dr. Newburger agrees with Judge John H. Lamneck, state welfare director, that it would be best for the institution to move to larger quarters near the university. But action by the state legislature is necessary before the move could be made. The legislature will not meet again until January, 1951, unless called into a special session by the governor. The expansion, for which money has already been allotted, will undoubtedly get underway before the next regular session.

"The state hospital," Dr. Newburger declared, "needs the space we now occupy. While we are going to spend $800,000 it would be best to locate the bureau near the university where it could benefit from the more elaborate psychological and psychiatric facilities which would help in juvenile research."

VFW Fall Party To Be Oct. 22

The Westway Post, VFW, will hold its annual fall party on Saturday, Oct. 22. Lunch will be served from 6 to 8 p. m., to be followed by entertainment.

Tickets for this party are 75c and can be obtained at the Wolfe Electric Store, 2427 W. Broad-st, or by calling Ra. 1356, or Ma. 0522, to order tickets. The Westway Post club rooms are now open to members every week day from 12 noon to 10 p. m.

TO HOLD DANCE

The University unit of the Blue Star Mothers will hold a dance Friday, Oct. 14 from 8 p. m. to 12:30 a. m. at Smith's Dance Gardens, N. Fourth and Northwood-avs. Billy Scott and his Neighborhood Boys will furnish the music for round and square dancing.

Sheila and Sharon Albary Win Talent Search Contest

Sheila and Sharon Albary won the first "Stars of Tomorrow" contest at the Old Trail Theater Wednesday night with their baton twirling act.

Second prize went to Bob Kieper, who sang "Oh What A Beautiful Morning" and third prize went to Marlene Cooper for her rope-tap dance.

Others participating in the show were Pat Manus, Sandy Cooper, Bob Johnson, Linda Lee Prior and Mitzi Karabinos.

"Stars of Tomorrow", the Hilltop YMCA benefit show, goes into its second round when the curtain goes up on the starful talent program at 9 p. m., next Wednesday, at the Old Trail Theatre.

The funds from these shows are ear-marked for the community YMCA. The "Y" receives money from the Community Chest, but it is not sufficient to cover operating expenses. $3500 has to be raised each year to meet the deficit.

Finale on TV

The three first place winners of each Wednesday night show receive prizes for their top performances. Grand finale winners will appear on a special television show. Prizes for the grand finale will be announced in the Record soon.

"Stars of Tomorrow" should get their names into the Record office as soon as possible. Saturday is the deadline for the following Wednesday's show.

If you can sing, dance, act, imitate, or do anything else that is entertaining, fill out the coupon on Page 7-A and shoot it to us.

The YMCA talent show is scheduled for 9 p. m., every Wednesday, at the Old Trail Theatre. Audience applause selects the three top winners.

Members of the YMCA Board will judge the applause.

Tickets sell for 45c, which includes the feature film that is currently showing at the theatre. Tickets are on sale at the Hilltop Record office, and the "Y" office at Ogden-av and W. Broad-st. Call the "Y", JO. 4641, if you wish to reserve a ticket.

PLANS FISH DINNER

The W. W. Class of Briggsdale Church plans to serve a fish dinner at the church Oct. 20.

Sonya (left) and Sheila Albary, 2834 Killdeer-av, won both "Stars of Tomorrow". Sheila appeared with another sister, Sharon, in the Hilltop YMCA talent show last night at the Old Trail Theater and won first prize.

Sonya, with Delores Moriva, of 2932 Fremont-st, as her partner, will put on a dance act at the second Wednesday night show next week. Both are 15 years old.

Wolfe to Head Comm. Center In Rea-Bow Add.

The Board of Trustees of the Rea-Bow Improvement Association, Inc., at its last regular meeting, appointed George W. Wolfe, 856 Midland-av, as director of Rea-Bow Community Center.

The new hall, located at Clarendon-av and Whitehead-rd, will be completed for the children's annual Hallowe'en party Oct. 31.

A girls' sewing class will start soon for girls between the ages of 10-16 years. The ladies of the association will act as instructors. This will be part of the Ranger activities. The Rangers will resume their Monday night drills, Oct. 24.

The association is getting the last of the names on the petitions for city water. They are expected to be filed soon.

A membership campaign is on and will continue for 30 days.

Ladies of the association have been serving pot-luck lunch to the men who work on the hall each Sunday. All labor on the new hall is donated by the members and their friends.

San Margaritte Asks City Water

A. J. Dallas, 3365 McKinley-av, and Rollen M. Slane, 3681 Trabue-rd, are circulating a petition in an effort to get the village of San Margaritte supplied with water from the city.

They are attempting to get water pipes extended out N. Hague-av to Tarbue-rd, east on Trabue to McKinley-av, and then south.

To date the men have 80% of the required number of signatures on the petition. They expect to obtain the amount needed.

HEAR INDIAN MISSIONARY

Myrtle Furman of Akita, Iowa, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Women's Council of the Hilltop Church of Christ Tuesday, Oct. 11, at 8 p. m. Miss Furman has recently retired after 37 years in the mission field.

10 Near Top In Contest As First Period Nears End

Second report in the big Hilltop Record $3000 subscription campaign was concluded by the contestants on Tuesday and there is more and more evidence that the race is getting hotter all the time. Just who will ride away in that new Dodge sedan on Nov. 14 and who will get the RCA Victor television set and other prizes is still very much a question mark.

At least three candidates withdrew from the race this past week because they could not give the necessary time to the work. But as of this writing there are still at least 10 candidates who are really doing a bang-up job in selling subscriptions and are very much in the running. In fact any one of the 10 could turn up with the lead as the first period of the event is concluded next Tuesday evening.

Each contestant will be allowed until 10 a. m. Wednesday to turn in next week's report and get credit at full value of the points for the first period. Reports received after that time will be credited at the second period rate.

Numerous people have asked how the contestants are running, but upon consultation with the contestants the Record feels it should not print the standings yet. Some indication of those doing the best job will be given next week after the first period ends.

Several candidates report present subscribers are unwilling to give paid in advance renewals to the paper for fear their carrier boy will not get his pay if they do. Every carrier boy stands to gain by this contest and he will not lose any profits if subscribers pay a contestant for a subscription in advance.

Attention is called to the special gift coupons in the Record ad on Page 4B today. If you desire to assist a candidate, fill out one of these blanks and mail it to the Record at once.

Park Your Broom At West High Hallowe'en Night

Hobgoblins and witches will gather on Hallowe'en Night at West High School again this year. Preliminary plans for this neighborhood affair have been set by the Hilltop Community Council, according to Elmer Hegenberger, chairman of this gala event.

The following organizations are cooperating in putting on the party:

Hilltop Business Association, Hilltop Kiwanis Club and Kiwanikee, Westway Post 3441, VFW, American Legion Auxiliary, St. John Lutheran Sunday School, West High PTA, Highland PTA, Keith School of Dancing, Girl Scouts, St. Mary Magdalene PTA, Highland Garden Club.

Any other Hilltop organizations wishing to participate should phone Mrs. Earl Abram at Ra. 9625.

Final plans are to be made at the next meeting of the Hilltop Community Council, Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 8 p. m. at the Westgate Methodist Church, 345 S. Brinker-av.

SPONSOR TV SHOW

The Hilltop YMCA will sponsor a television showing of the World Series game Saturday. The 16 inch set is being provided by the Westgate Electric Co. The showing will be at 12:45 at the Hillcrest Baptist Church. The public is invited.

Nation's Top Motorcyclists Entered In Fairgrounds Races Sunday

Leo Anthony

Leo Anthony is one of the top motorcycle racers who has entered the races at Ohio State Fairgrounds Sunday. He hails from Port Huron, Mich.

Anthony won the three-mile national dirt track championship at Spencer, Iowa, in 1948. Many Columbus people will remember him for his smoothness as he broadslided around the turns in the Charity Newsies races last spring and for his bright orange jersey which makes him a standout from the other racers on the track. He is considered one of the wisest veterans in the game. This is the finish of his 16th year of motorcycle racing.

Time trials for the races will start at 10 a. m. with the day's program starting at 1:30 p. m. There will be nine races open to all American Motorcycle Association competition riders in the United States and Canada. In addition there will be a race open to expert riders who live in Ohio. The A. M. A. will recognize the winner of this race as the "Ohio champion" and will present him with a large trophy.

Ambulances from three Hilltop funeral homes, Noble Allen, Wylie S. Shroyer and Jerry Sparn, will be on duty at the fairgrounds during the races.

The races are being sponsored by Camp Chase Post No. 94, American Legion, and the Golden Arrow Motorcycle Club, Inc.

Church Names Two Groups; Set Meetings

The members of the Women's Council of Hilltop Church of Christ have organized into two circles. The Mary Circle, composed of those who wish to study, will meet on the third Thursday of each month. The first meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 20 at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Kegg, 219 S. Richardson-av.

The work group, named the Martha Circle, will meet on the second Thursday of each month. The next meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Haley, 167 Lechner-av. This Circle is also planning a bazaar on Dec. 1.

The Hilltop Record delivered to your door by carrier boy each Tuesday and Thursday evening for only 5c per week.

Miss Edwards, Mr. Romeo Are Wed Sept. 11

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Romeo are shown above in the old car which carried them around the Hilltop following their wedding.

The altar of Hillcrest Baptist Church was decorated with baskets of white gladiola and mums interspersed with huckleberry foliage, tall white tapers and seven-branch candelabra for the marriage of Miss Ann Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Edwards, 191 N. Ogden-av, and Mr. Albert Romeo, son of Mrs. Edith Romeo, 1245 N. Fifth-st, on Sept. 11, at 4:30 p. m. The double ring ceremony was solemnized by Rev. A. L. Roth. A half hour of nuptial music preceded the ceremony during which Mr. Franklin Edwards, brother of the bride, sang, "Because", "I love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of traditional candlelight satin and designed with a net yoke with a bertha of Point-de-Venise lace. Her three-quarter length veil of imported silk illusion was held in place with a softly gathered halo of illusion fastened with orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls belonging to her mother, which was her "something borrowed." She carried a small white Bible topped with a single cattleya orchid surrounded by stephanotis and tied with white satin streamers.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. Norman Edwards, matron of honor, bridesmaids, Mrs. Franklin Edwards of Midland, Mich., and Mrs. Art Buhe, sister of the groom, wore identical gowns of champagne color satin. They wore elbow length mitts of matching satin and carried semi-cascade bouquets of bronze mums and ivy leaves. For their headdress they wore half hats of matching nylon illusion designed by Mrs. Franklin Edwards. Their only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

The groom's best man was Mr. Kenneth Birath, Youngstown.

Seating the guests at church were Mr. Cal Heinlen, Chillicothe and Mr. Norman Edwards, brother of the bride. Assisting were, Mr. Robert Freshman, Mr. Robert Milstead and Mr. James Gouby.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Edwards wore a gown of blue spruce crepe with black accessories and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Romeo wore a gown of gun-metal satin with which she wore black accessories and a shoulder corsage of American Beauty roses.

Assisting Mrs. Edwards at the reception following the wedding, were Mrs. James Sweeting, Mrs. William Fornof, Mrs. Robert Freshman, Mrs. Robert Milstead and Mrs. Gilbert Coffman.

For her trip to Virginia Beach, Washington, D. C., the bride chose a suit of nut brown tweed with which she wore dark brown accessories.

The couple is at home at 191 N. Ogden-av, until December when Mr. Romeo expects to graduate from the college of engineering at Ohio State University.

Robert M. Rex, general campaign chairman, will attend the meeting as will Mrs. Livingston L. Taylor, vice-chairman of the general campaign, and Rudolph N. Evjen, executive secretary of the Community Chest.

Mrs. Frank J. Lausche will give the instructions for solicitation in the drive for $1,200,000 for the support of 66 local health and welfare agencies. The local campaign will be held from Oct. 13 to Nov. 4.

News of Rome

By Mrs E. C. Sheets

"By the solemn rite of Confirmation" on Sunday, Oct. 2, the following young people were taken into the Communicant membership of St. Paul Lutheran Church, 55 Pasadena-av: Doris Brown, Bettye Grooms, Larry Frey, Alfred Datz, Owen Irvin, Malcolm Pennell, Ralph Vencil and Harold Weeks. Rev. Arthur Reimiller is pastor of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Grooms, 29 Lawrence-av, entertained on Sunday, Oct. 2, with a pot-luck dinner, in honor of their daughter, Bettye, whose confirmation took place on this day.

The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weber and daughter, Juanita, of Hilliards, Carl Huffman of West Jefferson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Holt and Clarence of Hilliards, Walter Weber, Anna and Cora Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Weber of Hilliards, Lester Prether of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Richards, Lee Allen and Donna Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Max Lembke, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Durban and daughter, Kathryn, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Yantis and Terry Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Durban and Betty Lou, all of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. William Durban and son, Irwin, Mrs. Jennie Grendell and Valeta, Richwood, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jahn, Pauline, Clarence and Florence of Plain City, the host and hostess and guest of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sheets, Jr., 48 Buena Vista-av, announce the birth of a son in Doctors' Hospital, Oct. 4.

Approximately 225 Luther Leaguers participated in a hayride given by St. Paul's Lutheran Church Sept. 28. The guests were composed of young people's groups from several Columbus Lutheran Churches. They met at St. Paul's and then rode to the home of Keith Emmelhainz, Walker-rd, where a wiener roast was held.

The Ruth Circle of Columbia Heights Church Sunday School met at the home of Mrs. J. L. Coulter, Pasadena-av. It was election of officers night, which resulted in Mrs. Golden Yeater continuing as president; Mrs. Harold Ball, vice-president; Mrs. Howard Breckenridge, secretary; and Mrs. Charles Bowman, treasurer. After some educational games on the Bible, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Monitors' Class entertained with a baby shower for Mrs. Robert Denman, Tuesday night, in the parlors of the Columbia Heights Methodist Church. She is the wife of the superintendent of the Sunday School. The hostesses were Mrs. Marshall Hall, Mrs. Jack Elliott and Mrs. Ernest Schroeder.

Cowboys To Meet Weak Linden 11 In Friday Tilt

By Dave Miller

West High's fighting Cowboys, still seeking their initial win of the present 1949 City League football season, will try again for that opening win of the year this week when they travel to Linden McKinley's new field for the first time in the history of the West-Linden series.

The Cowboys should take the measure of the weak McKinley eleven, who have only one man left over from last year. He is guard Don Vollmuth, a junior at the Panther school. The Cowboys lead in that department because of their four returning monogram men.

There is no comparison of scores in two teams. Linden opened the season by trouncing a weak Washington C. H. team, 18-6, but their next two outings were lost to Lancaster, 33-6, and to Central's Pirates, 45-0.

In last week's McKinley-Central trouncing, the Panthers were without the services of three backs, Bob Davis, Art Green and Dan Whitacre. Central, however, ran over the Panther team, scoring almost at will, getting the ball just about any time they wanted it, and just generally slaughtered the Panthers.

Coach A. M. (Mack) Pemberton, West grid coach, is not yet certain of his starting team. As yet this week he has not been able to see his backs in top style because of the wet turf at every practice session so far this year.

Linden's coach, Bob White, disclosed before the opening of the season that he couldn't see how his gridders could go anywhere, having only one letterman back. White expects to start Chuck Brockman, spark of the Linden backfield, at quarterback. Brockman has scored twice this year, and threw a pass for another TD to Al Mahoney, his halfback mate against Lancaster for the lone touchdowns against the Golden Gales.

In addition to Brockman and Mahoney, White is as yet uncertain. They will no doubt be either Bob Davis or Jim Harper at the other half post and Al Morlaini at fullback. Jim Gary, a regular backfielder for Linden, broke his leg in last week's Central game.

Pemberton will probably have in the backfield Bob Birle at quarterback; either Ronnie James, Carmine DeMatteo or Charlie Hunter at the halfbacks and Clarence Golden at fullback. The practice sessions at the Powell Ave. school have been mostly scrimmages and defensive work with linemen.

The probable starting lineups:

Linden	Pos.	West
D. Heiser	LE	J. Rudolph
B. Denune	LT	D. McDermott
D. Vollmuth	LG	D. Will
R. Croce	C	B. Epps
A. Blateri	RG	B. Wilson
B. Julian	RT	C. Voss
B. Miller	RE	B. Thrush
C. Brockman	QB	B. Birle
A. Morlaini	LH	R. James
B. Davis	RH	Hunter or DeMatteo

Band Salutes City Leaue At North Game

By Dave Miller

West High's 70-piece marching band put on another great show before an overflow crowd at the halftime of the North-West game on the North field last Friday evening.

The Cowboy band saluted all city league schools in their program because of the opening of the regular season on the same date. In this Friday's game at Linden McKinley they are planning a transportation show but as of this writing the band has had only one outside practice, due to bad weather.

Their first formation represented Central, and playing "Red and Black" they formed a "C". From there the band went into an "S" for South, and played their school song. "W" for East was next and the heavily favored school to win the City Loop championship this year was saluted with the "Caisson Song."

The band then formed an "A" for Aquinas and played the "Wearing of the Green." They then formed "LMc" and playing Linden McKinley's fight song, from there making an "N" and playing "Polar Pep" for North, the band turned on their gold-and maroon numbers, and revolved the "N", getting a big hand from the North stands for the novel idea. From there, the band formed a "W" and played the two Cowboy fanfares, ending with Alma Mater.

ACADEMY PLANS FESTIVAL

Members of St. Joseph's Academy Mothers' Club are completing final plans for the annual harvest festival and dance which they will sponsor Thursday, Oct. 13, at the school auditorium at 6 p. m. Dancing will begin at 8:30 to the music of Cal Nichols and his orchestra. Proceeds from the affair will benefit the Sisters of Notre Dame.

Rites Friday For W. W. Hennick, Former Hilltopper

W. W. Hennick

Funeral arrangements were complete today for W. W. Hennick, 84, 1194 Fair-av, who resided for a number of years on the Hilltop at 1330 Wilson-rd.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in the Schoedinger Funeral Home followed by entombment in Amaranth Abbey. Friends may call at the funeral home until time of services.

With the passing of Bill Hennick went one of Columbus' last reminders of the horse and buggy days.

The pioneer harness maker died in White Cross Hospital two weeks after suffering a stroke.

William H. Hennick, or Bill, as he was known to everybody, retired in 1944, after having been in the harness and horse goods trade here for more than 60 years. His establishment, which bore his name, was located at 57 E. Spring-st then.

His first store was at 7 W. Broad-st on the site now occupied by the Deshler-Wallick Hotel. Later, he moved to 19 N. Front-st, on property now housing City Hall. The E. Spring-st shop was opened in July, 1948.

At first, the William W. Hennick business dealt exclusively with harnesses and other horse goods. Later, he added an auto accessories department. Theatened by adverse business conditions, he tried new lines, such as fishing tackle and sporting goods, Later, he added dog supplies, and became the largest supply house for harness and dog equipment in Central Ohio.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church, Columbus Lodge of Masons, Mt. Vernon Commandery, Scottish Rite, Knights of Pythias, and was president of the trustees of Amaranth Abbey of Union Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Sarah; two sons, Edgar S., of the residence, and Ralph W., of 86 S. Ardmore-rd; one brother, Sherman N. Amert, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. J. W. Rings Rites Saturday

Mrs. John William Rings passed away at her home on Lennox-av, Wednesday morning, Oct. 12. She was a member of the Rebekah Lodge, Hilliards, and Degree of Pochontas Sequoia Council.

She moved to this community about 27 years ago, with her family, having lived before then in the neighborhood of Hilliards. She leaves seven sons and four daughters, 27 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in Columbia Heights Methodist Church, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

'Holiday On Ice' To Have Columbus Showing At Coliseum Oct. 7 - 16

"Holiday On Ice of 1950", two and a half hour ice show, which is again making its annual tour of the United States and Latin America, will come to the Coliseum of the Ohio State Fair Grounds, Friday, Oct. 7, to play nightly through Sunday, Oct. 16, with matinees on Sunday, Oct. 9 and Oct. 16.

This is the fourth local stop for the frosted extravaganza, which displays a company of 115, a variety of swiftly-paced acts, a 36-girl skating line, "The Glamour-Icers", over 700 costumes and seven production numbers. The 1950 edition of the ice classic is an all new show which has just finished its rehearsal. Columbus will be the third engagement on the road for this year's show.

Opening night of the show, Friday, Oct. 7, will be sponsored by the Twigs of the Children's Hospital of Columbus for the benefit of the hospital's polio center.

"Holiday On Ice of 1950" includes practically all of the stars of past productions in addition to a number of new faces. Headliners who will be familiar to "Holiday" fans are Murray Galbraith and Dorothy Goos, Bobby Blake Leo Freisinger, Karen, Holly and Day, Kay Farelli, Tommy and Susan LaVonne, Phil Hiser, Henry Lie, Ted Meza and Ray Carter, plus such new stars as Mickey Meehan, Joe Shillen, Don Hooten and Ann Schmidt.

Production numbers include "The Spirit of Winter," "Starlight Serenade," "Rumbalero," "The Princess with the Glass Heart," "The Enchanted Garden," "Oh, Let's Be Gay," "May I Have This Dance," and "Little Bo Peep." All of these feature the Glamour-Icers and Ice Squires.

George D. Tyson of New York is again credited with the production of the giant show, with ensemble choreography by Marie Carr. Costumes were designed by Billy Livingston of New York.

Tickets for "Holiday On Ice of 1950" are now on sale at Heaton's Music Store, 50 N. High-st.

Santa To Make Early Visit; Open Toy Shop

Santa Claus, in person, will make his premiere Columbus appearance on the Hilltop at 9 o'clock this Sunday morning, Oct. 9, when he arrives on his big sleigh at 2368 W. Broad-st, in front of Sheskey's Five and Dime Store.

Old Saint Nick and his Helpers will give away balloons, candy and bubble gum to the children. There will also be free gifts for the parents, according to Michael A. Sheskey, owner of the store.

The store's "Toyland," located in the basement, will be officially opened that day. Its new stock of toys will be on display.

Santa, with his sleigh and a "tall, long-limbed clown", will be parked in front of the dime store from 9 in the morning to 8 in the evening on Sunday.

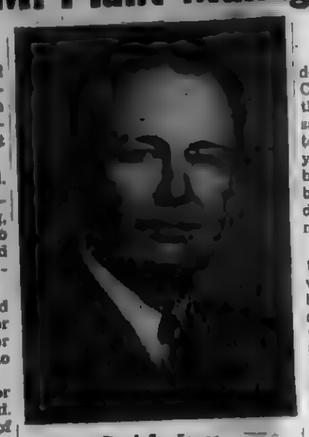
'We've Had No Layoffs – Don't Expect Any' New G. M. Plant Manager Says

By Bill Gibbon

In an interview with Paul Jones, new manager of the Columbus Ternstedt plant on Georgesville-rd and W. Broad-st, I asked him what he thought about the "recession."

"What recession?" he replied.

"We have had even production right from the beginning, and we expect to continue to have even production. We've had no lay-offs and we don't anticipate any," he stated.



Last year the plant converted from producing hardware for 1948 cars to new equipment for the 1949 models. There were no major lay-offs of employees.

"And that was a very major conversion," Jones added. "That's unique in the history of automobile production."

As a young farm boy from the hills of Tennessee, Jones set foot off the train that brought him to Detroit in 1923 and the big auto city almost scared him away.

But Paul L. Jones doesn't scare easily and before he left Detroit he got a job as a machine operator in the Ternstedt Division. In 11 years he was a divisional superintendent.

Today Paul Jones is the newly

Paul L. Jones

appointed manager of the Columbus Ternstedt plant on Georgesville-rd at W. Broad-st.

In his 26 years with the General Motors Corp., Jones has worked entirely within the Ternstedt (auto hardware) Division. But he knows every phase of work within that division He's "come up the hard way."

Named Manager

Last week C. E. Wilson, president of GM, appointed James L. Conlon as general manager of the Ternstedt Division.. At the same time Wilson named Jones to take Conlon's place. For three years, from the time the Columbus plant was opened in September, 1946, Conlon was the resident manager. Jones was works manager under Conlon.

Jones considers himself a Hilltopper. Not only because he works so close to the Hilltop, but because he has lived here for over a year. When he first came to Columbus from Detroit he bought a home at 3108 Wicklow-rd, right across from Westgate Park. Since then he has sold that and bought a home on the west bank of the Scioto River at 3813 Riverview-dr, still not far from the Hilltop.

Likes Hilltop

He likes the Hilltop and Columbus "very much." "This community," he stated, "is typically American. I like it also because I don't have to drive through so much traffic to get to work, like I had to in Detroit," he added.

Jones speaks from experience, for he has lived in several American cities. He was born and spent his youth in Orlinda, Tenn. In addition to living in Detroit for 18 years, from 1923 to 1934, he lived in Trenton, N. J. for five years.

In Trenton, Jones was factory manager of the Ternstedt plant there. At that time it was the only one besides the hardware division factory in Detroit. Before going to Trenton in August, 1937, while still in Detroit, Jones was in complete charge of designing and planning the Trenton plant.

Main products of the Columbus plant are hardware—door locks, hinges, seat springs and the like for small GM cars such as the Chevrolet and small Pontiacs and Oldsmobiles.

Jones told me that the coal strikes had not yet hurt the plants production. "But it will," he declared. "If it lasts very long."

About the possible steel strike, he had this to say: "It would hurt all industries."

"No 'Hot' War"

Jones, a cigar-smoking, efficient business executive, took a puff and said he didn't believe there would be a "hot war. "Any country would be crazy to start a war now with all the weapons that are available," he stated.

During the last war Jones played an extremely important role in the production of many weapons and equipment for the troops. When the Eastern Airways took over, production in the Trenton plant to make carrier planes, Jones went back to Detroit where he was put in charge of procurement of all material for war production in the Detroit Ternstedt plant.

At that time he was also named Ternstedt's representative on the Fisher Body - Ternstedt equipment board. The job of that board was to get equipment for the war program. If the equipment—such as drills and presses—was not available to buy, it was the job of the board to design and build the much needed equipment.

In addition to these very important responsibilities, Jones was in direct charge of production of 90 mm. machine guns in one of GM's Detroit plants. He was also responsible for all of the pre-war machinery—during and after the war—that had been in the Trenton plant. During the immediate post-war period Jones had to distribute this equipment to factories that needed it most.

During his career from operator to factory manager, Jones has worked in nearly every phase of production in the Ternstedt division. In 1930, just seven years after he began working for GM, he was put in charge of what was then the largest electric plating plant in the country.

Since then he has worked in other departments, polishing, painting, die casting, press and machine of the division. That is what has made Jones well qualified for his present job.

When I asked him what he thought of the pension demands the CIO was making of the auto and steel industries, Jones had no comment to make.

"We are proud of the working conditions here," Jones declared, "And we are proud of our relations with the workers in the plant." A majority of the employees are members of United Auto Workers of the CIO.

The plant is open for the public to inspect. There is very little, if anything, secret in the operation of the factory. Several schools, church and civic groups have already toured the plant. "That's good for the public and good for us," Jones added.

Jones asks, however, that arrangements for such visits be made before hand so as not to conflict with other tours.

Likes Fishing

Jones is a busy executive, but he, too, enjoys the ordinary things in life. He particularly likes to fish. However, he says the fishing is not too good in the Scioto and he has had only one [illegible] away from Columbus in the [illegible] years he's been here. That was in Florida, where he caught a large sailfish.

While on his short rest this summer, he cut down trees and burned stumps on his river-side property.

He has a small speed boat in which he enjoys taking his wife, Doris, and their 20-month-old daughter, Joanne Marie, riding.

Jones is a modern Horatio Alger. A machine operator in 1923; a foreman in 1928; a general foreman in 1931; an assistant division superintendent in 1933; a divisional superintendent in 1934; Trenton factory manager in 1937; in Detroit, the assistant to the general factory manager in 1942; executive assistant for post-war planning in 1944; Columbus work manager in 1946, and now factory manager of this new plant, which he helped plan and design.

Three Hilltop Kiwanians To Attend Meeting

LARUE F. SMITH

The Hilltop Kiwanis Club will have three representatives at the 1949 convention of the Ohio Kiwanis District to be held Oct. 9, 12, Club President M. E. Sensenbrenner announced today.

Senator Robert A. Taft will address the Kiwanians at a convention luncheon to be held Tuesday, Oct. 11. This will be a major speaking appearance and is being recognized as one of the highlight events of his current tour throughout Ohio.

The speaking program also will feature Larue F. Smith, Niagara Falls, N. Y., industrialist, and Al. R. Cox, Canton business counselor, both trustees of Kiwanis International.

Smith, who will serve as the official representative of Kiwanis International, was a civil engineer, high school principal and superintendent of schools before assuming his present position as president and general manager of the Spirella Company of Canada at Niagara Falls, Ont. He also is a director of the Spirella Company, Inc., at Niagara Falls, N. Y., and of Spirella International, Inc.

Delegates who will represent the Hilltop Kiwanis at the convention will include Phil Stout, Sam Alford and M. E. Sensenbrenner.

London Subways Much Deeper Than New York's; Hempstead Heath Station Is 192 Feet Below Surface

Sunday, June 26

This morning we went to Hempstead Heath.

For many days now we have been riding the subways of London and each time we have taken particular notice of the depth of the tubes. At most stations long steep escalators are used to ascend to the surface. They are much deeper than those in New York. As we got off the train at Hampstead Heath, Tessa told us that this was the deepest underground in London but she did not know how far down it was. To get to the surface we had to get on an elevator which was capable of carrying, according to my estimate, at least sixty people. From the operator, after we had ascended some distance without indication of an approaching stop I learned that from the track level to the surface we had to ascend 192 feet.

Finally arriving at the surface we found ourselves in a hillside village with more of the narrow winding streets and buildings, both modern and old. This was the Greenwich Village of London. Artists of all k[illegible] this locality and its [illegible] explains why it is so [illegible] by those of artistic t[illegible]

We climbed up the High Street until Tess turned in through an open gate of one of the [illegible]ences enclosing the [illegible] of the residences. This was Queenie's home. In the family she is "Queenie", to others she is "Winnie" and to the readers of the English Woman's Magazine, Britania and Eve, which she edits she is Winifred Lewis, sister of Jack Lewis and therefore Tessie's aunt.

This home lives up to the requirements of quaintness needed in a place like Hampstead. It is over a century old. It is only one small room in depth and width with a tiny hallway on one side and a tiny alcove around the corner from it. It is three stories high. The main room on the first floor is the dining room with the alcove for a kitchen. The lounge is on the second floor and the bedroom on the top floor. Leading from one floor to the others is a narrow winding staircase very much like the winding steps on a ship leading from one deck to another. It is so much so that Queenie's brother, Steve, feels especially at home in this house. For years he has been going to sea as a radio officer. His home here is the tiny alcove on the third floor which is just about the size of a small ship's [illegible] to be reached by the winding stairway.

Queenie had dinner ready for us soon after we arrived, during which we were served with Portuguese ham which Steve had brought back from his latest journey.

During the afternoon we went for a walk across a part of the heath, where we saw hundreds of people, mostly children, enjoying themselves running and nesting over the park. To us, however, the sun was far too bright and much too hot to give us enjoyment by sitting in it without shade. We continued our walk through the cobblestone or gravel lanes which served as streets for the village.

Here too we came to the first street we have seen with steps in it. At several places the street is so steep that steps have been installed to replace the former steep grade.

Returning to Winnie's home we had our afternoon tea in the cool breezes which were blowing through the room.

Tomorrow we start for our first trip to Europe.

The Low Down On High Ridgers

By One of Them

Our loss, his gain! Carl Cordray and the missus are leaving the Hilltop. Carl is associated with the Western & Southern Insurance Co. and has been promoted to manager at Galion, O. Good luck, Carl.

Did you see West play Friday? Frank Caligiuri must be mighty proud of his boy Carl, one of the Cowboy rooters. After all, don't these cheerleaders help win the games? Lots of fun to watch them anyhow.

Since cooler weather has set in, the sewing club has started up again. Mrs. Paul Murnane held the September social at her home. Those attending were Dotty Floyd, Julia Miller, Genevieve Rumfield, Frances Greeno and Eleanor Sinacola.

The Rumfields went picnicking to Lake Hope last Sunday. They had a perfect Indian Summer day.

I must have missed the picture or ad or whatever it was, but it was called to my attention that a certain lady does her housework in high heels. Mrs. P. Murnane's picture proved it. But I bet she wouldn't like to be caught with her hair up on curlers and scrub bucket in hand. That would tell the tale.

Jane Van Castle here on Belvidere assisted her girl friends in a "ship wreck" party held at the home of Mrs. Charles Prior. Had fun. Ship wreck? Must have had a heavy rain over there—enough to wreck a ship.

But these parties nowadays have nothing to do with what they really call them. Take showers for example. My wife went to one last month and when I handed her an umbrella before she left, she hit me over the head with it. Never will understand wimmin.

Paul Greeno and his bride celebrate their sixth wedding anniversary tomorrow. Congrats! Shall we High Ridgers bell them?

Smiles are on faces of new car owners seen around:
Parkers with a Hudson
Whitneys with a Nash
Wilmers and Harlors have a Dodge
Wish I, too, had cash.

I'd buy a Ford like Tanner did
Or a Packard bought by Sears
And I don't mean the catalog
But Sears—yes, Jesse Sears.

A Chrysler bought by Moellencamp
Who lives on Belvidere
Uses a horn that has a sound
To make you lend an ear.

These lucky, lucky neighbors!
I just don't seem to fit
I think I'll walk around the block
Then come on back and sit.

No kiddies, kittens, dogs or cats
No prized possession car
I've nothing of my own—except
A wife and my cigar.

Friends Church Rally Day Set for Sunday

Highland Avenue Friends Church and Sunday School will make this Sunday a Rally day and Homecoming. Paul R. Langdon, Sunday School superintendent, is calling all classes to Rally and has set 275 as a goal for attendance.

In the morning worship service Dr. Walter R. Williams, superintendent of missions for Ohio Friends will deliver the sermon. The afternoon service will be of a Homecoming nature with a 30-minute organ recital at the opening of the service. Dale Summers, pianist and oranist for the two city-wide revivals held recently in Columbus will be the musician in charge. Greetings then will be read from former pastors and members. Recognition will be given to charter and older members of the church.

Christian Endeavor will feature the former officers, who through the years have led Highland young people in youth services. The evening service will be given over to Dr. Williams for a missionary sermon to the church.

What Other Editors Say

Why Gifts to Public Officials? . . .

(Hillsboro News-Herald)

Why do individuals and corporations make valuable gifts to public officials? Almost always the reason is that the giver expects to receive in return special privileges. Officials know this is true. Officials are just men and women holding public office. If an individual receives a valuable gift he feels obligated to do the giver a favor if he has the opportunity, is under obligation to him.

Recently seven deep freeze units were given to Mrs. Harry Truman, General Harry Vaughn, military aide of President Truman, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Vinson and other high federal officials. Each unit was worth from $400 to $500. The unit given Mrs. Truman was placed in the Truman home in Independence, Mo. was worth from $400 to $500. The unit given Mrs. Truman was placed in the Truman home in Independence, Mo.

These facts were brought out before a Congressional Investigating Committee. So far there has been no dispute as to the facts. The units were paid for by the heads of a perfumery company.

President Truman and all of the others receiving the deep freeze have been in politics for many years. The president was a protege of Boss Pendergast and a member of the Pendgast machine. He knows how practical machine politics is carried on. So far as has been disclosed there was nothing illegal about the gifts and there is no evidence that the givers have received in return any special favors from the government.

The request has been made by President Truman that judgment not be passed on General Vaughn until he has given his version of the matter before the committee. General Vaughn has admitted receiving the units. He lives at the White Hous and is a long time personal friend of the president. In fairness he must be permitted to give his statement. But what possible explanation can be made which will show high moral standards of honesty?

Are the accepting gifts of the deep freeze units examples of the ethics of the Truman administration? In our opinion the leaders of our government should have such high standards of conduct, should be not only legally but morally honest, that the people would have no reason to even suspect them of anything improper, let alone morally dishonest.

From all reports Washington is swarming with "five percenters" who are getting wealthy by securing favors for persons doing business with the government. But some will say, "Why make a fuss about this? Such things have been going on for years." We will admit that this is true but no matter how long it has gone on it still is wrong and this is getting very close to the top. Even with the scandal of the Harding administration there was no suspicion of wrong doing by President Harding.

Letters to Editor

Editor, The Hilltop Record,

I would like to express my appreciation of the magnificent work that was done to beautify W. Broad-st from Central-av west.

It would be impossible for any one person to take credit for this accomplishment. Let me name a few who are deserving and should be mentioned: Leo McComb, Mayor Rhodes, the Hilltop Kiwanians, Dr. Kaiser, Dr. Bateman, the Hilltop merchants and The Hilltop Record.

Dear Mr. Hartley:

We have been in Phoenix for nine months and thanks to our Mom, Mrs. John Ingles, we have received almost every copy of the Record, and we certainly have enjoyed every one. They seem to bring a little bit of home to us.

You probably don't remember us, but we lived at 188 N. Wayne-av, until last November. Mr. Ingles was a general contractor and advertised in the Hilltop Record, until he became ill and upon Dr. Cross' and Dr. Shenbich's advice we sold our home, bought a house trailer and headed west. We arrived in Phoenix early in January and must say we didn't like it when we first arrived, but this is country that grows on a person and now after nine months we both like it fine (but there's no place to compare with the Hilltop).

If Arizona didn't have anything else it has climate that is ideal, especially for those who need a dry climate for health reasons. When we left Columbus Mr. Ingles was unable to work. Now after the short while we've been here, he is working six days a week and feeling fine.

We have opened a shop here in Phoenix (or just a few blocks east of the city limits) specializing in sewing machine sales and service. We are on E. Van Buren-st and anyone coming into Phoenix from the east please our shop and we invite any of our Columbus friends who might be coming to Phoenix to drop by the O. K. Sewing Machine Service, 3220 E. Van Buren and see the Ingles.

We enjoyed comparing the temperatures. While you were sweltering in the 90's back east we were "enjoying" a cool 117°. We say cool for the old timers here tell us this was a cool summer.

We have enjoyed the Record so much and please tell our Hilltop friends hello for us.

Your Hilltop friends in the Valley of the Sun,
Mr. and Mrs. Graham A. Ingles.

SYNOPSIS

Marvell Cosmer becomes acquainted with his little daughter, Katherine, when he returns to Boston from a distant city to attend his late wife, Elizabeth's funeral. They had lived apart for years. He is despised by his aristocratic Back Bay in-laws, especially by brother-in-law Proctor whose tyranny had helped wreck the marriage. Proctor is furious when he finds that his deceased sister has left her entire personal estate—and the custody of her daughter—to this estranged husband.

CHAPTER SEVEN

THE light drizzle had stopped and a pale, shifting fog had dropped down on the trees of the Mall. They were solitary walkers. An occasional cab passed them. neither wanted to speak. Their steps echoed over each crossing. When they reached the Garden, Ben spoke for the first time.

"Shall we cut across? The planks are still down. It won't be muddy." He was puffing a little, shorter than Marvell, he had had to double his pace to fit Marvell's long strides. His eyeglasses were speckled with moisture. He stopped to wipe them off and then carefully placed them in their case, returning it to his inner pocket. Now the streets were more than ever a blur and he edged closer to Marvell the way a nearsighted person instinctively seeks protection.

Hallam Marvell's head shone wetly. He ran a hand through his hair and took a deep breath. "Great night. Smell the earth. There should be peepers in that pond by now. Would be in the country." The board walk rattled under their feet. The Garden was hung with shreds of vapor. Ben felt that he should start talking but it was a world of silence not to be broken by the brittleness of a human voice.

Marvell had not smelt the rich damp of open earth for a long time. His weariness had gone. He felt a rising excitement inside and out. He forgot Ben beside him, and for a delicious moment nothing existed for him but the spring wine of the night. But only for a moment; his arm swung against his coat pocket and the crackling papers brought all his stale plans and doubts. Did this nomination for respectability change anything? He could not see that it did. As angry as Proctor made him, he could appreciate a little of his dismay at Elizabeth's betrayal. What I said then, still goes, he thought. I'll return the money, but I'll keep the title, and, grinning a little, he could see himself a few years hence standing in the Grand Central, casually confiding to a friend, "I've got to be on the midnight to Boston. And back tomorrow. I go up about twice a year, you know, to confer about my wife's estate. Purely impersonal affair, not a cent in it for me. Everything went to my daughter. A remarkably fine girl, lives with her mother's family, old Boston people."

Crossing Charles Street, they started up the Hill. "Come in for a nightcap," Ben invited when they reached the white door of his house. "Where are you staying the night?"

"Anywhere, nowhere. I am going to walk a lot." Marvell rubbed the sole of his shoe back and forth on the iron foot-scraper while Ben found his key. "Do you think I am a drunkard, Ben?"

The brass knockered door swung back. Ben looked over his shoulder at him. "No," he said simply, "I don't."

This was the second time that day that Marvell felt grateful for someone's acceptance of him, temporary as it might be. First Katherine and now Ben.

The Chestnut Street house was all that the other was not, small but beautifully proportioned, warm and well lit and breathing with vitality as a house should be.

"I'll run up to Fanny a moment. Help yourself to what you want, won't you?" He disappeared up the curving mahogany stairs. There was a wood fire dancing in this white paneled room. Marvell threw his coat over a chair. He unstopped a square glass decanter, poured himself a liberal drink and tasted it slowly. There was a clean smell of wood smoke. He picked up a red leather book from a table. The bookplate intrigued him. He would have made for himself. "The Marvell of it is . . ." He was pleased with this fancy. But it pricked him, too. Whenever would he get time to read books, let alone collect them. He had not yet found his center—as Ben had done. It would be lonely, starting out again. He touched the little sore of self-pity in how much it hurt. But it was worth it, he would be free. That was all he wanted. He winked at himself in the mirror above the mantel. Brace up, he said, they all envy you.

Ben returned, whistling a little tune. "Fanny regrets she can't come down, but she begs me to make you comfortable. Have you got what you want? Brandy?"

Marvell nodded. Ben filled a glass for himself, sat down near the fire, stretched his damp shoes to the grate, and asked briskly, "What do you intend to do in New York?"

"Start in all over again." He was eager to talk and he felt he could clear his own mind by matching up the pieces in front of Ben. "I guess you wouldn't remember Doc. Sandy-haired man, used to work for old Barlow. He was the only friend we had left that winter in Cambridge . . ." He paused, half expecting Ben to say something. Then he covered the gap in a faster rush of words. "Sandy has died—left me his practice. Elizabeth liked him but it worried her that she couldn't make him say more than a single word at a time. He was shy, you know, and I think he was a little embarrassed by knowing so much about us. He used to come over once a week with a big bag of provisions—oranges, canned goods, a ham, plunk it down on the table with a nervous look over his shoulder to see if we noticed.

"I remember him," said Ben. "A bookkeeper. What will you do together?"

Marvell had finished his drink and poured himself another. "Well, he has some money saved up—he lives on a string. We can begin together in a small way. I'll do all the salesmanship, contracting and estimating. We can get a couple of green draftsmen right out of school for a starter. There are lots of ways an outfit that size can edge in on jobs a big firm wouldn't bother with. I've made good contacts in the west and there's always room for anyone in New York."

"I daresay," murmured Ben.

Marvell expanded visibly even under this luke-warm approval. "At one time or another, Ben, I've wanted to do a number of things—architecture, chemistry, navigation—even acting. I've tried a couple of them—it's not a bad record for a plumber, is it? That's what I am at bottom—a plumber."

Ben thought with a touch of distaste that he could appreciate at times Proctor's lack of response to Marvell. He was so willing to show himself off.

"Just why did you come back?" interrupted Ben abruptly.

The glow of exuberance faded a little from Marvell's face. Without warning, Ben had brought him up sharply.

"I got a telegram," he said. "I thought they wanted me to come."

The man was so ingenuous, Ben felt uncomfortable. He didn't have any idea of the fine lines of restraint or modesty that shaped the manner and minds of most of the men he knew.

"Did you have any idea that Elizabeth was seriously ill?"

"Not much, she had had a cold that hung on. We didn't write a good deal. Why—do you think I should have stayed away?"

"I merely wondered what you expected."

"Nothing." Marvell gave a short laugh. "Not the will, if that's what you mean. As for Proctor—a little more good will."

"You can't blame him particularly under the circumstances. It is hard to forget certain things."

"Like old Barlow's funeral, I suppose you mean? Good Lord, I was only sympathetic. I liked the old man. That was the time Proctor locked me in."

"You were very disrespectful to old Barlow's children's feelings, I must say."

"Oh, I have a lot to be forgiven for," he agreed.

Ben was annoyed. There, again, was that easy acceptance of anything that touched himself.

Building 2 Cottages At State School

Construction of two cottages for doctors of the Columbus State School is underway on the Sullivant-av side of the institution, it was reported today by J. W. Bauersachs, business manager of the school.

The houses, being built by A. L. Meyer Construction Co., Columbus, will be completed sometime this winter.

PTA MEETING
By Norma Lewis

The first meeting of the Starling PTA was held at the school on Tuesday evening, Sept. 27.

The meeting was opened by giving the pledge of allegiance to the flag and singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

After the business meeting Mr. Huber took charge of the program. He introduced all of the teachers and board members.

For entertainment Vera Adams played a solo on the piano; Garnet Geis twirled her baton, and Norman Robinson played the accordion.

Following the program, refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

75 Out-of-Town Engagements On Boychoir Program

When members of the Columbus Boychoir leave Tuesday, Oct. 4 to give a concert in Bellaire, O., they will be starting a season's tour which will include no less than 75 out-of-town engagements. By the end of this fifth year of touring, the boys will have given more than five times as many out-of-town concerts as during their first year.

Herbert Huffman, director of the famed Boychoir, will accompany the boys on the tour and direct each of the 75 concerts. Points to be covered by the group extend from Holdrege, Neb., in the west, where they will be singing on Oct. 31, to Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, Canada, in the northeast, scheduled for Mar. 3. Cities throughout the midwestern states, the South, and parts of the Seacoast will also be included in this year's itinerary.

Hilltop boys attending the Columbus Boychoir this year include: Timothy Edwards, 785 S. Terrace-av; Buddy Rector, 2630 Eakin-rd; Augustus Rose, 445 Prospect-st; James Wichterman, 1640 Reaver-ln; Frank Faistl, 31 N. Wayne-av; Jerry McLinn, 319 Binns-blvd; Roy Deemer, 67 S. Purification of the Temple

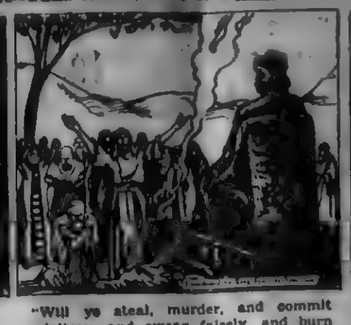
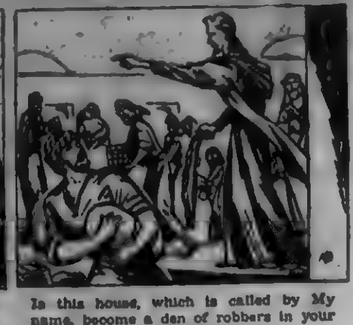
ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Isaiah 1:10-20; Jeremiah 7.



By Alfred J. Buescher



Isaiah told his people the Lord said that they should "do well, seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, plead for the fatherless and widow."

Word came to Jeremiah from the Lord, telling him to stand in the gate of the temple and command the people to amend their ways.

"Will ye steal, murder, and commit adultery, and swear falsely, and burn incense unto Baal, and walk after other gods that ye know not?"

Is this house, which is called by My name, become a den of robbers in your eyes?" the Lord asked.

MEMORY VERSE—Isaiah 1:17.

CHURCH PRESENTS FILM

A religious film, "Queen Esther," a dramatic presentation of religious persecution will be presented at the Burgess Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, Burgess and Sullivant-ave, Thursday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p. m. The public is invited.

Lutheran Rally Set for Memorial Hall Oct. 30

Rev. F. C. Wiegman

Two local Lutheran Pastors are serving on the general committee which is planning the annual Lutheran Reformation Rally which will be held at Memorial Hall on Reformation Sunday, Oct. 30 at 8. These men are: Rev. Arthur Rismiller, who is in charge of the program for the evening, and the Rev. Russell Olson, who is in charge of the publicity.

The speaker for this great Lutheran Service will be the Rev. Fred C. Wiegman, D. D., pastor of one of the largest Lutheran congregations in the state, Trinity Lutheran Church of Akron, Ohio. Dr. Wiegman is the son of a Lutheran missionary superintendent. He is a graduate of the Lutheran college in Fremont, Nebraska, Midland College, and later he served as the president of Western Seminary.

Among churches cooperating in this rally are: St. John's, Bethlehem, Hilltop, St. Matthew, and St. Paul's of New Rome.

Church Schedules 55th Anniversary Services Sunday

The West Broad Presbyterian Church, Dakota-av and W. Broad-st, will hold its fifty Anniversary and Homecoming Services Sunday, Oct. 9.

The program will commence with Sunday at 9:15 a. m. Morning worship will be at 10:30 a. m., with special music by the senior choir.

The afternoon agenda will start with a pot luck dinner at 12:15, followed by the Mrs. Betty Wilson Choir, homecoming address, reports from church departments, Boy Scout Troop No. 81, Girl Scout Troop No. 267, and a musical program. Refreshments will be served at 6 p. m.

The evening services will be conducted by Rev. Arthur Crawford, pastor, Rev. Emeritus George Bernard, and Rev. Harold Harris, guest minister. Mrs. William E. Lee will be the honored guest.

A movie, "The Salt of the Earth", will be shown.

Statue Presented To K. of C. Council

Rev. Walter Reese of Pontifical College Josephinum, and Chaplain of Santa Marie Council, Knights of Columbus, presented to Grand Knight Donald Bowen a statue of St. Mary, patroness of the Council on the opening of the fifth birthday celebration of Council 2898, scheduled for the month of October.

Past Grand Knight Christ presented 53 candidates to the council in this class honoring the Past Grand Knights of Santa Maria, at the exemplification of major degrees Oct. 2, at the club rooms.

Hoge Youth Groups Elect New Officers

The Westminster Fellowship groups of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church held their annual retreat and planning conferences last Sunday afternoon and evening at McKay Lodge.

The following officers were elected by the seniors to serve for one year: president, Ward Cassell; vice-president; Margaret Ringer; secretary, Marjorie Smith, and treasurer, Doris Thomas. The juniors chose Terry Hitt to head their group. Other officers are Kay Glass, vice-president; Jule Morgan, secretary, and Robert McLinn, treasurer.

Studies and work projects will be carried on in the four Westminster Fellowship Commissions with the following chairmen: Faith and Life, Howard Merriman; Stewardship, Richard Wolfe; Fellowship, Bill Earl, and Outreach, Natalie Skinner.

Plans for a monthly youth news publication were referred to a publicity committee, headed by Eddie Sensenbrenner.

Appointed to serve on the advisory Youth Council for the coming year are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. John Smith. Miss Carol Jackson will serve as advisor to the junior group.

In addition to work in the four Commissions, several recreational and social functions will be planned including a chartered bus trip.

LET THERE BE LIGHT

GOD said, "Let there be light, and there was light."

The light in a blind man's life has to do with his faith in God and his confidence in his fellow men. The seeing-eye dog, shown in this picture, has been trained to be the infallible guide to his master.

God decreed that man should be master of animal life. The seeing-eye dog serves his master and provides the eyes that make straight the way that the blind man must travel in the course of his day's duties.

In a sense, the churches of the world are the seeing eyes of all men who seek fuller knowledge of God's laws and the methods prescribed by Him for making our own way straight.

Each of us has his weakness, his own blind spot. While the seeing-eye dog would be of little help to man who is sound in all his members, the churches of the land offer the kind of help that every man needs when they chart for him the way he must follow to live in understanding with his fellow men, and with peace of mind in his own journey through life.

Life has its compensations for all of us. It has them for the blind. A blind man's senses, other than the sense of sight, are more fully developed to aid him in overcoming his handicap.

The blind man could tell us much about faith. He knows the importance it plays in his everyday life. We who are otherwise handicapped can overcome our weaknesses by regular church attendance, by regular Bible reading habits and through prayer.

"Soft, But Wrinkle Proof?"

This fact-finder has learned such interesting odds and ends about the Century soft shirt by Van Heusen that he finally tired of window shopping and up and bought one to see for himself. Soon as it was put on, it seemed a good bet that Van Heusen isn't kidding in his advertising.

Several hours' wear convinced me that it would be perfectly sporting to give it a mighty plug. A call to SEILLER'S made sure that a nice stock is on hand in all sizes and both collar and shirt styles. You'd better hump it over there in view of the following:

a) A Van Heusen man told me that nothing had received greater acclaim in his 25 years in the business; that one sales representative at the recent Chicago show could get only 266 dozen shirts for 300 accounts.

b) Furthermore, no shirts in anything except white for at least one year; and darned few of any kind until they obtain more of the special machines for the extraordinarily tedious collar-process.

In short, Van Heusen didn't reckon with the legion of guys who have been spending their lives thus far in a fruitless hunt for a real soft collar, without propping gimmicks, which won't even wrinkle because it can't.

It is grand to hear about this right now, isn't it? Van Heusen must be the grandfather of all contrasts. Let us hope that he doesn't fool around with how VH would do it again. One such brainstorm per lifetime is top drawer for the event.

?"Virtue Words"?

It is not easy, of course, to appraise a program relying as heavily as does the Economic Report of the President on virtue words.

The report abounds in statements that the government must take "proper" action, make "wise" and "needed" economic adjustments, adopt "salutary" policies, etc.

No one can disagree with the purpose of programs so stated, or even with the programs themselves where they are not spelled out in greater detail.

But such statements beg the question with which we are concerned and do not help us to any clear solution. They presuppose easy, "right" answers, upon which, of course, everyone is supposed to agree, both as to means and as to ends.

If such words admitted that they are only an expression of hopes, there would be no harm, but the experience in other countries, as well as our own, teaches that such words often have a propaganda purpose in the hands of those who used them, designed to discredit anyone who may disagree.

The only "wise" decisions are those which the speaker makes. The only "proper" action, the only "adequate" steps are those the proponent himself takes without even suggesting or admitting that there is any other remedy.

Adjustments "needed" and the order of priority assigned to them are inevitably limited to the desires and vision of their advocates. MEET WILLIE THE WIZARD

In a Flash He Can Figure Out Everything Except Where His Next Meal Is Coming From

By TAMARA ANDREEVA
Central Press Correspondent

LOS ANGELES—Sheriff's deputies Dick White and Perry Simmons sat at the desk of the East Los Angeles police station, laboriously working out a solution to a complicated mathematical problem. One of them looked up at a slight, sad-eyed individual in a wrinkled brown suit and said: "Well, how much do YOU have, Willie?" "My answer is 765,095,000,378,987,645," Willie said. It took the deputies another hour to catch up to Willie, but their final answer tallied with his.

How did Willie arrive at the answer, they asked again and again. Willie could only shrug. He could add, subtract and multiply large figures ever since he was four.

Still, this achievement did not buy him a meal or a roof over his head. That is how he often happened to hang around the East Los Angeles station, where friendly cops took care of him. Some even gave him food and lodging in their homes.

Willie the Wizard

No one knew how Willie came by his strange powers. His father, an Omega, Ga., farmer, by Willie's own admission had to take off his shoes to complete even the simplest figuring. The first time Willy N. Dysart, known around Los Angeles as Willie the Wizard, ever had any inkling of his talent, was when his father sent him to a nearby grocery store at Omega.

• • •

WILLIE added up his bill quicker than the astonished grocer could punch it out on an ornate cast iron register. "Well, I swan," the grocer repeated several times, and then made Willie stay and add up purchases of his other customers. Everyone was delighted. Everyone, that is, but Willie, who on arrival home got a severe licking for being late.

By the time Willie was 15, some sharp promoters got hold of him and with promises of big money carted him off to the distant Atlanta. Given to presentiments, Willie took a train home before the swindlers could roll him for his train fare.

Several years later, while getting a shave in a barbershop at Albany, Ga., he again had "a funny feeling." Without explaining anything, he got up from the barber chair, and with his face still soaped, walked out on the street. Willie ran to the railway station and bought a ticket for Miami, Fla. He sort of came to in Florida where he read the bad news about Albany: almost as soon as his train had left, a terrible hurricane hit the place, reducing it to rubble and killing 60 or 70 people.

Aside from being able to train his mind on the events of the future and numbers several digits long, Willie says he is working on a system that will enable any layman to perform mathematical feats equaling his. He says it is all a matter of "dividing your mind into several minds, and having each take care of part of the problem."

In spite of its many spectacular facets, Willie's talent is not unique in the annals of history. Virtually every generation produced such a mental calculator.

Most of them did not know or care how they came by their strange ability, and most of them were barely literate (as is Willie; he never went beyond the third grade), yet all could do problems of higher mathematics over which Einstein would have to stop and think about twice before giving a correct answer.

The best remembered of these was a Virginia Negro slave, who could give answers to most complex mathematical problems, and yet could neither read nor write. In the Eighteenth Century, scientists and laymen alike could only shake their heads in astonishment as an 11-year-old lad, Jed Buxton, multiplied or extracted the square root of figures 20 digits long. He was illiterate.

• • •

WILLIE fascinated many scientific men of whom he speaks as "those men in them universities who put metal gadgets and wires on my head." But no manner of testing did ever reveal to them Willie's secret method. He says he figures things out by breaking the process down into many smaller, simpler ones, and then letting his mind subconsciously assemble them all into a final answer.

Willie is irritated with people asking how he can do it so quickly without any preliminary calculations on paper. "Well," is his usual retort, "when you see the word cat, you do not say to yourself, 'c-a-t' and then write down 'cat' and then say, 'cat.' You just see the word cat, register cat, and say cat!"

Truth is, sometimes Willie himself cannot explain how he does it. Thus he can look at the Empire State building, and give you the number of bricks that went into its making, with an error, perhaps, of four to six bricks. Elsewhere such wizardry may have put Willie in a top spot in the science or entertainment field, but Hollywood is so full of the self-styled geniuses, a real McCoy does not stand a chance. Although Willie guested on several radio programs, he still cannot make a consistent living.

Friendly sheriffs and an Italian radio dealer, Bosty Pizzo, are his only insurance against tough times. The sheriffs magnanimously fix him up with room and board when sledding gets rocky, and Bosty slips him a fin or three in an emergency. In Los Angeles, it appears, one does better by adding two and two and getting three.

Odd Fact

When asked why she was just now getting around to taking swimming lessons, a 54-year-old grandmother explained that recently, when she dropped her new $60 false teeth in the pool, she had to jump in to retrieve them and found it wasn't so hard to stay afloat after all.

On The Record

By Harry Franken

Sunday Sight Seeing The Easy Way

A Sunday afternoon trip to the country to see the autumn colors has become almost a ritual with Americans.

Two members of the Record staff, Carl Henry and myself, made our annual trek a week ago. Traveling over the busy Hilltop streets and down to Circleville, we averaged about 35 miles an hour. We weren't bothered by road hogs or traffic lights or any of the other things that make week-end traveling hectic because we went the easy way, by airplane.

From Eddie's Flying Service to Circleville was a short jaunt.

We spent about 30 minutes on the ground there before heading back. The trip back took just 17 minutes, so we went on over the Hilltop to look around.

All of autumn's colors stand out vividly from the air and the patchwork pattern of the countryside has a beauty and cleaness that isn't appreciated from the ground. It seems strange indeed that more people don't take the trouble to learn to fly.

Confused? Are you one of our readers that's looking for

W. BROAD ST.

Well you can stop looking because there's no such place. Due to a typographical error W. Broad-st appeared upside down in our traffic story map last week.

However, word comes from Newton Thatcher that we aren't the only Hilltoppers that are confused on directions. He is responsible for getting the following bit information to us:

"Most Hilltoppers would say that streets in this part of town run north to south and east to west. They would be surprised to know that Broad-st does not run east and west, Sullivant-av does not run east and west. Mound-st runs all four directions. Hague-av would end up in Alaska, instead of the North Pole, if it went far enough. Most streets north of Broad run to the northwest. Those south of Broad generally run true north and south until you get below Sullivant-av where they run northeast."

IS JUNIOR COUNCILOR

John W. Helman, 239 S. Westgate-av, was installed as junior councilor when the Columbus Chapter, Order of DeMolay, held its 86th public installation of officers last week.

West Comm. Chest Quota Set At $7,300

Team of Men To Aid In West Red Feather Drive

This year's quota for the West Residential Division of the Community Chest campaign is $7,300. Mrs. Benjamin F. Knepper, 2672 W. Broad-st, is chairman of the division.

The 27th annual drive for Columbus and Franklin County will have its official opening at brief ceremonies Tuesday noon, Oct. 18, in the State House grounds. Robert M. Rex, general campaign chairman, will be the principal speaker.

For the first time in the history of local Community Chest drives, a residential division will have a team of men to help with the solicitation. Our West Division is the one to be so honored and Ira M. Claggett, Claggett Realty Co., 2622 W. Broad-st, will head the group as colonel. His assistant colonels are Benjamin F. Knepper, Spears Funeral Service, 2693 W. Broad-st, and Averille Thorn, Hilltop Branch, YMCA, 2622 W. Broad-st.

Volunteers who will work in the business area are: Don Rice, Westgate Electric Co., 2686 W. Broad-st; Paul Leighninger, Seiller's Department Store, 2404 W. Broad St.; Mose Williams, Insurance, 2581 Steele-av; Carlton Hartley, Hilltop Record, 2456 W. Broad-st; Herbert Deems, First Federal Savings and Loan, 2369 W. Broad-st; Rev. A. J. Wold, Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, 29 S. Eureka-av; William Ewald, Ewald Cleaners, 937 W. Broad-st; Carl Bogart, Gladden Community House, 623 W. Town-st; J. W. Cesar, Featherstone Auto Agency, 500 W. Broad-st; Jerry Spears, Sr., Jerry Spears Co., 2693 W. Broad-st; Dr. R. J. Miller, chiropractor, 2493 W. Broad-st; Ralph Jacobs, 2914 Crescent-dr, and Dr. Howard Whitehead, physician, 2239 W. Broad-st.

The Community Chest campaign for $1,300,000 is for the support of 66 local health and welfare agencies.

Phil Stout Is 1950 Hilltop Kiwanis Pres.

Phillip V. Stout

Attorney Phillip V. Stout was elected president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club last Thursday when the organization held its annual election.

Harold D. Cramer was elected first vice-president and Harold Fox was named second vice-president. Elmer Hegenberger was elected treasurer.

New directors of the club are Harold Cunningham, Loren C. Galloway, Fred M. Marsch, E. O. Melvin, Lew G. Rausch, C. R. Roberts and George Williams.

President Phil Stout is active many Hilltop groups. He has been an officer of nearly every community organization. At present he is president of the Hilltop Business Association. That term expires in January just before he is to be installed as the Kiwanis prexy.

Stout is also treasurer of the West High Booster Club; president of the City Recreation Commission; past president of the Hilltop Community Council; and past secretary of the Columbus Barristers' Club.

He is a member of the West Gate Masonic Lodge Scottish Rite, the Aladdin Shrine, and the Columbus and Ohio State Bar Associations.

After graduating from the West Liberty, O., High School, Stout received his law training at the Franklin University Law School.

Stout lives with his wife at 616 Binns-blvd. They have a son, Roland. He is studying at the University of Cincinnati.

Indian Couple Like American Ways; Eat Hot Dogs, Are Baseball, Movie Fans

Being quickly Americanized are Dr. and Mrs. Nandlal Parekh, 206 Lechner-av, who came to the Hilltop from Bombay, India.

Mrs. Parekh said it was hard to get used to the American food at first because we don't use as much spices as they do in her country. Now, however, hot dogs, hamburgers and pie are among her favorite foods.

Dr. Parekh's hobby is photography and taking colored pictures has taken him to more places in the state than many natives of Ohio have visited.

The Parekhs have visited Old Man's Cave and other parks in Central Ohio. They spent a day at the Marysville Reformatory, attended ball games at Red Bird Stadium, and have gone on several week-end picnics along the Scioto.

Dr. Parekh said he didn't understand baseball at first, but enjoyed just watching the crowd until someone explained the game to him. Football had been described to him by an Indian student as "a game for ruffians where they get a man down and everyone jumps on him." It seemed that way too, until someone explained the game to him.

Mrs. Parekh is impressed with the household conveniences in America. She said that in India there are no refrigerators or gas stoves or canned food. In India, she said, nearly every family has servants, but that they aren't needed here because work about the house is so much easier.

The Parekhs say that living here has changed many of the impressions they had about Americans, but pointed out that Americans have many false conceptions about people from India. "Many people think that everyone from India is either a fortune-teller or a snake charmer," Dr. Parekh said. Mrs. Parekh added that in India women ask fortune tellers how many children they will have, while here they ask how many husbands they will have.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Parekh are movie fans. Dr. Parekh likes Ingrid Bergman, while his wife's favorite is Bing Crosby. They say that American pictures are very popular in India.

The Indian family believes that some day India will be a highly industrial country. "Nehru is a great leader, but no one can take the place of Gandhi," Mrs. Parekh said.

Dr. Parekh, who is a chemical and industrial engineer, attended the University of Michigan and is now getting practical experience working for the Frederick Smith Chemical Co.

He expects to return to India in March via England and Europe.

Rink, 'Hilltop Plan' On Council Agenda

Comm. Council To Hear Zoning Plan; Arrange Party

Three items of interest to Hilltop groups will be on the agenda when the Hilltop Community Council meets Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the Westgate Methodist Church.

The screening committee for zoning will report on progress made in the proposed "Hilltop Plan," final plans will be made for the Hilltop Hallowe'en party, and the committee that has been meeting with city recereation director, Nick Barack, will make its report on progress made towards construction of a hard surfaced play area in Westgate Park.

Mrs. Edward Thompson, a member of the committee, said that last week's announcement that the Hilltop Kiwanis Club had voted $500 to the project and that the Hilltop Business Association supported the project came as a surprise, and that council members "are thankful for all the aid we can get in completing this project we have been working on for the past five years."

The proposed concrete area at the park woud be approximately 80x160 feet. It would have a cement curbing and a water and drainage system that would make it possible to be used for ice skating in the winter.

Eight parks in the city have asphalt mats, but these are not suitable for flooding and skating. The recreation department announced that the cost of these asphalt mats was about $2500, and that a similar amount would be paid by the city on the mat in Westgate Park.

Additional money raised by Hilltop groups would make possible the use of concrete as a building material, and the installation of curbing and flooding and draining facilities. The area could be used for roller skating, dancing and hard court games in the summer.

Construction of such an area was part of the plan drawn up by W. C. Batchelor, school and social administrator at Ohio State University, for improvement of city recreation facilities in 1947.

According to the plan the area is to be constructed on the Wick-

Hilltop Women's Chorus Television Debut Wednesday

The Hilltop Women's Chorus will make its debut on television tomorrow evening at 7:30 over station WTVN, channel 6, according to Mrs. Bartha Masters, 428 S. Powell-av, director.

The chorus is the first Hilltop organization to have a featured performance on television. The 25-member chorus will present a half-hour program of religious and semi-classical music.

Featured on the program will be Bertha Woodin, 2911 W. Broad-st, accompanist; Garnet Menge, 328 N. Harris-av, soloist; Catherine Hughes and Wilma McDonald, 2725 W. Broad-st, and Helen Stuart, 459 S. Richardson-av, trio.

The chorus recently sang at a Friday night concert at the Columbus Art Gallery.

To Ask for Street Lights On Butler Ave.

H. T. Van Ness, corresponding secretary for the High Ridge Civic Associaation, said today that the group will campaign for street lights on Butler-av between Springmont-av and Mound-st. The matter will be discussed at the meeting at West Mound Street School at 7:45 p. m., Oct. 18.

Van Ness also said that the group is interested in promoting the construction of a school building in the High Ridge locality.

Smallsread To Be Kiwanis Speaker

George Smallsread, managing editor of the Columbus Dispatch, will be the speaker at the Thursday noon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club at Schmelzer's Restaurant.

NURSES CAPPED

Betty Nan Atta, 429 S. Central-av; Harriett Worthington, 248 N. Ogden-av; and Dolores Zimmer, 1315 Sullivant-av, were among 21 student nurses honored at a capping ceremony Sunday in the Oxley Hall parlors at Ohio State University.

Former Society Editor Attends Ed Wynn TV Debut In Hollywood

Libby Downing chats with Comedian Ed Wynn while his son, Actor Keenan Wynn makes faces with his new moustache in back of them. Mrs. Ed Wynn is seen on the right. Libby was a guest at a party celebrating Ed's first television show at the Chantaclair Restaurant in Hollywood.

"How ya gonna keep her in Grove City after she's been to Hollywood?"

That's what we're wondering about little Libby Downing, former Hilltop Record society editor and present editor of the Grove City Record.

Libby just returned from a three-week vacation in Hollywood, where, among other things, she attended Comedian Ed Wynn's world premiere television show and brushed shoulders with the many movie stars who attended Wynn's first show.

After the big television show, Ed Wynn, his son Keenan, the other Hollywood actors who were on hand to wish Wynn well, and little Libby, all went to the swanky Chantaclair Restaurant for a celebration.

The young editor was the guest of Bill Byrd, radio columnist for the Pasadena, California "Independent" and a former business associate of her father here in Columbus. At the party Libby met Dinah Shore, Gracie Allen and Mary Livingston.

Libby, who lives with her family at 2060 Eskin-rd, started her newspaper career as the society editor of the Hilltop Record shortly after she graduated from Central High School in 1946.

She left this position last Spring to take over the editorship of the Grove City paper.

Have Hidden Talent? Enter YMCA Show

Are you a potential "Star of Tomorrow?"

The only requirement is that you can present some kind of an act from the stage that is entertaining and live on the Hilltop. The only way to find out is to enter the Hilltop YMCA sponsored "Stars of Tomorrow" contest at the Old Trail Theater.

Age is no ban to stardom, so if you are a three-year-old torch singer, or an 82-year-old tap dancer, you are eligible for the contest. However, you are urged to fill out your application blank and get it in to the Hilltop Record office the week-end before you want to appear. This allows more time in planning the Wednesday night programs.

Six early entrants are on the bill for this Wednesday, and other later entries are being screened for the show.

Those who will appear are:

Barbara Stewart, 687 Chestershire-rd, song and dance act.

Sonya Albery and Delores Moriva, 2932 Fremont-av, dance act.

Jill Ogden and Patty Grosh, 2734 Valleyview-dr, song and dance act.

Jean Sullivan, vocal soloist.

Tentative plans are to have John Hardgrove as master of ceremonies of the show. Hardgrove, associated with the Academy Theaters, is a former dance instructor.

The prize list in the contest has not been completed, but the grand prize winner, chosen from the first place winners in the weekly contests will be given a handsomely lettered plaque and a valuable wrist-watch.

Entry Blank on Page 7

Oliver B. Slee Wins Professor Pig-Skin Contest

No one seemed to think that the Ohio State-Southern Cal. game would end in a tie, so the results of the Professor Pig-Skin contest depended on how the other three games were picked.

The winner, who picked all three games correctly and came close to guessing the actual scores, was Oliver B. Slee, 1554 Thomas-rd. His ten dollar check is in the mail.

Second prize of two tickets to the Westmont Theater goes to Jack Thrush, 172 S. Westgate-av.

He was six points farther from guessing the correct scores than Slee was.

In spite of only having to pick three winners, only 11 entries got to the finals in the contest. Last week 15 entrants picked all four winners correctly, and there were fewer contestants last week, too.

The game that threw most contestants for a loss this week was the Army-Michigan game. Most entrants thought Michigan would win. Biggest mistakes in picking the correct scores were in the West-Linden game. A majority of the entries thought West would romp to an easy victory instead of a mere 6-0 win.

Next week's contest appears in the Record today.

Yankee Win No Surprise To Selbach, Ex-Big Leaguer

Al "Kip" Selbach

"The Yankees will easily win the searies."

That's what Al "Kip" Selbach, 61 S. Warren-av, a former big leaguer in both the American and National League line-ups, had to predict last Friday.

Kip has been watching all the series games on a TV set over at the home of his brother-in-law, Wilbur Crego, 272 Whitethorne-av. When he saw Johnnie Mize come up to bat in Friday's game, Selbach said: "He's experienced, he'll either strike out or hit one against the fence." It was Mize's hard single that surprised the sport's world and brought two runs in.

Started With Senators

Well known in the baseball world since 1894, Kip started his big league career with the Washington Senators in 1895 before they had joined the American League. After five years there he went with the National League for two years with first the Cincinnati Reds and then the Giants.

In 1902, when Baltimore was in the American League, and that league was still in its infancy, Eelbach switched to them. Shortly after that Baltimore lost its American League franchise and Kip went back to Washington.

From there he went with the Boston Red Sox for two years. It was there that Kip reached his peak and end in baseball. His first year with the Red Sox, 1904, he helped his team win the American League pennant. That was the only year the World Series wasn't played. The next year, in the middle of the season, Kip was stealing second, when a famous, six-foot second baseman jumped for a line drive just right of second. He came down on Selbach's groin and ripped him open. That brought the curtain down on Kip's major league career.

Kips says the two best shortstops in the business at present are playing in this world's series. They are Brooklyn's "Peewee" Reese and Yankee's Phil Rizzuto. The pitchers are good, Kip says, but the teams are not hitting the way they used to . . . there are no more Gehrigs or Ruths."

"You can see DiMaggio has been hurt by his illness. He isn't batting the way he should," Selbach added.

Champ In Two Sports

Kip has gone to the top in two great American sports. He was, and still is, a champion in both baseball and bowling. After his active career ended, Al owned the Hilltop Bowling Alleys from 1927 to 1936.

During most of his time with the majors, Kip received the top salary of $2400 a season. It wasn't until 1902 when he jumped from the National to the American League that he got a big pay boost. That year he got a bonus of $1800 for the switch and a three-year contract calling for $5000 a year. "I really thought I was sitting on top of the world."

"But the game isn't the same. Look at those baskets they use for gloves."

Hilltopper Unhurt In Train Wreck

Mrs. Normalee Spangler

A former Hilltop nurse was uninjured in a train wreck that took the lives of six persons last week.

Mrs. Normalee Spangler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herold D. Worthington, 248 N. Ogden-av, was on her way to California to join her husband when the at Ames, Iowa, killing six persons.

Mrs. Spangler, a graduate of West High School, recently finished four years at Ohio State University graduating from the College of Nursing.

She has joined her husband, David, who is on the staff at the Oakland, Calif., Naval Hospital.

West High Student Hurt In Fall From Goal Post

Frank Policaro and his aunt, Mrs. Rose Policaro, in Mt. Carmel Hospital. (Columbus Dispatch Photo).

Frank Policaro, a West High School student, was critically injured last week when a goal-post in Magly Field collapsed under his weight. He suffered a fractured skull.

Frank, 16, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Policaro, 718 Binns-blvd, is in Mt. Carmel Hospital where his condition was reported as "fair."

The accident occurred when the boy and two companions, Don Holley, 16, 575 Wiltshire-rd, and Doyne Bagus, 18, 313 Powhatan-av, climbed on top of the goal post to get a better view of West High's band practice.

Witnesses say the crossbar gave way and a section of the upright struck Frank on the back of the head. He was taken to the hospital by the emergency squad.

Irvin Young, West's principal, said the accident was not due to the school's neglect. He declared that both goalposts had been carefully inspected before the football season opened.

MISS VIRGINIA JONES BECOMES MRS. VANCIL JOHNSTON SEPT. 18

Mrs. Vancil Johnston

In a double-ring ceremony performed Sept. 18 in the Hoge Memorial Church, Miss Virginia Joanne Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Jones of 152 Guernsey-av, became the bride of Vancil L. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forde M. Johnston, of 273 S. Sylvan-av. The Rev. A. J. Wold officiated at 8:30 p. m.

The bride chose a dress of blonde satin following the old fashioned lines of a Peter Pan collar, long sleeves and a row of satin covered buttons from the collar to waistline. Her accessories were of dark brown and she carried a small white Bible covered with white rose buds.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jones wore a dress of dark brown with matching accessories, and her corsage was of pink carnations. Mrs. Johnston chose a dress suit of gray with matching accessories also of gray with which she wore a corsage of red carnations. A reception was held after the wedding at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families.

Both the bride and her husband are graduates of West High School and attended Ohio State University. She is now associated with the Ohio State Life Insurance Co. and Mr. Johnston is with the Thomas Engineering Co. Following their wedding trip to Port Clinton, the newly-married couples are in their new home at 3122 Pontiac-st.

Daarud Piano Pupils Organize Music Clubs

Piano pupils of Mrs. Bertha Daarud, 404 S. Eureka-av, have organized their monthly music clubs. Lois Ann Hunter, Lois Ann Moran, Patsy Barnes, Janice Butterbaugh, and Rose Marie Pinkerton will act as helpers of the younger members in workbooks and rhythm activities.

Each fall the enrollment of private pupils is divided into five groups of from eight to 12 pupils in each group except the high school group which is a larger group. The youngest pupils meet the first Friday of each month, the older pupils meeting consecutively on the following second, third and fourth Fridays of the month.

Members of the high school group are to have "call clubs" this year, the first to be called in November, preparatory to plans and practice for caroling, a new activity introduced last year.

At the club meetings one-half the period is devoted to theory and rhythmic activities. The last half the period the pupils play from memory the most interesting piece studied during the month.

JOB'S DAUGHTERS NEWS NOTES

By Patti Holycross

Bethel No. 3 is going to have a busy time Thursday night at their meeting. As most of you know this is the silver anniversary of our bethel. We were chartered Oct. 4, 1925, the third in the state of Ohio. We certainly are proud of it. Thursday night we are honoring our past Honored Queens, Honorary members and former council members.

The Majority Degree will be conferred on the girls eligible which will make them a member for life.

We will also install two new members to our council. They are Mrs. Florence Smith who will be installed as Bethel Choir Directoress. She is the present Worthy Patron of Loraine Chapter No. 1 of Columbus and I'm also very proud to announce that she is my aunt.

Mrs. Schultz who has been our choir directoress has certainly done a swell job. However, she will be with us on our side lines.

Our other person to be installed is Ruth Hoelcher who will be installed in the Associate Council. Ruth is one of our Past Queens. George Roberts, our Associate Guardian, will do the installing.

That's just about all the news for now and I'll be looking forward to seeing a lot of you there Thursday night, and don't forget the KJK Mothers' Club party at Schmelzer's tonight.

Robert Morris Chapt. Honors Past Leaders At Oct. 4 Meeting

Robert Morris Chapter honored its past matrons and patrons on Tuesday, Oct. 4.

Flowers in small covered wagon pots with "49" on them were given to each of the past matrons and key-rings to the past patrons. These were presented by Edna Jacques and Olga Stepp. The matrons and patrons were escorted to the East. Fern Johnson and James Ware presided in the East.

After the meeting music was furnished by the Little German Band recently heard on the "Old Gold" program on the radio.

Refreshments were served in the dining room. The tables were decorated with autumn leaves and flowers and gingerbred with pumpkin faces was served.

The past matrons and patrons attending were:

Katie Shroyer, Goldie Miller, Florence Clark, Alverta Colburn, Florence Jones, Ethel Fishbaugh, Ethel Joseph, Gladys Gilbert, Bess Turner, Marie Payton, Minnie Jones, Agnes Wolfe, Hazel Hale, Ada Slane, Lena Cole, Lilie Hulls, Nelle Jane Price, Iris Swartz, Esta Sharp, Fern Sharp, John Moore, Stanley Colburn, Noble Allen, Geo. James' 47-Yard Run Beats Linden 6-0 For Cowboys' First Victory of the Season

By Dave Miller

West Hirh's fighting footballers finally did it! They won their initial game of the present 1949 season, when they defeated a week Linden McKinley eleven, 6-0, on the latter's new field last Friday evening.

The game was marred with sloppy offense and defense throughout. One fact to prove this statement is the matter that each team fumbled ten times, the Cowboys recovering only four of theirs, and recovering five of Linden's miscues.

Linden's line was poor on offense. The West forward wall was constantly breaking through the McKinley lineman to break up many Linden plays. On some occasions, Linden was so poor on their line play that a West lineman would reach over the line and grab quarterback Chuck Brockman after he received the ball from center, even before the startled Brockman could get rid of the ball.

On the other hand, the Cowboy line held very nicely, with just the fore-mentioned fumbles spelling the difference in West whipping the Panthers worse than they did. Many folks believe that since such teams as Central and Lancaster ran roughshod over Linden, much more than West did, the Cowboys are heading for a dismal City Loop season.

The first quarter was mainly around mid-field, with neither team knocking at the scoring door. In the second period, however, with just about three minutes elapsed in the period, Linden started a drive from their own 18, from which running plays by Chuck Brockman, Bob Harper and Dan Whitacre brought the ball to the West 30. A fumble by Jack Burns was recovered by his teammate, Don Morlani, and the Panthers looked certain to drive for a score.

A clipping penalty, however, set the ball on the 45, and after two incomplete passes, Brockman ran to the 32, where it was fourth down and two, which Linden failed to make.

Just a few minutes after a scoreless third period ended, the Cowboys started the drive that netted them their only touchdown of the game. Halfback Carmen DeCatteo intercepted a Brockman to Dick Miller intended aerial on the West 8[illegible]

Clarence "Skoots" Golden went through off-tackle for a quick first down to the Cowboys' 35. Ronnie James lost three, and then was stopped for no gain, and after a Bob Birle to Bill Thrush pass was incomplete, the Cowboys had to kick with fourth and 13 yards to go.

Birle kicked to the Linden 41, where Halfback Bob Harper was stopped cold. Then West's sturdy defensive tackle, 285-pounder Jack West grabbed Quarterback Chuck Brockman and hit him so hard he fumbled the ball with West's Bob Epps recovering.

Bob Birle than threw an incomplete pass and then it happened. The lone touchdown of the game came with a suddeness that shocked everybody, including the footballers. The Cowboy's star junior halfback, Ronnie James, the speedster of the team, was the third man on a double handoff from Quarterback Birle to Halfback Jerry Johnson back to James, and Ronnie swept around right end, for 47 yards and the lone score. Birle's attempted placekick for the extra point was wide.

Linden's Bob Harper recovered a Cowboy fumble in the third period on West's 24-yard-line, and the panthers moved to the five-yard line, but there they were stopped once again. Harper put his team in scoring position once again just as the third period ended, stealing the ball right away from West's Fullback Walt Binkley and returning it to West 20. West collected seven, and Linden had five first downs in the game.

Hilliards Wins 27-0; Unscored On In League

Halfback Larry Lutz led Hilliards' powerful attack against the Canal Winchester Indians, swamping them 27-0 last Friday on the latter's gridiron. This was Hilliards' third County League victory with no points yet scored against them.

Lutz and Dick Fisher each scored two touchdowns; Chuck Foster won two of the extra points by kicking and Jack Winkler ran the ball across for the other conversion point.

Hilliards' quarterback, Bob Shaner, was carried off the field on a stretcher near the end of the first quarter. His neck and shoulder injury was not serious, however.

The Wildcats played a hang-up game all the way through. They scored two TD's in the first quarter, none in the second and one each in the third and fourth periods.

Hilliards is one of four teams in the County League still undefeated.

'Y' Champs Honored At Banquet

• • •

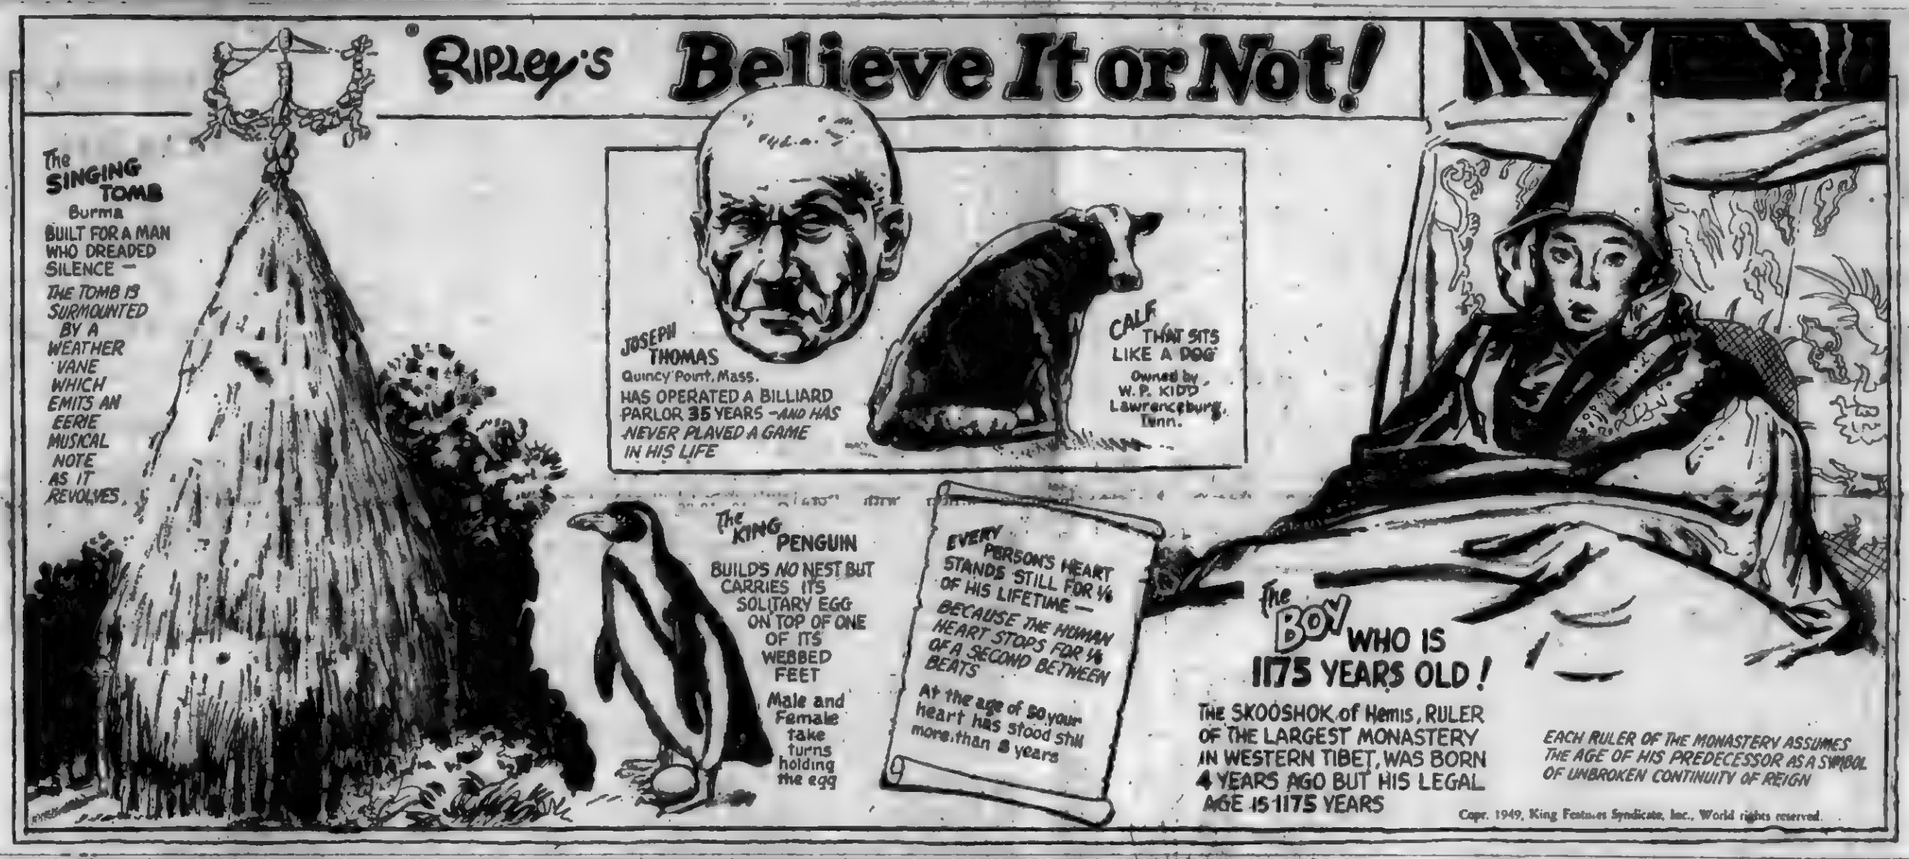
The Highland Avenue Friends Church softball team, coached by Jim Lord, captured the YMCA intermediate softball title. The Friends took possession of the crown by turning back the fast moving Hilltop Wildcats in the final game of the season. During the season the team accounted for seven victories out of nine games.

The champs of the Hilltop "Y" league then entered the city champ of champs playoff. Victories continued until the finals, in which the Friends of the Hilltop were eliminated by the Friends of North Fourth Street Church.

A church banquet honoring the team was held Thursday, Sept. 29, at the Highland Friends Church. Each member of the team invited his father. Some 60 people enjoyed the banquet and the following program. Members of the team were introduced to those attending.

Forrest "Skip" Evans, the honorary captain of the team, presented the "Y" championship trophy to the church.

Closing the program was the showing of the 1948 World Series.



INJURED IN GAME

Robert Penn, 21, 2710 Vida-pl, suffered back and pelvis injuries in a sand-lot football game Sunday. The fire department emergency squad took Penn to the White Cross Hospital from the King-av playground.

What Other Editors Say

Mr. Taft

But rarely does a man appear upon the American scene who possesses the brilliance and the integrity of Robert A. Taft, United States Senator. Even his critics speak of him with no little respect. It isn't that Mr. Taft, himself, is such an awesome figure but rather it is his statesmanship and high ideals which command our attention. Few men are admired by the opposition but if such a thing can be said, it can be said of Robert Taft.

There was a time when statesmen used the form, "honorable opponent," with conviction but this form is almost obsolete. We are in complete accord with that nearly vanished principle that strong opposition on either side of a question makes for a healthy government. So it is with Mr. Taft who, almost single handed, has stood up to his critics with fearlessness and conviction rarely found among present day political figures. Yes, we admire Robert Taft and we firmly believe that such a man, regardless of his politics, belongs in our government as long as he can be kept there.

We quite realize that Robert Taft has enemies but this very fact, in itself, is in keeping with his own principles which allow that the opinion of the opposition is a valid and necessary thing. But the fact remains that the Congress has backed him up all along the line. Democrats and Republicans alike have shown confidence in his leadership. Robert Taft has dared to do things which lesser men would not consider attempting. Such a man must be heard. Such a man is a national necessity.—Madison County Press.

The Leaf shall be Green

SYNOPSIS

Marvell Crosby becomes acquainted with his little daughter, Katherine, when he returns to Boston from a distant city to attend his late wife, Elizabeth's funeral. They had lived apart for years. He is despised by his aristocratic in-laws, especially by brother-in-law Proctor whose jealousy had helped wreck the marriage. Proctor is furious when he finds that his deceased sister has left her entire personal estate, and the custody of her daughter—to the estranged husband. Lawyer Ben Hall, an old family friend, is called in to contest the will. He tries to make peace between the men, but fails.

CHAPTER EIGHT

THE ROOM did not seem to invite confidences so cheerfully as it had when Marvell entered. "You don't approve of me," he said, "but don't worry. You should have seen how well I behaved before Kit this afternoon."

"And what are you going to do about her?" Ben continued relentlessly.

The room had become quite warm and Marvell felt hemmed in by the wing chair in which he sat. He got up and stood in front of Ben. "Do? Why, make the world safe for her, of course."

"What do you mean by that vague phrase?"

"It is not vague. It's big. I mean, I am going to make some contribution to the world she will live in when she's older. In my case, it will be hotter water, moister heat and better ventilated rooms." He laughed at Ben's look of reproof. "Maybe even cleaner politics! I'll work for her impersonal gain, and Proctor can have the more personal satisfaction of the nursery, the school, the well-mannered environment."

"Has it never occurred to you that you might take the practical duties of fatherhood yourself?"

Marvell loked shocked. "You don't believe I'd tear her up by the roots? She is all set with Proctor. He'd have something to make a fuss over, then. What I want most for her is a sense of adventure—excitement. Someday, when she's ready for it, I'll be able to supply it. I'll hand her the world on a platter." He shaped the imaginary oval with his hands.

Ben turned his glass round and round. "We can presume that will be Proctor's idea, too, the world on a platter. I am afraid yours may be an embarrassment to her when her hands are already full."

"Proctor," said Marvell contemptuously, "will have his eye glued on the value of the platter. Thank God, I am free of him at last." As he talked, he paced up and down the room, his hands behind his back.

"Couldn't you have been free at any time?" If he was going in for melodrama, thought Ben, I might as well get his reasons.

"Hasn't that occurred to you—" Marvell was an admirable mimic, "that I was in deep?"

Ben brushed this aside. "You accuse him of standing in your way. Why didn't you make a break?"

"I wanted to prove I could take it and climb up in spite of him."

"And you were willing to sacrifice Elizabeth in the process."

"No!" Marvell wheeled around. "Neither of us sacrificed the other. We just didn't know how to cope with Proctor. He shrugged and began his pacing. "What does it matter now? I was wrong, I suppose."

"You are always talking of your imagination — I should think you would have understood Proctor."

"You don't understand jealousy, Ben, you fight it, if you can. He hated me for getting into the office the way he never could have got in—by hard work, by sheer bluff, a combination that can't be beat."

"Climbing in a firm over the ledge of ambition and brains is commendable enough—" observed Ben, "but to keep telling the jugs on the family shelf how you got your place becomes troublesome." Tiresome, too, he added under his breath.

Marvell flushed. He was nettled at the implied lack of modesty. There were several versions of his inauspicious beginning that he himself had told at one time or another. They varied in the degree that Marvell felt the sympathy of his audience. Ben remembered one in particular wherein he was supposed to have carried himself through two years at Cornell's engineering school on the initial sum of fifty cents. Ben doubted if even he knew exactly where the first stitches were in his elaborate patchwork.

"You weren't quite big enough for Proctor. You were matched just well enough to aggravate each other."

That stung. Marvell would not have cared if he had been rated below him, but he could not bear the thought of equality.

"Have you said everything now?" he asked. There was nothing to worry about, Marvell assured himself. He hadn't come back for anything, he wouldn't go away with anything. He didn't belong here. He got up, drained his glass and reached for his coat. "I'll get on, I want to walk around the city yet."

"Why don't you stay here," Ben proposed gently. He was sorry that he had scolded him with so little satisfaction.

"No, thanks," Marvell smiled wryly. "If he should break the will, it might look like undue influence of witnesses. I'll see you before I go—tomorrow or the next day."

Ben opened the front door. The dampness hurried between them into the warm hall. He hadn't said another word about Katherine, he thought, as he watched Marvell walk down the foggy street, wave at the corner, and turn out of sight.

• • •

The morning had washed its face clean of fog. Who could doubt the sun's power, the seed's growth, the tree's immortality? Marvell walked slowly up the Mall. It was quite deserted at this hour and he sat down on an empty bench pleasantly tired. Up and down Commonwealth Avenue, handy men were sweeping steps, polishing brass, scratching in grass plots. Here and there a van load of professional cleaners had arrived to beat and hose and wash down the inside of these brownstone boxes. His lassitude was one of satisfaction. He had no idea how far he had walked. He had ended up at sunrise at the wharves. He had smelt the peculiar distillation of land and sea smell.

He had gone up past Symphony Hall to his old boarding house on St. James Avenue; then back to the river and far down to Scollay Square. He had stopped in a saloon for a few drinks but talked very little, not even to the bartender whom he knew slightly—he knew a hundred like him from New York to Chicago and way stops. Then he had followed the curve of Summer Street to the South Station, picked up a ticket for New York and slept in the waiting room three or four hours. He had shared breakfast with a young fellow, surprised that the boy had wanted food instead of a quarter for a couple of harsh morning shots. The young fellow said, "I'm going to Canada to enlist."

"Yes, the war. You won't wait here for it?"

"No, it won't come here and I'm tired of farming."

"Big farm?"

"Yup, out near Springfield."

"Am I too old for war?" Marvell asked himself. That had driven him down to the wharves. He felt no adventure in war, nor as he followed the haggard-faced longshoremen — the end of the night shift—loading cargo onto the battered almost shapeless merchant ships—did he feel any in the sea. Once he had wanted to leave Maine on anything that had sail and felt the wind. He watched the sun come up in unutterable splendor, prodigiously careless of the color it spent on the grimy docks and for a moment he felt that he rose with it, looking out over the earth above the curves of time and space. At times when he had imbibbed too freely, he had had this feeling of immensity—of standing above a finished creation — where all things were already done and he had but to express them. Clear-headed, as he was now, he had never been so conscious before of the reality within himself. The invincible necessity had only to be expressed in some way. For a moment he was almost sure of the shape it would take, then it slipped out of his grasp and he was aware of the chilly little morning wind and the smelly wharves again.

He must say goodbye to Katherine, for he hadn't a doubt that his future, untranslated within him, lay in New York. He had been preparing for it little by little and now everything had been taken care of—they all had their places and he had his. He had respect for his freedom no matter what Ben and Proctor thought of him, no matter how Elizabeth had tried to cover up her own shame for him. At the thought of Elizabeth, reaching out to him through the grave little paper, he was tender and impatient at the same time. She must have loved Proctor a good deal to have expected him to be magnanimous. Well, he would be, at any rate. He would part decently with Proctor no matter what he had to endure.

Edward A. Stoffel Funeral Monday

Requiem high mass for Edward A. Stoffel, 66, of 81 S. Terrace-av, who died Thursday in Mt. Carmel Hospital, was sung at 9 a. m. Monday in St. Aloysius Church, followed by burial in St. Joseph Cemetery.

Mr. Stoffel, a locomotive engineer for the New York Central System, was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Knights of Columbus Council 2898 and Holy Name Society of St. Aloysius Church.

Surviving are a son, Donald of Columbus; a brother, Charles of Harrington, Wash., and two grandchildren.

Oscar L. Jackson Final Rites Today

Funeral services for Oscar L. Jackson, 86, who died Saturday in the home of his son, Dewey H. Jackson, 119 N. Westgate-av, will be at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Spears funeral home with the Rev. Joseph B. Shellhass officiating.

A native of Otsego, O., he was a retired farmer and had lived here 22 years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Dillie F. Jackson; two other sons, L. Ernest Jackson of Troy, O., and Ermy H. Jackson of Dayton; a granddaughter and a great-grandson.

John Greene Dies At Home

John Greene, 73, of Rome, O., died Wednesday at his home. A native of Circleville, he was a retired railroader and was associated with the Norfolk & Western and Pennsylvania railroads. Surviving are his wife, Mary; one son, Arthur; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred E. Hall and Mrs. Martha Fisher and four grandchildren. He was a member of the Humboldt Lodge of Masons and Scioto Consistory of Scottish Rite. Services were at 10 a. m. Saturday. Burial was at Circleville.

Mrs. William Olinger Taken By Death

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie May Olinger, 74, of 126 N. Powell-av, who died at her home, were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday at the Jerry Spears funeral home. Burial was in Union Cemetery.

Mrs. Olinger, a member of St. Paul's Evangelical Church, is survived by her husband, William Olinger; two daughters, Mrs. LeVon Woodruff of the Powell-av address, and Mrs. Jewell Johnson, Columbus; a son, Hugh Olinger, Akron; two half-brothers, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Hafey Dies At Daughter's Home

Mrs. Isabelle Roese Hafey, 78, died Saturday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Julien E. Leroy, 30 Orchard Lane. A native of Pickaway County, she was a member of Ashville, Ohio, EUB Church.

Widow of Morris Hafey, she is survived by four other daughters, Mrs. Paul A. Yeager, 1490 E. Fulton-st, Mrs. Sydney R. Peterfish, 483 Seymour-av, Mrs. Arvel Meadows, Pataskala, and Mrs. George G. Brintlinger, 163 Belvidere-av; four sons, Herman B. Hubbard, Thornville, Stewart Hubbard, Pataskala, Morris Hafey, 3000 W. Broad-st, and Harry B. Hafey, 567 Belvidere-av; one sister, Mrs. Nan Fowler, Circleville, and six grandchildren. Burial was at South Bloomfield by the Jerry Spears funeral home.

CARD OF THANKS

WELLS—We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to relatives, friends and neighbors to Rev. Crumrine, members of Sullivant-Ave. Friends Church, the employes of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., nurses of Mt. Carmel Hospital and the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home for their kindness, comforting words and beautiful floral offerings shown during the illness and death of our beloved Esther Marie Wells.

JACK AND GERALDINE WELLS, MOTHER, MRS. ROSE WYGANT AND SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

TO ADDRESS EMBALMERS

Annual convention of the Embalmers Association of Ohio will be held Oct. 19 at the Deshler-Wallick Hotel. Among the local members on the program is Jerry Spears of the Jerry Spears Funeral Home, 2693 W. Broad-st, who will explain a new apprentice training program.

Hilltop Theater Group To Present "The Suspect"

The Hilltop Little Theatre will start try-outs for parts in its latest production, "The Suspect", on Sunday, Oct. 16, it was announced today by Joseph W. Hague, president of the theatre group.

Try-outs are open to anyone who enjoys acting in the amateur theatre. They are scheduled for 3 to 6 p. m., and 7 to 9 p. m. Sunday, in the offices of Dr. P. L. Cordray, 2553 Sullivant-av.

"The Suspect", a three-act mystery, is authored by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham. It has seven characters, four men and three women. Rehearsals will commence immediately after the try-outs are concluded according to Belford Lane, 149 S. Sylvan-av, director of the play.

The curtain is scheduled to go up on the Little Theatre production on Sunday, Dec. 4, at John Burroughs School.

Besides Mr. Hague, the other officers are: Dr. Cordray, vice-president; Howard Moon, treasurer; Dorothy Hague, corresponding secretary; Betty Moon, recording secretary, and Knight Finley, business manager.

Add Eddie Essman To Beltz Staff

Eddie Essman, 304 S. Brinker-av, this week joined the staff of the Beltz Service Station, 2828 Sullivant-av, as a lubrication mechanic.

From 1938 to 1942 Essman worked at the service station at Whitethorn-av and W. Broad-st. In 1942 he joined the Army and served for three years.

From 1945, when he was discharged from the Army, until last week Essman was employed at the Linden Ignition Service.

FIRST AWARD for finest food

If ever they start handing out medals to animals for faithful service to humanity . . . the dairy cow will surely receive the first award. In one form or another health-promoting cow's milk performs miracles millions of times daily.

Are we going to stand by now and allow oleomargarine to come into Ohio, masquerading in yellow . . . and capture the market for wholesome, natural butter?

Remember butter is the one by-product of milk that has always stabilized milk prices . . . remember a firm butter market guarantees you economical, pure fluid milk and milk products . . . every day in the year . . . and guarantees Ohio a sound farm economy.

YOU BE THE JUDGE!

Anything That Affects BUTTER Affects These:
MILK CREAM
ICE CREAM
CHEESE
EVAPORATED MILK
And All Other Dairy Foods

Free Economics Course Offered At Schmelzers

The Henry George School of Social Science, chartered by the University of the State of New York, will offer a free economics course at Schmelzer's Restaurant, 3178 W. Broad-st, beginning Friday, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p. m.

This course consists of 10 weekly classes. Those interested in domestic and world problems are urged to attend, especially the first session, to investigate this free course of study. There will be no written work or exams. Discussion leader for the group will be Robert D. Benton, director of the Columbus extension.

The textbook used for the course will be "Progress and Poverty," by Henry George.

'49 Squirrel Hunting Rated As 'Good'

The 1949 squirrel hunting season which closed September 30 has been rated by game officials of the Ohio Division of Wildlife as good throughout most of the 88 counties.

Dr. E. D. Martin, Chief of the Game Management Section, said this week that reports reaching his office in Columbus indicate that those counties which were infested by the 17-year locust last year.

Last year 25 to 50 percent of the nut crop in 37 affected counties was lost as food for squirrels. These were the southern and eastern counties of the State.

Lion Dep. District Gov. Addresses New Hilltop Club

F. W. Powers of Grove City, deputy district governor of the Lions, addressed the first regular meeting of the Hilltop Lions Club last Thursday evening at Schmelzer's Restaurant.

The club will hold two other night in a joint celebration with the newly organized North Side Lions Club. The affair is being planned and sponsored by the already-established Columbus Lions Clubs. It will be held Sunday, Oct. 30, at the Neil House.

John Keefer, 258 Guernsey-av, is the Hilltop club's representative on the charter night committee.

Thief Takes Purses Of Choir Members

A thief stole the purses of eight choir members of the Chicago Avenue Church of Christ (Disciples), containing a total of nearly $40, while Sunday services were underway, police reported.

Those reporting purses stolen were Virginia and Dorothy Hartley of 69 Avondale-av; Mrs. Roberts Keys, 1046 Forest-dr; Wanda Burtoe, 1850 Harrisburg-pk; Audrey Wise, 319 S. Ogden-av; Jean Parker, 23 N. Princeton-av; Suzie Simkins, 177 Hayden-av; and Mrs. Mary Walters, 773 Sullivant-av.

The church is at 33 Chicago-av. The Rev. J. E. Gordon is the pastor.

LUTHERAN CLASS MEETS

The Semper Fidelis Class of Hilltop Lutheran Church will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Hallsteine, 96 S. Warren-av.

Mrs. John Hallsteine will be assistant hostess. Mrs. Mary Sebrill will be devotion leader. Holiday bags will be collected.

31 Calls On One Ad Isn't Bad! !

If it's saleable, the Record want ads can sell it for you. In case you're in doubt, just ask A. R. Dixon, 205 Eldon-av.

Mr. Dixon sold a kitchen sink, vacuum sweeper and baby bed, with only one insertion in our classified section; but that isn't the whole story—he said them the same night the ad was in, and received a total of 31 calls.

All you do in placing a Record want ad is dial RA. 1125, ask for "Classified". Payment can be made either at the Record office, 2465 W. Broad-st, or you can send it through the mail.

Commission Passes New Parking Plan

The City Traffic and Transportation Commission yesterday gave its approval to new parking regulations affecting 13 streets leading off W. Broad-st, it was reported by E. O. Melvin, Hilltop member of the commission.

Councilman Henry Koontz anticipates passage of the new ordinance when it comes before City Council. Council is expected to consider the parking law next Monday night.

The new arrangement will provide 69 additional parking spaces near W. Broad-st between Wheatland and Powell-avs. At present, parking is prohibited on both sides of these streets from Broad-st to the first alley

The law will release one side of the street.

According to Melvin, the Sullivant-av area will soon be surveyed for similar changes in parking regulations.

Melvin has been instrumental in getting these changes made.

HBA To Meet At Westgate Church Tonight

The Hilltop Business Association will meet Tuesday at the Westgate Methodist Church, at 8 p. m., according to C. H. Campbell, secretary.

Harold Greene, vice-president, will preside at the meeting in the absence of President Phil Stout, who has been called out of the city on business.

On the program will be a dance act by George Hardy and his daughter, Jackie. A short talk will be given on "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week."

Mrs. Southworth Injured In Fall

Mrs. Mary Southworth, 92 Powhatan-av, received severe lacerations about the face when she fell down her basement steps Saturday noon. She was rushed to Mt. Carmel Hospital where 19 stitches were taken in her face.

Mrs. Southworth hit a post at the bottom of the stairs and broke her eye glasses, cutting her face. She was treated for two and a half hours in order to get the glass out of her face.

Her daughter, Margaret Ann, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Virginia Southworth, 86 Powhatan-av, and a neighbor, Mrs. Charles Poole, 98 Powhatan-av, took her to the hospital.

Mrs. Southworth is the sister-in-law of Billy Southworth, manager of the Boston Braves, National League baseball team. Her husband, Press C. Southworth, Sr., is a member of the National Railroad Adjustment Board of the Railway Brotherhood of Engineers, in Chicago.

Alternates: Veri Stout, Ray McVay, Jr., Tim Chambers, William Ferguson, Carol Balo, Clarence Fuhr, Dan Stout, Earl Konkler and John West.

'Amateur' Bandit Robs Eddie's Grill

A gun-wielding bandit who asked for a special amount of loot was being sought by police Saturday.

The man accosted Ed Anverse, owner of Eddie's Bar and Grill at 2329 W. Broad-st, and William Campbell, Ohio Hotel, a bartender, shortly after the grill closed at 2:30 a. m.

He pointed a .32-caliber automatic at Anverse, and said:

"I want $25 or $30. I'm out of work and have a wife and two children at home and need the money."

Anverse reached into his pocket, handed the man $30, and the bandit fled.

"He didn't look like a professional," Anverse said. "He didn't try to get into the cash register, or into my cash box which had about $400 in it."

Mr. Anverse said the bandit came into the grill about 2 a. m., had a couple of drinks, then went into the washroom where he remained until the grill closed.

Pre-Fab Houses Going Up On Derrer Rd.

Eight new National factory-built homes have been constructed and 11 more will soon get under way on Derrer-rd, according to Walter J. Shapter, contractor, 40 W. Gay-st.

They are all one-story frame dwellings with two or three bedrooms and full basement, valued at $8700.

The 11 new homes will run from 302 to 422 Derrer-rd.

Burglar Attacks High Ridge Woman Sunday

A burglar entered the home of Hughes T. Van Ness, 654 Whitethorne-av, early Sunday morning and attacked Mrs. Van Ness.

Mrs. Van Ness, who had fallen asleep in a chair in her living room, received two hard blows on the head, probably from the hoodlum's fist, before he fled through the back door.

According to Mrs. Van Ness, the police have stated they will assign two extra men in that area. Three similar incidenses have occurred in the High Ridge area recently.

Mr. Van Ness, an officer of the High Ridge Civic Association is expected to bring the matter up at a meeting of the organization.

Klopfer, Pemberton, Miller Battle for Contest Lead; Still Anybody's Dodge Sedan

Ten candidates in The Hilltop Record $3000 subscription drive made big news this week as the first period in the big campaign ended on Wednesday morning.

The big news . . . how the candidates line up at the first turn in the race, with about four weeks left to go.

In first place is Shirley Klopfer, 206 S. Roys-av, followed closely by West High Coach Mack Pemberton, 176 S. Brinker-av, and in the third position but hot on the heels of both the above candidates is Mrs. Robert Miller, 143 N. Roys-av.

In the fourth place position is Mrs. Marguerite Ward, 545 Townsend-av, who is just a few points ahead of Mrs. George Neibler, 789 S. Wayne-av.

In the next five spots are candidates George Tyler of Galloway; Edyth Calland, 442 Nashoba-av; Jerry Walsh, 22 S. Cypress-av; Mrs. Clara Cannon, 67 Midland-av; Dolores Davis, 731 S. Eureka-av. All five of these candidates are continuing to run strong and are by no means eliminated. Special effort by any one of them during the remaining periods could put them out in front and allow them to drive away in the new Dodge sedan.

Good reports have continued to come in from Mrs. Paul Murnane, Nelson Carson, Clarence Thompson, Joe Hutt, John Apostalou, Betty Lewis, Patty Manus, Patricia Lantz, Carl Spohr and Thurman Bondy. These names are not printed in the order of their standings in the contest as of this date.

Shirley Klopfer, a West High girl, took the lead in the contest the first week and has continued to hold it each week for three weeks. But each week her lead was by a very slight margin. In fact the first week one five year subscription would have put Coach Pemberton ahead of Shirley and the second week the same would have been true for Mrs. Robert Miller.

While these three are fighting hard for the top spots they are by no means assured of victory in the end in view of the remarkable race being run by some of the other candidates. Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Neibler are in there doing a bang-up job and should not be discounted by any means.

Another chap who had a slow start but one who has forged ahead to become a real contender is Jerry Walsh. Jerry has a lot of friends boosting his candidacy and before another two weeks period rolls around he is sure to give the leaders a real race for their efforts.

George Tyler has a lot of tricks up his sleeve and if he doesn't come in for one of the top prizes he is sure of some nice commissions but he is far from eliminated from the top money yet. The same is true of Mrs. Calland and four more weeks of intensive work on her part would make her a real contender because she has proven she can get subscriptions.

Dolores Davis, a quiet and unassuming individual who has a knack of getting people to subscribe, can be a top performer if she continues to put in the necessary time from now until Nov. 14.

All the other contestants will have to continue until the finish of the drive in order to be eligible for their commissions and for the most part they have indicated their intentions to do so.

Many people have inquired as to the standings of the candidates to date. Today's is the first actual report of standings. Another report will probably be published at the conclusion of the next period, which ends on Oct. 25. After that time the points will drop in value again, so anyone interesting to assist a favorite candidate in the drive should do so immediately in order to make it do the most good.

Candidates receiving mail orders from the coupon printed in the Record have expressed their appreciation for this support.

Thus endeth round one! Who can answer that big question: "Who will drive away in the Dodge Meadowbrook Sedan after Nov. 14? And who will win the new $526 RCA Victor Television set? And who will get the $250 grocery order and the $150 in merchandise?

Girls From 21 Troops To Hold Outing Saturday

Girl Scouts from 21 troops will participate in a "cook out" and scout's own" at Clime Farm, 1421 Demorest-rd, Saturday.

Included in the meeting will be girls from the troops in Grove City, Wilson Road School, West High School, John Burroughs School, St. Aloysius School and St. Mary Magdalene School.

The camp site will be opened at 3 p. m. and the "cook out" will begin at 6 p. m.

The "Scout's Own" ceremonial theme will be The Flame. Each troop has a separate flame that will be combined into one large fire encircled by all the scouts.

The program is under the supervision of Mrs. H. C. Booth, district chairman, and the following committee members, Joan Smith, emcee; Mrs. Walter Glass, corresponding chairman; Mrs. George Alman, site chairman; Mrs. Melvin Craig, notices; and Mrs. K. L. Martindale, publicity.

The ceremonial fire will be lighted at 8 p. m. and each troop will take part with inspirational poems, songs or meditations. Parents are invited.

Mrs. Grace Wickle Taken By Death

Mrs. Grace Marie Wickle, 69, 381 S. Central-av, died Thursday morning on her way to Grant Hospital.

She is survived by four sons, W. F., John E., William E., all of Columbus, and C. N. Wickle, San Francisco; two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Weidner, Columbus, and Mrs. Helen Humphreys of Dayton; five grandchildren, two great-grandchildren, a brother, Frank Sidner, and a sister, Mrs. Altha Wickel.

Friends may call at the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home, 1278 W. Broad-st, where services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday with Rev. William M. George officiating. Interment will be at the Pleasant Cemetery, Mt. Sterling.

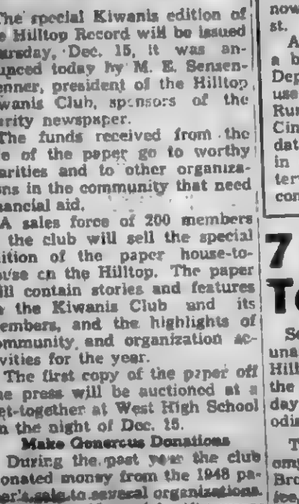
Kiwanis Record Sale Set

The special Kiwanis edition of The Hilltop Record will be issued Thursday, Dec. 15, it was announced today by M. E. Sensenbrenner, president of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, sponsors of the charity newspaper.

The funds received from the sale of the paper go to worthy charities and to other organizations in the community that need financial aid.

A sales force of 200 members of the club will sell the special edition of the paper house-to-house on the Hilltop. The paper will contain stories and features on the Kiwanis Club and its members, and the highlights of community and organization activities for the year.

The first copy of the paper off the press will be auctioned at a get-together at West High School on the night of Dec. 15.



Make Generous Donations

During the past year the club donated money from the 1948 paper's sale to several organizations. Among the financial gifts were: $100 to Big Brothers-Camp Swimming Pool Fund; $500 to Hilltop YMCA Building Fund; 300 Bibles to Japan; annual award of two $300 scholarships to outstanding West High School students; purchased needed hospital equipment for underprivileged children, and sent several underprivileged boys to the Big Brothers summer camp.

On the committees responsible for the paper's production are: Arrangements, Ben Knepper, chairman; John Nippert, Sam Morrison and Howard Tuttle. Publicity, Don Rice, chairman; Bob Knisley, Vern Fiscus and Ed Melvin.

Editorial copy, Joe Agee, chairman; Jack Sensenbrenner and Phil Stout. Advertising copy, Bob Cramer, chairman; Ray McVay, James Van Nostrand, Tom Beyer, Leo McComb and Joe Agee.

Yodel Act Wins Talent Contest

Donald Heasler

Donald Heasler, 252 S. Warren-av, yodeled his way to victory in the "Stars of Tomorrow" talent search at the Old Trail Theater Wednesday night. Donald's western style singing drew most audience applause in the YMCA sponsored show.

Second prize went to singer Jean Sullivan and the third prize went to the dance team of Sonya Albery and Delores Mocivs, 2932 Fremont-st.

The contest was the second of a series of weekly contests to find amateur talent on the Hilltop.

Witches Cauldron To Bubble On Hallowe'en Night

An aura of mysticism will descend on West High School Hallowe'en Night as members of the West and Glenwood units of the Blue Star Mothers have their "witches brew" and fortune telling booth at the Community Council sponsored Hallowe'en party.

The Glenwood unit will have the "witch's brew", a cauldron from which predictions and eerie messages will come. The two units are cooperating on the fortune telling booth.

Women in charge of these features will be Mr. W. W. Ogdin, 167 Buena Vista-av; and Mrs. E. A. Garrison, 92 N. Ogden-av.

John Burroughs and W. Mount-st schools announced this week that they will take part in the party. The auxiliary of Camp Chase Post 98 of the American Legion will have a home-made candy booth at the party.

As usual, a big event of the party will be the masquerade parade held in the school gym. Prizes, donated by Hilltop Business men will be for the most unusual costumes.

All Hilltop organizations are invited to participate in this party.

TO HOLD DINNER

The Men's Brotherhood of Glenwood Methodist Church will hold their first dinner of the year at the church, Oct. 18, at 6:30 p. m. Speaker for the evening will be Dr. H. R. Cotterman of Capital University. Tickets may be obtained at the church or from any member of the men's classes.

Westgate Residents Say Supervision Lacking In Park; Claim Rink Would Attract Vandalism

Council Tables Question Pending Study; Melvin Outlines New Commission Plan

The proposed plan to build a skating rink in Westgate Park ran into bitter opposition at the meeting of the Hilltop Community Council Wednesday night.

The council tabled final action on the rink to allow representatives to present the question to their respective groups and get further recommendations on action to be taken.

W. E. Jones, real estate broker of 3170 Wicklow-rd, objected to the plan because of lack of supervision on the park and further claimed that building the platform in the proposed site was illegal.

E. F. Schilling, 3181 Parkside-dr, claimed that the construction of the rink would bring about an increase in juvenile delinquency and that the park was "attracting immorality."

Other comments from the floor were that the rink would attract vandalism and "a crowd we don't want in this community."

The council passed a resolution asking for 24 hour supervision of the area, as supporters of the plan claimed that the opposition was led by those living near the park and not by all of the people of the community who would benefit from increased recreation facilities.

"The park should be run by the people of the city who own the park, and not by the few people who live bordering the park" was one opinion expressed.

In support of the rink E. O. Melvin, 107 S. Warren-av, said, "We want the parks to reach their ultimate goal, which is the good of most people."

E. O. Melvin also outlined a plan to the Hilltop Community Council whereby the Parks and Forestry and Recreation Commissions would be combined.

Melvin is a member of a five-member committee that has been meeting to investigate the consolidation and will support a charter amendment to bring about the consolidation. The group has studied plans used by other cities having a similar commission.

The supervisory commission would be made up of unsalaried private citizens. Melvin said that such a commission would be better able to handle contributoins and manage recreation and park facilities.

The committee on the "Hilltop Plan" presented an eight-point list of recommendations for immediate and long range improvements on the Hilltop.

These recommendations included:

1. Improved street lighting in the entire area. Immediate improvements; (a) North of West High School on Olive-st; (b) On steps of Glenwood Shelter House; (c) Street light on Butler-av.
2. Advisiblity for traffic light at Lechner-av and Broad-st.
3. Regulation of parking in the West PTA Endorses 4-Mill Levy

By Myron T. Seifert

The first Hilltop organization to endorse the proposed four-mill levy was the West High Parent Teachers Association, Mrs. L. S. Will, president of the local group, said this week.

The resolution, adopted unanimously by the PTA group, reads:

"WHEREAS, The West Junior-Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association in its constitution has declared its objectives to be: to promote child welfare in home, school, church and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children; to bring into closer relation the home and the school that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child and to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantage in physical, mental, moral and spiritual education, and

"WHEREAS, this organization recognizes the public school as a basic force in preserving our ideals of freedom, equality and justice, in forming the American citizen, and in improving and perpetuating our democracy, and

"WHEREAS, there is a very real and growing crisis in our schools because of inadequate funds for properly equipping and maintaining existing school plants, for implementing school services, and for securing sufficient numbers of highly competent and well-trained teachers of the kind who can help to develop in children adequate skills, proper habits of responsibility and industry, wholesome and creative interests, and a careful respect for the rights of others—all of which are necessary for the improvement and the continuance of our American way of life, and,

"WHEREAS, the Columbus Board of Education after careful study of the financial problem confronting our schools, has been responsible officially for giving the voters an opportunity to provide some of the much needed financial aid by voting four mills for schools at the Nov. 8 election;

"BE IT RESOLVED that the West Junior-Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association hereby declares its approval and active support of the four-mill levy for schools which will be on the ballot at the election on Nov. 8, 1949."
